NEW HOUSE IN SESSION

First Quebec Session Since Taschereau Government Returned to Power—New Leader of Opposition

QUEBEC, Que., Nov. 3.—The session of the Quebec Legislature opened today, the first after the recent provincial general elections when Premier L. A. Taschereau's government was returned to power with 79 supporters as against 11 for the opposition. A new leader is leading the opposition, C. E. Gault, of Montreal, the first English language member to hold this position since confederation.

The most important business before the session will be legislation concerning unemployment relief. Another matter which may give rise to debates is the wholesale contestation of the results of the general election launched by the Conservatives and the charges of irregularities which accompanied it. Premier Taschereau has announced the charges, and those made by Liberals in contesting results in certain constituencies where Conservatives were successful will be submitted to the committee on privileges and elections.

Rumors of changes in the personnel of the cabinet have been heard since before the elections, while the amalgamation of certain departments is spoken of. Hon. Hector Laferte, now minister of colonization, is mentioned as slated as successor to the late Godfrey Langlois as Quebec representative in Paris. Hon. H. J. Francoeur, minister of public works, is spoken of as the next attorney-general, that office now being administered by the premier. The amalgamation of the colonization and agriculture departments and the creation of a ministry of social welfare have been broached. Hon. T. D. Bouchard, present speaker, may become minister of labor, while the speaker's chair would be taken by Irene Vaurin, St. James, Montreal, who defeated Camille Houde, late opposition leader in the House in the last elections.

PLANE WAS CRIPPLED

Passengers Narrowly Missed Death When Alaska Volcano Gas Stopped Engine

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—A story of a perilous airplane journey over the Aniakchak volcano in the centre of the Alaskan Peninsula during its eruption last May is told by Father Bernard R. Hubbard, Jesuit priest and head of the geology department of the University of Santa Clara Cal. He has arrived here from an Alaskan expedition.

"The only way we escaped what appeared to be certain death," he said, "was by the pilot making a power dive and shooting downward slantwise outside the danger zone."

"As we flew past Aniakchak crater which was sending up billowing clouds of smoking gasses, we could see only the base of the mountain. We began to notice very strong gas fumes when we were forty miles away."

"As we flew 2,000 feet above the highest point of the rim, the fumes from the crater began to affect the engine. The plane refused to climb and began to lose air speed."

"Our ship turned tail on us and was sucked toward the erupting area by the rush of cold air toward the volcano's vents. Henry Blunt the pilot, and Al Monsen dived straight downward and with the speed thus gained righted the ship and shot away from the crater. We came to a landing on Meshik Lake, 15 miles from the rim."

Father Hubbard explained that the Aniakchuk disturbance was the greatest eruption of modern times. The volcano is the largest active crater in the world, he said, and is visited by few except scientists. During the May eruption, ashes were found on Bristol Bay, 200 miles away.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

There are all sorts of difficulties encountered in arranging for unemployment relief. It is easy to plan for it and easy to talk about it but much more difficult to handle.

When the minister of public works was in the city he stated that a man should not be penalized because he owned his home. He thought people should be encouraged to own their homes. He also thought the possession of a boat should not handicap him in receiving relief. But there are some men who have saved their money and put it in the bank in preparation for buying a home. They have saved so far $500. Their equity is nothing like as much as the man who owns his home or his boat. Shall we say they must not get employment because they delayed purchasing the home.

Another angle to the question is this. Two men work all summer. Both earn the same amount but one through being thrifty puts one hundred dollars in the bank. The other "blows his in" in reckless forms of dissipation. One is destitute and deserving of help. The other has money of his own and therefore should not receive help. Is this just?

There are owners of property in the city who are struggling to pay their taxes and make ends meet. They have denied themselves in order to carry the property. They are now to be taxed to pay for the men who spent their money freely, had a good time and today find themselves without anything. Is this just?

The question fairly bristles with kinks and corners and no matter what one does he is open to criticism.

Apparently the intent of the Dominion Government in paying half the cost of the relief work is to provide only for those absolutely destitute. If this is done it is encouragement in future for men to spend all their earnings as they receive it, hoping that the government or the city will come to their relief when they are in need.

The city is simply administering a fund, three-fourths of which comes from the governments, federal and provincial. They have to carry out the instructions given them in regard to it or the supply ceases.

URGING EMPIRE PREFERENCE

The British Empire Producers Organization, whose director, Harold Pooley, was a visitor in Canada last year when he addressed the local chamber of commerce, is pressing for better trade relations within the Empire. Before the election he circulated all the candidates and he is still on the job. In view of the election result it is probable that he will attain at least a measure of success.

