MOYLE AND ALLEN ARE STILL FLYING

CANADIAN NATIONAL PRESIDENT WILL VISIT CITY SOON

Lost Way In Storm On Aleutian Islands And Land On Lonely Isle

Were in Air for Thirty-four Hours After Take-Off From Japan—Will Continue Flight to Seattle in Their Plane

TOKYO, Sept. 18.—Details of the flight of Don Moyle and Cecil A. Allen, young California flyers who had intended last week to make a non-stop hop from Japan to Seattle, are published today by the newspaper Asahi, which stated that the flyers had been forced to turn back to Siberia by a storm after they had circled around the Aleutian Islands for about twenty hours in the plane "City of Tacoma."

SIR HENRY IS COMING

JASPER PARK, Sept. 17.—Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, arrived yesterday morning on the "Continental Limited" to inspect the improvements effected during the past season at Jasper Park Lodge.

Sir Henry will also present the prizes at the Totem Pole golf tournament which is now in its concluding stages here.

Sir Henry was accompanied on the trip from Montreal by the various general superintendents over whose territory he passed. On leaving Jasper he will, with A. E. Warren, vice-president of the western region, inspect the company's property in Western Canada and the Pacific Coast, visiting in addition to prairie cities Vancouver, Victoria and Prince Rupert.

Driving Girls to Immorality

Charges of Labor Party Are Refuted in Edmonton

EDMONTON, Sept. 18.—Refuting charges made by certain members of the Labor party in Edmonton, who stated that girls are being driven to take to immoral ways owing to lack of employment, Miss H. N. Weir, who operates an employment bureau for women and girls in the city, denies that conditions are as bad as painted. Miss Weir, who is in close touch with the situation, admits that present employment situations are bad but says there have been times in the past when they were worse. She suggests room in the centre of the city where girls can foregather during their search for employment. "A lot of unemployed girls have their homes here," said Miss Weir, "and the number of those without any friends in the city is not great. Some of the girls whose homes are out of the city have been persuaded to go home."

PRITCHARD PRESIDENT

Burnaby Man Named Head of Municipalities Union—Next Convention at Nelson

NEW WESTMINSTER, Sept. 18.—Reeve W. A. Pritchard of Burnaby was elected president of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities at the close of the annual convention here yesterday. Nelson was chosen as the scene of next year's convention.

DOLLAR IS VERY LOW

Sinks to Lowest Level in Years, Discount Being 1 1/2-16

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The Canadian dollar has sunk to the lowest level of the day and the lowest level in several years as the banks closed today. The discount rate was quoted at 1 1/2-16, half a cent lower than the opening quotation this morning. The stockmarket went in another pronounced slump today, carrying price average to a new low level for the bear movement.

Ford English Plant Moves

Is Now Established Two Hundred Miles Away Instead of in Manchester City

MANCHESTER, Sept. 18.—The Henry Ford automobile plant in England has completed its moving from this city to a site 200 miles distant. Of the motion pictures shown in Bergen, Norway, it is estimated that about 65 per cent. are American productions, 25 per cent. German, a few French and Italian and the remainder Swedish.

TWO DESTROYERS TO VISIT HERE

Both H. M. C. S. Vancouver and H. M. C. S. Skeena will visit the port of Prince Rupert next month in the course of northern cruises, Mayor Cyril H. Orme has been advised. The Vancouver will be here on October 19 and 20 while the Skeena will be in port from October 26 to 28. The latter vessel will be bringing north Hon. J. W. Fordham-Johnson, Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia, for his first visit to Prince Rupert since his appointment. Both the Vancouver and the Skeena are destroyers.

WAS ONCE CHAMPION

Marvin Hart, Famous Old Heavy-Weight Boxer, Dies of High Blood Pressure

Heyday in 1905

Height of Career During Lean Pugilistic Days Following Jim Jeffries

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 18.—Marvin Hart, aged 55, claimant of the world's heavyweight championship in 1905, died here yesterday from high blood pressure and complications.

Marvin Hart was unofficial heavyweight champion of the world in the lean pugilistic days following the retirement of Jim Jeffries and just before the "white hope" era that finally produced Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey.

