HEARING INDIAN MURDER CASE PROCEEDING AT ASSIZES

Witchcraft Introduced In Samuel Douse Trial In Local Assize Court

Crown Evidence Will All Be in Early This Afternoon—
Many Native Witnesses Heard as Well as Doctor and Police Officers

It became evident this morning from the cross-examination by R. L. Reid K.C. of Vancouver, defence counsel, of crown witnesses in the case of Samuel Douse of Kitwanga, charged with the murder of Silas Brown of Kitwanga on January 10 last, that witchcraft practice prejudice is to be introduced by the defence so as to test the credibility of crown witnesses under such circumstances.

Under cross-examination, more than one of the native witnesses testified that the accused had been suspected of witchcraft practice and was, therefore, feared.

When the hearing adjourned at 1 o'clock this afternoon until 2:15, there remained but one more crown witness to be heard, Inspector John Macdonald of the provincial police. It is understood that the defence will put in evidence in which case the trial may extend into tonight.

Jeffery Sidney Morgan, a native Christian of Kitwanga, testified that he went to Kitwanga in response to an invitation to attend a feast. The feast was held in Richard Douse's house. He went to bed and was awakened about 5 a.m. by hearing a gunshot fire. George Sampare was brought in with a wounded leg and he had taken the bullet out. Then Silas Brown was carried in with his arm broken by a gunshot wound. He had accompanied the two men to Hazelton Hospital, stopping at Kitwanga for Dr. Ardah to bandage the wounds.

FUNERAL NOTICE

The funeral of the late William G. Hamilton will take place Saturday at 2:30 at the Presbyterian Church.

BENNETT SUSTAINED ON GRIT AMENDMENT

OTTAWA, May 8.—The government was sustained last night by a majority of 46 in the division on the Liberal amendment which condemned the agricultural policy of the administration. The vote was 61 for the amendment and 107 against.

Dr. Leonard Wrinch told of seeing Brown and Sampare at the hospital. Brown had a wound on the right forearm which had broken the arm in several places and badly lacerated the flesh. It was his opinion that the bullet had entered the inside of the arm near the elbow and followed the bone going out on the same side near the wrist. The man had a weak heart and infection soon set in. The arm was amputated two days later but the infection and fever continued and he died February 15.

In cross-examination Dr. Wrinch admitted that there had been accident at the hospital, the thermometer having broken in Brown's mouth during a momentary absence of the nurse. All the particles had been removed and there were no ill effects. Mercurial poisoning would have been evident in the patient had it occurred.

Pictures taken with the x-ray machine showed the broken bones in the arm.

George Sampare, 18 years of age of Kitwanga, told of being shot in the leg. He was standing about 25 feet from Brown. He had gone to the village for the feast but had not taken part in it. He had walked around all night with the tail boys most of the time, and had remained in the road all night.

Defence counsel wanted to have the jury see the scar in Sampare's leg but it was objected to as witness could not be put in as an exhibit. It was finally decided to have a doctor examine the wound and give evidence in regard to it.

Wallace Morgan of Kitwanga was the final native witness. He told how Douse had been accused of witchcraft, a meeting being held at Kitwanga about it.

R.C.M.P. Officer
Corp. Berger R.C.M.P. gave evidence in some detail as to a portion of bullet he had received which was said to have come from George Sampare's leg. Berger got the ball from Dr. H. C. Wrinch and turned it over to Constable Raybone. The only time he had heard of Douse being in trouble before, witness said, was in connection with the objections taken by the Indians against white surveyors coming in. They had obstructed these surveyors because they feared they were going to lose their lands.

Berger expressed the opinion that the mushroomed bullet presented to him in court had not caused the wound in Sampare's leg which he described as being a clean one. This bullet would have caused a rotary tearing wound. The bullet might have gone through Sampare's leg first and then entered Brown's forearm where the bones were shattered.

The judge sustained Mr. Johnson's objection against Mr. Reid asking witness for hearsay evidence in regard to witchcraft among the

YACHT IS ON ROCKS

Rio Bonita Piled Up This Morning
at Entrance of Metlakatla
Passage

BOUND FOR KODIAK

The palatial Vancouver yacht Rio Bonita, owned by A. Melville Dollar, under charter for a natural history expedition to Kodiak Island in Western Alaska, went ashore on the rock patch near the light at the entrance to Metlakatla Passage at 7:30 this morning and is fast aground with shattered forefoot. Evidently, the vessel was taking the wrong side of the light.

