E. S. Barnard, President of American League, Expires From Heart Trouble

Very Sudden

Believed That He Was Suffering From Stomach Trouble But It Was Not

ROCHESTER, Minn., March 28.—Ernest Sargent Barnard, president of the American Baseball League, died suddenly here yesterday from heart failure. He had come to the Mayo Clinic here for examination, believing that he was suffering from stomach trouble. It was found that his heart was ailing but there was no suspicion that death was so near until he suffered another attack yesterday which took him off.

Although as a young man he probably never dreamed of becoming president of the American League, E. S. Barnard received a training that peculiarly fitted him for that office.

He had been actively associated with athletics in one way or another since his prep school days, but most of the time his interest was centered on baseball.

Consequently when he was elected president of the junior major league in 1927 he assumed his duties with confidence backed up by actual experience in every department of baseball management. In fact there was little about the nature of his work that he had not learned in his earlier career.

Veregin made his home in the building but had a premonition of danger and sought other quarters.

SMALL FIRE ON BRIDGE

Damage Slight and Traffic Not Interfered With as Result of Blaze Near Haysport

Three bents affecting about thirty feet of the 90-foot span were burned when fire broke out on a pile railway trestle about one mile west of Tyece last evening. It took a work train only about four hours to effect repairs. There was no delay to train traffic as a result, it was announced by the divisional superintendent's office.

It was early last evening that word was received first that the bridge was burning. The section foreman at Tyece was sent out and reported the extent of damage. A work train was then dispatched to the scene and made repairs speedily. Damage was slight.

JOHNSON IS DEAD

Former President of American Baseball League Dies at St. Louis

Had Diabetes

Passing Was Not Unexpected—Had Stormy Career in National Sport

ST. LOUIS, March 28.—Byron Bancroft (Ban) Johnson, former president of the American League, died here this morning. He had been ill for a long time with diabetes and for several weeks it was realized that he could not recover. It was a strange coincidence that only yesterday Johnson's successor as president of the American League, Ernest Sargent Barnard, should have died at Rochester, Minn.

Ban Johnson made baseball a big business. He developed it from a sandlot pastime to a game of million dollar stadia, $75,000 players and league clubs valued at $50,000,000.

He originated the world series. He chose the presidency of the American League in 1900, at a $2,500 annual salary, in preference to a half interest in the Chicago White Sox and he made himself a $40,000 executive by applying business methods and strict discipline to a sport which, when he came to it was headquartered in the back rooms of saloons.

His sense of showmanship and his iron rule enabled Byron Bancroft Johnson to see that baseball must be decent and well-ordered to be popular, and to eliminate the rowdism which kept spectators away. He put the players on a contract basis. He lifted the morale of the sport by vesting absolute power in umpires to rule the conduct of the players on the field.

Johnson was destined for a legal career by the parents to whom he was born in Newark, Ohio, in January, 1866. He went to Oberlin College, was a schoolmate at Marietta College of Charles G. Dawes, later (Continued on page 4)

Pattullo Asks Pooley To Reopen Question of Dismissal of Official

Attorney General Advises Opposition Leader to Drop Issue, Assuring Him That Nothing Will Be Done

VICTORIA, March 28.—T. D. Pattullo, Opposition leader, made a further appeal in the Legislature Friday to Premier Tolmie and Attorney General Pooley to reopen the John L. Barge case and expunge from the records the injustice done to a pioneer settler. "The very practice for which he was denounced is being carried on to this day," said Mr. Pattullo.

Mr. Pooley advised Mr. Pattullo to drop the issue as nothing would be done. Mr. Pattullo asked Mr. Pooley to look into the matter next time he went north.

"I'll take the evidence with me," said Mr. Pattullo. Mr. Pattullo pointed out that, although the Premier had stated the evidence was in possession of the government when Mr. Barge was dismissed as mining recorder at Queen Charlotte City, the government had paid him a month's salary in lieu of notice and had held the investigation afterwards.

"They might have let the matter rest for a year and he would have been entitled to superannuation, if they were so eager to get rid of him," said the Opposition leader.

At the annual meeting of the company which was held here last night, Robert Blance, Norman Fraser, D. B. McDougall, Angus Macdonald and Reid McLennan were elected directors of the Esperanza Mines Ltd. for the year 1931.

It was decided that escrow stock would be left for a period of six months after which it may be given to the different shareholders.

Norman Fraser, superintendent of the company's property at Alice Arm, reported that development work had been resumed on a small scale on February 1 with four men employed. An ore body for which he had been drifting had been struck, Mr. Fraser reported. Development work was continuing on the same basis meantime.

The new board of directors met today and elected Robert Blance, president, and D. B. McDougall, vice-president. E. H. Mortimer was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

MAD SWEDE ON TRAIN

Was Overpowered After Throwing Train Crew and Passengers Into Excitement

There was considerable excitement early Thursday morning on the westbound passenger train when a demented Swede came aboard at Burns Lake and started in to throw train crew and passengers into terror.

When the conductor demanded fare from the madman, the latter proceeded to intimidate him. Well started by now, the maniac went back to the sleeping car and, after scaring the negro porter the proverbial pink, spied a berth with curtains open and grasped the occupant of the berth by the throat and started to shake him. The passenger who was being thus roughly handled happened to be no less than P. E. Wilson K.C., well known Prince George lawyer, who was on his way to the coast.

By the time all this had been happening, a general alarm had been raised and the madman was finally overpowered by train crew and passengers and tied up so he could cause no further trouble. On arrival of the train at Smithers he was turned over to the police.

ARCHBISHOP IS SUBJECT

Great Work of Rt. Rev. F. H. DuVernet Reviewed by Canon Rushbrook

Concluding a series of sermons during the Lenten season in St. Peter's Church, Canon W. F. Rushbrook last night gave an exceedingly interesting discourse on the life and work of the late Archbishop F. H. DuVernet.

Canon Rushbrook gave reminiscences of the boyhood of the famous pioneer cleric of Northern British Columbia, of his work in the east during his younger days and of his consecration as bishop here. The church and later the cathedral here had been named St. Andrew's. Canon Rushbrook explained, since Archbishop DuVernet had been consecrated Bishop on St. Andrew's Day. It was also significant that St. Andrew was the patron saint of fishermen. Canon Rushbrook recalled how the Archbishop, on the occasion of his consecration, had expressed the hope that it might be his privilege to carry on work on the rockbound coast of Northern British Columbia such as he had started on the north coast of Cape Breton. Then the speaker gave a number of reminiscences of the late Archbishop's great work in the diocese of Caledonia.

