Bruhn, minister of public works, that, in addition to the annual district vote, there will be additional sums out of the Loan Act for work on the Prince Rupert highway and the Queen Charlotte Islands road.

SEEK SALE OF SQUARE

Mayor's Scheme Approved By Council—Ratepayers to Co-Operate

The city council last night invited the Prince Rupert Ratepayers' Association to co-operate in a campaign designed to bring about the putting on the market by the provincial government of the old court house square. This action on the part of the council followed the reading of a letter from the Ratepayers' Association, the contents of which have already been published, in regard to the desirability of having the square placed on the market.

Mayor Orme again mentioned his scheme for a monster petition to be signed by all citizens, public and semi-public bodies to lead in the movement. Ald. Macdonald approved of the mayor's scheme and moved that it be endorsed, the resolution being passed.

City Council Hears of Plans For Establishment of Local Radio Broadcasting Station

Asking civic endorsement for the project, Felix Batt, local radio inspector, told the city council last night of plans he is making for the establishment of a radio broadcasting station here. He has already applied to Ottawa for a licence for such a station. A 150-watt broadcaster is planned which would make it second only to CNRV in Vancouver for strength in British Columbia. It would have a radius, it is estimated, of from 300 to 800 miles. The advertising value of such a station to the city would be very great and, at the same time, it would be capable of giving valuable service generally throughout Northern British Columbia.

In reply to a question by Ald. Linzey, Mr. Batt explained that, so far, only himself (Batt) and Norman Kinslor were behind the project. If a licence were granted, they would be getting further support.

At the suggestion of Ald. Rudderham and, after there had been some further discussion as to what effect such a station might have on reception generally here, Mr. Batt was requested by the council to take the matter up with the Prince Rupert Radio Association so that the views of that body might be made available for the council. Meantime, the communication was laid on the table until next meeting.

Premier Predicts That Alaska Road Will Be Accomplished in Space of Few Years; Feasible

Pattullo Attacks Project as Being Years Ahead of Time and Merely Smoke Screen—Is Denied Answer As to Estimated Cost

VICTORIA, March 31:—The Alaska Highway will be an accomplished fact within a few years, Premier S. F. Tolmie predicted in the Legislature yesterday after the subject had been opened by H. F. Kergin, M.L.A. for Atlin. The Premier said that an investigation into the feasibility of such a highway would be carried forward this summer when an international body would go over the ground. He said that that route was feasible beyond all doubt.

T. D. Pattullo, Opposition Leader, said that the Alaska road plan was years too premature and had been brought forward only as a smoke screen. Had any definite figure of the probable cost been ascertained, Mr. Pattullo asked.

The Premier replied that an estimate had been made but it was not in the public interest to divulge it at this time.

AMERICAN FISH HERE

Recent Action With Packer Sitka Arouses City Council

At the suggestion of Alderman Pillsbury, the city council last night decided to take up with the government the question of allowing American fish packers to bring in their cargoes. Recently the Sitka came to Prince Rupert with 100,000 pounds of halibut and was prevented by the customs department from landing the fish and had to take it to another port. It was pointed out that, if the fish had been boxed and iced at an American port, the fish would have been allowed to pass through in bond.

SEC'Y FOR KING DIES

Lord Stamfordham Passes Away Today in London at Age of Eighty-One Years

LONDON, March 31:—Lord Stamfordham, private secretary to King George, died today. He was 81 years of age. For more than 50 years of his long life Arthur John Bigge, First Lord Stamfordham, held a position of the closest confidence towards the Sovereign or the Sovereign's nearest kindred. If he was not entitled to be called "the keeper of the king's conscience" he was at all events his most trusted counsellor in all things bearing upon the king's prerogative duties and privileges. Half a century ago Lord Stamfordham entered the royal entourage as groom-in-waiting to Queen Victoria. In 1895, after serving many years as assistant private secretary, he was appointed secretary to Her Majesty, and held that office until Victoria's death in 1901. Lord Stamfordham was then appointed private secretary to the then Prince of Wales, now King George, a position which he retained for the remainder of his life.

Arthur John Bigge, who was born in 1849, was the son of the Rev. J. F. Bigge, Vicar of Stamfordham, and entered the Royal Artillery in 1869. In the Zulu War of 10 years later Lieut. Bigge distinguished himself in more than one direction.

