GOVERNMENT ACTION ON FISH ASKED "BACK TO LAND" MOVE IN CANADA PROVING SUCCESS

Proposal Is Sent To Ottawa Asking That Clearances Be Held

Requested That Ten Days be Allowed to Elapse Between Time of Boat's Arrival With Fish and Departure; United States Asked to Agree

The city council of Prince Rupert with fish buyers and fishermen's and boat owners' representatives, at a conference last night decided to request the customs department, through Hon. Edgar W. Rhodes, minister of fisheries, to not grant clearance to halibut fishing vessels for ten days after entering Canadian ports on the Pacific Coast with catches of fish. It is also requested that the Canadian government take the matter up with Washington with a view to having the American customs act likewise in respect to halibut fishing vessels on the coast. The proposal is asked to be made contingent upon both governments agreeing upon its becoming effective as soon as possible.

HALF MILLION DOLLAR BLAZE IN SEATTLE

SEATTLE, June 10.—A $500,000 fire swept through the industrial section around the old shipbuilding plants on the local waterfront yesterday.

that the Canadian government take the matter up with Washington with a view to having the American customs act likewise in respect to halibut fishing vessels on the coast. The proposal is asked to be made contingent upon both governments agreeing upon its becoming effective as soon as possible.

The proposal is being advanced with a view to preventing abnormal quantities of halibut being landed, thus demoralizing the market and causing price conditions under which the boat owners and fishermen declare that they cannot afford to operate.

Following was the text of the telegram which Mayor Orme sent to the minister of fisheries at the conclusion of the meeting last night:

"During past two weeks price paid to halibut fishermen has been on the average below cost of production. Poor marketing conditions resulting in abnormal quantities being frozen. Canadian fishermen unanimously support tying up ten days between each trip for two or three trips. Believe American fishermen agree likewise but on account American fleet being scattered impossible to secure unanimous opinion. Manager of American vessel owners three weeks ago approved of idea of tying up for ten days and all American boats spoken to here are in favor of same. Therefore would ask that Canadian Customs do not grant clearance to halibut fishing vessels for ten days after entering Pacific Canadian ports and request that the Government take the matter up with Washington that American Customs do likewise to all halibut fishing vessels entering Pacific American ports this proposal contingent on both governments agreeing to become effective as soon as possible. This proposal has unanimous support of all fishermen and fish buyers and citizens generally in Prince Rupert."

CEDAR BEST WOOD

John Morgan, one of the owners of the Billmor Spruce Mills and manager of the J. R. Morgan Co., loggers, states that cedar will last much longer than spruce for any outdoor work and for sidewalks will outlast fir. He says there are plenty of examples of this at the canneries and mills. The city council at its recent meeting decided to use cedar for the sidewalks on McBride Street and Second Avenue.

LOGGING AND NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

How many people ever realized that there was a connection between logging and newspaper advertising? This year newspapers have had dozens of cancellations of advertising schedules. To such an extent has this been the case that it has become almost a nightmare with publishers. It is pointed out that when a page of advertising is cancelled the size of the city newspaper is cut down that much and if this happens all over the country the mill orders for paper are cut down and the mills send out to the loggers a cancellation of their orders. Local loggers state that is what has been happening often this year. There have been repeated cancellations. If the manufacturers had continued their advertising, the newspapers would have continued the size of their papers, the paper mills would have been kept busy and the loggers would have been cutting logs in the woods. The whole circle is affected by the failure at one end.

MANUFACTURERS' ASSOCIATION

Recently the Manufacturers' Association urged greater governmental economy. That would mean less work for many employees and so another vicious circle would be commenced. If all carried on as usual all would be happy, but the failure of one of the links of the chain causes endless suffering.

WINNING LETTER

Miss Martha Hirano of This City Took First Prize in Vancouver-Sun Competition.

Following was the letter with which Martha Hirano of Seal Cove, Prince Rupert, won first prize this month in the Sun-Ray contest conducted by the Vancouver Sun: "After reading the Sun Ray page I did exactly what you told us to do, that is, I asked myself those two questions: 'Am I one of those who help to make the Sun-Ray page more interesting? or Am I one of those who sit lazily enjoying the page that others have helped to make interesting?' and I came to the conclusion that I was one of the latter. I am very ashamed of myself, but I am determined, at the same time, to get out of the second group and join the first. The result of these two questions is this letter and I hope that time will permit others to follow.

"I have just finished house-cleaning, and there is still half an-hour before getting lunch ready, therefore I decided to spend it wisely writing to you.

"There are so many things about which I had to tell you, and it is so hard to know which one to begin with. However, I suppose the most logical way is to describe the incidents in order of time.