He held the title eight months and estimated that it netted him only about $10,000.

"I was born 20 years too soon," he philosophized.

Hart won the crown as a gift from Jeffries when the retiring champion refereed a bout at Reno, Nevada, July 3, 1905. The contender was Jack Root of Chicago, who succumbed to a knock-out in the twelfth round of a fight scheduled for twenty stanzas.

Root was small compared to Hart's six feet and 195 pounds, but he was bigger than Tommy Burns, who dethroned Hart on February 23, 1906, at Los Angeles. That fight went 20 rounds and Hart lost the decision.

"Imagine losing the heavyweight championship of the world on a decision," Hart exclaimed disgustedly as he left the ring.

He always claimed that he did not receive a square deal in this contest. Burns carried the title across the Pacific and lost it in Australia to Jack Johnson, the big negro who Continued on Page 4.

HIGHLIGHTS OF REGIME

British Labor Government Although Brief Was Eventful

June 9, 1929, MacDonald Labor Government took office. Party had no clear majority, having 287 members, to Conservatives' 260 and Liberals' 59.

August, 1929, partook in Young Plan conference at The Hague, where Philip Snowden made spectacular plea for British claims. Conference followed by evacuation of German territory by allied forces.

November, 1929, Mr. MacDonald visited the United States to discuss disarmament with President Hoover. January, 1930, naval conference in London brought some reduction in naval strength and prestige to party.

September, 1930, Imperial conference in London failed to settle tariff problem. November, 1930, Indian round table conference assured India of measure of autonomy.

July, 1931, joined seven-power conference working on Hoover plan to restore German financial structure.

August, 1931, Labor government resigned and Ramsay MacDonald formed coalition administration.

CHANGE IN GAME LAW

Temporary Regulations Promulgated Pending Completion of International Negotiations

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—Pending completion of negotiations between Canada and the United States for the protection of migratory bird life, temporary changes in the game regulations are announced here. The regulations announced will lead to international action by the two countries.

The open season for ducks in the provincial electoral districts of Atlin, Omineca, Fort George and that portion of Skeena district lying in the eastern district will be from September 1 to December 15. Shooting of shore birds, or waders, including only Wilson or jack snipes, will be permitted from September 1 to December 15.

Visit of Venizelos to Rumania Held Way to Wider Pact

SINAI, Rumania, Sept. 17.—A pact embracing Greece, Rumania, Yugoslavia and Poland is believed to be possible as the outcome of the visit of the Greek Premier, Eleutherios Venizelos, to the Rumanian King at his summer royal residence here Saturday.

The bright colors of the Greek flag floated everywhere here in honor of Mr. Venizelos, who is lunching and dining with King Carol. Mr. Venizelos in a statement to the press asserts that Greece is opposed to all political alliances, but says he favors a Balkan economic union.

Should a pact evolve from the Greek Premier's visit, it would probably do so along the lines of the enlargement of the existing Greco-Rumanian agreement, as it is known that such a course is favorably viewed by government circles at Athens.

Following gala receptions here today Mr. Venizelos is going to Bucharest, then sailing from Constanza to Athens.

EVIDENCE COMPLETE

W. F. Stone and Mrs. Jack Woods Recalled to Stand Yesterday in Supreme Court Case

At the afternoon session in the case of Annette's Ladies Ready-to-Wear Ltd. vs. Myrtle Casey at the Supreme Court Assizes before Mr. Justice Fisher yesterday W. F. Stone, manager of the company, and Mrs. Jack Woods, president, were recalled to the witness stand for re-examination on certain points. At the conclusion of the taking of evidence, the case was adjourned until this morning at 10:30 for hearing of argument.

Mr. Stone presented to the court a list of merchandise which had been returned during 1930 to the store by defendant. Under cross-examination by W. E. Fisher, counsel for the defendant, witness went into considerable detail as to bookkeeping methods. He admitted that certain account books were missing but insisted that all returns and remittances concerning Miss Casey were accounted for.

Mrs. Woods testified that a punch-board and stock had been sent to Miss Casey on the ten-per-cent commission plan, the same as that which was used in connection with other goods sold by defendant for plaintiff. Defendant, plaintiff declared, had never asked her to take the goods away. "I would have been only too glad to do so if she had asked," Mrs. Woods declared. Nothing had ever been sent to defendant unless she had ordered it. Under cross-examination, witness described the form of receipts which she gave Miss Casey when the latter remitted money or returned goods.