The Rio Bonita arrived here yesterday from Vancouver and took on supplies here, leaving this morning in continuation of her voyage north. It is expected she will be refloated on the high tide about 7:30 tonight. The Pacific Salvage Co.'s power tugs Pachena and Red Boy are standing by ready to pull the yacht off.

The Rio Bonita is 90 feet long and is a converted sub-chaser. She is equipped with two diesel engines.

According to later report, it is stated that the Rio Bonita ran up at full speed about an hour after the high flood. The time at which she went up the water was two feet higher than it will be tonight at the high water mark. In addition to that she ploughed up four or five feet higher than she would have had she not been running so fast. Salvors consider they will be lucky if they succeed in refloating her tonight.

Efforts are already being made to obtain a new boat for the people on the vessel who were bound north to get a specimen of Kodiak bear.

The vessel's hull has been hogged, her keel, stem and forefoot are shattered and it is believed that she has been extensively holed.

Hinchliffe Explains Government Policy In Regard to Education In Brief Address to Rotary Club

"The government of a country is interested in education only to the extent of giving the knowledge and inspiration to enable a person to earn his own living and thus become a good citizen," declared Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe in addressing the Rotary Club at its luncheon yesterday afternoon.

The minister explained that the parents were interested in every phase of education, the church in the spiritual side but the government of the country only in material education. They were told to keep their hands off religious education and they were not concerned with the immortal side of man. The first necessity of a good citizen was to be able to earn a good living for himself and family. If he did not do it, some other must do it for him. It was a very vital part of education.

Mr. Hinchliffe said it was not expected that the government should provide for all phases of education but should be concerned with only this one definite purpose. "The government does not care what a person believes," he said. Elementary arithmetic and a command of the English language spoken and written were the essentials.

In regard to higher education, the minister of education said they were interested in it but it was not for everybody. It was useless to try to make a first class lawyer out of a boy who had no brains. He was accused of being retrograde because he could not see in every person the possibility of becoming a first class doctor, lawyer, clergyman or electrician. "It is not our work," says the government. "We are interested only in making good citizens of the country. We have done our duty if we give an opportunity to the young people to be useful."

At the close Mr. Hinchliffe was thanked by President Johnston.

KILLING IS DESCRIBED

Crown Presents Alleged Eye-Witness in Douse Murder Trial

Native Witnesses

Evidence Marshalled Against Indian in Assize Trial

Most important of several native witnesses heard yesterday afternoon at the Supreme Court Assizes in the case of Rex vs. Samuel Douse, who is charged with murder on January 10 at Kitwanoon Indian village, was Richard Fowler who testified that he was an eye-witness of the early morning shooting affair which later resulted in the death in Hazelton Hospital, of Silas Brown from an infected arm. Fowler declared positively that Douse lifted the gun from his side, shouldered it and pointing it at Brown, fired. Witness saw the flash from the gun in the early morning dusk. Cross-examination failed to shake Fowler's story.

When the hearing was adjourned at 5:25 yesterday afternoon until 10:15 this morning, the taking of crown evidence was not completed. There were police officers, doctor and possibly further native witnesses to be heard. The proceedings were slowed up by reason of the fact that the evidence of all the native witnesses had to be received through an interpreter. It will probably be late today before the case goes to the jury.

Widow's Evidence

Still under cross-examination when the hearing resumed after luncheon recess, Mrs. Silas Brown, widow of the man alleged to have been shot by Samuel Douse, said she was looking ahead when the shot was fired. She was holding her husband's hand, as it was slippery underfoot. She did not see Douse fire the shot but could hear him close behind. She took Silas to the house of Ernest Smith, where they were guests, after the shooting and there the injured forearm was bandaged, a flannellette sheet being used as an outside wrapping. The shooting occurred in front of Walter Derrick's house.

Under re-examination by Mr. Johnson, Mrs. Brown asserted that she had been in company with her husband throughout the day up to the time of the shooting. She had had nothing to drink nor had her husband. She had never accused Samuel Douse of witchcraft either in or out of his presence.