"Last Saturday a stray cat came to our home. Mother was cleaning her bedroom and in a box in which she keeps her cushions she found a black cat with a patch of white on its breast. It looked so comfortable that when I saw it I couldn't take it away from those soft cushions. I looked at mummy and she understood.

I Plan for Cat

"She gave me a cushion and with it I succeeded in making quite a comfortable place for the cat. The next day, however, when I visited Mrs. Kat (the name we gave her) we found two little kittens, but one of them was dead. My brothers and sister came to see them, too, and we all felt very sorry for the dear lifeless little form lying there. I wanted to bury it, but Mrs. Kat would not let me take it.

"The next day I went for a visit again and to my surprise the other little kitten was dead too. Mrs. Kat meowed sorrowfully as I approached. That evening I brought her some supper and I took another peek at the box. Mrs. Kat was there, but when she came out to eat, the little kittens were gone. My curiosity was aroused.

"I asked everyone in our family if he or she knew anything about those kittens; but they all said that they didn't, and so I thought perhaps Mrs. Kat had a funeral for them herself. Mrs. Kat is our constant companion at present and we all love her very much.

Reminded of Day

"Talking about animals reminds me of a dog, about which I had promised to tell you quite a while ago. The reason I haven't said anything about it is because it hasn't arrived yet. At present it is in Germany. A few days ago we received news that Fema, the dog, received a silver cup as 1st prize in a recent dog examination at Berlin. The police force had wished to buy it, but her master won't sell it for anything. Although I have read and heard much of love between man and dog, yet this is the first time that I have seen such great devotion. Each day I long to see Fema, but until July I shall not be able to.

"Well, it's about time to begin preparing lunch, so I'll continue writing after.

"Here I am again. Not that it makes any difference in a letter. "I was scraping some things that were stuck to the bottom of a pan so that I could give it to the chickens; but I didn't have to go as far as the chicken coup because they came rushing up to me when they heard me scraping. It didn't occur to me that they would get used to the sound and would come to me without my calling them first, so I was a little surprised. But I am glad that they are not afraid of me for I love animals of all kinds.

"As I read this letter over I'm afraid I've changed to Mr. Burgess. It seems to be that all I've talked about is animals.

"It's raining today, but, not in torrents. Just enough to water God's gardens. As I look out of the windows I notice that nature has undergone great changes. Everything looks so green and fresh, too. The bare winter branches are now covered with dancing leaves, and they look so stately and beautiful. I am glad I do not live in the business centre of Prince Rupert, where there is no place for trees and grass to grow as they like, in wild confusion.

Far To School

"As school is two and-a-half miles away from here, I often walk home along the railway because then I can enjoy the lovely sea breeze, the mountains, the trees and everything that is beautiful. Sometimes I sit and gaze for hours at the great works of God. If I didn't have to hurry home so that I could get my home work done then I'm afraid I'd never leave my seat which is under the shelter of a large pine tree.

"Yesterday as I was coming home I spied a little field mouse under a large rock. As coincidence would have it I had some of my lunch left over and I was taking it home to the chickens. I took a little piece of my sandwich and gave it to the mouse. It didn't come out while I was watching it, but after a few minutes I looked again and the piece of sandwich was gone. I would have stayed and tried to make friends with it, if I had had the time, but since I didn't I left all my lunch there.

"Well, it's degenerating into an animal story again, and so I better close since I am making no progress in changing the subject.

"Please excuse me if I have 'bored you to tears.' (I should not have used that phrase because it is hackneyed, but it fits in so nicely there.) Such excuse as this may not pass before my English teacher's eyes, but you are not my English teacher, so I suppose I am safe. Ha! Ha!

"Goodbye now, but please give my best regards to all my cousins."

GYRO CLUB LUNCHEON

City to be Asked to Repair Play-Grounds—Committee Named for Handling of Fair Concessions

The Gyro Club, at its regular monthly business luncheon yesterday, decided to take up with the city the necessity of repairs being made to various playgrounds in the city which were established by the club and turned over to the city. It was pointed out that some of the grounds are in a deplorable condition, having high run to ruin. It was left to the club activities committee to go further into the matter with the city.

Arrangements for the handling of the concessions at this year's Exhibition by the Gyro and Rotary Clubs jointly were discussed. The Gyro Club committee to make preliminary arrangements for this work consists of C. A. Kirkendall, Dr. L. W. Kergin and H. A. Breen while the Rotary Club committee consists of G. H. Munro and S. D. Johnston.

Sending of a delegate to the forthcoming International convention in Hamilton or the district in Vancouver was discussed and the matter referred to the executive for action.

It was decided to abandon the excursion to Ketchikan, which was planned to have been made this week-end, in view of the fact that business prevents many of the members from going at this time. It is possible the trip may be made in August.