At the conclusion of the lecture, several expressed appreciation to Canon Rushbrook for the highly interesting discourse. The church was well-filled, principally with men. These included several who had been engaged on the construction of the new parish hall and who came in their working clothes.

FALLS RIVER MODERN POWER PROJECT

Local Development is First of Several For This Northern District

New Plant of Northern British Columbia Power Company Is Fully Described In Trade Journal By Power Corporation Designer

Power Corporation of Canada has recently completed the design and construction of the Falls River hydro-electric development for the Northern B. C. Power Company to meet the growing demand for power in the town of Prince Rupert, B.C., and vicinity, writes A. W. Finlayson, who was in direct charge of all drawings for the development in "Electrical News and Engineering." This development supplements a small hydro-electric plant, heretofore in use, which was purchased by the above company, in 1929, from the municipality of Prince Rupert.

It is the first important step in the development of a number of power sites, which will form a network of plants, to serve the northern part of British Columbia with the power necessary for the exploitation of the natural resources with which this territory is richly endowed.

The new plant is situated about south bulkhead section, arranged in the order given to form a dam across the bed of the river.

No gatehouse is provided in the initial development other than a temporary wooden structure to protect the headgate hoist and control apparatus from weather. The programme for future development, however, contemplates a reinforced concrete gatehouse of neat architectural design, provided with an overhead travelling crane for service in lifting the emergency gates and racks.

Penstock

A single steel penstock, 6 feet in diameter and 730 feet long, conducts the water from intake to powerhouse. It is supported on reinforced concrete saddles and has substantial concrete anchorage at all bend points.

