TWO SOUTHERN YOUTHS DEAD AS RESULT OF GUN WOUNDS

CHOOSING CABINET

Big Conservative Majority Makes Matters More Complicated for Premier MacDonald

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The task of Premier James Ramsay MacDonald in selecting his permanent cabinet promises to be no easy task. The matter is all the more complicated because of the overwhelming majority which the Conservative party had in the general election on Tuesday.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader and former Premier, will, of course, be Premier MacDonald's chief adviser in choosing cabinet members.

Premier MacDonald went to his country home at Chequers today for the week-end, planning to return to London Sunday night.

The cabinet will meet again Tuesday and Parliament will assemble the same day.

TELLS ABOUT CALGARY OIL

Rise and Fall of Turner Valley Subject of Address to Rotary Club Yesterday

A Romantic Story

Two Booms Followed by Crash That Seems Like End of Industry in Southern Alberta

An intensely interesting address was given yesterday afternoon at the weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club, George Munro presiding, the speaker being Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingsworth, and the subject "The Rise and Fall of the Turner Valley."

Mr. Hollingsworth sketched in an interesting manner the history of the discovery of oil in the valley and told of the two booms which had resulted, one in 1914 when the discovery well, Dingman Number 1, was brought in with a moderate amount of crude oil. Telling of this boom the speaker said:

"A Yukon pioneer said that Dawson City in the flourishing days of '98 was a quiet town compared with Calgary in those days. Every man, woman and child wanted to invest in oil. Oil companies sprang up overnight."

Owing to the war little was done for several years until 1924 when Royallite Number 4 in the Turner Valley blew in with such a crash that the eyes of the world were turned to Turner Valley in earnest. This well reached limestone beneath formations hitherto explored and at 3740 feet struck a flow of wet gas amounting to twenty-one and a half million cubic feet per day, from which eventually over 600 barrels of naphtha per day were obtained. From that day to this the well has been a steady producer.

"One may easily imagine the force with which such a well would blow in, as it is termed, when this well became ignited immediately after striking the tremendous flow and east flames several hundred feet in the air for several weeks before it was finally brought under control. When a well blows in there is always a great danger of fire—stones, perhaps, the drilling tools themselves are blown into the air, and if they strike any solid substance such as the derrick, and create a spark, the result is a huge flame which ordinary fire fighting apparatus cannot cope with at all. Live steam is about the only successful way of combating the flames. It is because of this that the visitor and the workman alike are compelled to obey very definitely the law about "No Smoking" in or around the valley except in a dwelling house.

"The tremendous pressure blew out the one-inch steel drilling cable like a thin thread. Following this great well a great many more wells and companies entered the area, until in 1929 one company alone, the Royallite Oil Co., a subsidiary of the Imperial Oil Co., had 14 wells producing more than 1100 barrels of crude oil and naphtha every day. Derricks sprang up everywhere. New companies were formed with strange names. Stocks were sold at high prices.

"I can remember," said Mr. Hollingsworth, "in 1928-29 seeing people standing outside brokerage offices 10 and 12 rows deep, writing their orders on slips of papers, attaching money or cheques to them, and throwing this communication over the heads of those in front of them and the clerks picking these up and throwing them into already

TERRACE INQUEST

Fire Tragedy Probed by Coroner's Jury on Wednesday

MANY WITNESSES

Mrs. Cauthers and Baby Came to Death by Suffocation

TERRACE, Oct. 30.—Will Robinson, Coroner, held an inquest into the deaths of Frances Beatrice Cauthers, aged 20, wife of Charles Cauthers, and her one year old baby, Ronald James, on Wednesday night in the Blue Room of the Legion Hall, Staff-Sergt. Alex. McNeill, Provincial Police, was in charge of the proceedings.

