FAMOUS FRENCH GENERAL IS DEAD

Marshal Joffre Passes Away In Paris; End Came Quietly Today As State of Coma Continued

Succumbed to Onset of Fatal Disease at 8:23 This Morning In Paris—Had Been Unconscious Since Noon On New Year's Day

PARIS, Jan. 3.—General Joseph Jacques Cesaire Joffre, Marshal of France, died this morning at 8:23 Paris time. The end came peacefully, the famous soldier failing to come out of a coma which closed over him at noon Thursday. He was suffering from gangrene which started in his leg and gradually crept upwards into the body where it was bound to be fatal. Marshal Joffre had been afflicted for some time and about two weeks ago a leg was amputated. Since then he gradually sank and his death was fully expected, having been practically timed by attending physicians. Had Marshal Joffre lived until tomorrow he would have been 78 years of age.

Creasy, the English historian, years ago wrote his "Fifteen Decisive Battles of the World." The sixteenth—the first battle of the Marne—was won by General Joseph Jacques Cesaire Joffre, commander of the French armies in the West during the great war. Ending a series of disheartening retreats, after four days and nights of incessant fight, he stopped 2,500,000 Germans and drove them back when they were within 30 miles of Paris.

"I mean to deliver the big battle under the most favorable conditions, at my own time and on the ground I have chosen," declared Joffre to his generals. "If necessary I shall continue my retreat. I shall bide my time. No consideration whatever will make me alter my plans."

The onward sweep of the Germans through Belgium, Luxembourg and Lorraine toward the French capital had reached high tide on Sept. 5, 1914, despite the gallant defense of Liege, the stand at Mons-Namur-Charleroi and a counter invasion of Alsace-Lorraine. Flushed with success, opposed by a numerically inferior force which had continually yielded ground, the Germans had every expectation of capturing Paris and France, once smashed, of turning their strength to finish then menacing Russia. The French government, meanwhile, had moved to Bordeaux. Joffre decided to strike on September 6 with fast and furious flank attacks, following the terrific frontal onslaughts of the enemy. The German right wing, under General Alexander von Kluck, checked by Joffre's unexpected and tremendous counter-offensive, fell back upon the Aisne river on September 10 and extended itself northward through Picardy, Artois and Flanders to the Belgian coast. Paris was saved and Joffre was acclaimed the hero of France.

After the battle of the Marne, the Germans in the West took to the trenches and dug themselves in and then began four years of a new type of warfare in which every death-dealing device and artifice of human ingenuity was employed. Reconnaissance showed that at one time the trenches in the Western front consisted of 32 parallel lines which with the communication trenches, aggregated 25,000 miles. Joffre remarked: "We have only to keep to the path that we are now following to be sure of victory."

Anxiety Over For Amy Johnson Who Was Missing In Germany In Course of Her Flight to China

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—Amy Johnson, missing overnight, landed safely here from Cologne at 5:30 this afternoon. While flying from Cologne, Miss Johnson drifted clear off her course northward to Luebz near Parchim in Mecklenburg-Scherwin where she was compelled to make a forced landing. After ascertaining her whereabouts, she again took off and reached Berlin without incident.

BERLIN, Jan. 3.—Some concern was felt here this afternoon at the non-arrival of Amy Johnson, English aviatrix, from Cologne where she hopped off at 11 o'clock this morning for Berlin en route to Peiping, China. Air police have been unable to learn of her whereabouts although all important towns between here and Cologne have been queried. Weather was not good when she took off for Berlin this morning and it had been expected that Miss Johnson would have landed at some intermediate point, perhaps Hanover. When she did not appear there within a reasonable time, it was feared that she had lost her way and had been obliged to come down at some other point.

Negotiations for an adjustment of the workers' objections to "more looms per weaver" broke down last night and the leaders announced that on Monday they would call out workers in every mill where the new system is planned.

Meanwhile, the miners looked today to a meeting of the South Wales conciliation board which may settle the differences over hours and wages.

