UNEMPLOYED POSITION

The action of the provincial government has placed the unemployed of the city in a difficult position. Only those who have been in the city less than three months are entitled to relief by the province and the city has no fund on which to draw.

What is needed is work for the unemployed and this should be pressed upon the provincial and federal governments with all the force possible.

THE LOAN AND THE NEWSPAPERS A Story of Intelligent Advertising

ON MAY 11th Premier Bennett announced the Dominion Conversion Loan with an objective of $250,000,000. On June 1st the Prime Minister announced that the Loan had been subscribed to the sum of $639,816,500 — an over-subscription of two and one-half times.

Canadian business men are familiar with the loan. They knew that the Government had sufficient assurance of large blocks of bonds to guarantee the objective. They knew that the real success of the loan depended on an over-subscription from the free flow of bonds in private hands all over Canada, which would come forth at the call of the Nation.

But even the most optimistic were hardly prepared for such a successful flotation as the figure which the Prime Minister revealed to the country in his budget speech.

The Conversion Loan was not merely a success, it was a success in the largest and widest measure.

The degree of response with which the loan was met may be attributed to scores of factors, but one of the very definite reasons for the smoothness and rapidity of the transaction, the readiness of the public, the lack of question, and the ease with which tens of thousands of small transfers were put through, lies in the application of the force of advertising in the daily newspapers of Canada.

The Government carried a series of clear-cut announcements in every daily newspaper throughout the Dominion. These in turn were supplemented by the individual advertisements of banks, bond dealers, and financial houses. The use of other media was inconsequential. Nearly all of the expenditure went into the form of advertising in Canadian daily newspapers.

Advertising made the work of the Conversion easy!

Advertising brought thousands and tens of thousands of small individual investors into the offices of banks, financial brokers and trust companies with their bonds.

What newspaper advertising accomplished in this particular instance it is accomplishing day by day for the whole fabric of commerce and industry in Canada.