H. D. Barrett was initiated as a member of the club. William Mitchell was appointed song leader following departure from the city of M. M. Blott. The winner of the luncheon raffle was Wm. Cruickshank.

The luncheon was presided over by President C. C. Mills and there was a good attendance of members.

LEGION WINNER

Defeated Regiment One to Nil in Soccer Game

WALTERS WINS RACE

The Gilhuly Cup fixture last evening between the Legion and the Regiment was productive of an evenly-contested game with the Legion rather lucky winners by the only score of the match.

Regiment forwards were clever at the start but Bapthe cleared and then Denne was weak when the Legion attacked. Edgcombe cleared when Warren was dangerous and Wilson crossed a couple but Carroll failed. Howe forced the game and Warren had an opening but shot weakly. Kelsey was very effective. Fong and Wingham combined nicely but the former shot past. Wilson had an opening but lost the ball. Watson missed and Warren was through but Laidler saved his hard drive. To prevent a corner the goalie followed out and, in a scrimmage, Bussanich got the ball and his weak shot rolled along and into the goal for the opening score. Carroll was limping badly and Wilson went into centre. Thurber cleared and Regiment were attacking when half time came.

Legion attacked at the start with Woodside, Warren and Howe combining but Watson kicked clear. Bapthe and Jack were hard put to stop Fong and Wingham but the ball was cleared. W. Murray stopped Wingham and drove in a long shot that Laidler easily cleared. Warren finished very weakly when close in on Laidler, turning the ball tamely into the keeper's hands. Watson came through to help the Regiment forwards but Wingham crossed the ball too far back and an opening was lost. Carroll had an open goal but was too lame to take advantage of it and Smith cleared. A claim for a penalty by the Regiment was disallowed. Wilson's corner just missed the cross bar to the relief of the Legion defence. Full time came with the Legion attacking.

Referee: W. Barton; linesmen, A. Clapperton, J. Norrington.

Comment on Game

The game was very evenly contested but the defences were generally able to repel attacks of the forwards. Legion had two spares neither of whom was of any assistance. The Regiment were handicapped by Carroll's old injury crippling him early in the game and by Lyons' weakness.

Smith had little to do in the Legion goal but was safe. Jack and Bapthe were a fine pair of backs. Woodside was the pick of the halves though at times his tactics are questionable. Howe played hard. W. Murray tackled well though he did not feed his forwards. Warren and Bussanich were the best forwards. Murray showed some ball control but is very ineffective. The two new men were of no value.

Walters Wins Race

The final of the 100-yard handicap was run off, Alex Walters winning from Philip Edgcombe by a good yard. Vance had a handicap of four yards with Edgcombe and Walters at scratch. Edgcombe was left at the start while Walters had caught Vance in 20 yards. Edgcombe made a fine effort but never had a chance after his poor get-away and Walters was never headed.

LETTER BOX

SPARTAN ATHLETIC CLUB IS VERY MUCH ALIVE

Editor, Daily News:— On behalf of the Spartan Athletic Club, I wish to take exception to a news item which appeared on your sports page a few days ago.

In reporting the last football game, you say that the newly formed Spartan Athletic Club should take advantage of the 100-yard handicap race fostered by the Football Association, or words to that effect. We feel that in this article there was a very obvious insinuation that the Spartan Club was not showing many signs of life. We also feel that the Football Association may think they are staging the handicap for our benefit only. The Spartan Club knew nothing about the race officially. The race was open, and if individual members of our club were unable to get up to the grounds that in no way should reflect upon the club.

If the football association wants us to enter runners in a handicap meet, we should very much appreciate some notification of how the handicaps are to be decided, and any other necessary details.

The Spartan Athletic Club is very much alive, and the members are most anxious to take part in races at all times, but if individual members fail to turn up to a race that is open and in no way restricted to club members, then the club's name should not be mentioned in a reprint for individuals.

Thanking you for the very valuable publicity you have given the club, and trusting that this explanation may meet with the understanding of the football association, I am,

Yours faithfully,
J. W. PLOMMER,
President Spartan Athletic Club.

URGES SIDEWALK REPAIRS

Editor, Daily News:— I think your article in Tuesday's paper urging all citizens to keep their premises in good repair during this period of depression was well timed. Very often just a little thought, labor and a small outlay from each property owner will prevent that "down at the heels" appearance which spoils a city.

I would suggest that you send a marked copy of this edition to each of our city fathers, for they should set an example in this direction, and are sometimes a bit remiss.

For instance, early last fall our good council saw fit to barricade the sidewalk on Seventh Street from Second to Third Avenues. Now this is the most direct route from the Post Office to Third Avenue, and certainly should not be closed for nine months.