NO CRIMES FOR ASSIZES.

It is satisfactory to know that there were no criminal cases before the assize court in Prince Rupert this term. The courts are held half-yearly and the lack of cases means that no serious crimes have been committed here during that time.

In the past there have been serious crimes, but the criminals have not been caught. Several criminals are still at large and possibly will never be brought to justice. Of late, however, there have been no such crimes and the district is to be congratulated on the condition.

WHY DISCRIMINATION?

While the governments of Canada and Manitoba are uniting to give prominence to the efforts to establish the Hudson Bay route for grain shipments, the opposite is the case in connection with the Prince Rupert route. The Dominion has fostered the first two shipments of wheat by guarantees and publicity, and prominent members of the governments are going north to see the first shipment made.

Did anything like this happen at Prince Rupert? When the convention on the load line was in session and Prince Rupert knew nothing about it, did the Federal or Provincial Governments step in and protect Prince Rupert interests?

When it was found that there was discrimination against Prince Rupert and Vancouver demanded ratification of the proceedings, what happened? The government quietly ratified it, leaving Prince Rupert in the cold.

It seems that Prince Rupert has been given the cold shoulder on almost every occasion. Those living here will remember when during the Borden regime it was impossible to secure cars in which to ship the halibut, and the government officials lied about it and were proved to be lying and were ashamed to hold the cars back any longer.

Prince Rupert has had an uphill fight all the time. So difficult has it been that many of the old voices of protest have been silenced. Younger men must step into the breach and carry on the campaign until the city gets what is coming to her.

DISCONTINUANCE OF CHARGES

The Attorney General has discontinued the charges against a group of men in connection with the last provincial election. It was the wise course to take and Attorney General Pooley is to be congratulated on the move. At the time of an election people sometimes become over enthusiastic and do things that in their saner moments they would refuse to do. Both sides sin in this respect.

NEWS OF THE MINES

AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Tragedy in Cassiar Recalled—Report on Columario—Spectacular Ore on Silver King

Drowning of two prospectors in Cottonwood Rapids, Dease River, on October 11, 1930, was recalled in Supreme Court in Vancouver a few days ago when Mr. Justice Fisher made an order presuming the death of John Ensot. Accompanied by John Campbell and Claude Irving, Ensot, a Vancouver mining engineer, set out in a heavily laden boat for McDames Creek, where they intended to work a placer mine. Shooting Cottonwood rapids, their craft struck a rock and capsized. Irving struggled ashore. The body of Campbell was found last spring entangled in the wreckage of the boat. Ensot was never seen again. Eudora Ensot of Vancouver was the sole beneficiary of her husband's $13,842 estate.

In a recent report on the property to the directors of the Columario Gold Mines, Ltd. (Usk), W. G. Norrie, consulting engineer, described the vein system as having a possible vertical range of over 4,500 feet and a horizontal extent of 12,000 feet. Development within this area has shown eight ore shoots aggregating 518 feet in length with an average width of 22 inches and an average value of $12.30 in gold to which should be added about 50c per ton in silver. As this ore has been exposed on different veins and at various horizons, it is therefore impossible to make a definite calculation as to tonnage but, from present indications, it should be possible to develop approximately 75,000 tons in known ore shoots between the Tenderfoot and No. 4 tunnels. The necessary development to place the mine on a productive basis includes tunnel extensions and communications, erection of treatment plant and an aerial tram, costing about $100,000.