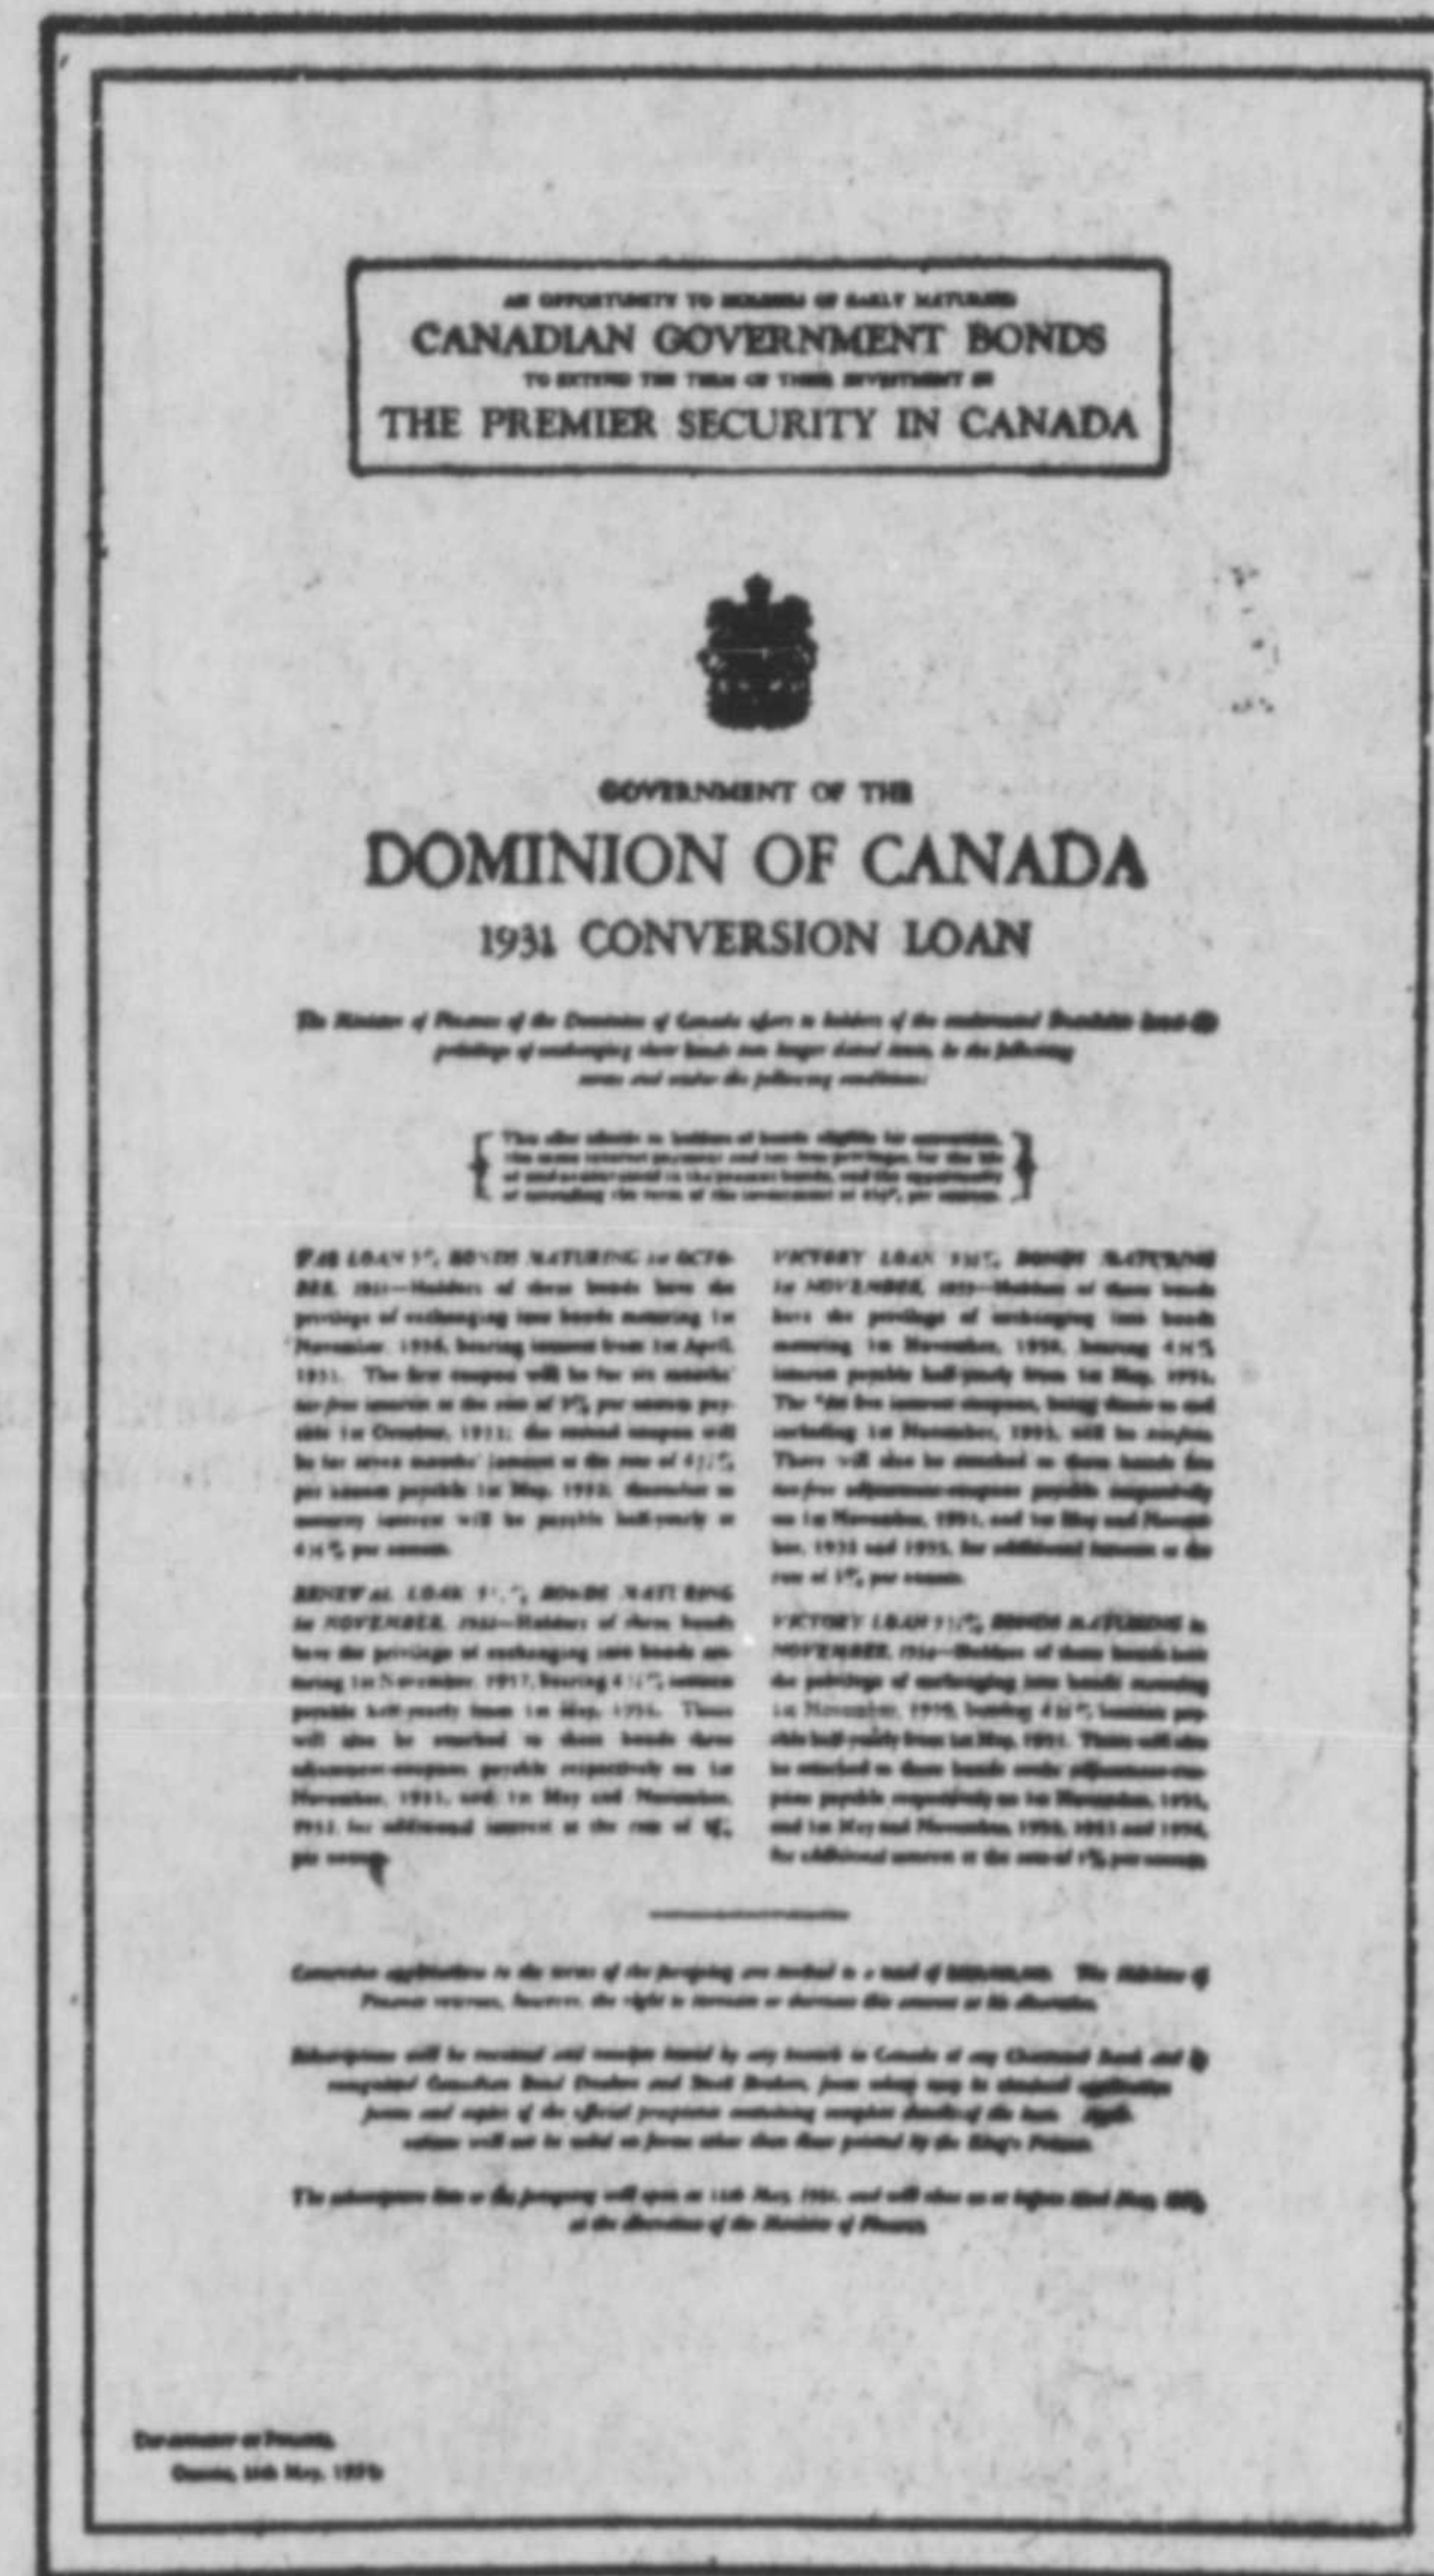

In this Dominion there is no substitute for newspaper advertising.

The geographic extent of Canada, its span of provinces extending over the vast breadth of a continent, its scattered population, its trading areas with widely differing business conditions, all tend to make the Canadian daily newspaper the one universal medium of information and advertising in this country.

This is why the newspapers of Canada occupy an outstanding position as the messengers of the Dominion's welfare and progress. This is why the successful national advertiser in Canada, without exception, looks upon the Dominion's skein of daily newspapers as his primary and indispensable medium.

Ask any recognized advertising agency.

The Dominion Government advertisement reproduced in miniature above, and those which followed it, were published in every daily newspaper in Canada, coincident with the announcement of the Dominion Conversion Loan, which had an objective of $250,000,000, and secured $639,816,500 within two weeks.

holes, casualties and pension bills to show for it. If we spent one or two hundred million now in needed public works we would be nothing out of pocket for there would be assets to show for it if economically spent. Even if a few of the works accomplished were not presently needed at the moment the few years' interest entailed