Opposition Party Has Decisive Majority In Southern B.C. Contest

Thomas King Is New Member of Legislature—Had Five to Three Margin Over Conservative Opponent

GOLDEN, Dec. 21:—The majority of Thomas King, Liberal candidate, in Saturday's by-election in Columbia constituency stood today at 268 with twenty out of twenty-five polls reported.

GOLDEN, Dec. 21:—The test of political strength in the provincial by-election campaign in Columbia riding to elect a successor to John Buckham, recently deceased Liberal member of the legislative assembly, resulted in a stirring victory for the Opposition party. Thomas King, the Liberal candidate, was successful over Fred W. Jones, the Conservative, by a majority of 264 and a vote approximating five to three. It was a contest in which the leaders of both parties took an active part and was considered as a key to political feeling in British Columbia today.

Soon after the polls closed Saturday night, it became evident that the Liberal had won by a decisive margin and, within an hour, after Golden and Field, the principal polls in the riding had reported large majorities. Mr. King's election was conceded. With eleven polls reported at 9 p.m., Mr. Jones had 319 votes and Mr. King, 503.

Tollmie Not Surprised
"It is our first defeat in five by-elections," declared Premier Tollmie in commenting on the result of the by-election in Columbia riding. "We were never very sanguine over our prospects, for the riding has been Liberal for twelve years and the late J. A. Buckham was very popular. There is no disguising the fact, too, that there were factional differences. We do not regard the result as a reflection upon the government but an expression of parochial views."

Pattullo's Views
VICTORIA, Dec. 21:—"The voice of Columbia is the voice of British Columbia," declared T. D. Pattullo M. L. A., Liberal leader for British Columbia, today in commenting upon the result of the provincial by-election in Columbia. "I presume that the government will prepare for an election at a reasonably early date. There is a big job ahead and, the sooner it is adequately tackled, the better it will be for British Columbia."

Efforts Being Made to Have Law Modification To Benefit this Region

Change Would Give Employment to as Many as 1000 Men and Distribute Payroll of $100,000 Monthly—Ships Could Load at Prince Rupert

Business and commercial interests of Prince Rupert and district are continuing their fight for repeal of the prohibition against export of pulp cordwood and the matter will be taken up at the coming session of the British Columbia Legislature. Representations along strong lines have already been made to the Department of Lands with a view to bringing about modification of the timber laws in this respect. If success could be achieved, it is estimated that employment would be created for between 500 and 1000 men with distribution of about $100,000 per month in wages.

The request is, briefly, that pulp cordwood be classed as a manufactured product and thus permit its export. This would necessitate the logs being cut into cordwood length, split and peeled. It is contended that there is far more labor per unit in this product than in lumber. It is stated the product would be practically all labor.

This material is required by pulp mills in the eastern states which now get their supply from Russia. The proposal is that three ships could be loaded at Prince Rupert. Each ship would take two hundred carloads which would mean 600 cars a month moving over this line of the Canadian National Railways. The employment would fulfill a vital need of ranchers and settlers as well as others.

The following memorandum on the subject has been prepared:

Substantial Demand

"There is a substantial demand for spruce pulp cordwood, split and peeled, to be delivered to the pulp mills in the New England States. These mills have heretofore been getting a large portion of their supplies from Newfoundland and Eastern Canada. During the year 1930 they brought in some 76 carloads from Russia. This was shipped from the Port of Archangel.

"In January and February of this year, 1931, we went into this matter with representatives of some of these Eastern American pulp mills who because of the element of uncertainty as to whether or not the United States Government would in the future permit the importation of this pulpwood from Russia, were desirous of securing a permanent supply from British Columbia, and these people were desirous of arranging for shipments of three cargoes per month during the first year, and as soon as the business was properly launched and proved to be satisfactory, which would probably be after it had been in operation for six months, they were prepared to increase the quantity to six cargoes per month. The sort of cargoes which they had in mind was ships which would carry about 3,000 to 3,600 cords.