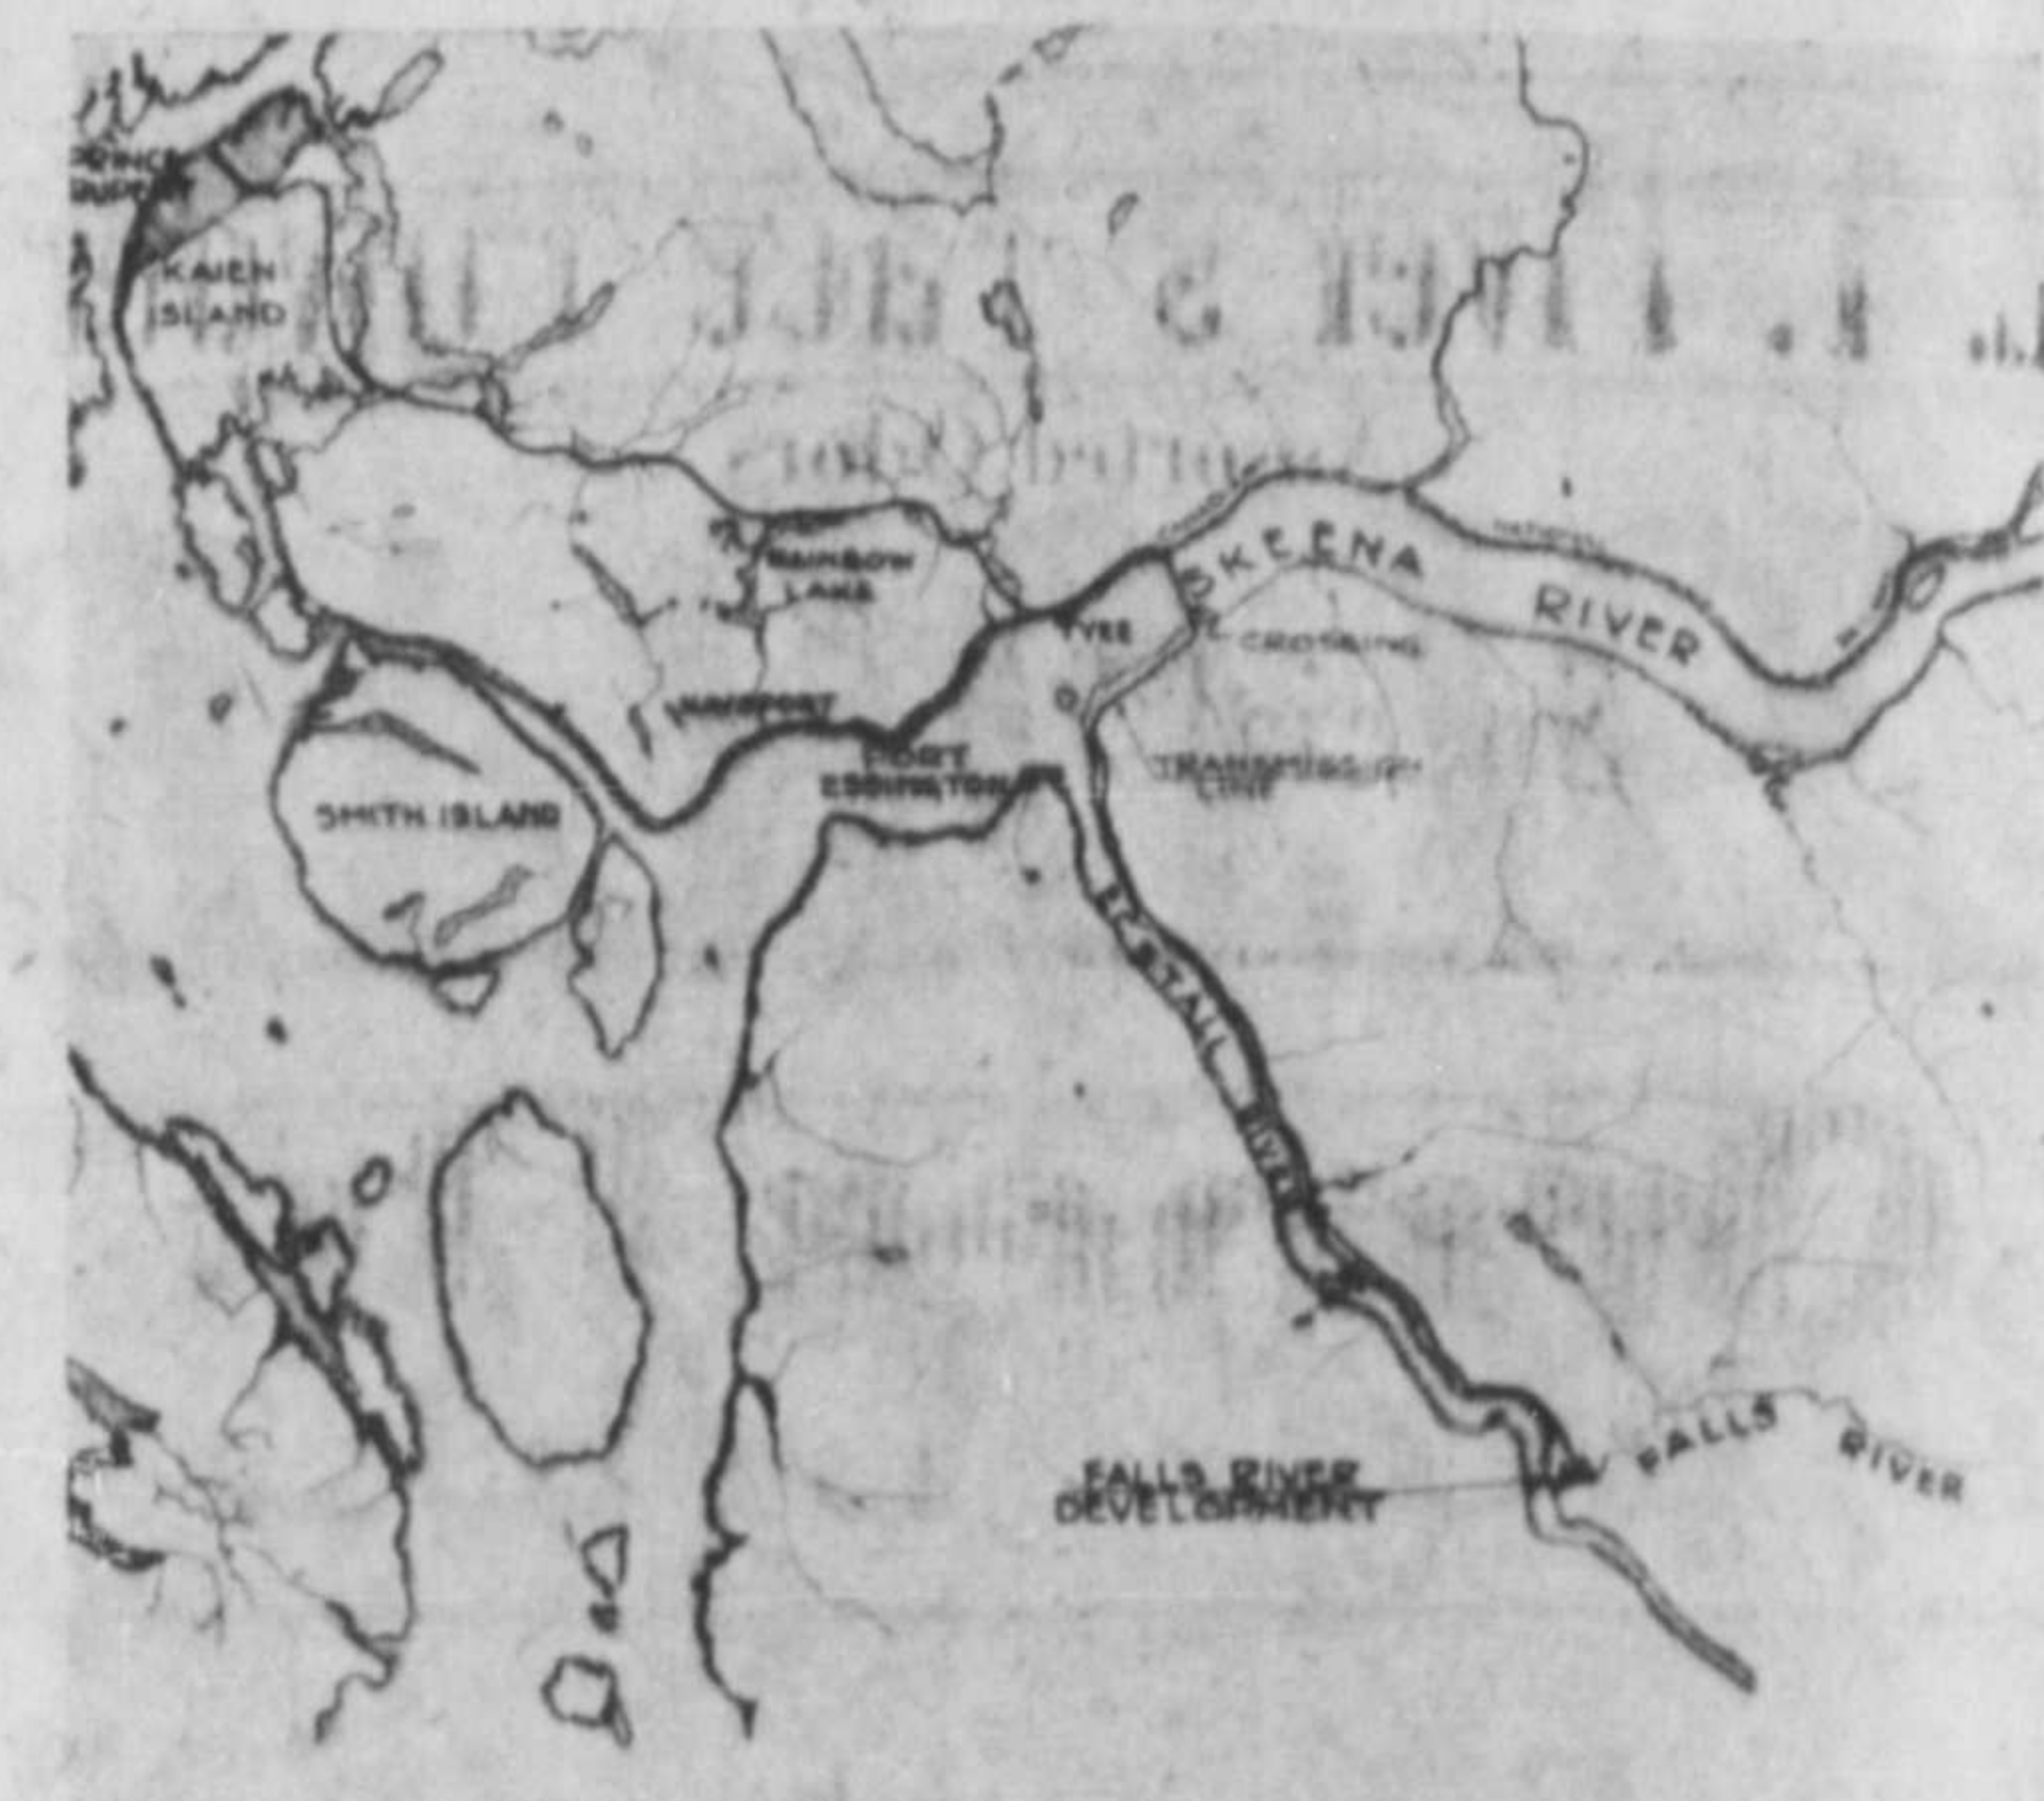

The ultimate development will include another penstock, similar to the one now installed, and two larger ones to serve 10,000 hp. units.

The Powerhouse

The powerhouse is built on a relatively flat expanse of rock on the shore of a pool at the foot of the falls. The rock being excavated for the turbine block and draft tube.

The ultimate development provides for the removal of this rock and the excavation of a tailrace channel of sufficient depth to take advantage of the extra draft obtainable at low tide.

As constructed, the powerhouse

—Courtesy Electrical News and Engineering.
Map showing the location of Falls River plant in relation to Prince Rupert.

provides for a second unit, similar to the one now installed, and for the necessary additions to the switching equipment.

Equipment

The scroll case is of riveted steel and is embedded solidly in the concrete substructure. The turbine is of the vertical Francis type and is designed for a capacity of 6,000 hp. at 450 r.p.m., with an operating head of 248 feet. Turbine gates are controlled by a Woodward oil pressure governor provided with the latest safety devices and electrically connected to the generator leads so that the governor speed will at all times correspond to the generator speed. The governor and its oil pressure system are mounted on the main floor, close to the generator.

The generator has a rated capacity of 6,000 k.v.a. at 450 r.p.m. and is designed to deliver 60 cycles power at 6,600 volts.

A noteworthy feature in the design of the Falls River plant is the arrangement of the low-tension switching apparatus for semi-automatic operation. The relays are so arranged that it is only necessary for the operator to press the starting buttons and relays start the generator, bring it up to normal speed, synchronize it and put it on the line. A system of protective relays is also provided for shutting down the unit temporarily for a number of system faults of a temporary nature and for shutting down and locking out the unit should more serious trouble arise. The switching equipment is of the most modern design and is metal-clad throughout.

The design of the Falls River plant is very compact, all functions connected with the normal operation of the two 6,000 k.v.a. units being carried out on a single floor, in a space approximately forty feet square. The electrical equipment has been laid out with generator, switchboard, low-tension oil switches, step-up transformers and future high-tension switching arranged in a direct line thus cutting down the length of expensive conductors to a minimum.

Two well built cottages, of modern design and appointment, to accommodate the operators and their families, complete the present development at the Falls River end of the system.

Transmission Line

Power is transmitted to the substation in Prince Rupert over a 66,000 volt line, 43 miles in length. Substantial wood pole structures of H-frame construction support a single circuit power line the major part of this distance, the normal span between structures being 450 ft. Single pole structures were used where the precarious nature of the side hills rendered the H-frame type impractical. Single pole structures, designed for a future second circuit are used on Kaler Island, near the Prince Rupert end of the line.

