DAILY EDITION

AND THE RESIDENCE OF THE PARTY OF THE PARTY

BRITISH ELECTION CAMPAIGN.

Great interest is being shown in Prince Rupert in the election campaign proceeding in Britain. With nominations over, the last lap of the contest is now in full swing and the winners should be declared on the evening of October 27, one week from next Tuesday.

The Nationalist group go into the fight with a good lead of over fifty as a result of nomination acclamations and the very general opinion expressed here and coming over the wire from Britain is that the new coalition will win. But, no election is certain. Election prophets are always liable to prove false prophets.

IS TELEVISION REALLY HERE?

A good many people seem to doubt if television is really come and come to stay, but it has. The only question now seems to be where it will be allowed to operate and to what extent. Before these matters are finally decided and before a reasonably priced receiver is put on the market, a number of years may possibly elapse.

There are at present 29 experimental stations more or less in operation, but so far the Radio Commission refuses to grant regular broadcasting licenses to any, claiming that visual radio is yet in a state of flux. The fact that the broadcasting band is ten times as wide as that for sound only, makes it necessary to curtail the number of licenses granted. Just now an attempt is being made to experiment with very high frequency waves so as to prevent interference with sound stations already operating

Among those who have been interviewed for television stations was JimmyMcLarnin, the boxer. People with proper instruments who heard him speak also saw him speak just as they would see the speakers in a theatre.

Most of the big concerns now engaged in broadcasting are preparing to supplement their present broadcasts just as soon as the time is ripe for the change, which is likely to take place rather suddenly and accompanied with considerable ballyhoo. In the meantime huge sums of money are being expended in improving the various systems.

Some idea of the financial importance of the new movement is seen in the fact that the DeForest Radio Corporation has filed suit against the Radio Corporation of America, claiming damages amounting to four million dollars for infringement of patent rights and total suits filed against the same concern by various companies total $48,000,000.

A recent Washington despatch states that broadcast stations in increasing numbers are getting picture track practice in preparation for the debut of television as an entertainment medium. Twenty applications for visual station licenses are pending now before the radio commis- modes of an earlier day-changed, debonair and sion, ten of which have been filed by operators of sound of course, to fit in with the modern with them. Slender stripes of fur program stations in various parts of the country.

In spite of all this activity it may reasonably be expected that it will be several years at any rate before television will be in reach of the general public and even then it will be rather expensive at first. In the meantime we may all enjoy the sound broadcasts which are being enjoyed by a carded -so long as it is velvet it into chic use all through the winterconsiderable section of the community.

When it comes to afternoon and evening wear we find a surprising thing—the abdication of the severely plain opera pump from its throne in the hearts of women. The opera pump with bows, with strip trims or side cut-outs, however, is prominent socially. Sandals are still popularand for evening they practically hold the field alone. For this use the cut-outs are decidedly extreme -the colors are usually bright, to accent the costume. Moderation is the keynote in the hight of heels for all daytime occasions—but for evening very high heels are the vogue.

Defeated Borden Street Four to Nil Saturday Afternoon

The regular game in the Junior Football League on Saturday was productive of an eagerly fought match with Booth winning from Borden four goals to two. but it was only in the closing minutes that the winners were able to establish their lead.

Booth had the better of the opening exchanges and attacked steadily. Borden defence was sound. Annesley was safe and Hong and Veitch defended well. Colussi opened the score with a first rate shot from Nelson's centre. Borden had more of the game and Shrubsall showed to advantage. Later a cross from the same player went to Lindsay who beat Munro to put! the teams level. Annesley saved splendidly from Nelson and Gomez, went close. McMeekin was foiled in the goalmouth and then Borden; attacked. Shrubsall narrowly missed. Colussi turned a centre from Nelson over the bar with a good attempt to convert and later was successful in giving his team the lead. Borden made headway and McGuire drove over the bar. Halftime found Booth leading two goals o to one:

Guide to correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.
