Naval Radio Station Picks Up Message From Russian Steamer and Transmits It to Seattle—Believed on Board Ship

SEATTLE, Sept. 16.—Cecil A. Allen and Don Moyle, California flyers, who had been missing for more than a week after attempting a non-stop flight in the plane "City of Tacoma" from Japan to Seattle, were safe on an uninhabited island, according to a message received today by the coastguard here from the naval radio station at St. Paul Island in the Behring Sea.

News of the safety of the flyers arrived just after an aerial search got under way yesterday afternoon when Clayton Scott and Roy French took off for Alert Bay. They expected to reach Ketchikan today but will be intercepted as soon as possible and instructed to return here.

Rescue Pilot Clayton Scott and his mechanic, Roy French, arrived here a few minutes after 1 o'clock this afternoon from Alert Bay. They were immediately informed by the Daily News that Moyle and Allen had been found. On receiving this information, Pilot Scott stated that he would wait here pending confirmation of this report and receipt of instructions from Seattle.

The rescue plane is a fine double-winged Keystone-Loening four-place amphibian machine, being the first machine of its type to be seen in Prince Rupert. It is equipped with a 300 h.p. Wright Whirlwind engine and belongs to Pilot Scott.

It took 6 1/2 hours flying time for the plane to reach here from Seattle, last night having been spent at Alert Bay.

DOCKET IS LIGHT ONE

Only Two Cases Coming Before Assizes This Fall; No Criminal Work

After devoting the morning session to hearing chamber applications, Mr. Justice A. I. Fisher this afternoon opened the fall session of the Supreme Court Assizes here. The docket is one of the lightest in years and consists of only one civil case and one divorce petition. There is no criminal work on this occasion.

The civil case is one in which Annette Ladies Ready-to-Wear Co. is suing Myrtle Casey, formerly of Anyox, for goods sold and delivered in the amount of $1,770. The defendant, it appears, formerly held a stock of goods at Anyox for the plaintiff. Some time ago defendant's house burned down, and as far as the goods were concerned, it is claimed, no settlement was made. Patmore & Fulton have the case for the plaintiff, while W. E. Fisher is counsel for the defendant.

In the divorce case John D. Paul is petitioner and Kate Paul, respondent, while Charlie Clair is cited as co-respondent. W. E. Fisher is counsel for the petitioner in the action, which is undefended.

BALANCING A BUDGET

The lesson of the British Government must not be lost to Canadians. The Macdonald government tried to get along without balancing their budget and the financiers of the country stepped in and upset them.

No country, no province or state, no city or village municipality can afford to carry on without balancing its budget. To do so is to invite disaster. Suppose Prince Rupert decided to ignore this financial axiom and spend considerably more than it could pay for. The immediate result would be that the credit of the city would be gone and no one would lend money to carry on much needed improvements.

What is true of countries and cities is also true to a large extent of individuals. Each family must balance its budget. It must learn to keep its expenditures within its income. To fail to do this invites disaster. Instead of ending the year with the expenditures greater than the income, the balances should be reversed. Each year at least a small amount of money should be put away to provide for the time when sickness, death or disaster makes it impossible to continue earning the old rate of income.

WORK FOR THE WORKLESS

The Manitoba Government has commenced work on a new science building for the University of Manitoba. The work is being done now for the purpose of providing employment for those out of work and at the same time helping to give a stimulus to general business.

Prince Rupert needs a federal building, and the present would be the right time for the Federal Government to erect it as a means of providing employment for skilled and common labor, and at the same time providing business for the manufacturers of material and thus put the wheels of industry in motion.

If the governments hold back from undertaking necessary work, how can they expect private individuals to commence spending their money. Every new building erected not only helps to provide work, but also to inspire confidence in everyone. The present time would be the right one for getting this work under way.

FIRST OFFICIAL CALL

The visit of H.M.C.S. Skeena to Prince Rupert was the first official call of that boat following her arrival on the coast. This was because she was named after the river which flows into the ocean at this point.