A. T. Harrer has returned to Smithers with spectacular samples of ore from the Silver King mine in the Babine Mountains, on which work is continuing. The samples brought in have rich showings of native silver with grey copper. The ore was a picked specimen from the workings which are being extended under Driftwood Creek, this tunnel now being in over 600 feet. Mr. Harrer states that the men are working on a showing 24 feet wide, this all being good milling ore and carrying some stringers of high-grade ore such as that exhibited in the samples. The Silver King holdings constitute one of the most extensive mining properties in the country, comprising 38 claims and extending from the Cronin mine to a point westerly from Driftwood basin. On every claim of the property ore has been exposed as a result of work carried on during the past few years and there has just been uncovered a promising vein on the claims immediately adjoining the Cronin holdings. The Silver King is said to be the only property in the province on which five values—gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc, have been found in commercial quantities in the same vein. Mr. Harrer claiming that this has been demonstrated by smelter shipments. There is a good road to within miles of the property, but development is made expensive due to the necessity for freighting supplies over the uncompleted section and efforts are being made to induce the government to complete the road.

Word has been received at Smithers of the recent tragic death in a mine near Timmins, Ontario, of Alexander Middleton, one of the best known quartz miners of the central interior district. The late Mr. Middleton, who spent half of his life in the central interior before leaving for the East last spring, made his headquarters at Topley. He had been employed on several properties in the interior and owned several claims in the vicinity of Topley. He was about thirty years of age and is survived by his mother and sister in the Old Country.

FILMS ARE EXCELLENT

Examples Given of Progress Made in British Productions in Sound Films

LONDON, Sept. 12—British talk films have reached a high degree of excellence, as has been shown in the festival at Malvern arranged by John Maxwell, of British International Pictures, Limited. The festival has been held at the Malvern Picture House under the direction of Roy Lambert. The films presented during the festival, so far as possible were representative examples of the progress made in British production since the introduction of sound. The opening picture was John Galsworthy's play "The Skin Game," which has been transferred to the screen by Alfred Hitchcock.

The second picture shown was "Dreyfus," a film dealing with the famous espionage case, and directed by Milton Rosmer and F. W. Kraemer. One of the chief scenes in this film is the reading of the "Faceuse" letter by Zola, in which he names the different people who caused Dreyfus to be wrongly convicted of espionage. The characters enacting this scene, which takes place in Clemenceau's office, are Miss Beatrice Thomson as Mme. Dreyfus, Cedric Hardwicke as Dreyfus, Leonard Shepard as Clemenceau, and George Merritt as Zola. To ensure absolute correctness of detail, records and designs were specially studied by the directors. Military and historical experts also held a watching brief throughout the production of the film, which has been made in three versions—English, French and German.

"Dreyfus" was followed by "Tell England," "Glamour," an original story by Seymour Hicks, who himself appears in the film, together with Miss Elaine Terriss, Miss Margot Grahame, Beverly Nichols, and Basil Gill; "Uneasy Virtue," directed by Norman Walker, with Miss Fay Compton, Adele Dixon, Edmund Breon, and Hubert Herben in the cast; and "Keepers of Youth," based on Arnold Ridley's play of the same name, and directed by Thomas Bentley, with Robin Irvine, Garry Marsh, Q. B. Clarence, and Miss Mary Clare in the chief parts.

(All in England)

With the exception of "Tell England," all the films in the Malvern program have been produced by British International Pictures, Limited, at their studios at Elstree. "Tell England," which is based on Ernest Raymond's novel of the same name, was directed for British Instructional Films by Anthony Asquith and Geoffrey Barkis. It took over 18 months to produce, as many obstacles such as reconstruction of the Gallipoli landing scenes, had to be surmounted before this piece of British war history could be transformed to the screen.

Among the films now being made at Elstree by the British International Pictures organization are "Money for Nothing" and "McGlusky, the Sea Rover." The first film is being directed by Monty Banks, with Seymour Hicks and Miss Betty Stockfield in the chief parts.

Another British film now in production is "The Calendar," a screen version of Edgar Wallace's play which is being produced jointly by the British Lion Film Corporation and the Gainsborough organization. The cast is headed by Miss Edna Best and Herbert Marshall, supported by Gordon Harker, Ronald Frankau, Allen Aynesworth, and S. J. Warrington.

Modern wireless transmitting and receiving equipment has been installed in Samoa and a short wave transmitter will be installed in the Tongan Islands.

No action has yet been taken in the matter of establishing unemployment work camps in Skeena riding despite the fact that in Omineca riding considerable work is now going on.

