JUSTICE IS DEAD

Hon. Robert Edward Harris of Nova Scotia Supreme Court Passes

BRILLIANT CAREER

ANNAPOLIS ROYAL, May 30.—Robert Edward Harris, chief justice of Nova Scotia, died here this morning at the age of 71.

Robert Edward Harris was born near this ancient town of Annapolis Royal, August 18, 1860, and throughout his life he maintained his citizenship in that place, his periods of relaxation and recreation being usually spent at his country home, Mount Clements, near the town.

Admitted to the Bar of Nova Scotia in 1882 at the age of 22 years, he opened a practice in Yarmouth, N.S., where he remained until 1892. During that period he was made a King's Counsel in 1889, at that time the youngest barrister ever to receive that honor in Canada.

Chief Justice Harris not only carried on a successful and important practice in Nova Scotia and Eastern Canada in general, but interested himself in numerous public activities, financial, educational and religious.

Professor Declares, Whether We Like It or Not, Man and Apes Are Descended From Same Ancestors

"And so, ladies, whether you like it or not, it is an incontrovertible fact that man and the apes have descended from one common ancestor." These were the decisive words of Professor Charles Hill-Tout at the close of his lecture on the "Antiquity of Man," at the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club in

Enumerators to Adopt Many Travel Modes to Take Count in Skeena

One Man Will Have to Swim Three Rivers to Get to His Destination—This District One of Vastest In All Canada

On Monday federal census enumeration commences and will be continued until everyone is accounted for. The federal district of Skeena, which has its headquarters in Prince Rupert, is probably the largest in the Dominion so far as area is concerned. It is approximately 160,000 square miles in extent and there are fifty-three enumerators engaged in taking the census.

Some will travel on foot, others by boat, canoe, motor car, or on horseback whichever is found to be the most satisfactory method. One enumerator has three rivers to swim before he completes his enumeration, another travels 300 miles to take the enumeration of one cabin and so on. Those in the outlying districts have to face the dangers and difficulties of rivers and streams in high flood on account of the melting snows.

Everyone should be courteous and helpful to the enumerator. He is on the country's business which business he must not reveal to anyone. On his part, he will be courteous to all with whom he comes in contact and the last thing he will do is to assert his authority. Only when all other persuasions fail will he do this.

The census of Canada is taken differently from the most of the European countries. There it is a matter of one day. For instance in Turkey, on the day of taking census, no one must leave his home until the enumerator has called and taken everyone in the house. All business is closed for the day. The trains do not run and any infringements are severely dealt with. In Canada with its vast territory it is impossible to take the census in a day so the de jure system is adopted—that is, a person's census is taken at where he usually resides whether he is there or not. Those who have no fixed residence are enumerated where they are found.

This decennial stocktaking of the nation is a very important one for the country. Complete understanding of the unemployment situation will be available. The exact number of those unemployed on Monday will be known, also the reason why they were unemployed. These pertinent facts are very valuable assistance to a government in framing legislation and policies to make the best out of the country. It is hoped that everyone will help to see that the government gets accurate and reliable information in answer to the questions asked that no one will feel aggrieved at what seems to you a very personal question. The census enumerator has no personalities in the matter; the Bureau of Statistics is not concerned in the individual only as one of the mass.

Tolmie Optimistic Over P.G.E. Future

Would Not Be Surprised if Important Developments Occur, Premier Says

VICTORIA, May 30.—Brimful of optimism regarding the future of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and as a result of his efforts on behalf of that road and the securing of an outlet to the Peace River country while in the east, Premier S. F. Tolmie arrived in Victoria.

There will be a conference between the Dominion and the province and the two transcontinental railway presidents next month. "Until this conference is held," the premier said, "there is little more to say. But," he added significantly, "if some important developments occur as a result of the conference, it will not be surprising."