LOWER ASSESSMENTS

The assessments of city property have been again reduced about ten per cent, not because the land is worth less than it was a year ago but because it was ten per cent too high last year. This will make it necessary either to raise the mill rate next year to cover the difference or to put a tax on improvements. It will be one of the problems the next council will have to solve.

Several years ago a council left office with an overdraft at the bank This overdraft is still hanging over the heads of the people and it will be slightly increased this year owing to the cost of unemployment relief. This is not a thing to discuss generally in the press but it must be mentioned occasionally in order to draw attention to the need of balancing the budget. There should be no bank overdraft in the city except such as is needed to carry on local improvement or other work until the bonds covering the work are sold and also to enable the city to carry on until the taxes for the year begin to come in. There is a period from January to midsummer when the city finds itself with very little available income. During that time the council goes to the bank for aid.

This year the new council should absolutely decide to pay off all the old debts and make the taxes high enough to cover the cost. It has to be done some time and the present is as good as any other. If it is absolutely necessary to place a small tax on improvements in order to do so, even that must be faced. One of the first principles in civic finance as in all other successful finance is to pay one's obligations.

Nearly all policies are formulated by minorities and put into force by majorities.

VAGARIES OF CREDIT

One of the vagaries of credit is that when times are good and money should not be needed, it is easy to get credit. When times are not so good and money is needed it is almost impossible to borrow. The lesson is that even during good times it is a good plan to keep the financial fences in good order so that when evil days come upon us we may be in such a position that we can withstand any attacks.

UNEMPLOYED CONTROVERSY

The question of the allocation of money for unemployment relief work was warmly discussed at a meeting between the representatives of Vancouver and the provincial government last week. Mayor Malkin contended that Vancouver had not received a fair share from the government in comparison with outside districts. Hon. W. R. Bruhn, minister of public works, declared that the government by its contributions had made $880,000 available for relief work in Vancouver as against $700,000 to be spread over all the unorganized districts of the province. It was pointed out also that a dollar spent by the government in a municipality meant four dollars' worth of work, since the Dominion contributed another dollar and the municipality two, while in the unorganized district a dollar from the provincial government meant only two dollars' worth of work, the only other contributor being the Dominion which gave dollar for dollar.

What was not pointed out was that while Vancouver undoubtedly had a large share of the burden of unemployment, most of the men now out of work went there with money, spent it in the city and the city got the benefit from being the spending centre of the province. In view of that the city ought to be willing to meet a goodly share of the cost of keeping the unemployed.

When a merchant talks hard times, watch him and curtail his credit.

Reopening of University of Havana recently resulted in student demonstration and riot said to be protest against proposed new foreign loan by the government.

PROSPECTS FOR YEAR

Canada Should Have Better Times In 1931, Says Minister

Certain well-known phenomena usually found toward the close of major depressions and now in evidence in Canada indicate the probability that there will be better times in 1931, says a review of Canadian business and industries by Hon. H. H. Stevens. In the first place, there has been in recent months a substantial increase in the savings deposits of our chartered banks. In the three months between July 31st and October 31st these deposits increased from $1,402,000,000 to $1,432,000,000 or by $30,000,000. In the same period current loans declined from $1,277,300,000 to $1,229,500,000, or a decline of nearly $48,000,000. Thus the excess of savings deposits over current loans, which is generally considered very significant in the interpretation of banking statistics, rose from $121,000,000 at the end of July to $202,000,000 at the end of October, which may be compared with the excess of $3,000,000 of current loans over savings deposits on October 31, 1929. Call loans also have been steadily declining in recent months. Call loans abroad, which were $215,900,000 at the end of August, fell to $164,700,000 at the end of October. In the same period call loans at home fell from $229,000,000 to $214,100,000. Conversely, the banks' holdings of Dominion and provincial government securities, which were $293,000,000 at the end of July, rose to almost $370,000,000 at the end of October. Obviously, there is a good deal of Canadian money waiting for opportunities of profitable investment.

