SENSATION IN LONDON

England Shocked By Huge Deficit-Snowden is Quite Candid

LONDON, Feb. 18:-A sensation has been caused in English business and political circles by the announcement of Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, that there will be a government deficit approximating $250,000,000 on the current fiscal year finances and that, in order to balance the budget, some real sacrifices will have to be made.

The Labor Party is very upset itself over the announcement but Mr. Snowden frankly tells them that, if they can find a better chancellor of the exchequer, he will be welcome to the job as far as he is concerned.

PATTULLO'S PERORATION

In the Legislature last week, T. D. Pattullo, member for Prince Rupert, made a three-hour speech in which he attacked the various policies of the government, raked them fore and aft with shot and shell and concluded with the Joins Firm of following striking peroration:

"The government has promised to reduce taxation, but has raised it and will have to raise it still more. It has promised an improvement in general conditions, but conditions are much worse. It has promised to be economical and has increased expenditures in all directions. It has attacked the old government's debt and has increased the ley, debt enormously, until it realizes itself now that expendi- tors of advertising campaigns and nowledged: tures must be drastically reduced. It has promised to conserve resources and enforce manufacture of raw mater- large Eastern Canadian Advertisials here, but nothing has been done along these lines. COMMITTEE OF DIRECTION

It is satisfactory that the courts have upset the constitutionality of the committee of direction set up under a British Columbia statute as an experiment in marketing farm and garden produce. It was a law which was wholly opposed to the idea of British liberty and while it brought some good results as long as times were good it could not survive the pinch of the present depression.

Under the committee, a producer was prevented from selling his wares when and to whom he wished and also it prevented buyers from getting the kinds of fruit or produce they wished. It made for wasteful methods and its disappearance from the statute books will not be regretted by anyone.

Canadian Given Decision Last Night Over Tod Morgan in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 18:-Billy Townsend's stock was boosted considerably as a result of a 10-round decision he won here last night over Tod Morgan, former junior lightweight champion.

Through mere boxing superiority, Morgan had the edge in the early rounds but the husky Canuck right-handed welterweight, showed up to advantage in the whirlwind finish.

It might easily have been called a draw and the decision of the referee in favor of Townsend was not altogether satisfactory to the fans.

LITERATURE

Prince Rupert Teachers' Association Has Interesting Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Teachers' Association took place last evening in the Borden Street School. In the course of the business meeting, it was reported that two of the three books ordered for the educational shelf of the public library had arrived and that the third had been ordered from England.

The subject for the evening was "The Value of Literature." Miss Norah Rivett, who was convener for the evening, was also the first speaker, taking the subject from the point of view of the primary grades. To the beginner at school, literature was the opening out of a new horizon. Previously his interests had been purely personal. His association with other pupils gave him new interests and these were enlarged on his introduction to literature through stories. Nature study, handwork and stories would of themselves provide a fairly liberal education for a child. The training in language, the joy of expression, the play of the emotions and the underlying rules for conduct were all important contributions of literature. The inseparability of poetry and music and rhythm and their value were recognized in their power to enrich the life of the children.

Literature in the senior grades was discussed by J. S. Wilson. A test Mrs. Alfred Nelson, in literature would be a very good substitute for an intelligence test. Formerly of Prince list of subjects required for the Entrance certificate was due to the recognition of the fact that it was almost impossible to examine children in the subject as it deals with value of words, the shades of difference in meaning and the necesnaking pupils familiar with the study of the lives and characters of the individuals in books it gave them an acquaintance with the-great laws of life and conduct as found in the writings of the masters. This was a sure way to wisdom. And it gave vision to children without which a nation must

J. W. Plommer spoke on literature in the high schools. Taking the subject matter of the different grades he outlined the successive steps by which the course takes pupils through the works of the poets and prose writers of different ages and including the large number of contemporary writers, from the narrative and lyrical to the imaginative, the fusion of story with poetry, the development of literary taste, the reactions to emotions and the introduction to imaginative literature gave the pupils an introduction to the highest form of literature. The addition of a year to the high school course gave the students a very valuable opportunity to enlarge their literary horizon. The catholic range of books that were studied whetted their appetite for the better literature and the study of the full-length play was

French Literature

French literature in the high school was Mr. Clark's subject. He pointed out that as French was a new subject for the pupils their study of literature as such was very limited owing to the necessity to New samples just arrived of spring acquire a vocabulary and a limited familiarity with the language. PURPOSE

Terrace Rector Writes Letter on Subject to his Parishioners

The Rev. E. A. McCarthy, Terrace, Anglican Church rector, in a Lenten letter to his parishioners says:

"The purpose of Lent is to see if we can find some pow'r 'giftie to gie us, to see oursels ...

Personal religion must necessarily begin with the individual, and it is never easy to find out what sort of a person one really is. Some have never made the discovery; they are 'Eternal strangers to themselves.' This is the tragedy of many lives. Doubtless you have never attempted the task of becoming acquainted with yourself; it is not an easy task. It is not a very pleasant task as some wise person once said; 'Ii I could buy people for what they are worth, and sell them for what they think they are worth, I should make a fortune.'

"The idea of Lent is not to make people morbidly self-absorbed, but it is to make an honest attempt to get down to the bed rock of sincerity, and in doing so, to gain what is essential in the Christian Gwyer, Miss McArthur, Miss Mercer, life, self-knowledge. To attain to such knowledge, it is necessary that we spend ome time apart, not to 'mope', but to apply a test in order to ascertain our moral and spiritual condition.