Suffered From Heart Trouble Became Weak and Run Down

Mrs. Wm. D. Dyer, Glensandfield, Ont., writes: "For a long period I suffered from heart trouble, and became very weak and run down. I tried various remedies, but they did me no good. One day I met a friend and told her of my trouble. She said she had had heart trouble for two years too, but after using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for a short time she had been relieved of her trouble, so I got two boxes and after taking them I was again feeling fine, and always recommend H. & N. Pills to anyone complaining of heart trouble."

THE AGE OF MAN

The intensely interesting lecture given yesterday to the ladies of the Canadian Club will doubtless start some controversy locally between the Fundamentalists who profess to believe that man was perfect until he fell in Eden and the Evolutionists who claim that man has made a gradual ascent from a lower form, not necessarily an ape, and that he is still making progress although rather slow.

Professor Hill-Tout, who is an Anglican clergyman, has been writing and lecturing on anthropological subject for many years. In his lecture yesterday he did not mention religion but tomorrow he will speak twice, in the morning at the Cathedral and in the evening at St. Peter's, when he will doubtless deal with the religious aspect of his subject.

Without venturing to take any part in a controversy, we may suggest that the subject is very interesting and one that is well worthy of the closest study. Making caustic remarks about those who think differently from ourselves does not solve the problem. Professor Hill-Tout tackles it from the scientific aspect and yet does not relinquish any of his religious convictions, or at any rate any that really matter.

EXPULSION OF THE REBELS

According to the despatches received today, Premier Tolmie is about to arise in his might and expel the rebels from the Conservative camp. He will adopt strong arm methods and will insist that those who profess and call themselves Conservatives shall follow in his footsteps or worship at his shrine.

It will be interesting to watch developments, for the rebellion seems to have become deep-rooted in Vancouver and even in Victoria there have been many murmurings and upheavals.

ALL IN SAME BOAT

Sometimes Prince Rupert people speak as if they thought this was the only place in the world where times were bad. That is because they have not been outside. People who have visited other parts of the country return impressed with the fact that we are holding our own as well as any other city.

While it is extremely difficult if not impossible for fishermen to sell their product at six and three cents and continue in the business, we received word only this week from Saskatchewan that farmers were in some places getting only six cents a dozen for eggs. Purchasers in most cases prefer a dozen fresh eggs to a pound of halibut.

Many business people find that they have not anything like made expenses this year, laborers have been out of work or on part time. In fact, there are difficulties everywhere and among all classes of people. All are in pretty much the same boat.

It is useless to grumble for that never helps anybody. All we can do is to carry on in the best possible manner until conditions improve. Easy times have passed and we now have to face conditions as they are instead of looking back.

SEA HERO IN FILMS

Capt. Matt Peasley Going to Sea in Command of Moving Picture Expedition

SEATTLE, May 30: — Captain Ralph (Matt) Peasley is going to sea again.

But the tall, robust old sailorman, one of the most romantic figures of the ocean lanes, known in every Pacific Coast port and hero of Peter B. Kyne's stories of the sea, will not pace the decks of some dancing square rigger running before a heavy breeze for distant climes.

Captain Peasley, who first came to the Pacific Ocean in 1888 after several years' at sea along the Maine Coast, will head a whaling expedition into Alaskan waters, starting from Seattle July 1.

In years past this port has seen sturdy steam "killer boats" sail for the northern whaling grounds for oil, bone and fertilizer. The expedition Captain Peasley will join is of a different sort. Its members will hunt whales, not with harpoons, however, but with cameras. The "cargo" they hope to bring back will consist of reels of motion pictures and stills of the playful fin-backs enjoying themselves in their native haunts between Glacier Bay and Mount Fairweather, near Cordova.

Snap of Canvas

The snap of canvas filling before a breeze will not be lacking on this voyage of the old master for a 45-foot auxiliary sloop Linda, is being outfitted here for the cruise.