Prince Rupert people will appreciate the courtesy. The vessel will call at Vancouver and Victoria later and will return here toward the end of next month.

NEWS OF THE MINES AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Big Missouri Mill Is Closed Down—American Creek Looks Interesting—Office and Assay Plant on Woodbine Planned

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company shut down the pilot mill on the Big Missouri mine in the Portland Canal district last week and laid off quite a number of men. Just what the future plans of the company in connection of the property are is unknown. The position, however, would seem to be quite in accordance with original plans. In the first place the 100-ton mill per day was installed merely for test purposes. It is reasonable to suppose that the tests have now been completed, in which case the mill, being altogether too small for operating purposes, would inevitably have to be closed down. As far as can be learned, development on Big Missouri has so far been confined to one level. In the absence of official information, only conclusions can be drawn and it would seem reasonable to anticipate a continuation of development in which diamond drilling would no doubt be extensively resorted to. There is every indication at the present of a continuation of underground exploration.

W. K. Gwyer, district engineer for the provincial department of public works, who recently returned from a trip into the Taku River section, reports considerable activity there in the way of mining development. In view of the proposed extensive operations of Noah Timmins, Toronto mining magnate, on the Whitewater group, Mr. Gwyer has recommended the construction of six miles of road which, if built, will start on the opposite side of the river from the present settlement of Tulsequah and extend some six miles up the valley to the properties which commence at an elevation of some 400 feet above the river.

Prospecting which has been done this summer on the upper end of American Creek in the Portland Canal district has disclosed some very interesting mineral deposits, all of which carry high silver, lead and zinc values with a satisfactory small gold content. From information available, exceptionally good values are being opened over widths up to fifteen feet and more in veins that have been traced for varying distances up to 1500 feet. C. M. Bryant, well known assayer, who is interested in several claims in the section, arrived in Stewart last week with exceptionally promising reports but, owing to the fact that he desires to secure certain assay returns, he did not go into any details. However, sufficient was learned to indicate that the discoveries on his property will soon excite considerable interest. Others, beside Mr. Bryant and his associates, are reported to be securing very promising results. It is understood that a good deal of the prospecting done this summer has been along the lines of suggestions made last year by Dr. Joseph T. Mandy, resident mining engineer.

Hector McDonald, mine superintendent for the Premier Gold Mining Co., after an illness of ten days, has been taken from Stewart to Vancouver in order to receive special medical treatment. Mr. McDonald has been mine superintendent at Premier since 1919. Many friends in the north will wish him a speedy recovery.

Fire, which broke out in the office building of the Woodbine mine in the Portland Canal district early on Wednesday evening of last week, soon reduced both the office and the assay plant to a pile of ashes, plans, records, books and plant being totally destroyed with a loss which is estimated at $5,000. The exact origin of the blaze has not been ascertained. H. B. McGuire and W. B. Edwards, who were visiting the mine, had gone to supper in the messhouse with the watchman, John Frederickson. After supper they were sitting chatting when one of the employees of the Premier, compressor plant at Mile 13 appeared and informed them that the office was on fire. By this time the building was half destroyed and the flames had spread to the assay office. Fire Marshal Potterton, being informed of the fire, left Stewart promptly but arrived too late to be of any assistance.

SAVE LIFE OF MOOSE

Animal Trapped in Slough by Flames Is Rescued by Fire Guards

BURNS LAKE, Sept. 16.—Trapped in a slough rimmed by treacherous muskeg, almost blinded by acrid smoke swirling in gusts, a huge cow moose, floundering toward safety, was rescued by fire fighters.

Parched after patrolling miles of guard-trench encircling a forest fire behind Bald Hill, four miles south of here, Sam Davies and Ernie Howard knelt to drink from a creek.

Through the low-lying bank of smoke they saw the panting, bewildered moose muzzle her twin calves into thick poplars, test the slough edge, drink greedily, then become mired.