The Letter Box

URGES TWO RESOLUTIONS

Editor, Daily News:—

In the words of Thomas Paine, "these are the days that try the souls of men." Those words gave title to a pamphlet published by Thomas Paine and distributed to the revolutionary army in the trying days of the American revolution. As the spirit of despair was gaining possession of the army, I contend the same condition applies today not only within the government but in the minds of the people, and as a matter of fact, when we lose confidence in ourselves we are lost.

In expressing my opinion, I do not wish to assume the role of one whose only stock in trade is to find fault and be displeased for well I know that any and all governments would prefer to see prosperity surrounding their people rather than disaster. But when we are faced with the spectre of today that the relief camps of the province are closed down, we can only assume that our leaders are lost in the wilderness and passing the buck from province to Dominion and from Dominion to municipality and municipality to the excuse that some fellows are working who are not starving, will not satisfy a serious minded thinking people.

For again I say, he who hesitates is lost. For myself I am not concerned in the fortunes of any political party but am concerned in the well-being of my family and that of all my fellow citizens. And in our common name I move the following:

"Be it resolved by the citizens of Prince Rupert, that we call upon the provincial government to resign forthwith, thus providing the people an opportunity to select a competent crew to man the ship of state; that can read a compass, and chart a course that will get us some place."

Should this motion meet with the approval of the people, I shall be pleased to move resolution No. 2 which reads as follows:

"Resolved that the people of the province irrespective of party affiliation assemble in convention in all electoral districts and select representatives from among themselves, who will assume the responsibility of office and administer the affairs in accordance with the requirement of the times."

The people must live though some politicians may die.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

Sincerely,

G. B. CASEY.

AUSTRALIA AND CANADA

Editor, Daily News:—

A few weeks ago a delegation of Australian representatives commenced a business trip to the prairies and British Columbia. The trip was designed primarily to focus attention upon the greater trade possibilities for both Canada and Australia arising out of the recently concluded Trade Treaty. Under this treaty, each Dominion gives the other customs tariff preferences of a substantial character and these should enable each country to enjoy with the other a business much greater than in the past. Canada has already reported a great increase in the export to Australia of lumber and it is anticipated that eventually there will be revealed gratifying increases also in connection with tinned salmon, motor chassis, electrical goods and machinery, paper pulp, newsprint, etc. On the other hand, Australia is looking forward to increasing her business in Canada in currants and raisins, canned peaches, apricots and pineapples, sweet and dry wines and oranges.

It is extraordinary to note the keen interest shown by the business people of Central and Western Canada. On every hand the belief has been expressed by both countries that there will be satisfactory gains in business, with consequent beneficial effects upon such troublesome problems as unemployment, taxation, settlement and development, etc.

The Australian delegation were very much impressed by the kindness and hospitality of their reception. Provincial governments, service clubs, national bodies, merchants, individually and as organizations, all were eager to co-operate. The radio broadcasting stations gladly gave their services. With your kind permission, I wish to place on record, on behalf of Australia, an expression of grateful thanks for the splendid help and kind co-operation extended to the delegation by your citizens. To the press we are especially indebted. There was not

GRADS STILL GOING WELL

No Signs of Decay in Great Edmonton Girls' Hoop Team

EDMONTON, Nov. 3:—All great teams sometime or other show signs of decay, but to either the naked or bespectacled eye there is no sign of that happening to the Grads yet—and they've been in the basketball limelight going on for 10 years. In that length of time there have been many replacements, but never one that has lessened the effectiveness of Edmonton's champions.

There may, somewhere, be better girls' basketball teams than the Grads, but if there are, Coach Page and a few thousand Edmontonians would like to see them. Teams with records as long as your arm—compiled mostly against opponents that never have been heard of outside of their immediate territory—have repeatedly invaded Edmonton to meet the Grads, and they've all gone back empty-handed as far as the Underwood International Trophy is concerned. There have been challengers who have made it interesting, but generally, the calibre of the invaders hasn't been very high.

It was generally expected that the Pocahontas girls from Idaho would offer much stiffer opposition. They came north with the reputation of being a sound team both defensively and offensively in print. They probably were below their best form following their long train ride, but even allowing for any fatigue they might have felt, the score stood in the first of a two-game series 32-20.