through premature provision would be balanced by saving in costs. The Premier of Alberta is reported as having stated that certain excavation could be accomplished now at half the cost of a year or so ago, providing the work were done by contract on a business basis and not as eleemosynary "relief." Here is the key—contract work with a reasonable wage stipulated.

Pacific Coast Outlet

"Among the public works long promised, abundantly justified and sorely needed is a more direct Pacific Coast outlet for the twenty million acres of arable land in the Peace with its present population of ninety to a hundred thousand and a potential population of a greater.

"Leaders of both political parties have pledged themselves to this. A corporate investment of twenty-six million dollars calls for development in order that the money already spent be made productive of ultimate profits. A calculated saving of four cents a bushel in cost of wheat shipment and other savings on inborne and outborne commerce would to the settler make the difference between profit and loss in times like the present.

"To your city what would it mean? Drifters now a burden to you would be put to work on construction. The slack in the labor market would be at once taken up. It would relieve you of a direct burden and a potential source of insurrection and crime.

"But that would not be all. Rails would be needed, as well as other equipment and supplies. Business would improve in various lines. That would create demand for other products, and so it would go. The pulse of business would be quickened and the chariot of prosperity would be given a start on its way. It is the first impulse that is so hard to impart after a period of depression. ### New Strike on Moose Property at Alice Arm—Other Activity There to Develop Stewart Property

A new strike of ore has been made on the Moose property in the Upper Kitsault Valley at Alice Arm by J. Strombeck, pioneer prospector of that district. The ore is composed of galena, carrying silver-lead and zinc values. The vein is five feet wide and can be traced on the surface for over 1000 feet. Not enough work has been done to determine the richness of the ore body but it is known that some of the ore is very high grade. Samples which have been brought in to Alice Arm show it to be very massive.

A tunnel 20 feet long has been driven on the ore and some surface stripping has been done. It is Mr. Strombeck's intention to continue surface work during the summer. The Moose is one of the best known properties of the upper Kitsault country. It is in the heart of what is known as the silver belt and contains proven ore bodies carrying good silver values in addition to the latest strike. It is owned by J. Strombeck and Miles Donald.