PRINCE GEORGE

The work of establishing road camps for the unemployed along the location of the highway between Prince George and McBride has not been proceeding as rapidly as anticipated and the public works department has found it impossible to provide work for all the registered unemployed. The city has, therefore, to take care of a number of men, both married and single, who have not been otherwise provided for.

BABE RUTH HIT HOMER

Makes Forty-second Circuit Clout of Season Yesterday—Still Behind Gehrig

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—Babe Ruth's forty-second homer of the season helped the New York Yankees to score a heavy victory over St. Louis Browns in the first game of a double-header yesterday. Ruth is now just two circuit clouts behind Lou Gehrig for the year. The Yankees also won the second game but not by such a large score.

As a result of the double victory the Yankees went into a tie for second place with the Washington Senators, who lost a game to the Detroit Tigers.

Union steamer Cardena and C.P.R. steamer Princess Mary are both due in port this afternoon or evening from the south. Neither had reported arrival time up to 2 p.m.

SPORT CHAT

If there are four legs in all Canada capable of streaking over cindered stretches like those lightning limbs two young men from the west flashed at Amsterdam in 1928, delving detectives of the Dominion's Olympic committee will find them. They must uncover speed and more speed if Canada's sprint supremacy is to be retained at Los Angeles next summer. It may be a simple matter to find the quartette of flying limbs—perhaps the four which Percy Williams and Jimmy Ball held sway over the world's fleetest three years ago aren't entirely leaden—but the fact is gradually asserting itself that this country hasn't a sprinter at the moment who could beat an international field or more than one quarter-mile who could carve a fraction from 49 seconds over the 440-yard route. That is why the men who will select an Olympic team next year are looking into the hidden places, the by-ways and even more intently into the class-rooms for material. They aren't sure Williams is going to come back or that Ball will ever return to form. They hope so—almost everything depends on these two events—but they must be dashmen of quality so they can't take chances. Should Williams become once more the peerless runner he was in 1928, the year he graduated from high school, or race as he did at the British Empire Games two years later, Canada won't have a problem at all so far as its sprinters are concerned. The Vancouver marvel can look after the defense of his 100 and 200 metre titles without assistance if he is right. But the Williams who was beaten by ten-second sprinters last summer wasn't.

Besides a few of the old guard who ran for Canada in the last Olympiad and are still going strong the selection committee can put its collective finger on half a dozen youngsters who might ably fill Williams' shoes in another year. They seem to have about everything the British Columbia boy had 12 months before he became a national hero. If anything, Johnny Fitzpatrick, the bronzed Hamilton flyer, is faster than ever and if he were in training this season probably would trounce any sprinter in Canada, including the Olympic champion. He passed up the Dominion championships this month at Winnipeg and it was at Winnipeg that a battalion of youths paraded in big company for the first time—but not the last. One of them stands out as Canada's most promising sprinter. At 17, blonde Bert Pearson, of Hamilton Central Collegiate, is national 100-yards champion. His big win came only a week or so after he won the schoolboy championship of Ontario. In the opinion of his coach, Captain J. R. Cornelius, Bert Pearson, at 18 may have a Maple Leaf crest tacked on his breast and crack runners of the world's nations lined up beside him. If the widespread surge of schoolboy talent invades the Olympic field, Pearson will lead the way. Already on his heels are several young fellows whose futures seem just as bright. Bill Robinson and Eddie Dore, schoolmates and teammates of Pearson, loom as possibilities that no selection committee can ignore. George Powell, the slim speedster from Toronto, has raced his way into a front rank berth, and Vincent Forbes, of Vancouver, showed at Winnipeg he can match strides with the fastest steppers of the eastern contingents. Ralph Adams, who ran for Canada at Amsterdam and, with Fitzpatrick, is the best sprint relay man available, bowed to Pearson's speed in the century final at the Winnipeg championships, but Adams is not through. He defeated just as good a field as Pearson downed when he captured the 220-yard final.