Ted Smith—Bob Tobey up. He was thrown out on first. Postula up. He flied out to Bill Tobey. Green up. He singled in the infield. Johnstone up. He was thrown out on first. Bill Tobey to Gillis. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning
Bill Tobey—Morgan up. He hit to centre field and stole second. Gillis up. He struck out. Welle up. He was thrown out on first. Bob Tobey to McRae, but Morgan scored tying the score. Bill Tobey up. He fouled out to Catcher Smith. One run, one hit, no errors.

Ted Smith—Arney up. He singled past third. Dominato hit to shortstop forcing Arney at second. Ted Smith up. He ran after his third strike and was safe. Kanaya up. He singled past third but Dominato was caught on home. McRae up. He was thrown out at first. Bill Tobey to Gillis. No runs, three hits, one error.

Fifth Inning
Bill Tobey—Fulton up. He hit to Dominato and was safe when McRae dropped the ball. Walter Smith up. He flied out to Kanaya on short. Dugate up. He walked. Iverson up. He fouled out to Catcher Smith. Ross up. He singled past third but Dugate was caught out at third by Arney. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Ted Smith—Bob Tobey up. He was thrown out on first. Bill Tobey to Gillis. Postula up. He struck out. Greene up. He hit to left field. Johnstone up. He singled past third. Arney up. He drove a hot grounder past third base and Greene scored. One run, three hits, one error.

SPORT CHAT

Realizing that the present extraordinary economic conditions have placed an unusual burden upon foreign Olympic committees in raising funds to send their athletes to compete in the 111 Olympiad Winter Games at Lake Placid next February, the Lake Placid Olympic committee has voted to cut the cost of housing contestants and officials one dollar a day per man. It is expected that this contribution by the Lake Placid committee, amounting to several thousand dollars, will be the means of stimulating participation in the 1932 winter sports class to a marked degree.

The new rates will be two, three and four dollars a day per person for board and room, depending upon the type of accommodation desired by the visiting teams. Word of the committee's action has been cabled to Bjorn Blix, international secretary, who is now in Berlin. Further announcements with respect to minimizing expenses for visiting teams at the Lake Placid games are expected to be made shortly.

Advice to Scrap Politics Given to Women of Quebec

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—Women of Quebec were urged to scrap politics and spend their time working for the poor instead by speakers at the inaugural meeting of the Liberal L. O. David Club for Women held here recently.

The club was formally opened by the Hon. L. A. David, Provincial Secretary, and son of the late Hon. L. O. David from whom the new organization takes its name. Mr. David cautioned the women not to forget in their interest in politics that they should remain women in every sense of the word, and that it was more important for them to merit the qualifying term "belles" than "good politicians."

The Hon. Fernand Rinfret declared himself in favor of votes for women in this province but asked that it be kept in mind that politics was a minor matter as compared with a relief program.

Mrs. Emile David, president of the club, in answering the speakers, said that while the women fully realized the great need for their services in the hard winter ahead, politics meant too much for them to desert the field entirely. "We shall do both," she announced.

ALLOWANCE TO REMAIN NOT CENT FOR LAZY

Edmonton Hospital Board Refuses to Cut Students' Remuneration

EDMONTON, Nov. 3.—By a decisive majority, the hospital board rejected a motion that the allowances to nurses in training be cut in half in the contracts which would be offered in future to girls entering the Royal Alexandra for training.

The scale of allowances proposed provided no payment for the probation period of four months, $5 a month for the next eight months, $7.50 a month for the second year, and $10 a month for the third year. The chairman pointed out that eventually this new scale would affect 150 nurses in training and save approximately $1,000 a month. Those speaking against the motion concluded that the present allowances to the girls are little enough in compensation for the work which they do, that a cut would make it impossible for many girls to go through the nursing profession and that the present rate attracted the best type of girls and permitted a careful selection of novices resulting in increased efficiency.

Splendid Driving By Taxi Driver Wins Heiress

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Nov. 3.—A romantic taxicab driver has figuratively driven his way into the heart of Miss Florence A. McAllister, 18-year-old heiress to Oklahoma oil millions.

Edward Challette's expert maneuvering of a taxi in which Miss McAllister was a passenger so won her admiration she hired him as her chauffeur and later married him, according to the story just revealed by friends.

The couple has been married several weeks, but the marriage was revealed when they purchased a $55,000 home and $37,500 furnishings here.

Mrs. Challette is the daughter of the late Mrs. Florence McAllister, who died in 1930 leaving her estate of $3,000,000 to three children in valuable oil lands in Oklahoma. It was reported that Mrs. Challette's annual income from her share in the lands amounted to $240,000.