Charles Cauthers testified that on Tuesday morning he rose late and had not time to get any breakfast. He went to work at the mill. The next thing he knew was when someone shouted "fire." He tried to get into the house, but could not and he then went to Mrs. Wilkinson's and had stayed there since. There were four rooms in the house, all on one floor and two exits. The back door opened to the kitchen and the front door to the living room. There were two stoves in the house—the kitchen stove and a heater, the latter being in the living room. Both were connected to one outlet. There was no fire in either when he got up and he did not light one. He generally did so, but he had slept in and hadn't time to do so. He went to work at 7.25 and left his wife and baby in the house. The baby was one year old on the day the fire occurred. Both his wife and he baby were in bed when he left. His wife was awake. He had spoken to her. There was insurance on the house and furniture—$300 on each. He left the reservoir and one pailful of water in the house. When he got to the house he did not call to his wife but tried to get in both at the door and the window and failed. He then asked Mr. Wilkinson if his (witness') wife was out and he replied "No."

In reply to Sert-McNeill witness said there were times when his wife was not well, but she was not subject to fainting spells. Miss Emily Fagan, wife of G. J. Fagan, and sister of Mrs. Cauthers said she lived across the street from her sister. She was getting breakfast between 8.30 and 9 o'clock on the morning in question when she noticed a lot of smoke in front of Cauthers' house. It was coming from the top of the front part of the house. She ran over and opened the front door but could not get in owing to the flames and she then tried to get into the windows. She called to her sister several times, but got no answer. She broke the window and called again but still got no answer and could not see anything for smoke. There was no one else around at the time and she went over to her father's nearby. She called her mother and father and they came out and tried to get into the house but could not. Her father got part way in the back door but had to turn back. Witness then went to the mill to get Cauthers. When she got back everybody was over there and there was nothing she could do. The baby's health was good, but her sister's was not so good. She was not subject to fainting spells. Witness had seen deceased just before supper time on the day before the fire.

In reply to the Coroner, witness

NATIONAL CO-OPERATION

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, former Premier of Great Britain, and now a member of the MacDonal Government, has declared in favor of national co-operation instead of party government. That is a view held by many in Canada and is very likely to give place to the present system which is inefficient and expensive. What makes co-operation difficult is the spoils system by which supporters of the party in power get the government business. It is not a British institution but has been grafted on to the British party system in Canada. As long as it lasts there can be no co-operation.

Most of the bitterness in political life is the result of the spoils system. People who will not quarrel for a principle will fight for a few dollars.

SWEEPSTAKE LAWS

The laws in regard to sweepstakes seem to the man on the street to be very foolish. To allow the sale of tickets and then refuse to allow the purchaser to collect the winnings seems against all reason. In a recent case in the city the Daily News might have made fifty thousand dollars by laying an information and putting in a claim for the money. The present law puts a premium on meanness and is no deterrent of the custom of selling tickets on long chances.

TERRACE INQUEST

said she broke the bedroom window.

Fighting the Fire

E. T. Kenney said he attended the fire. When the siren sounded he grabbed an extinguisher, ran towards the fire and rode on a car part of the way. Arriving there he noticed Cauthers with an axe trying to chop a hole through the east side of the building, where the bedroom was. There was a single sash window just above his head, which was broken out. There was considerable smoke and fire in the room. Witness emptied the extinguisher which he had into that room and someone else also discharged a large sized extinguisher into the same room. They checked the fire, but only temporary in that room. Flames seemed to be coming from what appeared to be the kitchen. After the fire had burnt itself out he noticed what appeared to be the body of a child in the extreme north east corner of the building. Further examination of the ruins showed what appeared to be the remains of an adult person in the basement of the house. Mrs. Little was with witness when they were discussing the remains of the baby and Acting-Constable Creelman when they were discussing the other remains. It was utterly impossible to identify the remains of the two bodies, as they had been very severely burned.

He saw the remains between half past nine and a quarter to ten. There were the remains of a couch which was tilted on one side in the basement and it seemed that the adult body had slid into the basement with the couch. The two bodies were separated by 15 or 16 feet.