In the first place it was not in very bad condition. It is level, has a solid foundation and ten dollars would have put it in good repair. The street is used constantly. It is wonderful how quickly we northern people adapt ourselves to conditions, however inconvenient they may be. The "Dangerous-Closed to Traffic" signs have very little terror for us now.

It is interesting to watch how the different people manage to swing around these obstacles; one foot planted firmly at the support of the barricade and the other swung in midair for a time, always seems to swing the body around to safety on the sidewalk. Some flappers manage it with a flourish, while their elders not so good; I have even seen a cripple with crutches manipulate it slowly and painfully, preferring this to the rough, stony road.

Now the tourist season is here and certainly it does not make a good impression on strangers when they visit the post office (and most of them do) to see this danger sign on the street leading to the main thoroughfare. They will probably not be venturesome enough to risk the dangers set forth and saunter back to the boat without ever having seen our fair city.

I hope your policy of a sane, economical program of repair and improvement will be followed by our citizens and city council, and that they will begin on Seventh Street. Signed: RATEPAYER.

Fire at Farmhouse Of Local Man Near Terrace Yesterday

Supposedly caused by an overheated chimney pipe, the small house on the farm near Terrace of Charles H. Finlay of this city caught fire last evening between 5 and 5:30 o'clock. The flames were extinguished with no more serious damage than burning of part of the roof.

Famous Women Golfers

When these young misses' names are included in any women's golf tournaments it's high time for their opponents to watch out for their laurels. They took part in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association international team matches at the Montclair Golf Club, N.J. Left to right: Miss Martha Parker, N.Y., and Miss Helen Hicks, Long Island, Jersey; Miss Glenna Collett, Westchester.

SPORT CHAT

Now that all the teams in the local baseball league have met each other a general idea of the comparative strengths is seen. Sons of Canada, who won both their games last week, are made up mostly of the younger boys and have several players who have not played in senior company before. Styles at first, Johnson at short and Comadina in the outfield are all young players, while Roberts and Kenny are new men in town. As long as Lambie's arm keeps in good condition, they should have no trouble in winning their share of games.

The Elks, thought at first to have the strongest line-up in the circuit, seem to have got off to a bad start. Their inability to field a strong team on Sunday, when they were short some players no doubt cost them a victory over the Sons. Monday night their batting list looked pretty weak. Vic Menzies and George Mitchell will strengthen the line-up when they turn out, but Bill Harold will likely be out of the game for some time on account of ill-health.

Andy Donald's Millionaires, considered at first to be very weak, look much better now that he has acquired a few new men and if he can keep his players in town will be a hard team to beat. Both the manager and the players of this team are to be commended for the manner in which they turn out on time for the games, with always a player or two to spare. There is nothing more annoying to the fans than to arrive at the game on time and have to wait half an hour for two or three players to show up. If all the teams follow the Millionaires example there is no doubt that the supporters of the diamond pastime will turn out in larger numbers.