"She's a goner!" declared Howard. "I'll bet you a fiver we can get her out," dared Davies.

"I'll take that bet," said Howard,

"and hope you win it; I'll stay till you quit."

Howard aided the moose to open water, then chased her to the mouth of a fire ditch where, almost exhausted, the animal became wedged.

Working feverishly, the men, aided by a mattock and shovel, risked striking hoofs of the moose, tore rotten logs from a windfall, sloped the ditch and filled it with crumbling logs.

Davies crossed the ditch on the back of the moose, hooked a shovel under a front hoof, and Howard rolled a sound log under it.

The cow moose staggeringly raised her great hulk. The rescuers ran for the timber.

Easing herself to solid ground, the moose stood for a minute, then limped toward where her calves obediently hid.

Howard dropped his shovel and handed Davies $5.

Davies refused, saying:

"Grab that mattock and patrol the fire line south. I'll go west and meet you at the grub cache. It's near 8 o'clock."

The big inning for the winners was the third when they made seven runs. The rally was started by the captain, Tobey, who hit safely, stole a base, and scored on an overthrow to third. He was followed over home plate by Ross, Gillis, Fulton, Iverson, Allen, and Morgan.

SPORT CHAT

Local sport fans will, no doubt, be interested to learn of the activities of the football team of M. S. Dragon since its visit here during the past summer. The next games played after leaving Prince Rupert were at Ketchikan where the warship won by scores of 6 to 1 and 8 to nil. At Santa Barbara the warship team played with the Canadian Legion, winning 6 to 1, and then defeated an all star Santa Barbara team 4 to 1. Typical American ballyhoo appeared in the papers regarding the Dragon team, the following screed having appeared in one of the sport pages of the Santa Barbara dailies just before the game was played:

"I went out on a little scouting expedition yesterday afternoon, the purpose of which was to get a lot of inside dope about the H. M. S. Dragon soccer team so that I could put the local players wise as to what they are going to be up against tomorrow afternoon. My inquiries led me here and there until finally I stood face to face with Mr. Caldwell on the deck of the good ship Dragon. Mr. Caldwell, by the way, is a dashing young British naval officer who has charge of all athletics aboard ship. He invited me below and for the next half hour proceeded to tell me how good the Dragon soccer team is why they are so good, the best games they have played, and in fact sort of gave a thumb-nail history of the whole outfit. Mr. Caldwell is rated as being one of the best soccer players in the entire British navy. He played on the All-Navy team for several seasons. This information I gleaned from one of his brother officers as Caldwell was too busy talking about the other members of the team to make any mention of himself. He is the only officer playing on the team.

"The Dragon team also boasts of having two other All-Navy players on their line-up—Smith, playing inside left and Rowbottom, who is captain of the team at centre half. Rowbottom is a rather tall chap who does his most effective work with his head. You have all probably seen a seal at the circus balance a ball on the end of its nose and toss it in the air and catch it again, haven't you? Well that's nothing, compared to what this lanky captain can do with his head. Smith seems to have the reputation of being the classiest player on the team. He has more style in his work than all the rest of the men put together. His footwork is marvelous and it is said when he finishes his enlistment in the navy he will conduct a dancing academy in London.

"Ah! Here is a man for you—'Flannel' Mason, playing at center forward. 'Flannel' has a line of chatter that makes all the other members of the crew sit up and take notice when he starts to expound his views on things in general. I will let you guess as to just what the British mean by the word 'Flannel.' Another top-notch on the team is 'Oggie' Ogilvie, whose position on the team is back. 'Oggie' seems to be a very popular young man on the ship. He must be a good singer or something.

"The other members of the team are Dorling, O'Bray, Wright, Wilcox, Taylor and Robinson, all A-1 players. This team has met some of the best soccer clubs in the world. They won the championship of the West Indies, but since that time have lost two of their best players. They also defeated the All-Jamaica team, which game was witnessed by over 15,000 people. They met and defeated 'the best teams in South America. They have won scores of cups and trophies and are out to win still more."