In answer to the judge, Mrs. Brown was unable to express an opinion as to whether accused was sober that night. She was not close enough to smell his breath or otherwise determine.

Ernest Smith, Kitwanoon, at whose home Mr. and Mrs. Brown had been guests on the night in question, told of Samuel Douse coming into his house by the back door uninvited late on the night of January 9 or early in the morning of January 10. Witness asked Douse why he had come and what he wanted but accused made no answer nor did he have anything to say. Witness took Douse outside to the gate and told him to go home. Smith then returned to his bed and did not waken until next morning when people knocked at the door of his room, advising him that Brown had been shot. There was a bullet wound in Brown's forearm which witness helped to dress. Smith did not see that Douse was drunk. He, himself, did not take liquor as he had been told by a medical adviser that he should not on account of his health.

Under cross-examination, Smith denied that Douse had come to his house inviting anyone who needed shelter to go to his (accused's) house. Witness did not push accused out of the house but took him out quietly. Douse did not object at being sent away. Witness heard no dogs barking during the night nor did he hear a shot fired. Witness did not know anything personally against Douse. He had not seen any home brew at the totem pole feast. He had never touched intoxicating liquor himself.

Wouldn't Go Home

Jacob Morgan, Kitwanoon, who was the guest of Louis Johnson next door to Ernest Smith's, went to bed about midnight and was aroused by loud talking. He went outside and could see Ernest Smith bringing Samuel Douse around the upper end of his house. Witness also advised Douse that he had better go home. He answered: "I am not going to go home, I am going to stay here all night." Douse was not intoxicated, Morgan asserted.

Richard Fowler, Kitwanoon, was aroused by loud talking outside

Thomas Derrick's house where he was staying. He went to the door and could see people standing outside Ernest Smith's fence. He knew they were Sam Douse, Silas Brown and Matilda Brown from the voices he heard. He heard Silas and Matilda telling Samuel to go home. He heard Samuel say he wanted Silas and Matilda to go with him. They went away in the direction of Douse's house.

Not long after, Fowler heard voices again. He heard Matilda say: "We had better go home, Sam is going to shoot us." Samuel ordered Silas to stand and repeated the order. "If I don't shoot you tonight, I'll shoot you tomorrow." Douse said, according to witness. Witness went out to the road where the Tait boys had arrived and, as the Browns and Douse came nearer, the latter told witness and his companions to stand away from Silas. Douse then raised the rifle to his shoulder and fired at Brown. Witness gave a demonstration to the court of Douse's motions in shooting. Witness was also required to show in much detail and on a map the positions of various persons, houses, etc. Witness did not know exactly how far Silas and Samuel were apart. The latter was pursuing Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

Second Man Shot

After the shot had been fired, witness was called by George Sampare, who is alleged to have been shot in the leg by the same bullet which went through Brown's forearm. He took Sampare to the house of Eli Gray and saw no more of Silas at that particular time.

Under cross-examination, Fowler stated that he had known Douse a long time but knew nothing bad about him. Before he went to sleep that night witness heard dogs barking beside Ernest Smith's house. He did not see Samuel slip to account for the gun going off but reiterated that Douse had drawn the gun to his shoulder and fired. He insisted that Samuel raised the gun to his shoulder and used both hands in shooting. Witness admitted his eyesight was not very good.

Nephew Accused

Walter Douse, nephew of accused, was the final witness at the afternoon session. He had left the feast at Richard Douse's house before it was over as he had guests at his house for whom he made some coffee before they retired. Witness explained that visitors were gathered in Kitwanoon from Kitwanoon, Kitsegucia and Vanarsdol villages for the purpose of attending the totem pole raising celebration. After retiring, witness awoke and, while awake, heard a gun go off and a woman's scream.

After rising, witness followed Samuel Douse to his house and took the gun away from him, hiding it behind a cupboard in his own house and not parting with the weapon until he gave it over later to Constable Raybone. Witness identified the 30-30 Savage hammerless rifle as being the gun he had taken from Samuel. It was also the same gun that accused had had when the couple went hunting in April, 1930. He could tell it because it had been sawed off and a new sight mounted. When witness took the gun it was empty both of shells and empty cartridge.