Captain Peasley will be master of the vessel with a crew of young scientists, including F. W. Schmoer, organizer of the expedition and naturalist of the Puget Sound Academy of Science, Seattle; Samuel Harby, Columbia University, New York; Leonard Jones, Bellingham, Wash., science student; H. L. Seeger, a science instructor in a private school here, and three Seattle school boys.

The old sea veteran will command numerous sailing vessels, the last being the Vigilant. He also commanded the schooner-yacht Sanwan, owned by Frank Moran, Seattle, having left that vessel at Santa Barbara.

W. D. Vance has been appointed secretary of the school board succeeding C. H. Sawie, resigned. Other applicants for the position were James Russell, Frank A. Ellis, L. Bullock-Webster, Fred James, David Thomson and D. C. Stuart. The board has received a report from F. Leith, inspector of schools, commending the work of Principal D. McD. Hunter and other members of the teaching staff.

There was a storm in the city council last night over the work of the city engineer's department. Ald. S. M. Newton declared that nearly everything the department had done was wrong while Ald. C. B. Clayton engaged in a stirring defence of the department. During one of Ald. Newton's long diatribes, Mayor William Manson got disgusted and left the chamber.

John McLeod arrived here on the Princess May from Phoenix. He is the brother of George McLeod, who was found dead yesterday on the trail between Port Essington and the rock quarry.

George Mitchell Off For Corsica

Big Fortune Awaits Local Man If He Can Only Get It

George Mitchell, well known Prince Rupert young man, expects to sail on the steamer Elk Maru on Tuesday, June 9, for Corsica, having received a cablegram this morning that he had fallen heir to his uncle's estate which includes several oldtime castles, a great deal of acreage, a vineyard, and cash and bonds amounting to more than one million dollars in Canadian coin.

The cablegram from executors of the estate mentions only one possible flaw in the way of George getting complete control of the estate and requests that he bring with him to Corsica, "Bill" Plommer, native Corsican, who as teller in a Corsican bank several years ago was purported to know of another mysterious relative.

Mr. Mitchell is cleaning up odds and ends in his local business affairs connected with the Big Bay Lumber Co. and Mr. Plommer has arranged for a leave of absence from the local high school for the remainder of the present term. George says that, although he may have come into millions he will bring them back to Rupert with him and will probably present the city and local lovers of sport with the finest ball park in the province, a hobby of his for several years.

George Mitchell, in an interview with a News representative, told the true story of his life, breaking into tears at the conclusion. He said in part: "My real name is Dr. Arbutus Budd, and for a time I was proprietor of a New York beauty shop. Failure of society leaders to meet their obligations promptly put me in an embarrassing financial position. I stole passage on a steamer to Corsica where I got a job with the League of Nations, and there for the first time I learned that I had a rich uncle. I pleaded with him to help me get back to my native beach, but he refused me and I had to go to work. However, seems that in his declining years he forgave me and I am now about to pass from the coffee and doughnut stage to a lobster salad diet."

Everybody excited over George's inheritance? Well, it will be for just one night and one afternoon at the Capitol Theatre, Tuesday, June 9. Mr. Mitchell is the leading man in Channing Pollock's great musical comedy, "The Beauty Shop," which is being presented under the auspices of Prince Rupert Lodge B. P. O. Elks.

PROFESSOR DECLARES THAT WHETHER WE LIKE IT OR NOT MEN AND APES ARE DESCENDED FROM THE SAME ANCESTORS

The death occurred on Monday last in Vancouver of Mrs. Mary McKinnon, aged 94, widow of the late John McKinnon and mother of Mrs. William O'Neill of Anyox. Deceased was a native of Nova Scotia and had resided in British Columbia for 25 years. In addition to the daughter in Anyox, there is another daughter and two sons.

work has been discovered and studied particularly in the Doudogne Valley. He had himself examined the wonderful paintings and etchings made by these people in the caves and had seen their bone and stone tools. Most of the animals they pictured were now extinct.