The appointment of Dr. R. G. Large as medical health officer and medical inspector of schools at Port Simpson has been resinded. Successor of Dr. Large, who is moving into Prince Rupert, in these positions at Port Simpson is Dr. A. E. Perry, the new doctor at Port Simpson.

WHAT A RECORD!

Canada's phenomenal and truly record growth since the beginning of the century has raised her from ninth place among the trade nations of the world to fourth place—an unparalleled record of industrial growth. Her exports have increased by almost 700%, her population by 90%, and manufacturing production some 800% during the three decades just past. The per capita railway mileage of Canada is the greatest in the world.

The RECORD SPEAKS for ITSELF

The growth in popularity of Turret Cigarettes has been as phenomenal and as outstanding as Canada's growth in industry and population. Quality alone is responsible for this marked preference on the part of all lovers of good Virginia cigarettes in Canada. After all, nothing can replace good, honest tobacco; grown and ripened right out in the field under nature's own sunlight—nothing artificial about that—and the high quality is "inbred".

Daring Thief Raids Warehouse in Daylight

Finger Print Caught Him

In Detroit some months ago a young man noticed some packing cases in the doorway of a clothing warehouse waiting to be expressed. On walking round the corner he saw an express delivery truck standing idle. It was hunch hour and everyone was away. Jumping into the seat he drove back to the clothing warehouse. Calmly signing the express book he loaded the cases on the truck he had stolen and drove away—with several hundred dollars worth of clothing. So daring was the theft that he might never have been traced but experts found a finger print on the same page as his fake signature in the express book. It proved to be that of a well known gangster. Throwing out their drag-net the police soon caught him. His finger print was the means of sending him to jail for a long term.

Your Prints on Food—Danger!

This story is not told to warn you against stealing. You are not a thief, you do not need a warning. But you do need to be told of the dangers in finger prints—your prints. They may bring a dangerous disease to you—in this way. When you touch some fruit, a chocolate or a biscuit, your prints leave germs on the food. In your mouth these germs multiply a million fold and quickly attack your system. These germs come from touching things other hands have touched—money, a book, a telephone or some playing cards. All day long you run this danger. Life Extension Institute lists 27 diseases which may be spread by the hands in this way. Colds are among them.

Protection against Odours

There is no perfume in Lifebuoy, just an extra-clean scent of safety which disappears at once but tells you it purifies and protects. A bath with Lifebuoy before you start the day's work assures you against body odours for many hours. Why not use a soap which combines so many advantages? You will find it particularly good for children, for it helps to heal cuts and scratches which otherwise might become infected. Keep it always on the basin and for the bath. Let everyone in your home enjoy it and learn to adopt the Lifebuoy habit. Get several cakes from your dealer to-day so that you will always have some on hand.

New Carrier Collection System

In view of the depression and to make it as easy as possible for people to pay, the Daily News is to be sold on a weekly basis, payable in advance.

Starting Monday next, several of the routes in the west end of the city will be turned over to the carrier boys as independent merchants. The boy will collect each Friday evening for the week following. He buys the papers and sells them to the customers, so there will be no credit given. The boy cannot afford it. Please do not ask him to return for the weekly payment. Have it ready for him.

Customers now in arrears will pay the amount owing at the office, but this will have nothing to do with the regular collections made by the boy. He will be doing business on his own, and if he does not make his own collections will not deliver the paper.

Those paid in advance will continue to receive the paper until the subscription expires. Any wishing to continue the yearly payments may do so, and we pay the boy.

The price of the paper will be 10c a week, payable strictly in advance. That means six papers for ten cents.

It will take a few weeks to get the new system running smoothly, and in the meantime we ask for the co-operation of the readers of the paper. The routes not going on the new system this week will do so just as soon as the lists are made up and the boys properly instructed. Help the boys to set up in business for themselves!