Sergt. McNeil: "In your opinion would it have been possible for anyone to enter the house?"

"I don't think so; nor for anyone to have been alive there."

"Were you present when the remains were gathered up?"

"I was not."

The Foreman: "Which room was above the basement?"

"The living room, I believe."

Albert Edward Johnson said he was apprised of the fire by his sister-in-law. He started towards the fire and just then the siren and the mill whistle gave the alarm. When he reached the house the men from the mill had begun to arrive. Shortly after Cauthers came and his father-in-law told him his wife and child were both inside the house. He ran towards the back door and witness went with him. Cauthers opened the back door and the flames forced him back. They then went to the east side and Cauthers tried to chop a hole in the side wall. Mrs. Wilkinson then came out and Cauthers went into the Wilkinson house. Witness left shortly after as he could not be of any service.

Arnold Creelman, special provincial constable, stationed at Terrace, substituting for Constable McKenney during his absence, said the first he knew of the fire was when he was in the station shaking down the stove. On hearing the siren he grabbed the key of the fire hall and laid it on his desk. He then went to the front door and saw the fire was too far away for the hose to be of any use. He got on John DeKergommeaux' truck and went to the fire. A few men had already arrived but the fire had too much start for anything to be done with it.

Witness saw Cauthers trying to chop a hole through the wall and he said his wife and child were inside. As soon as the fire cooled he first noticed the remains of the baby. On further examination he discovered what looked to be the remains of a full grown person. Witness immediately wired Staff-Sergt. McNeill and Coroner Robinson.

When the bodies were discovered there were present E. T. Kenney, G. Little and W. A. Kirkpatrick. The remains showed that the bodies had been severely burned. There were only a few charred remains which were removed to the Blue Room. The only evidence of clothing was the finding of a few buttons which appeared to have formed part of a woman's dress.

Death by Suffocation
The juryman were: J. B. Agar (foreman), R. D. Christy, G. Temple, W. A. Kirkpatrick, G. Little and J. H. Smith. Their verdict intimated that they accepted the evidence of identification of the remains recovered from the burned home of the Cauthers' family and agreed that death was accidentally caused from suffocation.

Everything Would Turn BLACK

Mrs. H. E. Swanzy Considers that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) Saved Her Life.

"Feeling Like a Different Person." "I could hardly walk across the room," writes Mrs. H. E. Swanzy, R. No. 1, Collingwood, Ontario. "Everything would turn black and I would become so dizzy I would have to rest. I thought I would never be strong—when I was advised to get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I used them until I had taken six boxes. Soon I was feeling like a different person. I am now the mother of six strong, healthy children."

The iron and other elements in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (tonic) increase the amount of haemoglobin, or oxygen-carrying agent, in blood. The result is a better appetite, a feeling of well-being, restful sleep, and the ability to do your work happily.

To the Buying Public of the City of Prince Rupert:

The new Cut Rate Shoe Store located in the Meeker Block, just opposite the New Empress Hotel, is now under the management of Frank Blackford, who wishes to announce new low prices on all footwear for men, women and children.

Whether it be street or dress shoes for the ladies, school or Sunday school shoes for the boys and girls, dress or work shoes for the men, Frank says: "We have them all at rock bottom prices."

Our values are high; our prices are low. A visit to this store will convince.

We guarantee all our footwear to be at least 25 per cent lower than elsewhere—so why pay more? Our entire stock of rubber footwear is made by the leading rubber manufacturers in Canada, including Goodrich Hi-Press, the highest grade rubber footwear makers known today. Our prices on these high grade rubbers are actually lower than the wholesale cost as we take our cash discount and are satisfied with a small profit and quick turnover, so you are at all times assured of a fresh, clean stock.

We will consider it a favor to have you come in and look around and compare our prices. Don't forget the address.