The prairies seem to have only one outstanding sprinter—Buster Brown, of Edmonton. Consistently a ten-second man in the hundred, Brown slipped under the mark several times this season as he campaigned and would have been a favorite to cop one of the Dominion titles had he competed in the meet. Laurie Cohen, curly-headed little Winnipeg star, plans a comeback next spring that he hopes will land him an Olympic job. Unless Jimmy Ball, who lost an Olympic 400-metres title at Amsterdam by turning

MEN ARE OVERCLAD

Head of English Hygiene Body Commends Women's Dress

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Sir Thomas Oliver, president of the Institute of Hygiene, commended the modern dress of women in a speech at Letworth. On the other hand, he said, men were certainly overclad, and, compared with women, their clothing was cumbersome, heavy and unhygienic. Sir Thomas was addressing the conference of British corsetiers, and he said that women did not dress specially to attract the opposite sex, but largely to compete with each other. "Taken altogether," he added, "there is much in the modern dress of women to commend it from a health point of view as well as the aesthetic. But there is nothing attractive about male attire; in fact for men, the day of elegance in dress and of dandyism has gone, and with it much of the courtly manners of an age that is past."

In spite of the dress reform party, Sir Thomas said he did not observe in men any evidence of a great desire to change their clothing, but it was not so long since women's dress, with its numerous petticoats, was equally heavy and unhealthy. Experience had taught, he said, that the change in women's dress was in the right direction.

"The tendency to colds on the chest have disappeared and young women had become healthier and stronger. Such maladies as anaemia and chlorosis, so prevalent in young women of 40 years ago, had practically disappeared, while fainting in public assemblies and at balls was now out of date." In a series of American tests in a particularly warm June, the average weight of the men's clothing was found to be 8 lbs. 6 oz., compared with the women's average of 2 lbs. 10 oz.

Argument is being continued this afternoon in the civil case of Annette's Ladies' Ready-to-Wear vs. Miss Myrtle Casey at the Supreme Court Assizes. The argument started this morning and was interrupted for the noon recess.

In Prince Rupert

September 18, 1911

H. S. Clements, Conservative candidate for Skeena in the federal election, and M. M. Stephens, one of his leading supporters, were present at First Baptist Church service last night when Rev. W. H. . . . gave a sermon on "Reciprocity in Religion."

Robert Gosden made a speech at the Labor Union meeting in the Empress Theatre last night advocating the acceptance of reciprocity with the United States as being in the direct line of progress and of great economic value to all the wage earners of Prince Rupert.

A sensation was caused at Kitsumkalum at week-end when notes used by J. S. Cowper in a public speech were found in a room which had been occupied by H. S. Clements, the Conservative candidate.

defended it against Jeffries' attempted come-back and finally relinquished it in Havana to Willard.

Born in Kentucky

Hart was born Sept. 16, 1876, in a farming community near Fern Creek, Ky. His parents were of German stock. He attended the grade schools in Louisville and then learned the plumbing trade.

His ability as a fighter was frequently shown in school days, but it was something of an accident that made a prizefighter out of the young plumber. His interest in the game was aroused when he acted as second to a Louisville youth who engaged in a grudge fight with another young man.

Shortly afterwards Hart was elected to fight "Big Bill" Schiller, a local celebrity in Louisville whom none of the other ring aspirants of the city would tackle. They were matched for a finish and Hart cut down "Big Bill" with a knockout in the sixth. Hart was 21 then and immediately became a hero in Louisville fight circles.

So he forgot his plumbing wrenches for good and took up boxing in earnest. He scored 17 successive knockouts and became a national figure.

Knocked Out Once

In his entire career Hart was knocked out only once, and that happened when Billy Hanrahan landed a first round haymaker in a fight at Milwaukee in 1901. Hanrahan's record before and after that bout was not impressive and Hart was generally believed when he said the knockout was an accident.

The Kentuckian won his way into the front rank of heavyweight contenders when he took a decision over Jack Johnson after 20 rounds at San Francisco on March 28, 1905. Johnson was three inches taller than Hart and he told friends of his opponent afterwards that "that little fellow Hart gave me the toughest fight of my life."

About three months later Hart was facing Root at Reno. The crowd numbered only about 6000, but it was an enthusiastic bunch of fight fans and it gave Hart a big hand when he put over the finishing punch in the twelfth. When the victor entrained for home that night a band led him to the station playing "My Old Kentucky Home" and another aggregation of drums and horns met him when he arrived at Louisville as king of the heavyweights.

Hart capitalized on his victory by touring the country with a road show. Then he took on Burns and was badly beaten.