German Prince Punches Clock; Enjoys Labors

DETROIT, Nov. 3.—Punching a time clock at the Ford Motor Company plant here with other employees, Prince Louis Ferdinand von Hohenzollern, a grandson of the former Kaiser, admits he is having the time of his life. He thinks United States slang "is what you call 'hot stuff,'" professes to have no political opinions and is prouder of a doctor of philosophy degree received from the University of Berlin than he is of his title of Prince.

The youthful Prince—he is 22 years old—is endeavoring to learn industrial methods and merchandising practices here and is planning to work in every department of the automobile plant.

"I had to work darned hard for that degree," he explains in telling why he would rather be called "Doctor Louis Ferdinand" than "Prince von Hohenzollern."

Aside from admitting he is anti-militaristic, Prince Louis dodges all efforts to lead him into political discussion. He would rather discuss the relative merits of motor cars.

The Prince believes that the turn in world affairs that overthrew the Hohenzollern dynasty in Germany brought to him a sort of "new freedom." Far from being resentful, he is enjoying it, he said.

He refers to the former Kaiser either as "my grandfather" or just "the old man."

More than 15,000 patents have been awarded to women inventors in the United States.

Judge H. E. A. Robertson of Prince George will be in the city to hear several local County Court cases which are set for Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Dan McIntimney of Anyox was a passenger aboard the Catala this morning going through from the smelter town for a trip to Vancouver.

Dr. Joseph T. Mandy, resident engineer, returned to the city on the Catala this morning from a trip to the Portland Canal district on official duties.

Rev. Evan Baker, United Church minister at Stewart, arrived in the city on the Catala this morning from the north and will be a visitor here for the next few days.

A son was born recently at the R. W. Large Memorial Hospital at Bella Bella to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bainbridge. Mrs. Bainbridge was formerly Miss Jennie V. Rendle, lady superintendent of the Bella Bella Hospital. Mr. Bainbridge is agent for the Imperial Oil Co. at Bella Bella.

UNDER THE SURFACE

At this very moment, under the surface of Canadian business and economic conditions, many millions of hidden dollars lie buried by uncertainty and over-cautiousness.

Of Canada's ten millions of people nine millions decimal something-very-considerable—are still "on the job", steadily at work, drawing regular wages, or supported by those who are at work.

And spending less than they can well afford to spend.

This reluctance to buy was initiated by want of confidence and born through the "my job may go next" idea. This complex, multiplied by millions, has become a most formidable habit that is now being broken in the slowly gaining fight to reach anew our national prosperity.

This is the time—with gradual improvement evidencing a fuller and more reasonable measure of national confidence—to dig out and put back into useful circulation these hidden hoards of Canadian buying power.

The Daily Newspapers are more powerful today than ever to eat through the outer crust of consumer resistance and reach the buying public which represents 90% of all our people.

Most Canadians are at work. They read their newspapers today with keener interest than ever before. Reach them by placing your message in that atmosphere of vitality which the Daily Newspaper brings as no other medium can do.

Small Residence of Sturdy Construction

CHARACTER IN A SMALL HOME

CATTO & CATTO
ARCHITECTS
TORONTO

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

CATTO & CATTO, Architects

Here is a small home of simple lines which is very impressive. There is a strong character and sturdiness in its appearance and for the small family, who desires an economical residence of distinction this home should prove favorable.

A soldier course of brick running around the house more than half way up the brick wall at the level of the second floor window sills emphasizes the vertical lines of the house. This, together with the rather low pitched roof, presents a charming appearance and has great architectural value.

The rooms are of good size and conveniently situated. If desired, the dining room can be transformed into an ideal bedroom.

Outline Specifications

Size of House: 20'x27'.
Suitable Lot: 26' or more.
Walls: Brick.
Roof: Shingles.
Built-in Features: Cupboards.

Approximate Cost: $3,200.

Readers desiring further information regarding a house of this design should communicate with Messrs. Catto & Catto, 68 King St. E., Toronto, Ont. and mention design No. 300. Consult a local architect if designing architect is too far removed.

HOME OWNERS WANT BEAUTY, PERMANENCE IN PRIVATE GARAGE

A Good Garage Adds Value to Home Property

Properly designed and constructed, with careful attention given to architectural style, a garage can be built so as to enhance greatly the appearance of the home grounds. To secure unity sharp contrast in design between garage and dwelling should be avoided.

Concrete construction is readily adapted to any architectural style and by the use of portland cement stucco, the usual method of surfacing garages built of concrete masonry, an almost endless variety of colors and surface finishes is possible. The stucco can be given smooth, stippled, spatter-dash, or any of the newer textural finishes. It may be tinted buff, brown, gray or any other shade required to conform with the surroundings.