The crossing of the Skeena River at a point near Tye, where the river is about one and one-half miles in width, necessitated the use of some large steel crossing towers and specially designed concrete foundations.

It is a matter of satisfaction that with the exception of the headgate, which is of patented design, all material was purchased within the British Empire and most of it was supplied by Canadian manufacturers.

30 miles southeast of Prince Rupert at the confluence of Falls and the Estall rivers, the latter being a tributary of the Skeena River. The choice of this site was influenced by its relative proximity to the location of the present market and by its development in several stages as the demand for power increases.

Access to the site, by land, from the nearest point of contact with the railway is difficult, the only practical route for the transport of material being by water from Prince Rupert by way of Skeena River and the Estall.

The drainage area of the Falls River basin is about 90 square miles. Records show that precipitation is high during the months of October, November, December and January and low during months of May, June, July and August, because the upper reaches of the mountain slopes are covered with snowfields and glaciers, which act as a natural storage, retarding the run-off during the winter months and augmenting the flow during the relatively dry summer months. This natural reservoir, however, is not sufficient to give a uniform flow throughout the year; so it was decided to provide an artificial storage which would accomplish this object. The topography of the basin is such that both the head of water and the storage can be increased in stages, by raising the dam as the demand for power increases.

General Arrangement

From the site of the dam the river flows down a steep chute dropping about 180 feet to a pool near the powerhouse. From the pool the water is discharged over a neck of solid rock or natural weir known as the Lower Falls, into a tidal pool which is an arm of the Estall River. At times of high tide the Lower Falls are submerged.

In the present development which constitutes the first stage only, only one unit has been installed.

Suffered From Heart Trouble Became Weak and Run Down

Mrs. Wm. Dottle, Glensandfield, Ont., writes:—
"For a long period I suffered from heart trouble, and became very weak and run down. I tried various remedies, but they did me no good. One day I met a friend and told her of my trouble. She said she had had heart trouble for two years too, but after using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for a short time she had been relieved of her trouble, so I got two boxes and after taking them I was again feeling fine, and always recommend H. & N. Pills to anyone complaining of heart trouble."

BESSBOROUGH IS COMING

The Earl of Bessborough is on his way to Canada to become the first governor appointed by His Majesty, King George, on the advice of his Canadian first minister. The fact that most of us had never heard of His Lordship before the appointment is nothing against him. He has not figured, so far as we know, in any political squabbles and is neither famous nor infamous. As an ordinary man come to live with ordinary people he will doubtless be welcomed. We hope he will come to Prince Rupert before long.