Further, the recent tariff changes are resulting in the establishment of branch factories and the importation of capital. Thus an English firm has purchased the Hawthorn mills at Carleton Place, Ontario, and is installing English machinery. This is only one of over a dozen English firms coming to Canada. Various woolen mills, long closed down, have commenced operations, and the woolen industry is looking ahead and realizing that it has a future in Canada. Connecticut firms have leased a factory at St. Hyacinthe as a branch plant, and it is understood that a Hamilton corporation is undertaking the manufacture of tinplates in Canada.

Again, the increased demand for electrical power is another evidence of the confidence which Canadians feel in the future of their country. The 500,000 horsepower which will be available from the initial development of the Beauharnois Power Corporation has already been all contracted for, and it is stated that application will be made to the Government to authorize a larger diversion of water for power purposes. It is understood also that the present plans contemplate the establishment of great new metallurgical enterprises in the neighborhood of the Beauharnois developments.

Have Been Worse Before Finally, while the times through which we are passing are admittedly difficult for the nation and disastrous for many necessitous individuals, they are certainly not so difficult as those which we have faced before. The present winter hard as it is for many, is relatively less distressing than those of 1907-08, 1913-14 and 1920-21. Canada as a nation is very much wealthier and better able to withstand adversity than she was in any similar period of former times, when the question of our national solvency was gravely debated in London and New York. Today our national credit in London and New York and among our own people stands far higher than it did even ten years ago, and we are able to finance our own enterprises in a way which was then impossible. In addition we had at the beginning of 1929 total external investments of some $1,745,000,000, nearly $1,000,000,000 of it in the United States subject to easy withdrawal as our own industries require additional capital. Thus, while individuals may be suffering today, the economic position of the Dominion among the countries of the world remains satisfactory. In the present circumstances, if those of us who are better off will help to find work for those who are out of employment in order to help them to tide over the winter, we shall find before long, as we have found in the past, that we have done a good stroke of business for ourselves. We shall find that in spite of labour-saving inventions we still need the labor of industrious and intelligent workers to develop this great country in which we have as yet scarcely one gainfully employed person for each square mile of land area. It will not be long before there is work for all in Canada, as there is bread for all today. Let us then take courage—the best is yet to be."

FIRE LOSS IS HIGHER

Two Big Conflagrations Gave City Heavy Destruction During Year Just Past

Fire loss in Prince Rupert for 1930 is estimated at a total of $31,724.70 as against $3,215.44 in the preceding year. The fire department responded to a total of 75 alarms during the year just past as compared with 55 in 1929. There were four alarms and damage of $210 during December just past as compared with seven calls and $415.84 damage in December, 1929. Following are fire department figures for 1930 and 1929:

RAILWAY DIRECTOR

Vancouver Province Comments On Appointment of Fyfe Smith to C. N. R. Board

The appointment to the Canadian National directorate of J. Fyfe Smith is a compliment both to Vancouver and to one of Vancouver's successful business men and public-spirited citizens, says the Vancouver Province editorially. Vancouver has never had a director on the board of the national railway, and British Columbia has had none since the death of the late F. G. Dawson, last year. Both defects are now repaired and in a happy manner.

Canadian National directors, like Canadian Pacific directors, are scattered from coast to coast. Like the directors of the rival line, they are not expected to be practical railway men. The operation of the road is in the hands of experts under the direction of the president, Sir Henry Thornton. The directors are business men, and their duty is to keep the general management in touch with the railway needs of their respective districts; also, perhaps, to keep their respective districts in mind that there is such a thing as a national railway.

Mr. Fyfe Smith's appointment does not come unexpectedly. It had been suggested for some time. It will be a popular appointment, too. The new director is well and favorably known in the city, as his repeated election to the Board of Park Commissioners attests. If

HEAD HURT?

WORK won't wait for a headache to wear off. Don't look for sympathy at such times, but get some Aspirin. It never fails.