Under cross-examination, witness asserted that he had never had words or trouble of any kind with Samuel. Witness denied that Samuel had spoken to him about the former stopping drinking. It was after and not before the shooting that he had come in possession of the rifle, witness insisted. He never knew about the shooting until he heard the shot and the woman scream. Witness asserted that he had not been drinking. He did not smell fresh powder when he pulled the gun after taking it from Samuel.

Stop More Trouble

In answer to a further question, by crown counsel, witness explained that he thought he had better take the gun from Samuel for fear he might cause more trouble with it.

In adjourning the hearing until this morning, His Lordship warned the sheriff and the jury that the latter body should be kept strictly to itself without outside communication. In answer to a question by one of the jurymen as to whether there might be any objection to the jury attending a show, Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald thought that a show at this time might detract from the solemnity of the occasion when a murder trial was being heard. It might do no harm for the jurors to attend the show and then again it might. He thought it might be better if it did not. He asked the sheriff to do everything possible to make it comfortable for the jurymen during their seclusion.

Accused Ill

Douse, who is a tall, sunken-faced delicate looking person, reported to be in a dying condition, evinced a stolid interest in the proceedings which he was able to follow as Mrs. E. R. Cox, the interpreter, recited the evidence in the native tongue. Occasionally he would fall into a bowing position as if from weakness. When certain incidents in evidence were told, he would grin.

Detroit Tigers went into fourth place in the American League by defeating Chicago White Sox who were relegated to the second division.

The Chicago Cubs took a close victory from the long-suffering Cincinnati Reds.

Only four games were played in the two leagues yesterday. The scores:

Three Teams Expected to Be Entered, Grotto, Legion and Regiment; Officers Are Elected

There will be a Senior Football League of at least three teams in operation in Prince Rupert this season, it was indicated last night at the annual meeting of the Prince Rupert Football Association. The three teams are expected to be Grotto, Canadian Legion and Regiment. Organization for the season was put in motion at last night's meeting and there will be an executive meeting on Thursday next to formally receive entries and draw up a schedule.

A vote of condolence was passed to the relatives of William G. Hamilton, a former prominent Senior player, who passed away suddenly this week.

The election of officers of the association for the coming year resulted as follows:

- Honorary President, Mayor Cyril I. Orme.
- Honorary First Vice-President, Alex Clapperton.
- Honorary Second Vice-President, Olof Hanson M.P.
- President, Bert Morgan.
- Vice-President, W. Murray.
- Secretary-Treasurer, F. E. Wer-mig.

A board of control was also named consisting of Jack Frew, George Abbott, Fred Hardy, W. Rance and J. Watson.

SPORT CHAT

Despite some losses, notably through the departure from town of the mighty Herman Loblick and the decision of Stan Moran, who was injured last year, not to play this season, there is still a good array of baseball talent offering for the 1931 season in Prince Rupert and the fans of the city should see some good play on the diamond during the coming summer. A few new players are reported to have hit town and these, it is to be expected, will be put to good use.

The Prince Rupert Swimming Club is endeavoring to get action on certain repairs to the floats and other facilities at the Salt Lake which are essential before the 1931 swimming season can be enjoyed to the full. The provincial public works department has agreed to match dollar for dollar with such money as can be raised locally in making repairs to these facilities. Now the question is to devise ways and means for the raising of the money. Those who take enjoyment at the Salt Lake during the summer would do well to help to get the place in shape.

HER LIFE IS SAVED

Feat of Power Corporation Lineman at Balmoral Being Highly Commended

Victor Grant, patrol lineman of the Northern British Columbia Power Co., has won the deep gratitude of the parents of three-year old Shirley Heli of Balmoral Cannery and general commendation through having saved the life of that little girl last Sunday afternoon. The story of Grant's feat has just reached the city.

Little Shirley had fallen into the river at Balmoral and she had been under for five minutes before being taken out. In the general excitement, Grant used a process of resuscitation from electric shock. After working for 20 minutes, the little one showed signs of life and, within 10 minutes more, she had completely recovered.

Now little Shirley is running around happily again as if nothing had ever happened.

Kitwancool Indians.

Under re-examination by Mr. Johnson, Corp. Berger admitted that, if the bullet had gone in one side of Sampare's leg and lodged in front of the skin on the other side, it must have been a spent bullet. It might have gone through Brown's forearm, hit the ground and ricocheted into Sampare's leg. It would be reasonable to suppose that, if it had had any momentum at all, it would have gone right through the flesh of Sampare's leg.