Never Failed
Lord Stamfordham's conduct would stand as a model of devotion and discretion combined. Not once during the whole of the half-century and more in which there came to him every secret of the Royal Family was he known to fail in these qualities. Although he never permitted himself to reveal anything concerning his duties there is evidence in abundance from other quarters of the extremely delicate negotiations in which he was obliged to play a special part. Lord Stamfordham was credited with a whimsical sense of humor. He used to tell a story of how one (Continued on page 4)

Capt. Paul A. Mercer opened the service by explaining the reason for which it was being held. The program was as follows: Waving of the Church Army flag by the captains and officers during which the Y.M.C.A. orchestra played a selection. Prayer by one of the lay readers. Hymn by the assembly, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," the orchestra accompanying. Prayer by Capt. Paul Mercer. Hymn, "Stand Up For Jesus." Address of Appreciation by Lay Reader Charles Morven. Solo, "O Come to My Heart, Lord Jesus," Jonathan Mercer. Solo, "He Cometh," J. E. Stewart. Chorus, "Praise God, I Am Satisfied," mixed voices. (Continued on page 4)

AIRWAYS PROGRESS

Victoria Paper Tells Further Details of Local Concern

Formation of Northern B.C. Airways, Limited, a company with headquarters in Prince Rupert, was announced yesterday by Captain S. L. Punnett, general manager of the new concern, says the Victoria Colonist. The company has recently bought out the Yarrow Aircraft Corporation, Limited, of Vancouver, which controlled Dominion Airways, Limited, also of that city.

The new company, with a capitalization of $25,000, has secured as its first president, Mayor Cyril Orme of Prince Rupert. For the present it will operate none but marine aircraft, and will immediately organize a flying school for Northern British Columbia.

In addition the company will carry prospectors into the interior, and, with the aid of a newly-purchased $14,000 camera, will undertake aerial mapping and government survey work. One activity which Captain Punnett hopes to develop is the transportation of parties to the excellent hunting country lying behind Stewart. This country can be reached from Prince Rupert by air in one hour, as against a journey of 16 days by land and water.

It is expected that the company will begin to operate in the middle of April.

Fine Flying Record

Only the most experienced flyers will be used, Captain Punnett himself having a fine flying record which dates from 1916, when he joined the Royal Air Force and served with distinction on the Western Front. He served in the North Russian Expedition of 1919, being attached to H.M.S. Pegasus, under Commander Hobbs, of Vancouver. From 1920 to 1921, he was stationed at Malta and saw further active service at Constantinople in 1922, when he was attached to Fenarke seaplane base. Captain Punnett, who is of the third generation of his family to live in Victoria, is the son of R. B. Punnett. He is at present on the reserve of the Royal Air Force, being flying officer for torpedo-carrying planes.

LIFE INSURANCE

No one needs today to urge the desirability of life insurance. Practically all are agreed that a man should provide for his wife and family after he is gone and the best and cheapest way of doing so is to invest in life insurance.

The need of the day is to so bring home to the people interested the necessity of protection and to make the appeal so insistent that all will be spurred to action.

While people all agree that life insurance is desirable, many feel that they cannot afford it, yet they afford luxuries which should be used for protection.

The life insurance companies of the continent are co-operating in an effort to bring home to the people this truth. They have just doubled their appropriations for the purpose and they have chosen the Daily News as their means of bringing it before the people of this district. We draw special attention to this series of advertisements because they deal with a matter which is of greatest importance in the life of every family.

BRITISH POLITICAL CHANGE

The healing of the breach between the two great factions of the British Conservative party makes it much more likely that there will be a change after the next general election in that country. With the party divided and the factions fighting each other there was little hope in spite of the fact that the tendency in recent elections had been away from the present administration.

Should the Liberal party split develop so that the majority of members merge with the Laborites, the Labor party would be strengthened but even then may not be able to stem the tide toward a protection policy.

ANOTHER DICTATORSHIP

Dictatorships seem to be fashionable today. The Fascist dictatorship in Italy, the Communistic dictatorship in Russia and several minor dictatorships in Europe are now followed by the Hindenberg dictatorship in Germany, according to yesterday's despatches. Some people prophesy that democracy will be sent to the discard very soon and the rule of the few will take the place of the irresponsible vagaries of the multitude.

While we cannot conceive of a dictatorship in a British country, conditions, it is said, may arise which may make it necessary. Just now a dictatorship might be good for Australia for a few years until the financial condition of the country is improved. Communists would have the "dictatorship of the proletariat" in every country of the world, if they had their way.

AUSTRALIA'S POSITION

One of the states of Australia proposes to default on the payment of its bonds and the Commonwealth government is stepping in and will make good the default in order to keep the nation's credit good in the money markets of the world.

In spite of the action of the federal government in Australia, irreparable harm has been done in that country by the suggestion that one of the states would default.