Then came the Celtic or Alpine people with round heads who brought the first knowledge of metals, their work being in bronze.

Predecessors Mention was made of the predecessors of the Cro-Magnons, such as the Neandethalers, the Heidelberg man, the Piltdown man and farthest back of all known, the Pithecanthropus Erectus of the Island of Java, a man about half way in development between the apes and man as he is today.

One of the most important links in the chain of evidence in favor of the theory which he propounded was the blood reaction test, showing that the blood of the apes and man were practically the same.

Concluding, Professor Hill-Tout suggested that the fact that man was closely related to the rest of creation "should make us all kind to animals."

A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. A. E. Bazett-Jones and seconded by Mrs. C. E. Cullin.

Tea was served at the close of the lecture by members of the executive of the club, Mrs. Bazett-Jones, Miss Palmer, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Rice, Mrs. Good, Mrs. Stuart, Miss Rothwell and Mrs. Russell Smith. Mrs. Cade and Mrs. Woodland poured.

FASHION HINT

"How to make my old short skirts conform to the new length was a problem to me until I hit on this plan. I dropped the hems, and as the part that had been turned under was darker than the rest, I dyed the entire dress, after having bleached the goods, following directions in the Diamond Dyes package. "I used Diamond Dyes for the redyeing, of course. I have dyed many things with these wonderful colors. They have saved me many dollars and have never failed to give perfect results—smooth, even colors—fast to wear and washing. Friends think my things are new when I redye or tint them with Diamond Dyes. They do give the most gorgeous colors!"

JIMMY ROSS IS LEAVING

Well Known Local Football Player Is Away to Scotland to Reside

Jimmie Ross, who has played football for the Regiment Team since he came to town, played his last game last evening as he leaves for Scotland today. The Regiment, and indeed the city, can ill afford to lose this unassuming and effective player. Jimmy never spoke on the field. He played the game, took the knocks that came his way and went on playing.

The best wishes of the Regiment and of the football public go with him and his family and they wished all good luck in the land that breeds so many good footballers.

BUFFALO FOR PEACE RIVER

Mrs. Emily Crawford, Fort St. John, Will Carry Out Experiments

VICTORIA, May 30.—British Columbia's first herd of cataloes, half cattle, half buffalo, are expected to result from the shipment of a young buffalo bull from Beacon Hill Park here to the Peace River district. This animal is being presented by the city authorities to Mrs. Emily L. Crawford, pioneer rancher of Fort St. John, for crossing with her cattle. He will be the first buffalo liberated in this province outside a park, the department of agriculture here understands.

Cataloes have been bred at Banff and used for beef but their production has never been attempted on a commercial scale before. It is believed that they will make excellent beef animals in the Peace River country and will not feel the cold of winter there as keenly as ordinary cattle.

The buffalo bull to be shipped to Mrs. Crawford has the distinction of being the only one ever born on Vancouver Island. He has become too ambitious lately and has taken to attacking his aged father. The parks authorities are glad to get rid of him before he does any real harm in the family.

Canadian Legion Beats Regiment By Score of Two to One in First Senior Soccer Match of Season

Senior football got away to a good start last evening when the Canadian Legion football team won over the Regiment by two goals to one. There was a big crowd in attendance when Mayor Orme officially opened the season with a kick worthy of the mayoralty.

With the hill in their favor the Regiment attacked and Wingham crossed a dangerous centre. Howe made a good run but Ross cleared. Regiment attacked and Wilson was close. Smith showed clever footwork to lead another raid into Regiment territory. A nice bout of passing between Woodside, Smith and A. Hodgkinson was stopped by Kelsey. Edgcombe put in a fine shot for Murray to head the ball past his own goalie to give Regiment the first goal. Howe got away and forced Laidler to make a fine save at full length at the expense of a corner. From the resulting kick, well taken by Bussanich, Howe equalized the score. Cross hit the upright with a beautiful header from a corner well taken by Wingham. At the other end, Smith tried out Laidler with a high deceptive dropping shot but the Regiment goalie was all there and saved well.