"I couldn't have caught Burns with a bicycle after the first few rounds," he related afterwards and he made charges of unfair tactics which did not, however, command serious attention.

With his prestige gone, Hart retired to a small cottage near his birthplace, where he farmed, hunted and fished. His only connection with the prize ring was as referee and he made a reputation as an efficient "third man" in the ring after the Perry-Bryson bill had legalized boxing in Kentucky in 1930.

The former champion had to give up refereeing in December, 1930, when he became ill after supervising a bout in Louisville. His physician ordered him to bed, pronouncing his ailments liver trouble and high blood pressure.

Hart married Miss Florence Zeller of the Fern Creek community in September, 1932. They were no children.

Carl Fredericks Will Pass Through City Tomorrow Enroute to Prince George Assizes

Carl Fredericks, German, who is charged with the murder of a countryman at Trembleur Lake, the Omineca country in the summer of last year, will be brought to the city by provincial police officers aboard the steamer Prince George tomorrow morning and will be taken by train to Prince George where he will take trial at the Supreme Court Assizes there next week. Fredericks had his first trial at the spring session of the Supreme Court Assizes at Prince George this year but the jury disagreed at that time and the trial was traversed to the fall assizes.

Manufacturers Advertisers and Advertising Agents

Look at the Map of British Columbia shown herewith and note that Prince Rupert is the centre of the largest trading area of any city in the Dominion of Canada.

The Daily News Prince Rupert

is the only daily newspaper attempting to cover this huge area, and the people in it look to that paper for information in regard to possible markets. The nearest Canadian daily newspapers to Prince Rupert are:

- Vancouver, distant 500 miles
- Edmonton, distant 955 miles
- No papers published north or west

The industries in the district include—
 Halibut Fishing (largest in the world)
 Salmon Fishing (largest in B. C.)
 Lumbering, Logging and Mining.
 Paper Manufacturing.

New Industries are being planned for the district, announcement of which will be made in the near future. A new Hydro-Electric Power Plant has been installed and is now in operation.

New Carrier Collection System

In view of the depression and to make it as easy as possible for people to pay, the Daily News is to be sold on a weekly basis, payable in advance.

The delivery boy will collect each Friday evening for the week following. He buys the papers and sells them to the customers, so there will be no credit given. The boy cannot afford it. Please do not ask him to return for the weekly payment. Have it ready for him.

Customers now in arrears will pay the amount owing at the office, but this will have nothing to do with the regular collections made by the boy. He will be doing business on his own, and if he does not make his own collections will not deliver the paper.

Those paid in advance will continue to receive the paper until the subscription expires. Any wishing to continue the yearly payments may do so, and we pay the boy.

The price of the paper will be 10c a week, payable strictly in advance. That means six papers for ten cents.

It will take a few weeks to get the new system running smoothly, and in the meantime we ask for the co-operation of the readers of the paper. The routes not going on the new system this week will do so just as soon as the lists are made up and the boys properly instructed. Help the boys to set up in business for themselves!

PRIMA DONNA TAKING REST

Odette de Foras Spending Month at Alberta Home

HIGH RIVER, Alta., Sept. 17.—Odette de Foras, prima donna of Covent Garden Opera Company, will rest for a month at the home of her mother, Countess de Foras, High River, before returning to England for the autumn season. A new vehicle for her gifts will be offered in a dramatic opera "The Wreckers," which is having its first real production in London next season. It has been composed by Dame Ethel Smyth, an English writer and composer of great charm. Dame Smyth has asked Miss de Foras to sing the part of Avis in this production, which is being eagerly awaited by the English musical world. The story is woven round the bleak Cornish coast where the fisher folk pray their gods to send wrecks that they might plunder. The study of this part will steal many of the precious hours of Miss de Foras' brief rest period. She plans, aside from this occasional work, to spend her month in absorbing all possible of Alberta's air and sunshine, in riding horseback, sleeping in a tent, eating Saskatoons, while they last, exploring endless charms of the river paths and living most simply and quietly.

She is one of the younger members of a family that came to High River from Savoy, France more than twenty years ago. Since that time the family has added greatly to the social life of Calgary and its own foothill community.