A Permanent Home For Someone In Prince Rupert

FREQUENT PAINTING PROTECTS AND MAINTAINS APPEARANCE OF HOME

Prevents Rusting of Metals

A good job of exterior painting, when dry, should be neither powdery nor sticky, but should dry hard with a slight gloss. There always has been, and probably always will be, a great deal of discussion over the correct materials and proportions to use in mixing good durable paint, but one cannot go wrong by using nationally advertised brands of ready-mixed paints.

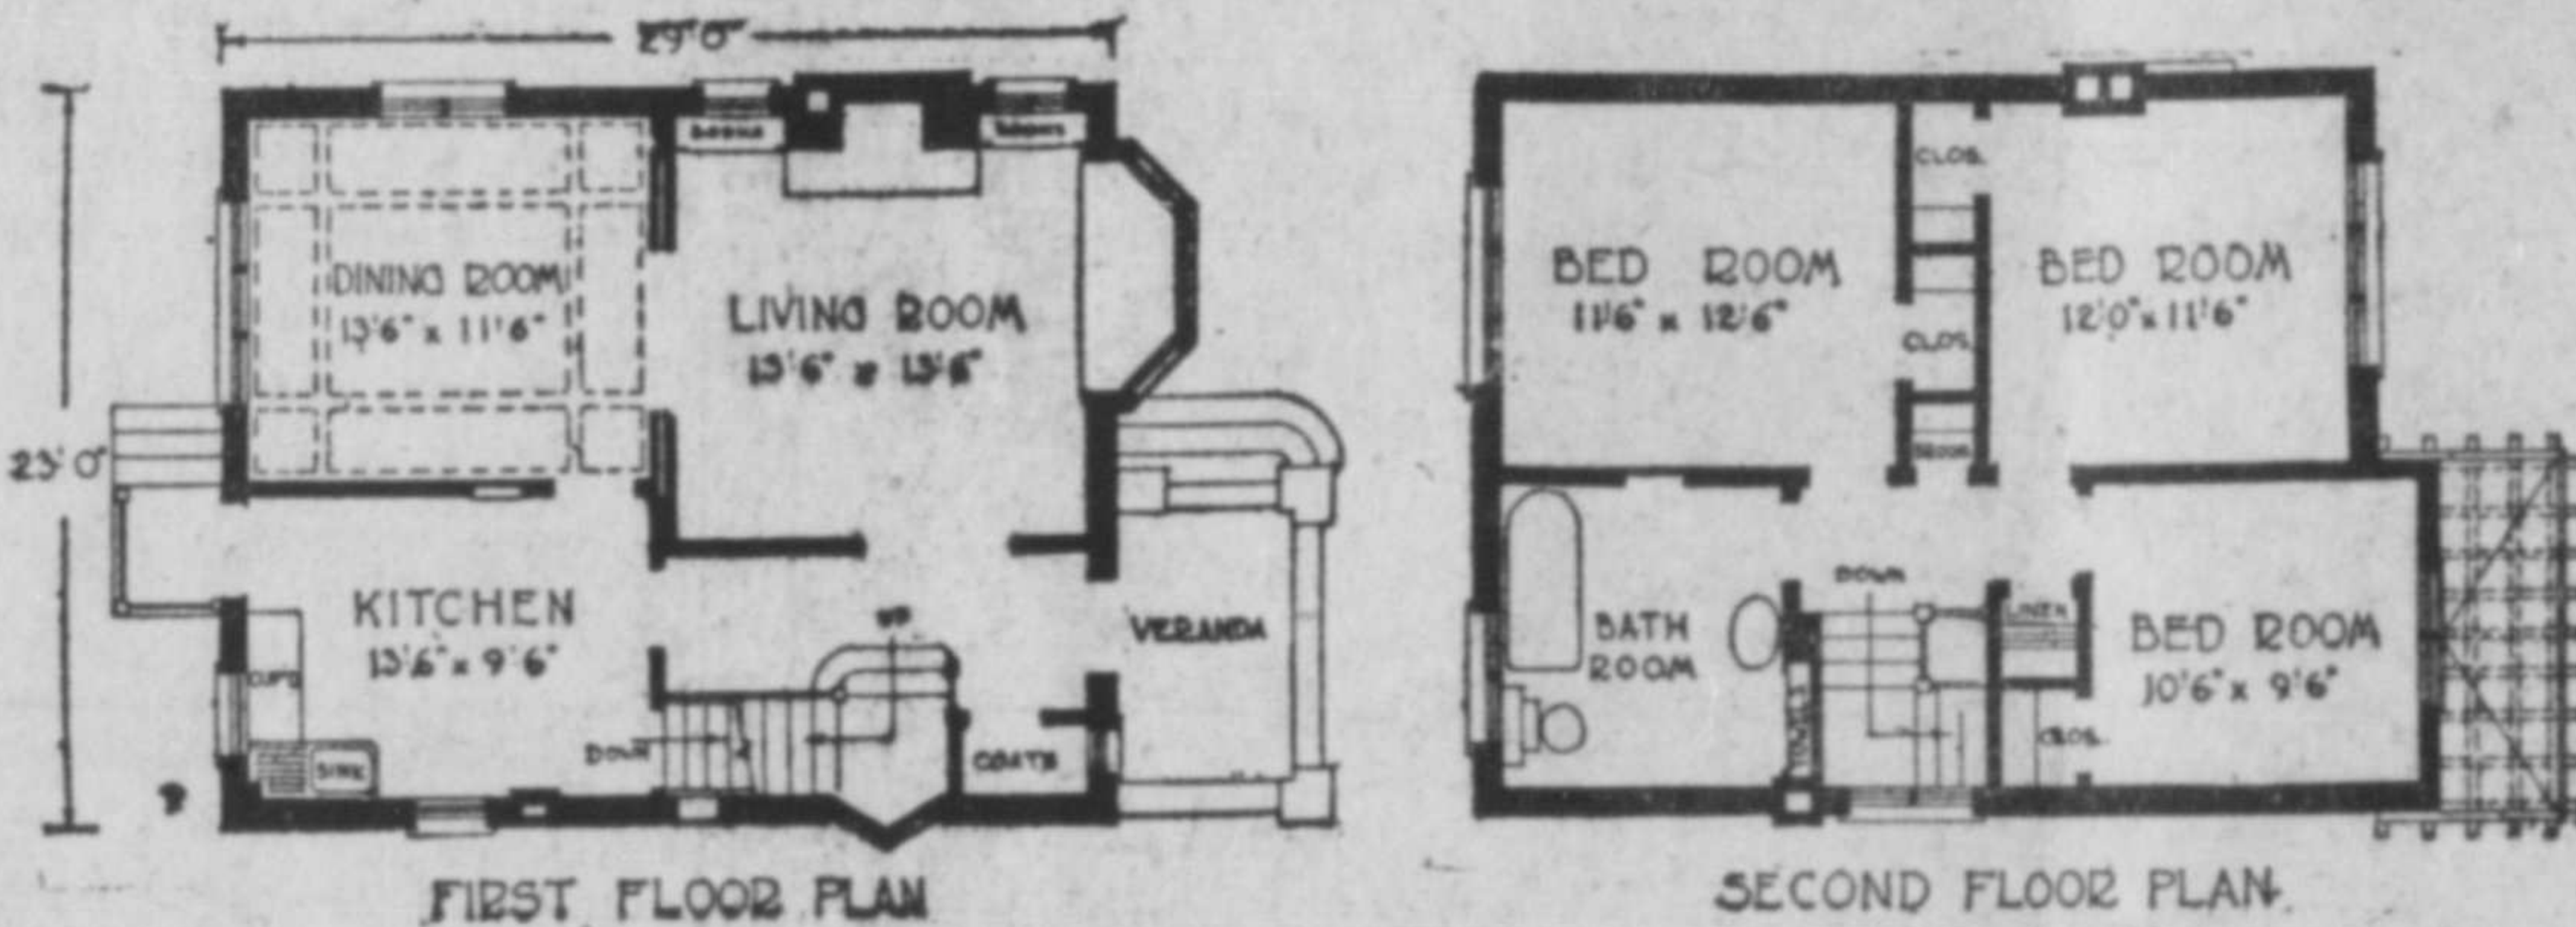

While periodical repainting is, of course, necessary to keep a house from becoming shabby, the most important reason for painting is for protection. If dampness is permitted to penetrate the wood for some time, swelling, warping, and eventually even rotting of the woodwork follows. Wood window sills and other flat surfaces which receive the full force of falling rains should be carefully watched for exposed bare wood and signs of rot.

Woodwork also needs protection from the sun's rays, which without good painting, literally cook the pitch and sap and other vital preservative elements out of the wood, causing shrinkage, cracking and even warping, and the subsequent opening up of joints, which permits the entrance of dampness and moisture to a greater extent than before.

When repainting metal or woodwork all loose particles of rust and dirt must be scraped, sand-papered and brushed off to provide a clean solid base for new coats. Even new work must be free of dirt and other loose foreign matter before painting. On new woodwork all knots and other pitchy surfaces must be sealed with shellac to prevent the pitch from working through the paint. If this precaution is not taken, each and every knot will be clearly visible.