Spring is The House Building Season

Spring is the season for house building. It is the time when the thoughts of the householder naturally turn to improvement. The sun shining in through the windows reveals defects not noticed during the winter.

The person living in a rented house looks with envy on his neighbors who are digging their own gardens and improving their lots.

The low price of lumber, of paint and other materials and the plentitude of labor makes a special appeal just now to those who would make for themselves permanent homes. The local mill has started operations again and local dealers are meeting the price cut conditions.

Today we are showing plans of a house which is different in character from anything hitherto built in Prince Rupert. The plans are worthy of close study by the people who wish something low priced yet attractive.

W. G. EGMOND - STAN E. STOREY - ARCHTS.
REGINA - SASK.

OF UNUSUAL CHARACTER

W. G. VAN EGMOND, STAN E. STOREY, Architects.

THE world of domestic architecture is made up of a wide variety of designs and types. Monotony would prevail if we were forced to use only one or two styles. We therefore welcome an occasional design such as the one represented here.

The extraordinary shape of the living room window immediately attracts our attention. Its futuristic lines are unlike anything we have been accustomed to and we cannot fail to show interest in it.

At the top of the front gable we appreciate the appearance of dark stained woodwork. It creates a familiar atmosphere and helps us to regard the remainder of the structure with a frank, friendly eye.

Other features which demand our interest are the unique shutters on the bedroom window, the very narrow dormer window, and the entrance.

Probably the most important feature of the floor plans is the large living room which occupies most of the area of the ground floor. The side entrance makes a convenient entry to the kitchen so that passage through other rooms on the ground floor in order to reach the kitchen from outside is not necessary. This same entrance also leads to the basement stairs.

A window is placed directly over the sink in the kitchen and the other essential equipment is placed to the best advantage. At the side of the stove is a closet or small pantry. The other rooms are equally efficient.

EXPERT TREATMENT MUST BE APPLIED TO DORMER WINDOWS

The Dormer Must Be In Keeping With the Style of the House

THE faults of dormers are many—or are liable to be so in the hands of designers and builders lacking skill. They are expensive to build, difficult to make water-tight. From an artistic standpoint they are something of a risk. Nevertheless their virtues are such that we would not willingly do without them.

Although there are many variations, there are only some six or eight fundamental styles of dormer windows. The ordinary gable roof type is the most usual, and after this is the hip-roof, snubbed gable, and shed roof styles. The semi-circular, the eyebrow and the arched dormers are somewhat less general, but in their place highly attractive. The eyebrow dormer, by the way in which the roof curves over it, is reminiscent of the old English cottages and the manner in which the overhanging thatch of the roof was sometimes lifted and curved at the edge to allow a window in the wall beneath. It is used primarily for ventilating and lighting an attic space.

If the dormer is tall and narrow, round-arched but with no angle between the side wall and the arch, it is sometimes referred to as the prairie schooner type; easily enough accounted for considering the shape of these old-time conveyances.

Sometimes the roof is brought so low on the wall that the second storey windows break the cornice line, extending upward to form small dormers. When well executed, these give great distinction.

The most glaring fault of dormers on modern Dutch Colonial houses is their large size, because of which they give the appearance of over-balancing the roof. This is particularly true where the outer wall of the dormer is merely an extension of the first storey, across which runs the line of the eaves.

When handled with skill and discrimination, dormers of two different styles may be used effectively on the same house. The cut-in or recessed dormer, beside being comparatively inconspicuous, permits longer windows than does any other type of dormer unless it be out of all proportion.—Copyright 1931. PREPARE LAND NOW

Many people like to prepare their lots before they commence building. This is a good time to remove the stumps and ditch around the lot in order that it may drain, thus making building operations easier. There is plenty of labor available for such work.

Tom Ballinger Takes Larger Premises to Allow of Expansion

It is very gratifying to note that one of our local merchants has no fear of the seeming hard times. It was noticed yesterday that the merchant referred to was no other than Tom Ballinger, who has moved to a more spacious building, three doors from the old store, formerly Richmond's Louvre. On his many shelves and tables is displayed a wonderful array of new English dinner ware, tea sets, fancy China and hardware supplies.

A cordial invitation is extended to all his friends and customers to visit the new store and inspect the new arrivals of English dinner ware, etc., we know you will be pleased.—Adv.

Hints for Gardeners

GETTING STARTED

Now that we are in the first month of spring, it is high time to consider actual planting. Of course in many parts of Canada we will not be outside with the rake under our arm for a little while yet, but we can start our garden indoors. Many of the regular annuals such as Petunias, Cosmos, Zinnias, Snapdragons, Marigolds and others among the flowers are regularly started in this way as are also those vegetables like cabbage and head lettuce. True, if it is not convenient for us to grow these things inside or if our wants are very small, it is probably best to secure a supply from some nurseryman who we know will give us the varieties wanted. Sometimes an arrangement can be made with a neighbour who has a hot bed.

