he old Grace Methodist Church, pioneer missionary edifice in the native village of Port Simpson, was completely razed by fire yesterday afternoon. Nearby buildings were saved although it was feared for a time that the two-room native school would be destroyed.

The exact cause of the conflagration is not known although it is believed it may have been caused by using heating stoves to warm the building, the furnace being out of commission.

Grace Methodist Church was built 57 years ago and its destruction removes one of Port Simpson's best known landmarks.