New woodwork should be primed, i.e., painted with white lead and linseed oil thinned with turpentine immediately upon delivery to the job or after its erection in place to prevent moisture from penetrating the dry, open pores of the raw wood. The effect of rain on unpainted wood surfaces is to "raise" or expand certain soft portions of the grain which form ridges on the surface. This impairs its appearance unless sanded down. — Copyright, 1931, The Architects' Small House Service Bureau, Inc.

A COMFORTABLE, ATTRACTIVE SIX-ROOM HOUSE

HENRY J. CHOWN, Architect

This modern home is ideal for city location although it would be equally suitable as a suburban home. Designed for a lot facing south its rooms are arranged to get the best benefit from the sun. It is a compact house and a lot with a frontage of 35 feet is ample for its erection.

Above the foundation of brick the walls are built of red range brick, with the exception of the projecting gable over the front entrance and the upper rear portion of the house which is composed of stucco.

The interior is arranged to suit the needs of the average family and details which give pleasing effects are incorporated in the rooms. In the living room, the ceiling is of California stucco with cornice and the floor is of red oak. The book-lover would feel at home in this room with bookshelves placed on both sides of the fireplace.

Separating the living room from the dining room are sliding doors. Beamed ceiling and oak floor similar to that of the living room are features of the well proportioned dining room. Electrical outlets are placed in convenient places for lamps and other necessities.

The kitchen is of convenient size and possible layout of kitchen equipment has been considered in its planning so that the housework may be carried on efficiently.

The large bathroom on the second floor is tiled. Modern fixtures occupy good positions in it, the wash basin being of the pedestal type.

A hot water heating system has been designed for the house with a round sectional boiler in the basement. This home should not be difficult to heat because of its layout and simple form.

Only Those With Camps Will Stay on Rainbow Creek

Only those who have established more or less permanent camps will remain this winter on Rainbow Creek, the new placer ground in the Omineca district, according to word received here. Only the real workers are left on the creek now, the "tourists" having left some time ago.

The creek was staked from source to mouth during the past season.

Miss Jean Harrison, R.N., lady superintendent of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, who spent her annual vacation in Winnipeg and more recently attended the conventions in Victoria of the British Columbia Hospitals' Association and the Graduate Nurses' Association of British Columbia, returned to the city from the south on the Prince Rupert this morning.