The seed is usually started in shallow flats or cigar or fish boxes in light, well drained soil either in a hot bed or some window exposed to the south. If the nights are cold it is advisable not to place too close to the glass unless there is a storm window. Not only can we grow the regular bedding plants, such as those mentioned above in this way but we can also put in almost any thing that will transplant, including early beets, carrots, and sweet peas which are started indoors, will be from two to six weeks ahead of those planted outside. Moistened the soil and plant the seed in rows about an inch apart. Before thoroughly watering, cover the box with a piece of burlap or sacking which prevents the seeds from being washed

Oliver Redpath, Substitute Man, Netted Only Score of Game in Overtime Last Eve

VANCOUVER, March 31.—The Pacific Coast Hockey League championship play-offs ended with the Vancouver Lions the winners last night when Oliver Redpath, substitute defence man, slammed in the only goal of the game on a long pass from Gosh Pettinger in 10 minutes of the first 15-minute overtime period. It was a keenly exciting game and was witnessed by some 6500 fans, the largest crowd that has assembled for years in the Vancouver Arena. A spectacular wind-up for the season was certainly provided.

The Lions deserved to win, too, for, while the first two periods were fairly even, they played all around the Eskimos in that hectic third period when both teams tried frantically to score. In the overtime, too, the Lions also played offensively. Dave Kemp was time after time tried in the closing stages of the game and he could not escape forever. The Lions stormed his stronghold continually and were at last successful.

The score came after Redpath had captured the rubber from Seattle territory, carrying it down the ice to pass it on to Pettinger. The latter, crowded near the goal mouth by Bobby Benson, Seattle defence man, snaked it back out to Redpath on the blue line and Oliver slammed it safely and surely past Kemp to end the game. Up to that Seattle had played a wonderful defensive game against Vancouver's hard attacks that finally could not be denied.

Play was of good quality in the first two periods but, in the desperate effort to score, the third period became rather ragged. There were, however, remarkably few penalties and it was one of the cleanest games of the season.

It is the third consecutive year that the Lions have held the championship. They won the series three to one although Seattle had the greatest aggregate of goals—seven to five.

SECRETARY FOR KING DIES

of the body servants of King George had tried to explain to him some incident. The servant began, "Me and the King—" Lord Stamfordham pulled him up. "You should say the King and I" he observed. The man looked up at him and then said, "I beg your pardon sir, I did not know you were there. However, 'you and me and the King—" Lord Stamfordham laughed and left him to tell the story in his own way.

Lord Stamfordham was knighted in 1885, commander of the Order of the Bath. His subsequent honors included C.M.G., 1887; K.C.B., 1895; K.C.M.G., 1901; G.C.V.O., 1901; I.S.O., 1903; K.C.S.I., 1906. He was sworn of the Privy Council in 1910 and created Baron Stamfordham of Stamfordham in Northumberland, June 23, 1911.

His lordship was a Grand Officer of the French Legion of Honor, and received the First Class of the Order of the Redeemer of Greece, of the Order of the Red Eagle of Prussia and of the Order of the Crown of Prussia.

He married on February 10, 1881, Constance, daughter of the late Rev. William Frederick Neville, Vicar of Butleigh, Somerset. There were one son, John Neville, killed in action in France in 1915; and two daughters, Victoria Eugenie, who married Captain Henry Adeane of the Coldstream Guards; and Margaret. Lady Stamfordham died in 1922.

Although the duties of a private secretary to the Sovereign must be highly exacting several of these august officials have come to long years. Lord Stamfordham, as will be noted, was well over 80. Lord Knollys, who for so long served King Edward, died 14 years after his royal master at the age of 87. Sir Dighton Probyn, for many years keeper of the privy purse, and finally secretary to Queen Alexandra, died at 91 years of age.

MILL RATE CONSIDERED

Levy of 52½ Is Cited in Bylaw—Estimates Are Cut to Bone

The city council last night gave introductory readings to the rate bylaw for the year which now provides for taxation in 1931 of 52½ mills on the dollar—8½ mills being for general expenditures, 25 mills for schools and 19 mills for special rates and money debts.

In connection with the passing of the rate bylaw, the council resolved itself into committee for another tussle with the estimates, the idea being to pare off as much as possible. City Treasurer Matheson was present and pointed out where reductions in expenditure had already been effected in many cases.