Ralph Ingraham of Anyox arrived at Alice Arm last week from his Highlander group of mineral claims where he has been doing development work. The Highlander consists of four claims and is owned by Messrs. Ingraham and Jones. It is situated on McGrath Mountain and has an ore body on the property which is reputed to be over 100 feet in width. The ore carries lead, zinc, silver and gold values. It has been favorably commented upon by various mining engineers. Some fine samples of ore were brought down to Alice Arm last week by Ralph Ingraham. A tunnel, 30 feet in length, has been driven on the property and surface work has also been done at several points.

Wright & Hinton, surveyors of Prince Rupert, are at present surveying the Keystone mining property on Roundy Creek in the Alice Arm district. The Keystone Mining Co. intends to obtain a crown grant to the property.

F. R. Griffin, who is associated with Joseph Creek in the Fraser and Patricia groups of mining claims on Marmot River at Stewart, are now busy preparing to institute immediate development work on the two properties. For the time being, it is the intention to open up various showings with a view to proper sampling. At the outset, their work is somewhat handicapped as a result of the trail up the north fork having fallen into disrepair, being blocked at many points by small slides.

John A. Anderson, road superintendent for Atlin district with headquarters at Anyox, returning recently from a trip into the Telegraph Creek section on official business, declared that the Telegraph Creek district is the most prosperous mining community now in the whole of Atlin riding. Mr. Anderson states that there are three hydraulic outfits working the placer gold deposits there, one on McDames Creek, one on Mosquito Creek and another on Dease Creek. There is also a smaller outfit working on Gold Pan Creek. Two Keystone drills are also seeking placer gold—one on the gravel bar below Telegraph Creek and the other, at the mouth of Dease Creek. A dredge is also being assembled on Clearwater.

Another interesting document emanates from the Department of Mines in Victoria in the form of a 47-page booklet entitled "British Columbia, the Mineral Province of Canada." The book is designed as a short history of mining in the province, a synopsis of the mining laws in force, statistics of mineral production to date and a brief summary of the progress of mining during 1930. All these subjects are carried out in a very admirable manner. Northern and Central British Columbia gets a full share of attention in the publication. Many attractive illustrations include views of Spruce Creek placer workings in the Atlin district, the Granby Co.'s plant at Anyox, Boulder Creek placer workings near Atlin, the Porter-Idaho tram near Stewart, Lorne Creek in the Omineca mining district, the Ingenika Mines Ltd. camp, Pondosy and Whitesail Lakes in the central interior, the Tahtsa River above Emerald Landing in the Skeena River country.

Ernest Love, head of the Stewart telephone system, arrived in the city on the Catala this morning from Stewart for a brief business visit here. He was formerly superintendent of utilities in Prince Rupert.

Elks, tallenders for the first half of the season, walloped the Old Empress team with a 12-1 score last night, and thereby cinched the half for the Sons of Canada. If the Hotelmen could have won last night, they would have been on even terms with the Native Sons, and a playoff would have been necessary to decide the winner, but now, they are out of it, and will have to see what can be done about the second half.

It was a ragged game most of the time. Chenoski hurled a fine game for the winners, being touched for but two hits and striking out eight men. He was never in serious difficulties and with better support would have had a shut-out.

Ray Commons, who turned the Sons of Canada back last Thursday, started for the Old Empress again last night but didn't last so well. He pitched one and one-third innings and was touched for six hits and five runs while he was on the mound. Jack Nelson came to the rescue in the second after four men had scored and managed to retire the side without further loss. He finished the game but allowed five hits while seven men scored against him.

Bill Harold led the attack for the Antlered Herd with a double and two singles in five attempts. George Mitchell and Chenoski each made two hits while Doug Stalker, in his first appearance this year, cracked

GOING TO MONTREAL

Three Local Men Make Exceptionally Fine Showings in C.N.R. Rifle Shooting

Three local men have had the distinction to win the right to go to Montreal for the annual Canadian National Railways system rifle shooting contests on August 29. In preliminary shoots, in which 380 marksmen throughout the Dominion competed, William Brass came sixth, while Alex Wiley was eighth, and B. E. Valde, tenth.

This is considered quite an achievement for a community the size of this and testifies to the skill of the local marksmen.