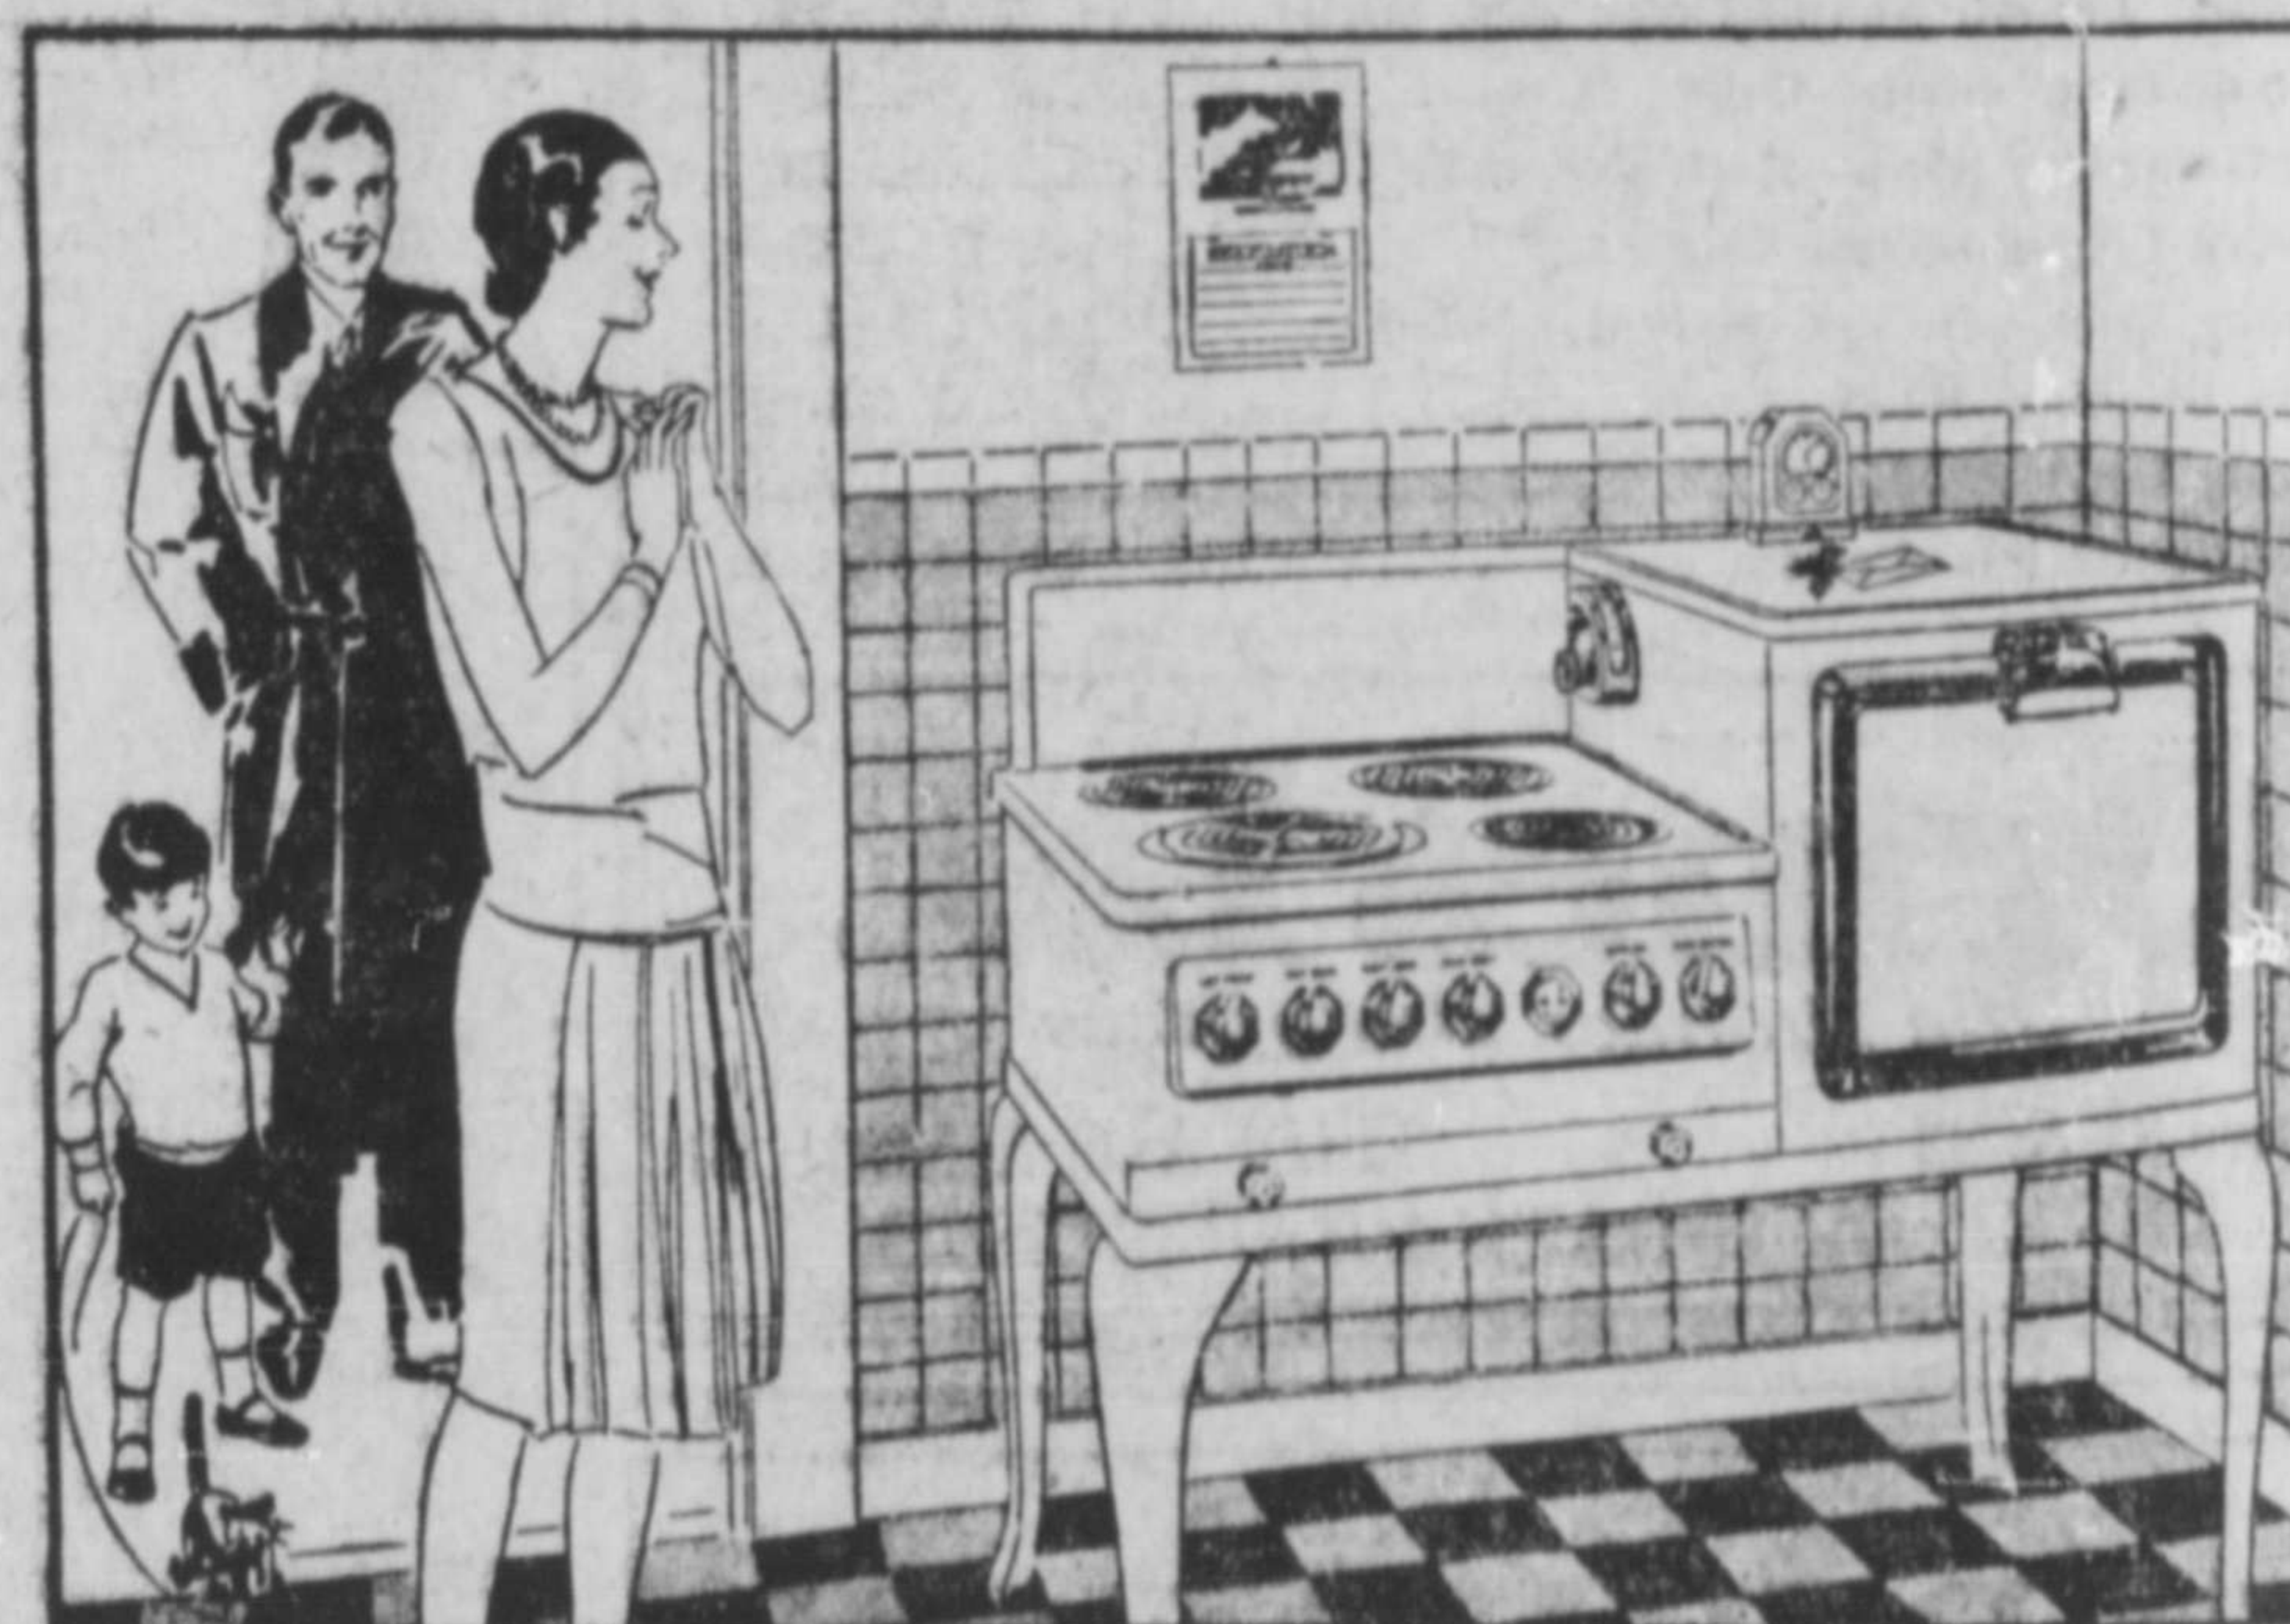

Manitoba residents who are fond of fishing have an advantage over outsiders who desire to fish in that province, the resident anglers not being required to take out a licence or permit, while visitors must pay a fee of $5 before engaging in the pastime. This fact has been brought to public notice recently by A. L. Cunningham, director of game and fisheries of Manitoba, who also calls attention to the fact that the fishing season in that province is open all the year round.

Fight in Movie Leads to Accidental Shooting of Small Boy

A Finger Print Said Who Did It

"Don't shut that window, do you want to smother us?" shouted John Brown as a man near him in the lower East Side movie in New York got up to close a window. "Shut up!" said the other. A fight followed and the two men exchanging punches, scuffled their way to the street where the fight was renewed with pistols.

Leo Parosno, a little boy playing on the sidewalk, fell with a bullet in the head and died. Brown was arrested and tried for murder but acquitted. The other man made a getaway dropping his gun as he ran. The police found finger prints on it which, when compared with records at Headquarters, identified a man named Nelker as the shooter. This was in 1922.

Nothing was heard of Nelker until this year when he was arrested on another charge altogether. His finger prints were taken. They quickly tied him in with the boy's death 9 years ago and he was tried and convicted of manslaughter. His finger prints betrayed him.

Your Prints on Foods May be Germ Laden