Count de Foras, the head of the house, died in 1926. An older sister of Miss de Foras, the late Fernande, who gave her life in war service, had shown great literary promise. Her writings had been eagerly accepted by "Life" and similar periodicals and high accomplishment had been predicted for her. But at the outbreak of the war she enlisted as a volunteer nurse, entered a Canadian hospital overseas, and died as a result of illness contracted while serving in hospital. Previous to her death she had been decorated by the French government. A brother also, Frank, who enlisted with the Twelfth Canadian Mounted, gave his life in the service of his country.

Miss de Foras still retains contact with the family in France. As a rule her rest periods are spent at her father's old home, Chateau de Thuyset, on Lake of Geneva. But her deep-rooted love of freedom and space and foothill air remains unbroken and at every possible opportunity she returns to Alberta and her "little gray home in the west."

FINE TALK ON PEACE COUNTRY

Inspector Hall Gives Eloquent Address to Rotary Club at Yesterday's Luncheon

"I found that the new people going into the Peace River are carrying on the glorious traditions of Canada, trying to teach the boys and girls to stand and look every man between the eyes and feel that they are citizens of no mean country," declared T. W. Hall, inspector of schools, who gave an eloquent and instructive address on the Peace River country at the Rotary Club luncheon yesterday.

Mr. Hall told of the three and a half million acres of wonderfully fertile land in the Peace River block of British Columbia and of the advantages of the country. He said that no climate had been so much maligned as that of the Peace except that of Prince Rupert. During the two and a half years he had been in the country the schools had increased from 23 to 61, and the average enrollment now was 24 as against 17 at that time. Little was known of that vast country, but it was a district where the average wheat crop was 35 bushels to the acre as against the Canadian average of ten. While people there were not making money owing to the low price of wheat, there were no people going hungry. Practically all had gardens and in them they could grow almost anything. People in the country only a year made enough to get by.

Telling of the type of people going to the country now at the rate of 100 settlers a week, Mr. Hall said 75 per cent of them were of British origin. Very few were drifters or lazy. In the winter months he had travelled a good deal and last winter Mrs. Hall had travelled with him and there had been no discomfort. Mr. Hall told an interesting incident in regard to his visit to the battlefields of France where he formerly had served as a corporal in the army, showing the high esteem in which Canadians were held there. He spoke highly of what he had already seen of Prince Rupert and prophesied an enjoyable sojourn in this part of the country.

President G. H. Munro thanked the speaker for his splendid address.

"Beautiful Joe" to be Translated into Roumanian Tongue

TORONTO, Sept. 19 — A step nearer world-wide recognition has been attained with the announcement that "Beautiful Joe," famous Canadian animal classic, is to be translated into Roumanian. Madame Radulesco-togoncano, head of a lyceum for young ladies in Bucharest, Roumania, and wife of Professor H. Radulesco-togoncano of the University of Bucharest, is to do the translation. On a recent visit to Toronto she became interested in the story which has been translated into more languages than any other Canadian book, and received permission from Marshall Saunders, the author, to do it into her mother-tongue.

PROVINCE CAN GROW GRAPES

British Columbia Can Produce Requirements Declares Expert

OTTAWA, Sept. 19—"It would appear," says Major L. F. Burrows, Secretary of the Canadian Horticultural Council, "that while much is being said about the grape crop coming from the section around the head of Lake Ontario, that it must not be forgotten that British Columbia is in a position to supply very much, if not all, of its own requirement. Viticulture in B.C. is increasingly important and good tonnage is coming from B.C. lands. The same weather conditions which favored the fruit in Ontario has been enjoyed in the Pacific province. A fair percentage of the estimated 5,000,000 baskets of Canadian grapes will be B.C. grown."

"The same efforts in marketing the B.C. production are behind the Ontario crop. Radio broadcasting and newspaper advertising will urge the use of Canadian grapes on all Canadian tables this year. This is an all-Canadian marketing plan and all Canadian grape growers and homes will equally benefit," Major Burrows concluded.

A. W. Gibson of the Post Office staff called last night on the ss Prince Rupert for Vancouver, whence he will proceed to Rochester, New York, for a holiday visit.