Don't be a chronic sufferer from headaches, or any other pain. See a doctor and get at the cause. Meantime, don't play martyr. There's always quick comfort in Aspirin. It never does any harm. Isn't it foolish to suffer any needless pain? It may be only a simple headache, or it may be neuralgia or neuritis. Rheumatism. Lumbago. Aspirin is still the sensible thing to take. There is hardly any ache or pain these tablets can't relieve; they are a great comfort to women who suffer periodically; they are always to be relied on for breaking up colds.

Buy the box that says Aspirin and has Genuine printed in red. Genuine Aspirin tablets do not depress the heart. All druggists.

Vancouver has a reputation among Canadian cities for its gay gardens. Mr. Fyfe Smith, whose work in the interests of floriculture has for many years been unflinching, may claim a good share of the credit for that reputation. Daily News "Want Ads" bring quick results.

DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND COMMERCE
OTTAWA, CANADA

December 27th, 1930.

To My Fellow Citizens,
Everywhere in Canada.

Ring Out the Old, Ring in the New!

Another few days and 1930, with whatever it has brought us of success or of failure, will have passed into history, and our thoughts will be centred on a new year, and on the better times we sincerely hope it has in store for us.

While the opportunities of the past are gone beyond recall, the future is ours to make of it what we will. And we can make it a far brighter, a far more prosperous future, for ourselves individually and for Canada as a whole, if we all resolve to profit by the lessons our experience has taught us.

Among those lessons, surely we have learned how dependent each of us is for his own opportunities and his own advancement upon the well-being of Canadian producers as a class, and how much better it would be for every one of us if in our daily buying we were all to favour Canadian products.

If you believe that "Produced-in-Canada" doctrine is sound common sense, that it points the logical way not only to relieve unemployment but to lay broader and deeper the foundations of our national prosperity, why not make the practice of it one of your foremost resolutions for 1931?

Celebrate the new year by ringing out old habits of carelessness in buying, and ringing in the new resolve henceforth to be studiously careful. For 1931 let this be your creed:

"I believe in Canada.

"I love her as my home. I honour her institutions. I rejoice in the abundance of her resources.

"I glory in the record of her achievements. I have unbounded confidence in the ability of her people to excel in whatsoever they undertake. I cherish exalted ideals of her destiny as a leader among world nations.

"To her I pledge my loyalty. To the promotion of her best interests I pledge my support. To her products I pledge my patronage. And to the cause of her producers I pledge my devotion."

If you are willing to embrace this creed, a copy of same artistically executed in colours, and on heavy stock suitable for use as a wall hanger or for framing, is yours for the asking. Just clip and fill in the coupon herewith. Address your envelope as shown on the coupon. Mail it without affixing stamp, for this particular letter will be carried free.

Very sincerely yours,

H. H. Stevens
Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Too much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms, such as headaches, gas, heartburn, etc., will disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine, prescribed by doctors for conditions due to excess acid. It is always a liquid; it cannot be made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips' and the word genuine in red.

Marshal Joffre Passes Away In Paris; End Came Quietly Today As State of Coma Continues

From October 1914 to July 1913, however, the long entrenched battle-line from the coast to Switzerland and remained almost stationary although numerous terrific attempts to break through were made by the Germans, notably in Flanders, at Ypres, in the Argonne, at Verdun, between St. Quentin and a Fero toward Amiens, at Chemin les Dames, between Rheims and Soissons and again at the Marne.

Five of the greatest German drives failing, the Allies found themselves in a position again to take the offensive in July 1918 and the following October they smashed the so-called "Hindenburg line," cleared the Belgian coast and advanced along the river Meuse threatening all German communications and compelling the enemy to ask for the armistice which was granted on November 11, 1918.

Meanwhile, Joffre had retired from active command and had been created Marshal of France. After the first battle of the Marne, occasional Allied reverses cast a shadow upon the glory of the great French soldier. He had aroused enmities in the Chamber of Deputies by his dismissal of 14 generals and his replacement of them by younger commanders. Paris papers criticized him, notably for his transfer of General M. P. Sarrail from the Argonne to a minor command in the Near East. Joffre himself was 63 and late in 1915 rumors arose regarding the plans to shelve him.