See how his finger prints were dangerous to Peter Nelker, a hot headed bad man. See how your prints can be dangerous to you too—business man, teacher, housewife, stenographer, whoever you may be. All day long you are touching things which other hands have touched. Hands which may be germ laden—hands whose owners may be ill or disease carriers—and YOUR hands pick up those germs. Then you touch an article of food—a chocolate or a biscuit—and disease germs are deposited on the food.

From your mouth the germs spread rapidly to your system and you may fall a victim of some deadly disease. Life Extension Institute records show that 27 diseases may be spread by the hands in this way.

You Can be Safe

How can one be safe from germs? They are everywhere, they infect the hands of all alike. There is one method which everyone can easily use to be safe. Wash the hands many times a day, and always before a meal, with Lifebuoy Soap. It contains a germicide.

FINE SHOW PRESENTED

"Beauty Shop" Enjoyed By Large Audiences at Capitol Theatre Afternoon and Evening

Under the auspices of the local Elks' Lodge and direction of C. H. Lewis, delightful presentation was made before large audiences in the Capitol Theatre at matinee yesterday afternoon and evening performance last night of the colorful musical comedy "The Beauty Shop." It suffered none through the fact that "Beauty Shop" had been presented here seven years ago. It was embellished by new song and dance hits which made almost a new show of it. In all, another notable success was scored by the use of exclusively local talent. All persons present at both performances were keenly delighted and expressed congratulations to lodge, director and performers on the success of the show.