The idea in paying the income tax every week is to continually remind all that they are paying toll to the Tolmie Government for the privilege of living. It is rather a costly method but doubtless will prove effective.

VESTED INTERESTS

British Columbia has been asked to give the United States a vested interest in a highway connecting United States and Alaska. People to the south will construct it if we will give them certain rights there which ordinarily belong to Canada. The highway would then to all intents and purposes become an American road instead of Canadian, a condition which a self-respecting nation cannot allow.

At one time a proposal was made that American interests should maintain salmon hatcheries on the Fraser River because American fishermen took most of the fish which were propagated there. The proposal was definitely refused because it was felt that it would give the United States a vested interest in the Canadian River. Canadian sovereignty must be maintained, even at financial loss.

While the idea of getting a highway constructed free of cost is very attractive, the price in the long run would be too high, we are inclined to think. We must at any price maintain our self respect as a nation.

If you would get rich invest in a sweepstake and there is one chance in ten million that you may make a fortune.

Can't PLAY
Can't REST
—child needs Castoria

WHEN a child is fretful and irritable, seems distressed and uncomfortable, can't play, can't sleep, it is a pretty sure sign that something is wrong. Right here is where Castoria fits into a child's scheme—the very purpose for which it was formulated years ago! A few drops and the condition which caused the trouble is righted; comfort quickly brings restful sleep.

Nothing can take the place of Castoria for children; it's perfectly harmless, yet always effective. For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—keep this old reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an every-day aid. Its gentle action will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. In more liberal doses it will effectively help to regulate sluggish bowels in an older child. All druggists have Castoria; it's genuine if you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature and this name-plate:

Relation of the Liver and Kidneys

Such that each suffers when other deranged—Both regulated by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills

When the liver becomes sluggish or torpid in action, the kidneys have to help out with the work of filtration. When the liver fails the kidneys have all the work to do.

Hence the beginning of trouble is usually biliousness, indigestion and constipation and after a time the kidneys begin to be affected and there comes backache, urinary derangements and kidney disease.

The remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills is due to their unique combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels. They get at the cause of trouble and remove it no matter how complicated it may be. Promptly and thoroughly they cleanse the bowels or intestines, arouse the liver action and thereby relieve the overworked kidneys.

VANCOUVER LIONS AHEAD OF SEATTLE IN PLAY-OFFS

GOALS IN FIRST AND LAST MINUTES GAVE VICTORY TO LIONS IN HECTIC CONTEST

Osmundsen and Jerwa Score For Terminal City, Belleville For Eskimos—Next Game in Vancouver

SEATTLE, March 28.—Scoring in the very first minute of play and again in the very last, the Vancouver Lions went one up in the Pacific Coast Hockey League play-offs by defeating Seattle Eskimos two to one here last night. It was a spectacular game and Vancouver fully deserved to win although Seattle made a great fight of it. Ossie Osmundsen scored Vancouver's first goal and Frank Jerwa the winning one when there were only five Lions on the ice including the goal keeper. Pete Belleville was responsible for Seattle's lone tally.

The game had hardly started when Ossie Osmundsen scored for Vancouver with a beautiful solo shot from about five feet inside the Seattle blue line. It whizzed right past Dave Kemp without giving him any chance. It was one minute nine seconds after the start.

Pete Belleville tied it up for Seattle with one of his characteristically fast shots. The puck was passed to him by Red Stewart.

Vancouver opened the third period with an offensive game. Play was back and forth and there was a lot of skating with fine checking by both sides. Early in the period, a penalty was called against Vancouver but, despite an exciting, concerted attack, Seattle failed to score. Percy Jackson saved beautifully. About two minutes before the end, Jimmy Arnott was penalized and it looked like another big chance for Seattle. Frank Jerwa, however, broke through in the last minute and beat Kemp with a long solo shot and the game ended two to one for Vancouver.

The fourth game of the series will be played in Vancouver Monday night. If a fifth is necessary, it will take place here next Wednesday.

The summary of play-off games so far is as follows:

First Game—Vancouver, 1; Seattle, nil.

Second Game—Seattle, 6; Vancouver, 1.

Third Game—Vancouver, 2; Seattle, 1.

The best three out of five games decides the issue.

SCOTLAND WINS SOCCER MATCH FROM ENGLAND

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 28.—Scotland defeated England two to nil in international soccer today.

ditional game with which he was not personally acquainted, except, perhaps as professional player and umpire.

Serving as a baseball writer and sports editor created in Mr. Barnard a desire to get in closer touch with professional baseball and when an opportunity presented itself he organized a league club. Next he was elected president of a minor league and there followed nearly 25 years service with a major league club as secretary, business manager and president.

Succeeded Johnson

When Byron Bancroft Johnson virtually forced his own resignation as president of the American League by his numerous conflicts with Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis, the names of several men were mentioned as possibilities for the place. It was not surprising, however, that the club owners turned to Mr. Barnard and elected him unanimously as the successor of President Johnson. Barnard had been the leading candidate from the time Johnson's resignation became imminent.

Mr. Barnard was born July 17, 1874, at West Columbia, W. Va., but his parents moved to Ohio before he entered his teens. In 1888 the future president of the American League entered Otterbein Academy at Westerville, Ohio, and seven years later was graduated from Otterbein College. He married Miss Josephine Flick of Cleveland, in December, 1918.

Football claimed the attention of Mr. Barnard while he was at Otterbein Academy and College and for a few years after. He played half-back with the academy team and during his undergraduate days at college became a football coach although only 16 years of age. He continued to coach the team for three years after his graduation, signing up in 1898 as mentor of the gridiron team of Ohio Medical University, now incorporated in Ohio State University.

About the same time he became sports editor of the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch. While in that position he launched into professional baseball as an associate of Robert Quinn, later president of the Boston Red Sox, in the organization of the Columbus team of the old Western Association. From that time on he devoted himself to baseball.

JOHNSON IS DEAD

vice-president, and graduated in law at the University of Cincinnati. But he soon deserted the bar for newspaper work, and won recognition as a sport writer.

Charles A. Comiskey, then manager of the Cincinnati National League club, enlisted Johnson's help in a baseball venture and they organized the Western League in 1893. Seven years later they invaded the National League territory in the east and founded the American League, of which Johnson became president.