Contradicting other witnesses, including the doctor, Berger said the flight of the bullet through Sampare's leg was almost level. The other witnesses had said it was decidedly upward.

Provincial Constable Harold Raybone told of first arresting Douse on a shooting charge and, after Brown had died, on a charge of murder. He identified the rifle he had been given by Walter Douse, accused's nephew. He also identified the ball he had received from Corp. Berger. He told of experiments that had been made by himself and Inspector Macdonald on a partly rotten block of wood with such a weapon. He arrested Douse at the Hazelton Hospital where he had been told to stay by the Indian Agent.

BOARD HAS GATHERING

Various Matters of Interest Taken Up at Meeting in Terrace

TERRACE, May 8—There was a good turnout of members at the monthly meeting of the Council of Terrace Board of Trade on Tuesday night, J. K. Gordon presiding, and a large amount of routine business was got through. The secretary, Mr. Halliwell, under pressure, consented to remain in office for another month.

After a lengthy discussion it was agreed to support a resolution submitted by the committee on unemployment and relief of the Ministerial Association of Vancouver. The resolution asked for an enquiry into the fluctuations of employment in the province with a view to recommending a permanent policy with regard to unemployment. F. Nash and the Rev. H. T. Allen strongly supported the resolution and E. T. Kenney opposed.

Mr. Allen was appointed a delegate to serve on the committee. A recommendation from the economic committee in favor of the establishment of some system of national health insurance was deferred for consideration at the next meeting.

Mr. Hepburn introduced a discussion on the question of excessive loads on the public roads and the filling of ditches with logs and debris. This, too was deferred for future consideration.

Announcement of appropriations for trail work were given from the Mines Department. These included: Repairs to Chindemash Creek as far as Silver basin $300; Repairs to North Fork of Chindemash Creek trail 200; Zymoetz (Copper) River trail 150; Trail from Zymoetz (Copper) River trail to head of South Fork of Kleanza Creek via "North West" group 250; Trail from Kleanza Creek trail to "Silver Chloride" mineral claim 100; Total 1000

A letter of thank to the department was ordered to be sent.

A letter was received from the Hon. R. W. Bruhn, minister of public work, accepting the invitation of the Board to a luncheon on the occasion of his forthcoming visit. Arrangements were left to the entertainment committee.

It was decided to support the proposal of Vernon Board of Trade to institute a provincial convention of Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce.

The steamer Cetriana, Capt. Richardson, arrived in port from Port Essington without a quartermaster or seaman in employ. The crew quit at midnight on learning that they would not be paid 50c an hour for Sunday work.

"Socialism is first of all a protest against the wrongs which we know exist in society," declared Rev. F. W. Kerr before the Presbyterian Church congregation in the Empress Theatre in opening a series of sermons on socialism.

Urges Sending Of Prospectors Into North Area

Urging the importance of the prospector as being "the pivot man of the mining industry," Col. J. E. Leekie, well known Vancouver mining engineer, figures that to outfit a party of fifty prospectors to go into Northern B.C. and Yukon territories, where great mineral areas are definitely known to exist, would cost no more than $35,000.

Rev. and Mrs. H. T. Allen of Terrace arrived in the city from the interior on yesterday afternoon's train and sailed last night on the Prince George for Vancouver where they will attend the forthcoming Conference.

GET BACK TO WORK

TERRACE, May 8—J. K. Gordon at the meeting of the Terrace Board of Trade Council on Tuesday voiced a strong appeal to the members with regard to the constant appeals to the government for financial assistance.

"We should impress upon everybody," he said, "the need for planting a few potatoes and vegetables and for keeping a pig or two so as to have a little stock laid up for the winter. It is time we stopped calling upon the government to help us. We want to look to our own responsibility and to meet our own needs. We have got to get back to that."

Mr. Nash: "It seems to me that the teaching of moral philosophy is very much neglected in our schools. That policy applies to the men who are leaders in our industry, who employ men while progressive days are with us and who pile up millions of dollars, but the moment that their products are not in demand they use that reserve to pay their dividends on unorganic money and cast the men who helped make it on the bread line. There is a responsibility just as much as it is the responsibility of every individual to work for his daily bread." (Applause.)