DEMPSEY IS IN DEMAND

Now Jack Sharkey Wants to Meet Former World's Heavyweight Boxing Champion

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Not only Primo Carnerio and Vittorio Campolo are desirous of meeting Jack Dempsey, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, but Jack Sharkey of Boston, is also very anxious to tangle with the Manassa Mauler. Sharkey said yesterday that he would be willing to meet Dempsey any time and anywhere. In spite of all this, it appears as though Dempsey would merely continue his barnstorming engagements for the time being at least. He is manifesting no great anxiety to step up to the better of the heavyweights just now.

Falling a match with Dempsey, Sharkey may be matched against Tommy Loughran for a bout on December 11th at Madison Square Garden.

Born in a village in the South Slavic Mountains, Miss Milana Jank is champion woman mountain climber of Europe. Throughout all her many mountain-climbing experiences she has never once availed herself of the services of a guide.

TELLS ABOUT CALGARY OIL

full waste paper baskets, to be dealt with in the long hours of the night which at this particular time seemed to pass far too quickly to get all the required work done. It was no wonder that the stock exchange had to suspend operations from time to time for a day or two to allow the brokers to catch up with their orders.

"Newspapers and circulars blazed forth in great headlines about the largest oil field in the British Empire. Men who were among the leading oil men were convinced that Turner Valley was a proven oil field. Only in July, 1929 I find this clipping in a newspaper: 'Turner Valley has definitely passed the wildcat stage of development and is now one of the recognized oil fields of the world, according to C. O. Stillman, president of the Imperial Oil Co., which, through its subsidiary and associated companies is dominant in the valley at present.'

The Depression

"Then came the first days of what we now call the depression. Brokerage firms had been selling short and to them the tragedy was that they were found out. The price of stocks dropped, rapidly, too rapidly it seemed when compared to the actual value and worth of the company. It was the first indication of a fall.

"Then as if this were not enough reports began to circulate to the effect that perhaps after all the geologists and the oil men were incorrect after all that perhaps Turner Valley in spite of its marvellous showings and records, was not an oil field at all, but only a gas field. Finally the provincial government sent in a group of scientific experts who studied the situation from every angle, and not very many months ago their unanimous report was made known, and it was to the effect that the Turner Valley field is only a gas field, that the field is being rapidly depleted, and that there is not enough naphtha in the gas to pay for the capital invested. Thus it would seem that actually the 'fall' on the Turner Valley oil field is complete.

Merger Formed

"Immediately this report became known those companies at work in the valley saw the necessity of some type of oil merger, to prolong the life of the field as far as possible. The result was that on September 5 in the Vancouver Province we read: 'A merger of 27 independent oil companies with 14 other companies directly or indirectly controlled by the Imperial Oil Company, which was proposed by the provincial government has been endorsed by a majority of the firms for the purpose of conserving the gas in Turner Valley. Premier Brownlee announced the step today.'

"I should perhaps have stated that before the provincial government began its conservation efforts 500 million cubic feet of gas was wasted in Turner Valley each day. The problem has always been what to do with the gas after the naphtha has been extracted. Calgary and other nearby towns can only use a proportion of the gas flow, and this proportion grew less and less as new wells were brought in. In 1929 and 1930 the value of gas wasted at Turner Valley was more than $47,228 per day. There was only one thing to be done with the gas, and that is to pipe it as far from the well as possible and set fire to it. Thus the visitor to Turner Valley at any time of day or night is greeted with dozens upon dozens of these bright flares or flames burning this waste gas because it is not known what to do with it. One may easily imagine the brightness of the valley at night when in Calgary, 54 miles away the reflection of these flares is clearly seen, suggesting to the stranger a big fire on the outskirts of the city. The heat from these flames is terrific and one can only be heard by shouting at the top of one's voice. In the winter time with the weather perhaps 30 or 40 or 50 below zero, it is not unusual to see cows grazing on green grass near the flames, and the unemployed man sleeping comfortably on the bank not too near the flames because of the heat, but near enough not to realize that a few yards away it is very much below zero.