The second half was scrappy for a time, the players showing lack of training that might be expected in a first game. Legion had rather the better of the game and, from a corner by Bussanich, Smith headed a fine goal. The Regiment attacked strongly and Wilson centred well but the ball was cleared. Cross deserved to score with a fine first time shot that just missed the upright. Wilson tested Smith but the latter cleared and full time found the Regiment attacking but unable to score.

Teams:
Canadian Legion — Johnston Smith; Skinner, Jack; W. Murray, W. Murray, Woodside; Bussanich, F. Hodgkinson, Howe, D. Smith, A. Hodgkinson.

Referee, W. Barton; linesmen, Blake, Kelly.

Some Comment

The Legion team was well served by Smith in goal. Jack at back never put a foot wrong throughout the game. Skinner kicked strongly but was erratic. Woodside showed neat footwork at times and the Murray boys used their height to advantage. Smith was the pick of the forwards, playing a clever wholehearted game. Howe was his usual bustling self and the Hodgkinson brothers and Bussanich all showed up at times.

For the Regiment, Laidler was a safe goalkeeper. Ross tackled well. Kelsey began well but weakened towards the end. Watson also seemed to tire. Thurber made a very promising start in senior football. Edgcombe was good. Cross made a fine impression and this boy should do well. Lyons is also a good prospect. Wingham was not up to his usual form though he took corner kicks well. DeJong showed clever footwork but held on too long. Wilson showed that he has still lots of life and is dangerous.

WILL NOT CUT PRICES

B. C. Paper Mills Will Not Follow Example

It is announced from Vancouver that there is small prospect of Pacific coast newspaper manufacturers following the example of eastern mill operators in reducing prices, according to the general feeling in the west.

The attitude of I. Zellerbach, president of Crown-Zellerbach Corp., of which Pacific Mills, Ltd., is the Canadian subsidiary, is that the eastern mills have merely come down to the level established on the Pacific Coast last fall. "There is nothing in the situation to warrant a further reduction in the coast territory," Mr. Zellerbach is quoted as saying. "The coast has been the lowest price zone for newsprint in the world for some months and there is no reason why we should reduce prices any further merely because the east has come closer to the basic price we set for the industry last fall."

When Powell River Co. established a price of $48 a ton, it was stated by officials of that corporation that this figure represented the absolute minimum at which newsprint could be sold on reasonable terms.

Production is running along at about the usual rate, with Pacific Mills operating only five days a week, but Powell River Co. is utilizing its new Lois River development and seven machines. B. C. Pulp & Paper Co. is operating at capacity in turning out sulphite pulp. O. Jergenson, secretary of the latter company, is now in the Orient investigating trade conditions. Japan and China are among the company's best customers.

Interior's Oldest Plow Presented to Archives of B. C.

VICTORIA, May 30.—Over 100 years old and considered to be the first plow brought into the interior of the province, a hand forged, wrought iron plowshare weighing 11 pounds, has been presented to the provincial archives by Mrs. D. Munro, of Terrace, widow of the late Duncan D. Munro, the first representative of the provincial department of agriculture in Central B.C.

It is believed to have been forged in the blacksmith's shop at York Factory, Hudson's Bay, more than a century ago, and was brought into the province by traders arriving at Fort Fraser. For over 50 years it was in active use in the Chiloquin country, being later taken to Prince George.

It will be placed on display by the province at the World Grain Show in Regina in 1932, in contrast to the ultra-modern machinery.