George Clemenceau, who later became premier, declared in his paper l'Homme Enchaîné, that the politicians were going to give Joffre "a high-sounding nominal appointment which would have the practical result of installing a new Commander-in-Chief on the Western front." He asked: "Is the proposed appointment a favor given because the French front affords insufficient scope to General Joffre's abilities or is it a disgrace which hides under the flowers a bow-spring to paralyze our great strategist in the niche of honor?"

In 1916, General Robert Nivelle succeeded Joffre, after Premier Briand had announced the latter's appointment as Commander-in-Chief of all the French armies except those in Africa. Briand explained: "The sole object of the extended powers of General Joffre is to insure singleness of direction in military operations and at the same time to establish co-ordination between the commander of our armies and the technical councils of the Allies."

Accepting from the government the baten and sword of honor of a Marshal of France, the victor of the Marne relinquished active military service and attended various Allied conferences in London and Paris. General Nivelle, failing in a 25-mile offensive against the Germans between Soissons and Rheims was succeeded in 1916 by General Henri Philippe Petain, who in turn became Chief-of-Staff when Foch was Generalissimo in command of all the Allied armies. Petain, like Foch, was created a Marshal at the close of the war.

Came to United States
In 1917, a few weeks prior to the entry of the United States into the struggle, Marshal Joffre and former Premier Viviani, as the heads of the French War Mission, went to the United States country and discussed with President Wilson and other officials America's participation in the war. The Marshal, M. Viviani were enthusiastically greeted everywhere in their tour cities in the east and middle and in Canada and before returning to France the "Hero of the Marne" placed wreaths upon tombs of Washington and Lincoln.

In 1918 Joffre was elected a member of the French Academy, becoming one of the "Forty Immortals." He was chosen on his literary record. His work was written September 6, 1914, on the eve of the Battle of the Marne in a general order to his army and read at this moment when a battle is about to commence upon the result of which the salvation of our country depends, no one must look back. All must unite to attack and repel the enemy. Any troop finding itself unable to advance further must hold the ground at all cost and must fight until death. No retreat.

Joffre's only other literary effort was written in 1895 when, after French detachment had been humiliated by hostile tribesmen in Africa, he led a punitive expedition from the coast to the interior, described his experiences in a pamphlet entitled: "My March to Timbuctoo."

Born at Rivesaltes on January 1852, close to the Pyrenees, the son of a cooper, Joffre was educated at the College of Perpignan and the Ecole Polytechnic. He entered the French army as a second lieutenant during the Franco-Prussian war, 1870-71 and commanded a battalion at the siege of Paris. He became captain in 1876, a major in 1880, lieutenant colonel in 1894, a colonel in 1897, a brigadier general in 1900 and a major general in 1905. He served with distinction in China and Tonkin and organized the defense of Formosa. At the beginning of the great war he was chief of the French General Staff.

Marshall Joffre was a brilliant mathematician and military engineer and correctly predicted in 1904 that "the next war will be a long one, waged along immense frontiers and in it patience will be more than audacity and calculation will count more than dash." He was not a dress parade commander and rarely seen in the saddle.

ACCEPT THESE GIFTS WITH OUR COMPLIMENTS

DO YOU think of your newspaper merely as a means of finding out what the famous people in the world are doing, saying, thinking? As an impersonal record of events which do not concern you at all? We have something more than that to offer you. For instance:

Please accept today with our compliments these things as a gift throughout the coming year, which you'll find in our pages: New and better ways of performing old household tasks . . . means of savings steps, time, effort . . . labor-saving devices . . . short-cuts to efficiency . . . money-saving. "Why," you say, "you're probably talking about the advertisements!" Just so—we are.

