NOW FOR THE GARDENS

This is the time to be planning the garden and as soon as the ground is dry enough some spring digging can be done with profit to the garden and to the person who does the digging.

Last year Prince Rupert had many beautiful lawns and gardens but there are still many who have made little or no effort to beautify their places. To these we suggest that they make their plans now for growing a few flowers and possibly putting in a lawn. Careful planning is the first necessity but no one should hesitate to act just because they do not feel capable of drawing up plans. Many of the most beautiful places have "just happened."

If all the citizens do their part Prince Rupert can be made one of the most beautiful cities on the coast. The irregular contour of the land lends itself particularly well to beautiful gardening. No flat place can ever be really beautiful. We should have a garden because it is a civic duty, because it is a personal pleasure and because it is one of the most important factors in esthetic education.

PARKS COMMISSION

We particularly draw the attention of the new Town Planning and Parks Commission to the possibilities of Prince Rupert Beautiful. There is no need to copy other cities and plant rows of trees on our irregular and sometimes narrow streets. They would be out of place where the whole street is not graded. At any rate there are plenty of trees and they make for dampness and we do not need dampness. Rows of trees are not artistic usually and if they are deciduous trees the leaves are a nuisance. If the natural spruce and hemlock are preserved irregularly and the people who have gardens large enough preserve some of them, we shall have plenty of trees. Boulevards with only a few trees but with plenty of green grass and flowers would seem more suitable to conditions here. In the meantime cultivated gardens and well trimmed lawns, and in the apartments, window boxes, would do more than anything else to make Prince Rupert attractive.

THE HOUSE OF ISRAEL

Dean Tells of Theory of Lost Ten Tribes and British Empire at Rotary Luncheon

Showing that the people of the British nation are the descendants of the lost tribes of the House of Israel, Dean Gibson gave an interesting address yesterday at the weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club.

The Dean stated that although not a convert to the theory, he had made a study of it and found it very interesting. It was the result of a study of the question brought about following attacks on the authenticity of the Bible by Bradlaugh in England.

The ten tribes of Israel were taken captive into the land of Media from which they escaped and established themselves around the Black Sea. From these the Saxons were descended who came to Britain and settled there.

By another route the descendants of Benjamin eventually came to Normandy and crossed into England with William the Conqueror. The English and Welsh languages were largely based on the Hebrew. It was stated that the seed of Joseph would "possess the gates of their enemies" and this came to pass when the British established themselves at Gibraltar, Hong Kong, Singapore and Malta.

The descendants of Manasseh came to the United States, landing at Plymouth and eventually revolted over a question of taxes, just as most of the previous revolutions had started.

The rapid growth of the British Empire was noted, the population today being estimated at 429,000,000 occupying 12,000,000 square miles of territory.

The tribe of Joseph was divided into Ephraim and Manasseh to make 13 tribes and it was interesting to note that the United States were originally 13 in number. There were 13 stripes on the flag, 13 letters in the motto. On the dollar there were 13 stars, 13 letters, 13 arrows and 13 parallel lines and in the Eagle's tail there were 13 feathers and 13 in the tail.

It was said of the descendants of the tribes "Thou shalt lend but not borrow" and today Britain loaned money to all the world and borrowed from none except United States.

The Dean then traced briefly the history of the "Stone of Destiny" on which the Kings and Queens of Britain were crowned. It was said to be the stone on which Jacob laid his head when he slept after he had been cast out from his family. It was carried to Egypt and then to Palestine where it became a part of Solomon's temple. It was taken to Spain and then to Ireland where the kings and queens of that country were crowned on it. Later it was taken to Scotland by the King of Argyleshire and since then the kings of Scotland and later the kings of Britain have all been crowned on it.

The English king traces his descent from the House of David and it is worthy of note that Britain was the only country in the Old World that had not persecuted the Jews.

Interior of B.C. Salmon Cannery

Freshly canned salmon ready for shipping to any part of the world. Interior of one of the 45 canneries of the Clover Leaf Salmon Packers in British Columbia.

Canning Methods on Coast Are Described in Detail by R. Gosse, Head of Biggest Salmon Packers

TORONTO, Jan. 23.—By far the greatest proportion of the salmon caught on the west coast is canned. While methods vary somewhat at different packing establishments, the plan ordinarily followed is essentially the same throughout the industry.

The following is the process being used at present by the Clover Leaf Packers, world's largest fishing company, which operates 45 canneries in British Columbia, as explained by Richard Gosse, managing director of the company, in an interview here today.

"On arrival at the plant the salmon are moved by elevator from the boats to the floor of the cannery. From the temporary storage bins the fish are passed to the 'iron chink,' a marvellous machine which performs most of the work of cleaning the fish. The name 'iron chink' has been adopted for the reason that the machine does the work formerly done by Chinese labor. The iron chink can handle fifty or more salmon per minute. By an ingenious arrangement of knives, scrapers, brushes and jets of plumber fills it with salmon. The filling machines handle 75 cans per minute.