SPORT CHAT

The game last evening between the Regiment and the Legion football teams was well worth seeing and, if the teams can put up similar displays for the season, football is assured of a successful year. Next Tuesday evening the Merchants' team is due to meet the Legion. With the veteran Sam Currie in charge of the Merchants' team there is every prospect of this being quite equal to the other teams. In goal there is a choice of Spiro Gurvich or Vic Menzies. Both of them are good. Styles is slated for one of the backs and Douglas the other. The latter is a newcomer from Scotland and his form will be watched with interest. Sam himself will hold down the centrehalf position. George Michell and George Hill are the wing halves so there will be no weakness there. The forward line promises to be the best in town but fortunately for the other teams promises, particularly in football, are not always fulfilled. The three Dickens brothers are all clever. With Jim McKay and Chenoski to complete this line, opposing defences will be well tried out.

Bears should beware of annoying R. P. ("Bob") Isbister. Mr. Isbister, a resident of Hamilton, Ont., one of the immortals of Canadian rugby, is a big man and when he hits anything it "stays hit." There is one impudent bear somewhere near Lac Sauvage who could support this. Mr. Isbister, with E. H. Dickinson, Toronto, and W. F. Close of Montreal went to Lac Sauvage a short time ago to fish. One day after lunch which the party cooked and ate on shore, Mr. Isbister lay down for a nap on a rock which fell away sheer in to deep water. Awakened suddenly by a noise, he saw before him a half grown bear. Surprised, he threw out his right hand. The bear snapped at it, raking the back of his hand with four sharp teeth. Suddenly very wide awake, Mr. Isbister put over a left hook to the bear's snout, knocking the animal completely off the rock into the water 15 feet below. The other members of the party, hearing the splash, hurried back, arriving in time to see the discomfited bear scramble a hole and lumber off into the woods. Mr. Isbister stopped off at Montreal on his way home, his right hand swathed in bandages. "The result of the 'one bite' to which bears evidently consider themselves entitled, as well as dogs."

This is a tale of a cannibalistic pickerel whose name might very well be Legion. Eddie Trafton went a-fishing near Norway Maine. Reaching the shore of Pennebecque Lake, he saw Bud Dunham rowing frantically towards land. "See if I have driven a big pickerel ashore," cried Dunham. "It's a whale," shouted Trafton, peering into the shallow water. He ran to his parked automobile for a landing net. The huge pickerel obligingly awaited his return and allowed itself to be duly landed. Then the ponderous mouth disgorged a black bass, one-pounder, which Trafton returned to the lake little the worse for its adventure. He squeezed Mr. Pike to see if more finny inhabitants could be given up, and out of the mouth came another pickerel nearly a foot long. Additional squeezing brought forth a fair sized sun fish. The cannibalistic pickerel weighed four pounds. All the foregoing was solemnly asserted to be "gospel." More embellishment than veracity, perhaps, was a statement that the bass nodded appreciatively when given its freedom.

There will always be an unceasing crop of new controversies between nations.—Herbert Hoover.

"Last week a sixty-nine mile gale caused considerable damage to our supply boat, delaying her visit to the island by four days.

I don't mind living on canned goods, but to go without Turret pipe tobacco—well, it's just too much for any man.

Campfire Meeting Enjoyed By Young People of Church

The United Church Young People's Society held a campfire meeting last evening on a beach near the Galloway Rapids bridge with 22 members present. President W. J. E. Bruce Stevens told a campfire story and the meeting came to a close with the serving of refreshments.

Seal Protection Discussed—Nootka Company Takes Over Langara—Angling Season Opens

Among the rank and file of the practical people hereabouts is to be heard considerable criticism of the drastic methods being employed by the government to protect the seal herds on their migration north each spring. One new argument which has been heard is that a noisy airplane, darting back and forth above them, is by no means the best thing for the females who are about ready to deliver their young. It is just an argument which has been heard and which may be taken for what it is worth. In any case, there are many who feel that there is little justification for the government spending large sums of money in sending out warships and airplanes to protect the seals for the benefit of the United States. On the other hand, if sealing were to be thrown open again to Canadian boats, Prince Rupert, and no longer Victoria, would be made headquarters for the fleet and probably a million dollars annually would thereby be brought to the city. It would seem to be to Prince Rupert's interest to agitate for the abrogation of the seal protection treaty, the efficacy of which, indeed, is very doubtful.