BIG SIX STANDING

Fred Stephens and George Howe, both members of the Elks team lead Big Six batters for the first half of the local baseball league's season. Howe, however, had belonged to the Sons of Canada for the most of the half and is the only player who has been with that team to be in the Big Six standing. It is a peculiar thing that while the Sons of Canada led the teams in batting for the half, none of their players names are found with the big stickers. As a result of last night's game between Old Empress and Elks, Eldridge dropped from second to sixth place while Bill Harold displaced Zarelli who has not played in enough games to qualify him. Following is the standing:

Sockeye Fishing At Bella Coola

Season Has Opened Unfavorably and Operators Do Not Expect to Make Much

BELLA COOLA, July 14.—The sockeye fishing season has opened unsatisfactorily. The weather was bad and the fish few. This, added to the low price, made the fishermen wonder if it was worth fishing. The way things look they will hardly make more than their expenses. However, the weather has changed and they are all hoping for better results. If not, the coming winter will be a lean one for the fishermen.

District Attorney Will Withdraw Charges Against Showman

SAN DIEGO, July 14.—District Attorney Tom Whelan announces that he would request Superior Judge L. N. Turentine to dismiss conspiracy and moral charges against Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire theatre magnate and three others.

The prosecutor said he was of the opinion that a retrial of the sensational girl market case would be a hopeless gesture and an unwarranted expense to the county. The jurors disagreed after an 18-day trial of the case last month, nine favoring acquittal against three for conviction.

DUNCANNON AT JASPER

Vice-Regal Visitor Enjoying His Stay at Jasper Park

JASPER PARK, July 14.—Lord Duncannon, son of His Excellency, the Earl of Bessborough, officially associated himself with the Canadian west today when he donned a 10-gallon hat, a gaily colored neckerchief and a pair of handsome leather chaps, and rode nearly 20 miles to Maligne Canyon and down the Medicine Lake trail. The party, which included His Lordship's cousin, Arthur Ponsonby, and his aide-camp, Major Bollam, and seven other riders made camp by the side of the trail and the distinguished visitors were entertained in true western fashion.

Betraying great admiration for the artistic way in which one of the Jasper Park cowboys rolled a cigarette in one hand, Lord Duncannon took tobacco and cigarette papers and enjoyed his first lesson. He was not particularly successful and has decided to stick to tailor-mades, until he acquires greater proficiency.

Today the party will climb Whistler Mountain. They have laid out a strenuous program of trail riding and mountain climbing for their stay at Jasper Park Lodge where they will remain until Friday morning when they will leave on the Canadian National Railways "Continental Limited" for the Pacific Coast.

From midnight until noon today, the Grand Trunk Pacific wharf was a very busy place with many boats landing and departing. Among the steamers in during the morning were the Princess Mary, City of Seattle, Prince Albert, Ventura, State of California and the Prince Rupert. This evening the Camosun will be in.

A camera man of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway publicity department, with his assistants, is now on the way to Prince Rupert to take local scenes for advertising purposes.

A jury, which yesterday afternoon before Coroner J. H. McMullin, investigated the circumstances of the death earlier in the week of John Stussl, employee on government wharf construction, found that he had lost his life as a result of injuries sustained when he fell from a scaffolding. The jury consisted of H. S. Wallace, G. R. T. Sawle, Thomas McClymont, J. C. Halsey, H. G. Helgerson and J. A. Smith.

Local Audience Hears About Vancouver Island Solarium In Address By Its Director

The first ideal of the founders of the Royal Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay, Vancouver Island, is the prevention of illness in delicate children; the second, to afford prolonged treatment and education for crippled and sick children who require it; the third, to train such children in some trade or profession, which they may be found capable of carrying out, so as to make for their independence in later life, and the ultimate, that there shall not be one single crippled child in British Columbia who has not had a fair chance. So declared Dr. C. Wace, medical superintendent of the solarium, in addressing a meeting last night in the city council chamber. Dr. Wace described in some detail and with great interest the work and activities of the institution of which he is the director. Mayor Cyril H. Orme presided over the meeting.

In opening, Dr. Wace went into the problem of the crippled child and his effect upon the community. Hospital records, the doctor stated, showed that not more than ten per cent of the crippled children who came into the institutions were cripples at birth. It had been further proven that ninety per cent of these might not have been cripples had they received the right treatment at the right time. It was, therefore, a matter of paramount importance that the treatment should be provided when necessary.