A substantial footing that will not yield is of prime importance in the construction of a concrete masonry garage. To prevent possible upheaval from frost action, the concrete foundation must extend below frost penetration. It should also go down to firm soil, so there will be no opportunity for the building to settle. Under average conditions, a footing having a spread of 12 inches will be satisfactory for garages of one storey.

A concrete floor is easy to build and presents a smooth, even surface that can easily be kept clean. It is a good plan to give the floor a slope of about one inch in eight feet toward the drain, usually located in the centre. A concrete approach built on an easy incline is also desirable so that the automobile can be run in or out without jolting. It is desirable to extend this approach beyond the doors, at least one foot farther than the dripline of the eaves. If this is not done, the entrance may be muddy in wet weather. Probably the most satisfactory and economical method of building the approach is to continue the floor out without any construction joint at the building line.

Heating should preferably be done by extending hot water or steam pipes from the residence heating plant, although satisfactory garage heaters are available.—Copyright 1931. The Architects' Small House Service Bureau, Inc.

Wicked May Live If They Turn To Right From Sins

The subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday was "Everlasting Punishment."

Among the Bible texts included in the lesson-sermon was the following from Ezekiel 18:21: "But if the wicked will turn from all his sins that he hath committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die."

The lesson-sermon also included the reading of citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy one passage being as follows: "We acknowledge God's forgiveness of sin in the destruction of sin and the spiritual understanding that casts out evil as unreal. But the belief in sin punished so long as the belief lasts." (page 497).

Winter Navigation School Is Opened With Good Number

The usual school for navigation conducted during the winter by Capt. J. R. Elfert, harbor master, was opened last evening with 12 students enrolling which is considered rather good for a start. Quite a number more students are expected by the time all the halibut fishing vessels are in.

During the winter classes will be held every Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evening in Capt. Elfert's office.

THESE FOLK UNFRIENDLY

Canberra Officially Hears of Cannibalistic Natives of Kiapou Valley, Papua

CANBERRA, Aust., Nov. 2.—"A most unfriendly people, living in scattered villages in the wildest part of the country, practising strange rites, particularly in regard to the disposal of their dead, and cannibalistic by nature." This description of a fierce people discovered in Kiapou Valley, in the rugged heart of Papua, is contained in an official report received by the Prime Minister's Department from the Lieutenant-Governor of Papua, Sir Hubert Murray.

Containing an account of a notable expedition recently carried out by Patrol-Officer Hides, the report provides additional evidence that the Commonwealth is rapidly building in British New Guinea a force which for daring and self-reliance is rivaling the Royal Northwest Mounted. Hides is the first white man to have explored the inhospitable valley of the Kiapou, which is a river running south from the Mandated Territory to the west of the Tiveri, an effluence of the Lakekamu. The Kiapou presumably joins the Tauri, and so flows into the Gulf of Papua.

"It was a plucky effort," says Sir Hubert, "calling for personal courage and endurance and skill in bushcraft." One typical passage describes trouble with the hostile natives. The party had camped for the night on a hill overlooking a village. "The attack came at dusk," says Hides. "Standing near the flap of my tent with a carrier outside a few feet away from me, I heard a rattle of arrows on the ground and on the woodwork of the camp."

"I saw the carrier fall, with two arrows in his body. I hurried to the native's assistance, and after withdrawing the arrows helped him to cover. By that time the arrows had ceased. There was no further attack that night."

Though severely wounded the carrier continued the journey and displayed great fortitude.

The Territory of Papua, which was placed under the authority of the Commonwealth of Australia in 1906, comprises part of the New Guinea mainland. In 1929 the white population was 1,523, and the native population 275,000.

Twenty Years Ago In Prince Rupert

November 3, 1911

On the grounds that the sending of prisoners south to serve their terms is too costly to the city, the police commissioners yesterday afternoon urged Mayor William Manson to move for the erection of a provincial jail in Prince Rupert. Chief W. H. Vickers reported that transportation of prisoners and escorts south formed a heavy part of police expenditure.

Local longshoremen are still on strike. Officers and members of the crew of the steamer Princess Ena discharged the freight from that vessel here yesterday.

The wedding took place last evening at the home of W. T. Robertson, Musgrave Place, of Miss Susie Mae Robertson and Clarence Leicester Swindell. Rev. F. W. Kerr officiated and attendants of the couple were Miss Wark and R. L. McIntosh. The happy couple sailed on the Prince Rupert this morning for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver and will return to Prince Rupert to reside.