Minimum Waste

"This merger to which I have referred will reduce this wastage to a minimum. It is expected that under this new agreement production will be taken from the wells with the wettest gas, that is, the ones containing the most naphtha, wastage will be reduced to ten million cubic feet of gas a day and the returns will be pro rated among all producers in proportion to the capacity of their wells.

"It is generally agreed now that if the field continues to produce gas at the rate it has been the life of the field cannot be very far off, by this merger or agreement the field may have its life prolonged for at least 20 years.

"And, so to conclude, I may use words of a friend to whom I wrote for information: 'With confidence it may be said that the Turner Valley tragedy and boom is over.' 'Perhaps, however, even experts may be mistaken, and what now looks like a mighty fall, may in reality be only a slight slip. At least that is what most stockholders are hoping.'

LOYALTY TO HOME TOWN IS URGED

Local Merchant Declares Values Just As Good or Better in Prince Rupert as Elsewhere

"Things are just as quiet in the south as they are in Prince Rupert and the big firms there are losing more money there than the merchants are here but one thing I noticed particularly was that the prices there were just as high or higher than in Prince Rupert," stated Abe Lipsin, proprietor of the Acme Importers, to a Daily News representative today.

Mr. Lipsin returned a day or two ago from Vancouver and, while there, went into the business situation thoroughly. He was very emphatic to the effect that the people of Prince Rupert can buy just as cheaply in their home town as in Vancouver or in the mail order houses of the east.

"Mind you," said Mr. Lipsin, "I am not talking about my own business here, I am talking about all lines of business and all the stores in the city. All of them are selling at a very close margin and prices here compare very favorably with those in the south. I know for a fact that in many cases they are lower than in Vancouver."

Mr. Lipsin went on to tell of various people who had come to one of other of his stores here after sending away to a mail order house and getting stuff that they could not wear. "I think the people here should know, although of course some of them won't believe it, that Prince Rupert merchants can give them at least as good if not better values than can be purchased elsewhere. If the money sent out of town was expended here, the young people of the city would be employed here instead of having to go outside to secure employment. If Prince Rupert people were only loyal to their home town, it would be prosperous today."

James Sturgeon returned to the city on the Princess Mary today from a business trip to Vancouver.

"BULK," VITAMIN B, IRON All in Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

If you suffer from ordinary constipation, you will be benefited by Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Millions have found it brings relief.

Scientific tests show ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk," Vitamin B, and iron. "Bulk" promotes elimination. Vitamin B tones the intestinal tract. Iron helps build blood.

In the package, ALL-BRAN has a shredded appearance. But within the body, it changes to a soft mass, which gently cleanses the intestines. It is much like the "bulk" in lettuce or spinach.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Try two table-spoonfuls daily for a week. ALL-BRAN is natural—far better than pills or drugs, which may cause too strenuous action.

ALL-BRAN is already cooked, flavored and krumbled—bran in its finest form. Serve as a cereal or try the delicious recipes on the package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

The Ladies' Aid of First United Church held a delightful Hallowe'en tea yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Derry, Borden Street. The affair was successful in every way, many ladies calling during the afternoon to lend their patronage to the event. The rooms were gaily decorated with Hallowe'en mottos and colorings and the tea table was centered with Scotch marigolds and candles of the same shade.

The hostess was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. J. J. Payne, president of the Ladies' Aid.

Irvine, Mrs. Frank Vickers and Mrs. Clavring were in charge of the kitchen. Mrs. Alton was cashier. Mrs. D. Santerbane and Mrs. G. Clonnon were in charge of the home cooking table.

During the afternoon a delightful program of instrumental music was rendered, those contributing to the program being Mrs. E. J. Smith, piano solo; Misses Maxine Hellbroner and Ruby Krikevsky, piano duet, and Miss Audrey Parkin, accompanied by Mrs. J. S. Black, violin solo.