Dr. Wace also stressed the importance of prevention. In childhood the origin for making cripples usually developed and tuberculosis in some phase or another was often the origin. It was of utmost importance that tuberculosis, which could often be suspected although not always diagnosed definitely, should be caught in time and treated before it had developed into a stage where it would probably be incurable. Caught in time, the infection could be stopped and the disease prevented. The first principle of the founders of the solarium was the prevention of illness in delicate children.

Dealing with the second principle or ideal, that of affording prolonged treatment and education for crippled children, Dr. Wace referred to the necessity of long treatment for the effects of such maladies as infantile paralysis. General hospitals were neither equipped or fitted to give such specialized and lengthy treatment. Cheerfulness and happiness of surroundings were most important and pity was the last thing to be desired. Many crippled children possessed brilliant intellects but there was an inferiority complex which must be eradicated.

Origin of Idea

Dr. Wace then went on to tell of the origin of the idea of the solarium in this province. It had been conceived in 1926 and, on March 1, 1927, the first unit was opened with accommodation for 32 children. The situation was on what was known as Mill Bay, 30 miles north of Victoria, four miles from the railway and of easy access by road. The site was sheltered and the climate there ideal. It was a long, low building with folding windows, making the interior practically the same as being in the open air. There were play-room and bathing pool but no operating room. The staff consisted of lady superintendent, two graduate nurses, ten assistants supplied from student nurses of the Infants' Hospital in Vancouver. There were two school teachers who were always active. The institution had sent up pupils for entrance examinations and they had been successful in the tests.

Mental and physical exercises were given freely and efforts made to increase the powers of resistance to disease. The diet was simple and fresh fruits and vegetables played an important part. Fresh air and sea baths were an important factor in the treatment but, most important of all, was the great curing sun. The doctor digressed to a brief discussion of the important rays, many of which still remained while others were probably still unknown. Exposure of the whole body to the sun and rays was important. Particularly was this so in tuberculosis.

Children to be admitted to the solarium must have at least normal mentality, Dr. Wace explained. They could not be afflicted with active tuberculosis of the lungs or in immediate need of surgical treatment. Boys up to 12 years of age and girls up to 14 were admissible and there was no bar on account of either race or creed. There was no limit to the length of treatment. Toward the treatment of the patients, the provincial government made its regular hospital grant of 70c per day per capita and the municipality concerned also usually paid the same per capita. If parents could pay, they were asked for a fee of $6 per week. Thus the actual cost of $2.25 per day was nearly met. The solarium, since its establishment had treated 230 patients including the children now there. A new building had recently been erected toward the cost of $23,000 the Shriners had contributed $10,000.

Results of Treatment

Turning to the results of the treatment, Dr. Wace explained that it was more often impossible to cure deformities but disease was always practically eliminated. As for infantile paralysis, if it were caught early enough, deformities could be prevented.

Dr. Wace continued to tell of the efforts that, finally, were made to place the cured children in suitable occupations so they might make of themselves useful and self-supporting citizens.

Concluding, Dr. Wace declared that the institution and its founders would strive to carry on until that happy time had arrived when there was not a single crippled child in British Columbia who had not a fair chance.

Dr. Wace thanked Mayor Orme and George Rorie for the opportunity that had been provided for him to speak in Prince Rupert.

The mayor, making suitable opening and closing remarks, told of a visit he, himself, had paid not long ago to Royal Alexandra Solarium where a great work was being carried on amid ideal surroundings and conditions.

SEA STORY ON SCREEN

"Way of a Sailor" Proves Thrilling Entertainment With Some Dramatic Sequences

A free and boisterous tale of ships and sailormen, with some moments of drama and others of thrill and suspense, is the nature of "Way of a Sailor," current offering at the Capitol Theatre which opened last night. The big thrill, and a very realistic one too, comes in the latter stages of the picture and surrounds a daring rescue in an enormous Atlantic storm. This episode is carried out in a most excellent way.

The star of "Way of a Sailor" is John Gilbert, who turns in a good performance in this, one of his few talkies to date. Leila Hyams, as the feminine lead, and Wallace Beery and Jim Tully are also among the featured players. Polly Moran has a minor role in the cast.

Duncan Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Miller, is now able to be able out and take short walks after having been confined to his bed for a year or more with spinal trouble. He is now progressing most satisfactorily toward complete recovery.