Some rather drastic cutting of the proposed estimates was done in order to bring the mill rate down to a point that it was thought would be satisfactory to the ratepayers of the city. The largest cuts were in the public works department where about seven thousand dollars was shorn off, the largest amount being one providing for a new tractor to replace the one at present in use which is said to be almost out of commission. This makes the public works estimate for the year about $17,000 less than for 1930.

In other departments the grant of $400 to the board of trade was cut in half, relief was shorn of $3,700, the telephone department a considerable sum and it was decided that the finance committee should meet the fair board Wednesday night at its meeting and see how large a reduction could be made in its grant without impairing the efficiency of the organization.

The total cut amounts so far to about $14,000 and would enable financing for the year with a rate of approximately 52½ mills. A further effort will be made to get off the half mill and a careful scrutiny of the figures will be made when the revised estimates has been compiled. The rate bylaw was put through its early stages last night but will probably be revised before it is finally passed at the next meeting.

Protested Under Misunderstanding

Construction of Concrete Sidewalk on Second Avenue to Be Proceeded With

City Solicitor E. F. Jones reported to the city council last night that he had interviewed Shang How, Chinese, who had protested against the local improvement initiative bylaw providing for a concrete sidewalk on the north side of Second Avenue between Seventh and Eighth Streets, and had found that he (Shang How) had protested against the work under a misapprehension. In view of the fact that Shang How had not actually signed the protest personally, Mr. Jones advised the council that it would be in order to proceed now with the construction bylaw. Accordingly, this will be done.

No other cereal so crisp. Rice Krispies actually crackle out loud in milk or cream. Children love them.

And such flavor! The taste of toasted rice. A different treat for breakfast. Wonderful for the kiddies' lunch. So wholesome and easy to digest. Rice Krispies are handy to use in recipes. Take the place of nutmeats. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

FACETIOUS IN LETTER

Correspondent to Vancouver Sun Sums Up Taxation Situation

Says a letter published in the Vancouver Sun a few days ago: Tax burdens are borne by others than the owners of office buildings as may be seen from the letter below which was received by one of the members of the Building Owners & Managers Association of Oakland, Calif., in response to a regular monthly rent statement sent to a tenant.

"I wish to inform you that the present shattered condition of my bank account makes it impossible for me to send you a cheque in response to your request.

My present financial condition is due to the effects of federal laws, state laws, county laws, corporation laws, bylaws, brother-in-laws, mother-in-laws and outlaws, which have been foisted upon an unsuspecting public. Through these various laws, I have been held down, held up, walked on, sat on, flattened and squeezed until I do not know where I am, what I am or why I am.

These laws compel me to pay a merchant's tax, capital stock tax, excess tax, water tax, income tax, real estate tax, property tax, auto tax, syntax and carpet tax.

In addition to these taxes I am requested and required to contribute to every society and organization that the inventive mind of man can organize, to the Society of St. John the Baptist, the Women's Relief, Navy League, the Children's Home, the Policemen's Benefit, the Dorcas Society, the Y.M.C.A., the Boy Scouts, the Jewish Relief, the Near East, the Gold Digger's Home, also every hospital and every charitable institution in town, the Red Cross, the Black Cross, the White Cross, the Purple Cross and the Double Cross.

The government has so governed my business that I do not know who owns it. I am suspected, expected, inspected, disrespected, examined, re-examined, informed, required, commanded and compelled until all I know is that I am supposed to provide an inexhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human

Dr. Wood's
 Norway Pine Syrup
 Mrs. A. W. Power, 581 Jane St., Toronto, Ont., writes:—"Eight years ago I had a very serious illness. I had a bad attack of pleurisy and pneumonia and was six months in bed. This illness left me with a terrible cough. I tried several cough medicines, but they did not seem to have any effect. One day my mother brought me home a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after I had taken several more I noticed my cough gradually leaving me. Since that time if ever my husband and children or myself have had colds I always get 'Dr. Wood's.' Price 35c. a bottle; large family size 65c.; at all druggists or dealers.

ance, and because I refuse to donate to all and go out and beg, borrow or steal money to give away I am cursed and discussed, boycotted, talked to, talked about, lied to, held up, held down, and robbed until I am nearly ruined, so the only reason I am clinging to life is to see what the h— is coming next.

WILL TAKE UP BONDS

At the city council meeting last night the city clerk read a communication from the Royal Financial Corporation stating that on Wednesday of this week they would take up the whole of the recent purchase of bonds from the city, making payment through the Royal Bank here. The opinion was expressed that this was quick work and very satisfactory to the city.