"The price which they then offered alongside ship in British Columbia waters appeared to be satisfactory and was near enough to the price which we told them we would require to make it apparent that we could get together on the price.

"The important factor, however, was the B.C. legislation. The B.C. legislation prohibited the export of pulpwood from off crown lands unless under permit, and there is also a question of whether or not the

B.C. Government would charge an export duty or tax. We took the matter up with the Government in an endeavor to have the Government classify cordwood as "manufactured timber under the 'Forest Act.'" Some such solution is necessary under the present Act, as proposed purchasers of this cordwood will not enter into any arrangement which would disrupt their present sources of supply, which apart from Russia are chiefly Newfoundland and Eastern Canada, unless they know that the new arrangement had every likelihood of being permanent. We were unable to get the Legislature to pass such legislation at the session in the spring of 1931. We are of the opinion, however, that it is a very important matter to the Province, and would like to see the Legislature.

Urges Scrapping of C. P. R. Route Through Mountains And Using C. N. R. to Coast

Stating that the Canadian National Railway can haul sixty cars of grain through the mountains just as cheaply as the Canadian Pacific Railway can haul twenty, a farmer from the Skeena Valley writes to urge that the Rogers Pass line be scrapped altogether and that the C. P. R. route all their western grain through the Yellowhead over the Canadian National. He believes this would help bring back prosperity to the whole of Western Canada. He says in part:

"It is hard for a farmer to shoot a faithful horse but it has to be done and I say scrap the C. P. R. Rogers Pass Railway. It should have been done fourteen years ago. As far as handling freight is concerned with world competition, it is useless. The company knows it. That's why the Pacific grain route was held up until other railways came. They tried to reduce their grade, spent millions on the Connaught Tunnel which is a flop insofar as fulfilling the purpose for which it was intended.

"So far they have been unable to locate a workable grade from the east portal and are still using a prohibited grade. Cost of power is nothing compared to flat wheels which break rails and cause expensive accidents which are all added to the cost of transportation.

"We have to admit the C. P. R. knows how to run a railroad, even at other people's expense and if its engineering department fell down their intelligence department has not. They still get their share of the business."

VANCOUVER, Dec. 21:—With bullets blazing from two guns, an unidentified Chinaman shot and killed nineteen-year old Mary Shaw, a waitress in the Pender Coffee House on East Pender Street in the Chinese quarter, last night. He then fired two bullets into his own head, dying immediately.

The girl was powdering her face in front of a mirror prior to going on duty when the Chinaman stepped from a booth and shot her.

The slayer was a regular customer of the place but the police are unable to identify him.

VICTORY WAS DECISIVE

Allowing for any local advantages that the Liberal candidate might have had in the Columbia constituency, the victory in the election Saturday was so decisive that it must be construed as giving an idea of popular feeling in the province. The majority of the winning candidate was almost as great as the total vote of the Conservative.

Under these circumstances there seem to be two courses open to Dr. Tolmie. One is to recognize the condition, make an immediate appeal to the people and accept defeat gracefully if it comes. The other is to do what the majority of politicians would do, hang on to the job until the last minute, ignoring the fact that they do not really represent the public opinion of today.

We do not think Premier Tolmie will hang on until the last minute. In view of the situation we expect him to put through non-contentious legislation at the coming session, arrange for the necessary financing and then at the earliest possible date after that make his appeal to the country.

NOVEL THEATRE MATINEE

Tomorrow the management of the Capitol Theatre has arranged for something very unusual in the way of a matinee, entry to which is to be paid in goods for Christmas relief. Some of those attending will take a pound of tea, others a packet of sugar or biscuits or a plum pudding or a hamper of groceries. To see the goods come in will be worth the money.

Prince Rupert people usually respond well to calls of this kind. They will doubtless do so at this time and as there are no school duties to interfere the place should be crowded with children and their parents.

ture of British Columbia pass this legislation at the coming session. You can also readily understand that for a permanent proposition ourselves and others would be willing to incur the necessary expenditure to launch this business which would be quite substantial, and we think at least $100,000 would have to be expended in equipment and in loading facilities and in getting ready, but certainly no person can consider it whether from the standpoint of the purchaser or the producer on anything other than a comparatively permanent basis.