Agreement Reached

The two circuits warred for three years, then at Johnson's behest signed an agreement creating an arbitration commission to settle disputes. In this Johnson long held the balance of power.

When the Federal League threatened to cleave major league baseball in 1913, Johnson led a successful war against it and emerged as a permanent and established business.

But the "fixed" Cincinnati cago world series of 1919 aroused fear in the clubowners that game would lose its appeal to public, and they chose Judge K. saw Mountain Landis as commissioner, doing away with the arbitration commission and depriving Johnson of some of his power, and Landis clashed frequently.

When scandal involved the name of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker in the Johnson incensed Landis by commenting publicly on the late handling of the allegations and clubowners averted a threatened battle by giving Johnson a leave absence.

Johnson needed the rest. For years he had spent eight to ten hours a day at his desk, and his health had become so endangered that annual trips to resorts gave him only temporary relief. He was willingly to seek recuperation in the south.

Country Readers of "The Daily News"

To the readers of the Daily News who live out of town, we suggest that the classified columns of the paper provide an excellent medium for the disposal of articles they may have for sale or exchange.

Last season a lady at Smithers did a large business in selling fresh eggs direct from the farm by advertising in this paper.

Chickens, implements, household goods, boats, fishing gear, guns, cordwood, furs and dozens of other articles may be disposed of. The charge is two cents a word but six times goes for the price of four.

Many people get good results. Why not you?

DISTRICT ROAD WORK
 Editor, Daily News:—
 In Thursday's News you publish a despatch showing that the Prince George district is voted $91,000 and the Prince Rupert district $27,000 for roads, etc., and you emphasize the difference.
 You surely are aware that these district votes cover only maintenance and completed roads and bridges, and not new work.
 You must also know that the Prince George district includes the B.C. portion of the rapidly settling Peace River district having several hundred miles of completed roads; and are also aware that the Prince Rupert district has only about 40 miles of roads, therefore we are actually getting much more proportionally than Prince George, considering our mileage; the vote here is the same as last year and more than other recent years for the same purpose.
 As the government is only in office two and a half years they are not to blame for the fact that we only have about 40 miles of road in this Prince Rupert district, which takes in the Q. C. Islands and as far up the Skeena River as Haysport only.
 You surely are aware that the DISTRICT VOTES that you gave, cover only road and bridge maintenance, and that new work is voted yearly in a lump sum as the B. C. ROAD LOAN and the amount that each district gets is determined after the House rises; so far this year the road loan vote has not yet been voted.
 In the last 12 months from the Q. C. Islands to Skeena River on roads and bridges about $300,000 has been spent; it would be of interest, Mr. Editor, if you would tell your readers how much more than this was spent by the Liberal government in their 12 years of office, in the above area, on NEW roads and bridges.
 I remember about four years ago reading in the News an item stating that it was hoped to reach Terrace that fall with the road from Hazelton, but when the new government went into office I enquired how much mileage there was to complete the road to Terrace from the east, and was astounded to learn that 42 miles was needed, most of which was not even surveyed.
 As the facts could have been got from the public works office here for the asking, it is strange that the press did not give them.
 I hope Mr. Editor, that you do not wish to have road work cease out of this city, like some people here actually do, to make a political point; but this is surely not likely.
 Yours for progress on the new road.
 W. R. LOVE.

Halibut Landings Show Increase—Oolachan Run Is Now On—Salmon Outlook Not Bright

With many Canadian boats landing their first catches of the season, halibut landings at Prince Rupert for the past week totalled 279,800 pounds. This was still a good deal lower than normal as there was only 45,000 pounds of American fish landed during the week.

In view of the fact that the United Pacific Fisheries, which so far has handled all the halibut that has been landed at the port of Prince Rupert, is paying 10c and 7c, the same down price as is being paid in Prince Rupert for halibut in Ketchikan, doubts are expressed as to whether much American halibut will come into Prince Rupert at all under the present arrangement.

Of course, the Seattle fleet has only just got to work following the settlement of the dispute between boat owners and fishermen as to boat's share. A few weeks will have to elapse before it can be ascertained just what effect the new marketing arrangement will have upon the volume of landings at this port.

The annual run of oolachans is now on at the mouth of the Naas River and, as usual, many Indians from the Naas River villages are around Fishery Bay taking the harvest of these peculiar fish by which so much store has been put up by the Indians ever since the very early days of their history.

After having been tied up for a couple of weeks with the flu and complications, George Smith, wharfinger at the Government Wharf, was able to resume his duties this week. He is still, however, feeling a bit shaky.

Seizure off the coast of British Columbia of four foreign vessels by the Canadian fisheries patrol is the subject of a case on which argument was concluded a few days ago in appeal before the Supreme Court.

siderable number of canneries will remain closed over this season, with a consequent diminished payroll, and the fishermen will no doubt be confronted with the necessity of selling his catch at a big price cut over last year.

The one redeeming feature in an otherwise deplorable situation is that the industry has awakened to the necessity and possibility of creating a greater demand in the home market for its product, by focusing public attention on the many advantages of a more generous canned salmon bill-of-fare, attractively set forth by that modern business stimulator—advertising. It will be interesting to watch the reaction.

Offices Moved Over

Offices of the Nootka Packing Co. Ltd. and the Langara Fishing & Packing Co. Ltd. have been moved from Everett, Wash., to Vancouver, where J. J. Petrich will now make his headquarters.

Differences between fish buyers and fishermen at Vancouver over the cull have also arisen this season. The major buyers have insisted that fish weighing over 30 pounds should be classed as second grade, the fishermen have turned to the British Columbia Fisheries Co-operative Association to take their catches.

The American halibut boat Sitka, formerly owned by the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. of Prince Rupert, will not fish halibut this year but will act as a tender for a fleet of small Juneau boats.

It is hinted that a complete reorganization of the B. C. Fishermen's Protective Association will be undertaken next month. It is proposed to have one big union, where all branches of fishermen, seiners, trollers and gill-netters will meet on common ground, with a paid secretary to take care of the organization's work.

The power tug Salvage Princess, Capt. Frank Tyler, ordinarily stationed here in the service of the Pacific Salvage Co. but for the past few months operating out of Vancouver returned to Vancouver this week after having successfully re-floated the Pacific Mills tugboat John M. which drove ashore on a reef near Ocean Falls on March 17, the Princess being dispatched shortly afterwards to get her off. Damage to the John M., which is 38 feet long and was built in 1920 is estimated at $3,000.