The Nootka Packing Co. Ltd. of Vancouver has acquired all the properties of the Langara Fishing & Packing Co. Ltd. including the three-line salmon cannery at New Massett, the one-line clam cannery at Tow Hill as well as several fishing boats and scows and leases on razor sea clam beaches on the Queen Charlotte Islands. The salmon cannery was built in 1926 and is one of the most modern plants of its kind in this district. The clam cannery was built in 1925 by the late Capt. E. H. Simpson and is the only plant of its kind in Canada. The Nootka Packing Co. operates a reduction plant, salmon cannery and pilchard cannery on the west coast of Vancouver Island. The two concerns were formerly allied although separate entities. J. J. Petrich, vice-president and general manager of the Nootka Packing Co., visited the Queen Charlotte Islands a few weeks ago prior to final consummation of the deal.

ermen shall be properly and adequately kept before the commissioners and that the men on the fleet, on their part, may be kept fully and constantly informed as to the necessities of the fishery and the attitude of the commission. Such a committee would confer with the commissioners frequently, keeping constantly in touch with both the progress of investigations and with the conclusions reached, to see that the men engaged in the fishery are kept informed on these matters and to present to the commissioners the attitude of the fishermen and their views as to most practical ways of maintaining the halibut supply. The plan under consideration provides for a committee or board which would include members representing all principal divisions of the fleet and all classes of halibut fishermen—both in the United States and Canada.

In spite of large catches that trollers have been making at North Island, many of the boats are not anxious to make a start owing to the very small price paid for the salmon. Quite a few, it is reported, are not bothering about going out at all.

How closely halibut haulings check out with dealers' weights is a question that has often been asked around fish exchanges but on which no definite answer had been devised until just recently when a report was made by the International Fisheries Commission. The commission's studies of unit catches are based on hauling fares, investigations having shown them to be sufficiently accurate for all practical purposes. Checking 257 trips landed at Prince Rupert during a certain period, it was found that the trips were hauled for a total of 4,112,580 pounds whereas the dealers' weights for these same trips aggregated 4,176,141 pounds, showing the hauling fares to be 1.5% under the amount weighed in. From this, it is apparent that the halibut fishermen estimate their catches with amazing accuracy.

D. C. G. MacKay, who was here last year tagging crabs and who returned a few days ago in connection with his investigations into crab life, was much disappointed in not getting better returns from his tagging. Although between six and seven hundred crabs were tagged with brightly colored celluloid tags, less than a dozen have been returned to him by fishermen. Either the crabs have not been caught or the fishermen have been careless in making returns. As the information would be of great value to the department, those who take tagged crabs are asked to return them to the biological station. Mr. MacKay is spending next week at the Naas River continuing his work in connection with crab life.

Halibut Landings

Halibut landings for the week ending yesterday totalled 651,000 pounds, consisting of 295,000 pounds Canadian and 356,000 pounds American fish, bringing the grand total of landings for the season to date up to 4,877,340 pounds including 2,305,900 pounds Canadian and 2,571,440 pounds American fish.

Prices during the week remained at a low ebb, the top bid for Canadian fish being 8.4c and 4c which the D. S. T. was paid for a catch of 4,000 pounds. The low and prevailing price of the week was 6c and 3c. The high price for American fish was 8.7c and 4c which the Anna J. received for 14,000 pounds. The low price for American fish was also 6c and 3c.

Repairs have been completed at the local dry dock on the Vancouver yacht Rio Bonita, which was damaged a few weeks ago when she went on the rocks near the entrance of Metlakatla Passage, and the vessel will be leaving in a very short time in continuation of her big game hunting voyage to Kodiak Island with Charies de Ganahl of