Matter of Policy

"We submitted the matter to the Honorable the Minister of Lands last January or February, and he was very fair and reasonable, but pointed out that the House was very busy and it was comparatively late in the spring before it was brought to their attention, and that it was an important matter of policy to be determined. Apparently the chief matter of policy is as to whether or not the Province will permit the export of pulpwood from crown lands. As a matter of policy anyone would concede that it would be better if in addition to the work used in manufacturing the cordwood and delivering it alongside ship, the cordwood when so produced was also turned into paper in the province, but the same argument would apply in regard to the export of lumber. We contend that there is just as much work per unit used in the manufacture of cordwood and delivering it alongside ship as there is in the manufacture of lumber and delivering it alongside ship, and while it would be to the advantage of the Province to have all the lumber manufactured into pianos, furniture or coffins, yet such is impractical. We consider it good business to export lumber, and I believe we should also consider it good business to export pulp cordwood. These pulp and paper mills are established in the United States and for some time to come they are going to get their cordwood from Eastern Canada or Newfoundland, or Russia, or some other country, and we think it good business for British Columbia to get into the picture and to get its share of the business.

"A large portion of the pulpwood which we have in view would be produced along the Canadian National Railways east from Prince Rupert. There are tremendous acres of this timber there consisting chiefly of Englemann spruce, and down near tidewater of low grade sitka spruce, and also considerable quantities of western hemlock. The Englemann spruce lies on both sides of the railway and stretches north and south for very great distances. It grows to about 18 inches in diameter and there is as much of this timber which dies each year in a state of nature as which grows each year. Under a system of taking out pulp cordwood trees of approximately 10-inch butt and up would be cut. It is a country in which horses and vehicles can be used and the balance of the timber is not injured, and as a result of the thinning the smaller timber left standing grows more rapidly and inside of ten or fifteen years it can be cut over again. It is a recurring crop and the area is so large that this timber for this purpose is practically inexhaustible. The chief menace has always been fire, and one of the reasons that fire has been so bad is that the ranchers in that district can see no value for the timber. Apart from the jack pine tie business there has been practically no market for this timber since they have been in that country upwards of twenty years. All the settlers along the Canadian National Railways east from Prince Rupert have heretofore won a considerable percentage of their livelihood from the taking out of jack pine ties. That business practically disappeared last year and our information is the Canadian National will not require any increased delivery of ties before 1940 or 1944. This is largely due to the fact that they have been over-stocked and they have utilized the creosoting plant to such effect that their renewals do not have to be made so frequently. Practically all of these settlers have a little timber of their own. At the present time they have to burn it in order to clear the land. A pulpwood market would enable them to clear the land and at the same time turn the timber to profit. This is the reason the settlers in New Ontario and New Quebec can make progress. While they clear their land they get enough out of their pulp timber to enable them to live.

Railway Traffic

"The Canadian National Railways also need traffic. Each car of pulpwood would give the railway approximately $40. It would take about 200 cars to a ship load, or three ship loads a month—about 600 cars. It would employ from 500 to 1,000 men, and this employment would be the year around.

"Mr. Caverhill contends that the price paid for cordwood in the Eastern United States is from $17 to $19 per cord delivered, and he contends that by reason of that fact industry cannot turn out this product and deliver it within that price. We agree that the price is small. We would point out, however, that whether or not industry can deliver this commodity within that price is up to the industry. It is a proposition that will not afford big profits. The profits will be very small, but if we can keep our population employed at a remuneration which will enable them to live and clear the land, it is far better than anything they have at the present time or that any person can see that they are likely to have at the present time, and as above stated we are prepared to try it out if the government will co-operate to the extent of classifying pulp cordwood, which is peeled and split, as manufactured timber, and will also give us government stumpage and royalty charges not exceeding 60c per cord. We would point out that these charges would be practically all found money to the Government, as at the present time this timber is falling and rotting with no return. The proposition which we are after will help the Government some will relieve the Government a great deal by private labor which now the Government has to provide at a very heavy expense to all taxpayers in the Province; will help the railway, and we cannot see where it is going to hurt anybody.