PAIN after eating

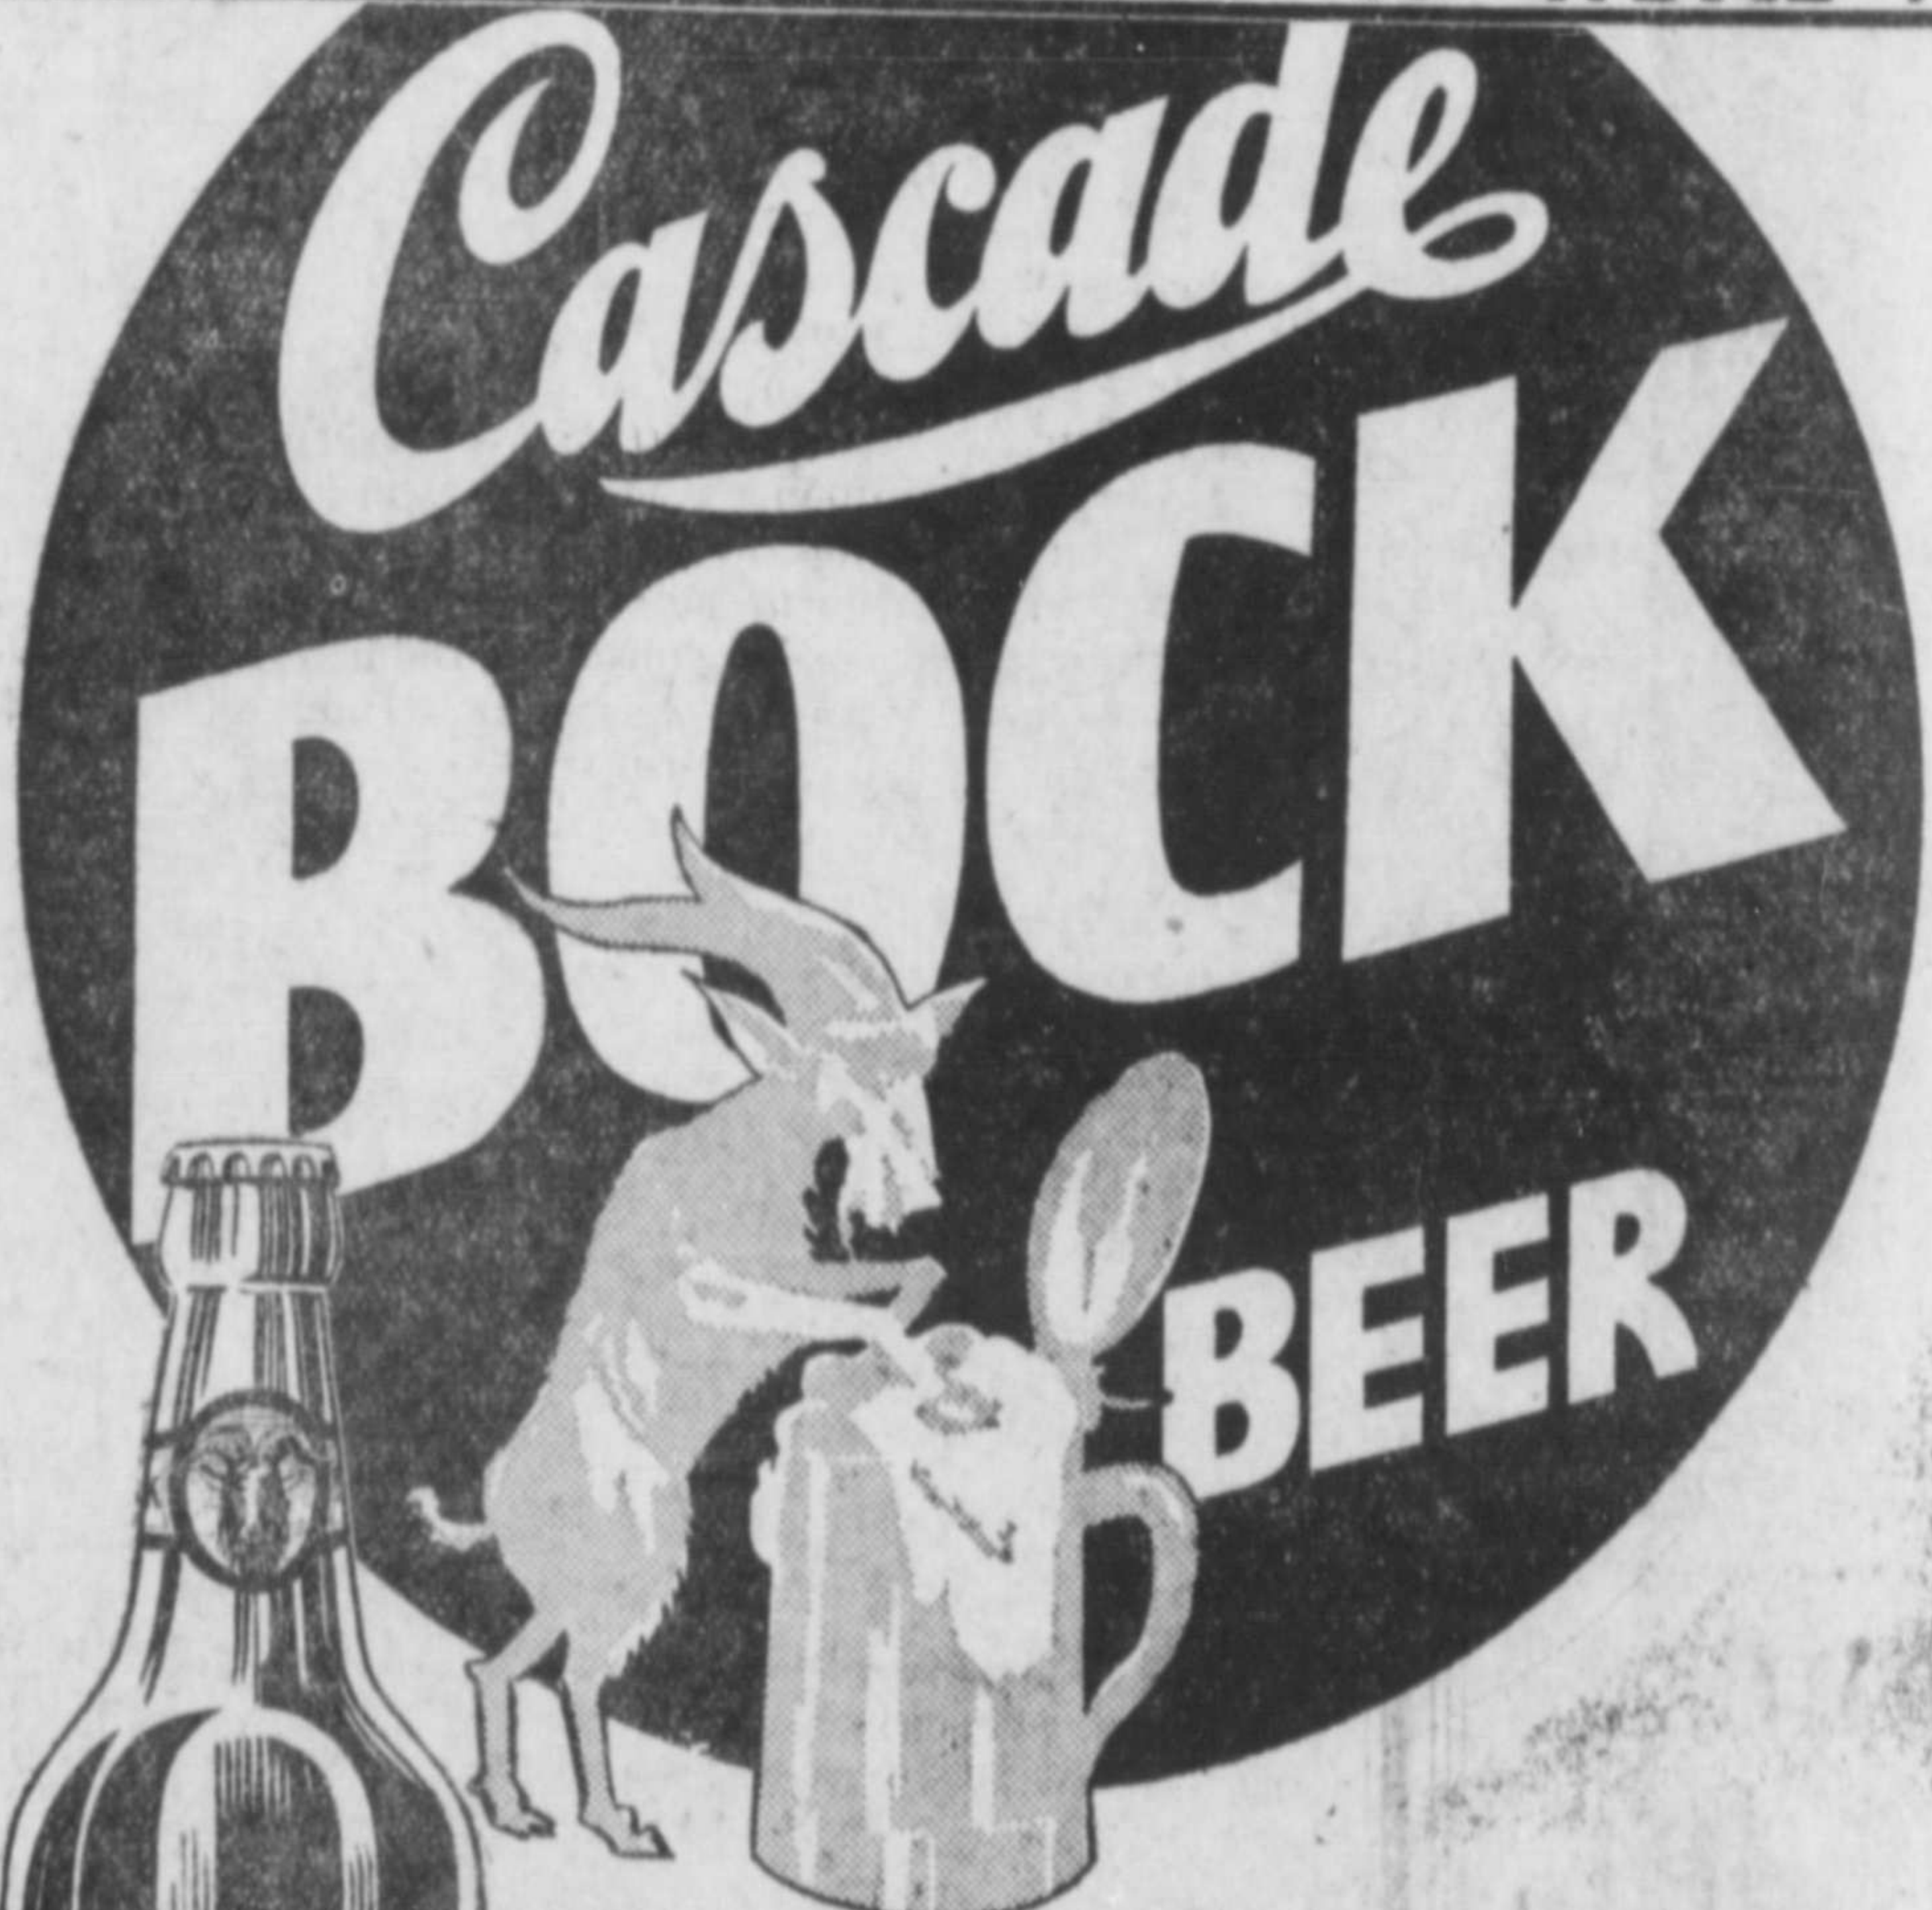

WHAT many call "indigestion" is very often nothing but excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. The best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard anti-acid with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this more pleasant way. A small bottle is sufficient to show its merit. Be sure to get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for more than 50 years in correcting excess acid. 50c a bottle; any drugstore. Complete directions for its many uses are enclosed with every bottle. The Genuine Milk of Magnesia is always a liquid—never a tablet. Look for the Phillips' name on bottle.