Some seventy persons took part in the staging of "The Beauty Shop" and, throughout the entertainment, it was quite evident that only persistent and persevering rehearsal and practice could have brought about in such a short period of time such finished and excellent training as was exhibited by all in a great diversity of roles.

Between those who took the leading roles there was little to choose since all were very good indeed, each carrying out his or her part in excellent form. Miss Jean Robertson was her usual vivacious self in the part of Vivian, Dr. Budd's secretary. Miss Palema Cameron was the demure French custodian of the shop. William Mitchell left nothing to be desired in taking the part of Hiram Sharp, chairman of the committee of creditors. Miss Evelyn Dalby made a pretty ward for Dr. Budd in the person of Anna. L. F. Smith carried off the part of Phil Faraday, in love with Anna, in his usual good style. J. W. Plommer ably characterized Daniel Webster Briggs Dr. Budd's attorney, while the important role of Dr. Arbutus Budd, proprietor of the shop, was taken by George Mitchell in a manner which left nothing to be desired.

Among the Players
Other of the important parts were taken ably as follows: a dancing chauffeur, Sam Joy; Miss Montgomery, a customer, Miss Maizie Macdonald; a stout party by Miss Jean Grieve; Corsican innkeeper by J. H. McClinton; Corsican duelist, William Mitchell; Spanish souvenir girl, Mrs. F. W. Allen; Spanish dancer, Mrs. A. A. Easson; Corsican undertaker, H. A. Ponder; a homely girl, Mrs. Nona Hodgson, and a mermaid, Miss Molly Cross.