"We are also of the opinion that the export of this pulp cordwood instead of acting as a detriment to eastern pulp and paper mills coming into British Columbia, will act as a help. It will establish the fact that we have the timber here at a reasonable price and when it comes to the time for them to move their plants, which is happening all the time, they would naturally move to British Columbia, the only deterrent being the freight rates on the paper and this by reason of water transportation is not such a very heavy factor.

"There is no tariff on newsprint or sulphite pulp going into the United States, and this class of pulpwood is used almost entirely for the manufacture of newsprint and sulphite and other high grade papers. There is a tariff on sulphite paper going into the United States. Sulphite paper is made chiefly of mill offal and fir and cedar and such like dark timbers.

"Mr. Caverhill in his argument suggested that British Columbia should not permit the export of pulp cordwood off Government lands unless the Americans moved their tariff on sulphite paper, and I do not think that Canada could ever export pulpwood for sulphite purposes into the United States as they have tremendous quantities of that product in the United States which they get chiefly from mill waste, by-products of fir, pine and cedar and other operations.

"Mr. Caverhill also mentioned that pulp cordwood operations, both in British Columbia and Washington, Ore. had been a failure. We concede that such has to a large extent been the case but it must be remembered that the most of these pulp cordwood operations at the Pacific Coast which have been a failure were coast operations in the large timber and where the conditions are not suitable for working with horses as they are in New Ontario or New Quebec, or along the Canadian National Railways east from Prince George.

Familiar With Country

"We are familiar with the country we are talking about. We have taken out many hundreds of thousand jack pine ties in that country. We know the timber, the land, the climate and the conditions, and we know the people who are in the country. They are primarily timber people, and there is practically nothing for them to do. We have had very many of them implore us to go back into the country to start up some operations. We do not know of anything that can assist that country such as we believe this would.

"A year ago the people in the Eastern United States were anxious to get this timber and were anxious to try it out. In the meantime their pulpwood requirements doubtless have been reduced as have the requirements of practically all the pulp and paper mills, as the demand for paper has been reduced. Yet we are confident they would still be ready and willing to renew the proposition, but as above pointed out, it cannot be touched unless on a fairly permanent and large scaled basis."

Join New York Americans in Second Place in International Section

Canadiens and Rangers Draw

MONTREAL, Dec. 21.—Montreal Canadiens increased their lead over New York Americans for the leadership of the international section of the National Hockey League Saturday night when they played a two-all overtime draw with the New York Rangers, leaders of the American section of the league.

The Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the long suffering Montreal Maroons by a score of four to two at Toronto and went into a tie with New York Americans for second place in the international section.

The possession of second place in the international section proved only temporary for they lost one to nil last night in Chicago while the Americans were playing a two-all draw at New York with the Detroit Falcons.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

'Atomic Force' Science Church Subject Sunday

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved By Atomic Force?" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday.

One of the Scriptural texts contained in the lesson-sermon was, "The heavens are thine, the earth also is thine; as for the world and the fulness thereof, thou hast founded them." (Psalms 89:11).

Following the reading of the Bible texts, passages were also read from

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being the following from page 295: "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them."

Groceries to Be Taken to Pay For Entry Instead of Money

Tomorrow afternoon there will be a big time at the Capitol Theatre. The young people of the city have been invited to attend a matinee and to bring instead of money such groceries as may be available. Some will take tea, sugar, vegetables, Christmas goods, flour, biscuits, cheese, butter, bacon, lard or one of a hundred other articles. The goods received will be all used for Christmas relief purposes.

Most of the young people will want to take part in the fun of doing something for the people who have not the means to celebrate Christmas as they would like.