"The cans are then conveyed," Mr. Gosse continued, "to the weighing machine where, if any are slightly underweight, they are automatically thrown out on a table, where additional filling takes place by hand to bring the can up to required weight. Comparatively few, however, are thus treated, as the filling machines generally function perfectly.

"The cans then pass to a machine which puts on the tops but does not seal them tightly. They are then taken to the vacuum machine, where the air is exhausted from the cans and the tops are hermetically sealed. Nearly all salmon canneries now use this vacuum process.

Cooking After Canning

"After emerging from the vacuum machines the cans are placed in iron trays and then moved on small hand trucks to the retorts for cooking. The retort is of steel, cylindrical in shape, about 10 feet in length and approximately five water, the head, fins and tail are cut off and the viscera removed in a single rotary operation. From the iron chink the salmon pass to washing tanks and then to tables, where workers inspect each fish and add any finishing touches that may be necessary to completely dress it in readiness for canning.

Canning Methods

"The cutting machine, with its endless belt conveyor and rotary knives, cuts the salmon into pieces about three or four inches in length, or of convenient size for the cans. The pieces of salmon then pass through gravity chutes to the filling machine, where a plunger fills each can with meat. The cans are fed into the machine from the left above. One-quarter of an ounce of salt has been automatically measured into each can before the feet in diameter, with a heavy door at one end, which can be closed tightly and bolted when the retort is filled with salmon. Each retort holds several thousand cans of salmon. After the door is closed live steam is admitted and the salmon cooked for an hour and twenty minutes at a temperature of 240 degrees Fahrenheit and under a steam pressure of 10 pounds. This thoroughly cooks the flesh of the fish, softens all the bones, and completely sterilizes the contents of the can.

"Thereafter the cans pass through washing tanks and are placed in flat trays to cool. Careful examination is then made to see if any of the cans are defective. Because of the excellence of modern canning machinery and methods, every can is perfect.

"In some plants the cans are put through a lacquering machine but this has largely been discontinued, as the tops and bottoms of the cans are lacquered previously," concluded Mr. Gosse. "The labelling machine puts the label around the body of the can, which prevents rust and avoids the necessity of lacquering the entire body of the can. The cans are then put in wooden cases, in most instances 48 one-pound cans to the case. A fair proportion of half-pound cans are also packed."

Xmas Toys Were Much Appreciated

Scout Toy Shop Committee Receives Letters of Gratitude

The following are extracts from letters received by the Boy Scouts' Toy Repair Shop Committee in acknowledgment of parcels sent during the recent Christmas season:

"Dear Scouts, please accept my thanks for the nice amusing toys so kindly sent us. They were different toys from what I have seen before. They came as a pleasant surprise. They were the only presents we had except father bought a pop-gun for my little brother Jack. We were both delighted with the toys and books, again thanking you for the toys, and good wishes."

"Dear Boy Scouts," thank you very much for finding us, and sending us such nice toys. We do like them all and enjoy playing with them. Our best wishes to you all for the New Year."

Annual Report Of Fire Chief

Damage for 1930 Just Over $34,000—Department Is Praised for Its Work

Fire damage in Prince Rupert during 1930 totalled $34,001.35 of which $33,481.35 had been paid in insurance, leaving a net loss of but $520, it was announced by Fire Chief D. H. McDonald in presenting his annual report to the city council last evening. Expenses of the department for the year totalled $16,672. During the year, the department had responded to 74 alarms and 350 inspections had been made. The chief felt that members of his departments had given another year of faithful service.

Speaking to his motion to file the report, Ald. Macdonald expressed the opinion that it was a very favorable report. It showed that the department had been efficient in preventing the cause of fires and that, when they had arisen, they had been handled effectively. The alderman thought the city was fortunate in having such an efficient department.

DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND COMMERCE OTTAWA, CANADA

To Canadian Citizens,
Everywhere in Canada.

Bring the Boys and Girls Back Home!

How often have we all deplored the fact that thousands upon thousands of our most promising young men and women find it necessary to leave Canada, in order to seek in some other country opportunities for the employment of their talents that seem to be lacking here?

As individuals we have deplored it, because in these cases the sorrow that is caused us through the breaking of family circles and home ties is accentuated by a sense of irrevocable loss, due to a feeling that the separation is going to be permanent. And from a broad national standpoint we have deplored it, because it has meant a serious drain upon the very kind of population—gifted, energetic, ambitious—that we most need to help in developing our magnificent natural resources.

Must we continue to rear and educate our children—to equip them as best we can for the successful careers we hope will be theirs—only to lose them to an alien flag because of the dearth of opportunity for them at home?

Opportunity of any kind is a result, of which production of some kind is always the cause. Most people create their opportunity by engaging directly in some form of production, such as farming, fishing, mining, lumbering or manufacturing. These people provide the foundation and, according as they succeed, opportunity is created for others in all the occupations that constitute the super-structure, such as transportation, banking, insurance, trading, the professions and public service.