Think of the advertisements—and read them—as news. News of the world of goods and things . . . news of scientific achievement accomplished for your benefit . . . news that concerns you far more directly than an account of boundary disputes in Baluchistan can ever concern you.

Read the advertisements regularly, and use them as millions of other people are doing—to save you time, effort, money, trouble, when it comes to buying the things that make life a little easier . . . a little brighter. Reading the advertisements will keep you in step with the rapidly advancing standard of living in Canada today.

Every day there's something new in the advertisements as well as on the front page. Be informed on all sides!

ISLAND COAL IS GOOD COAL

AFTER ALL IT'S THE LITTLE "B.T.U.'s" THAT COUNT

A year or so ago, before vitamins became popular, food experts were all talking "calories." Calories are to food what "B.T.U.'s" are to coal . . . units of heat. The natural heat of the human body is determined by the number of calories supplied by certain foods. Similarly, the amount of heat your furnace develops, depends on the kind of coal you use. The more heat units there are in the coal you use, the warmer your home will be.

It always pays to buy the coal which has the most B.T.U.'s per dollar. Nanaimo-Wellington and Comox Coal actually contain more heat units than any other coal you buy on this market. These Island Coals by chemical analysis show an average of 13,030 B.T.U.'s, where other non-Island grades hardly ever show more than 10,000 . . . often less.

Therefore when you buy Island Coal you are buying more heat per dollar. You are also helping to support one of the major industries of British Columbia and you are doing your share in helping to solve the unemployment problem.

Any one of the dealers listed herewith will guarantee honest weight, honest grading and honest prices.

Always order "Nanaimo-Wellington" or "Comox" Coal. Remember it's the "B.T.U.'s" that count!

WATERFRONT WHIFFS

Will Soon Prepare For Season's Activities—Teeny Milly Off to Vancouver—Biological Boat Contract Abandoned

As was the case with Christmas, the arrival of the New Year was celebrated soberly and sanely by the folk of the local waterfront. With the ceremonies of ushering in 1931 now well and truly celebrated, the thoughts of the most of the marine people are now turning from the doldrums of the winter and close season to the serious matter of preparing for the activities of the coming year. Soon again there will be the usual bustle and stir which has been so noticeable by its absence during the past six weeks or so.

Mrs. Lindsay Is Honored

At the regular monthly meeting yesterday afternoon of the Ladies' Aid of First Baptist Church at the home of Mrs. J. A. Lindsay, Park Avenue, the presentation was made to Mrs. Lindsay, retiring president of the Aid, of a beautiful sandwich tray in recognition of her work for the Aid. The presentation was made by Mrs. George Hibbard who made suitable remarks. Before the meeting closed delicious refreshments were served.

The provincial police cruiser P. M. L. 8 and the Indian Department's Naskaena have been getting in quite a few running hours just recently although we may not all be privileged to know what all the running around is about. Both boats are in good shape and ready for an active season.

Good progress is being made with the construction of Dr. L. W. Kergin's fine new power cruiser at the local dry dock and the craft will be ready in plenty of season for 1931 activities. It appears to be a trim little vessel and should be one of the show boats of the local yachting fleet. A Red Wing engine is being installed.

Tenderers on the new power vessel which it was planned to build for the use of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station have been returned their bids and it is evidently not the intention of the government to proceed with the construction of the vessel for the meantime at least. The local dry dock was one of the tenderers. Financial stringency is said to have been a factor in the decision not to proceed at this time. It is to be hoped that the boat will be provided soon, for it is needed.

Capt. George Cook left today for Vancouver with his halibut boat Teeny Milly. The trip south is being made so that certain adjustments may be done on the 48 h.p. semi-diesel Gardner engine in the vessel. The Teeny Milly was built during the last year and, in her initial season, fared fairly well. Capt. Cook expects to return to port in about two weeks' time.

With the end of December, the duck and goose hunting season came to a close this week. There was not much excitement attending the conclusion of the season since the most of the nimrods were still celebrating the festive season. There had not been much activity in hunting for a month or so.