Taking part in dance and song numbers as well as supplementary roles were Mrs. S. J. Jabour, J. A. Teng, Miss Nan Craig, Miss Laura Frizzell, William Lambie, Joe Scott, Miss Connie Thorne, Miss Margaret McGuire, Miss Chrissie McLeod, Miss Jessie D. Moffatt, Miss Florence Smith, Mrs. J. A. Teng, Miss Margaret Palmer, Miss Marjorie Blanc, Mrs. Ian Fraser, Miss Amelia Pillsbury, Miss Frances Cross, Miss Ethel Christy, Miss Irene Mitchell, Miss Evelyn Zarelli, Miss Louise Zarelli, Miss Murial Morris, Miss Netta Clark, Miss Maude McGuire, Miss Mary Comadina, Miss Connie Morgan, Doug Nelson, Alex Mitchell, A. S. Nickerson, William Murray, W. G. Harold, Ralph Smith, Mike Budnich, E. B. Clark, W. E. Willisroft, Bert Morgan, Stanley Dalby and Percy McIntosh.

Orchestral music was furnished by Charles P. Balagno's augmented orchestra and it was a treat to listen to.

Ushers were Frank Russell, Lee Gordon, Floyd Smith, William Elmhurst, Benny Wendle, Miss Victoria Krivevsky, Miss Nellie Gurvich and Alvin Johnson. Cashier for the afternoon was Mrs. D. A. Brown with W. D. Vance presiding at the door. Evening cashier was D. A. Brown with Trevor Williams at the door.

Consolidated Not to Work Emerald This Season—Party Rushing Into Nation River—Ogilvie in Manson Creek Country

Although H. C. Hughes, who for the past few seasons has been engineer in charge of operations on the property, has just paid a visit to the Emerald group in the Sibola district of the central interior, it is announced that Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. Ltd. will not have a crew working on the property during the coming summer. Mr. Hughes, who was in Smithers a few days ago, expects to spend the entire summer in the central interior on exploratory and examination work for his company.

PROSPECTORS ARE EXCITED

Rich Mineral Strikes in Manitoba Attract Attention

WINNIPEG, June 10—Search for mineral wealth in 1931 in Canada's nearer north awaits only favorable weather when flying prospectors will pilot their planes to fields rich with hidden treasure. Unlike their brethren of years gone by the prospector of today times his journey to the mining territory in days. Months of plodding over barren lands afoot and by canoe are no more. Just the twist of a propeller and a flight through the clouds and the land to be mined is reached.

When weather clears and the days of snow have definitely passed, the mechanical birds will carry the treasure seekers into the districts of Beaver Lake, Sask., a country causing excitement among the miners this year. Gold has been found there and commercial ore has been proven up by drilling at the 100-foot level. An English syndicate, the Amisk Lake Gold Syndicate, has secured a number of claims in this new field.

Not far from the noted Sherridon country, in Manitoba, activity will be holding sway in the Fay Lake area, scene of a gold strike this winter. Stakers will delve into the property when the snow has disappeared to find what bounties lie beneath the white blanket of which they blindly measured their claims. Into mining areas of Athapuskow, Reed Lake, Elbow Lake and File Lake prospectors will migrate for another year of digging.

Big Year Expected

This year, the men who toil for riches appear to be veering away from the hunt for base metals toward precious gold finds. Old-timers expect 1931 to surpass the past two years in production and exploration of new ground. Ice is leaving the lakes, rivers and the streams, presenting landing places for the pontoon-fitted planes and a great stretch of hitherto untouched country will be covered.

Slowly but steadily, Canada's mining North is being conquered by man. One of the greatest pioneering efforts of recent years was accomplished within the bleak Arctic Circle last winter by the Northern Aerial Minerals Exploration Company, Ltd. At the huge boronite find, in the Coppermine region of the Northwest Territories, a crew of the company's men toiled through the winter months, seeking a valuable sulphite of copper and iron.

During the dreary cold days the men lived in tents, enclosed in igloos. They were the first to carry on mining operations in Canada with a blacksmith shop entirely made of ice and snow. Carried into the north by airplane, the men had supplies sufficient to last until July when additional food and equipment will be brought in by plane.

Efforts are being made to bring the Eskimo into mining operations. This year, the Aborigine of the Coppermine territory were busily engaged in hunting caribou and seal fishing, but prospectors declare they will continue to seek the aid of the Eskimo in developing mineral fields of the north country.

DOLLY VARDEN RAILWAY TRACK BEING REPAIRED