The more the people of a country favor their own producers, thus giving the latter all the incentive necessary to increase the volume and broaden the scope of their production, the more abundant will be the immediate opportunities they create for themselves, and the future opportunities they create for their children.

If in the past opportunity has not been as abundant in Canada as it has been elsewhere, it is because Canadian producers as a class have not been as successful as producers elsewhere have been. And the chief reason our producers have been less successful is because they have failed to receive from Canadian citizens generally the same loyal support that the producers in certain other countries have received from their citizens.

Some of these countries import practically nothing that they are capable of producing for themselves. But we Canadians are so careless about our daily buying, so thoughtless of the welfare of our producers, so shortsighted about keeping the door of opportunity open for our sons and daughters, that every working day we allow ourselves to be sold about $2,500,000 worth of imported merchandise that our own producers would have been glad to make for us, if we had only given them the chance!

Why not let us all resolve that from now on we'll try to bring our boys and girls back home by remembering, in our buying, that it must always be "Canada First"!

Very sincerely yours,

A. H. Stevens

Minister of Trade and Commerce.

The tests were conducted in the choppy waters of Lough Neagh. It was said that at no time were the throttles more than half open.

Don's time will not stand as a record, however, since the trials were not clocked by officials of the racing organization.

SAYS HE'LL BEAT MAX

Stribling Gives Radio Interview Which Is Broadcast From New York

An interview with W. L. (Young) Stribling was broadcast Wednesday night from New York in which the Georgia Peach said he expected to beat Max Schmeling when they met for the heavyweight boxing championship in June.

Stribling said he was 26 years old and had been fighting for 10 years. He had engaged in 294 bouts and had been knocked down only three times.

Asked if he was nervous when he went into a fight, the boxer said he was not exactly that but was at a high tension. He enjoyed fighting. He refused to discuss the technique of the game as he said that was something he preferred to keep to himself. His plan of attack was usually decided upon after the battle had begun, based on the tactics of his opponent.

Stribling was acclaimed by his interviewer, a well known Atlanta sports writer, as the coming heavy-weight champion.

Queen Charlotte Weather Is

No Frost Yet and Violets are in Flower—Contrast With Conditions On Eastern Coast

SKIDEGATE, Jan. 23.—The weather here is a pleasant surprise to the people of the Queen Charlotte Islands. They have letters from their homes stating that the Atlantic seaboard is 20 degrees below zero here on the Queen Charlotte Islands. It is not even frost and the snow is coming out in leaf through the woods.

PRINCE JOHN IN PORT

C.N.R. steamer Prince John arrived in port at 5:30 yesterday afternoon with a small cargo of passengers but considerable cargo. Capt. McLean reported a rather rough trip north, the ship having delayed several hours. The Prince John will sail at 10 o'clock tomorrow on her return to Vancouver and all Queen Charlotte Islands.

"—with all his worldly goods"

HERE, in this old strong-box, so long guarded and locked, is his "estate" . . . the "worldly goods" which he has bequeathed to her.

One by one her adviser takes out the temptingly engraved certificates and examines them. One by one he lays them down with a sorrowful shake of the head—

Slowly the truth dawns upon her. Those wonderful purchases that were to make them rich . . . independent. These speculations that were to lead them to fortune . . . many of them now are WORTHLESS!

But at the bottom of the box there lies an unpretentious document, which suddenly she recollects. It cannot have depreciated. It must still be safe and sure . . .

She reaches in and draws forth his Life Insurance Policy.

Amid the wreckage of thousands of estates, Life Insurance stands as the final and enduring refuge in time of need.

It is the one investment no man can afford to be without.

Temporary Vote For Public Works

City Council Makes $1,500 Available To City Engineer for Maintenance Work Pending Estimates

At the request of Ald. Rudderham, chairman of the Board of Works, the city council last night appropriated $1,500 to the city engineer for maintenance work on sewers, roads and water services pending the passing of the year's estimates.

In answer to a statement by Ald. Collart regarding the condition of Beach Place, Ald. Rudderham stated that it was the intention of the Board of Works to make a general tour of inspection and ascertain the various places where street repairs might be needed. Nothing much could be done until after the estimates had been passed.

Eleventh Avenue Grading Running Within Estimate

In reply to a question by Ald. Linzey as to the progress of the work, City Engineer F. N. Good stated at the meeting of the city council last night that the standard of efficiency among relief crews on the Eleventh Avenue grading work had been much higher than had been anticipated. The work was running below estimates as far as cost was concerned and it was expected to complete it with a good balance to spare.

The city was getting practically a dollar's work for a dollar's pay from the relief crews, the work being nearly as efficient as with regular crews, the engineer declared.

Stop That COUGH!

A most effective method of treating coughs, colds, sore-throat and bronchitis is to let a Peps tablet dissolve in the mouth. Soothing, healing fumes are released, which are breathed down the air passages, loosening the phlegm in the throat, stopping the racking cough and clearing the bronchial tubes.
