Formally Signed

Concessions Are Made by Both Sides in Long Standing Dispute

NEW DELHI, INDIA, March 5:—Conditions agreed upon by Lord Irwin, the Viceroy, and Mahatma Gandhi, All India Nationalist leader, whereby the civil disobedience campaign in the country is brought to a conclusion include the release of all Indian political prisoners with full restoration subject to certain reservations.

The agreement was formally signed yesterday by Lord Irwin and Gandhi after nine hours of almost continuous discussion during which an accord was reached upon formulas for the settlement of all points in dispute which had hitherto menaced the fruits of the London Round Table Conference.

The agreement further provides that peaceful picketing for economic objects shall be legal. Indians living near the coast will be given the right to manufacture their own salt.

Concessions by the Nationalist Congress leader wave demands for an enquiry into alleged police excesses in coping with the Nationalist movement.

Gandhi and other leaders will participate in a new round table conference for which arrangements will be commenced immediately.

Racked for a year by the civil disobedience movement which defied the authority of the British, filled the jails and was responsible for millions of dollars of economic loss, peace has at last come to India.

HANBURY IN VANCOUVER

Was Unable to be in Court Tuesday, He Explains—Resents Publicity Given Matter

Settlement Made

VANCOUVER, March 5:—In a statement last night following his return from Kamloops where he was visiting his lumber mill prior to leaving for Ottawa to assume his Parliamentary duties, Wilfrid Hanbury, M.P. for Burrard, said that he was unable to be in court on Tuesday in response to a summons to undergo examination as to why he had not complied with a court judgment over a promissory note for $217.

As numerous committal orders of such a nature were regularly made but not put into effect, Mr. Hanbury felt that undue publicity to one against him was neither considerate or fair under the circumstances.

Later in the day it was announced that settlement had been made by Mr. Hanbury of the $217 judgment obtained against him in County Court by John Greed, a house decorator. No steps will, therefore, be taken under an order made by Judge Ruggles committing the defendant to jail for 10 days.

ARE THINGS WORSE?

Are conditions worse in Prince Rupert than usual at this time of year? There is a difference of opinion in regard to this. Some say they are and some declare there have been a number of springs when business has been just as quiet as they are here today.

There have in past years been many vacant houses and apartments in the city. Today there are very few. Most of the people living in these houses and apartments are paying rent, except in cases where they own them.

Some merchants have been feeling the pressure of competition. For instance, there are too many taxi businesses in town and as a result some of them are doing very little. What is true in the taxi business is true in some other lines. Competition has been keen and some firms that were doing fairly well in the spring of former years are not doing as well this year.

There is a delay in the halibut fishing due to disagreements of various kinds. These will probably be straightened out soon and fish will be coming here as usual. The new sawmill at Porpoise Harbor is about to operate and this is a new industry in addition to what we have had in the past.

Due to world conditions there is a holding back in buying which injures local merchants and some are sending away for goods thinking that they get them cheaper elsewhere. This is a temporary phase.

Most of the unemployed are men who have come to the city recently. Many came to work for the power company and find conditions as good here as elsewhere. That to a large extent accounts for the unemployed in the city.

There is absolutely no reason why Prince Rupert people should feel the least worried over the situation. All we need to do is to carry on carefully and we shall find conditions righting themselves in the very near future.

RADIO DISEASE

Though he calls himself a fervent optimist, Dr. Lee de Forest, retiring president of the Institute of Radio Engineers, nevertheless declares that radio is the victim of a disease which may destroy both its usefulness and its prosperity, says the New York Outlook. If any radio listener needs to be told the nature of the malady, let him snap on his instrument. Two minutes of jazz by a tenth-rate orchestra, and then, "This program comes to you through the courtesy of Little Hocus Pocus Marvellous Lime Squeezers, Inc. Ladies and gentlemen, how many of you own satisfactory, scientific lime squeezers which extract the last, luscious, vitamin-filled drop? The Little Hocus Pocus Lime Squeezer, manufactured in our light, airy, one hundred per cent modern laboratories by a special scientific process endorsed by scientists the world over, will—." No one knows what. The irritated listener has spun the dial around and caught a pleasant medley of southern songs. Presently he hears, "Way down South in the land of cotton—Old Black Joe Brake Linings are not forgotten—Look away!" Snap. The radio is off for the evening.

Stabilization of Silver Value Is Essential to Restoration of World Trade, Dale Pitt Asserts

Explaining in plain and practical terms how a stabilization of the price of silver somewhere around its normal value of 50c or so would result in a great improvement in world trade through allowing over half of the nations of the world to get back in the markets with their silver money, Dale L. Pitt, general manager of the Premier Gold Mining Co. gave the Prince Rupert Gyro Club, at luncheon yesterday, one of the most interesting and instructive addresses it has had in many a day. Mr. Pitt's subject was "Silver in Relation to the Present World Depression." Charles C. Mills, president of the club, was in the chair and there was a large attendance of members and guests.

While the matter of the value of silver to that of world depression might seem a long stride, Mr. Pitt declared that economists were giving more and more thought to the relation. Its importance became more readily evident when it was remembered that over half the population of the world was using silver as the medium of exchange.

Mr. Pitt then went on to the subject of the relation of silver and gold. In Biblical times, it was said that one shekel of gold was equivalent to eight shekels of silver. During the days of the Roman Empire, the standard was twelve to one. Coming to more modern times, Mr. Pitt told how in the nineteenth century Great Britain and Germany had come into possession of the large percentage of the world's gold.

The end of the Great War saw a corner on the world's gold supply in United States and France with trade at a standstill and no business for the industries because the silver money of more than one-half of the population of the world had been debased and was so unstable. In view of this instability of silver, China and India, the great silver nations, were unable to buy from the rest of the world, being unable to pay, and the other nations could not sell since they did not know what they would get.

Mr. Pitt went on to give reasons for the debasing of silver. It had been largely due to the fact that England, being indebted after the war to India which insisted on its pay in silver, had melted down its currency which was formerly 990 fine to some 550. Germany, Belgium and other nations soon followed England's example. India became in possession of more gold than she knew what to do with, dumping of large quantities of the metal was threatened and there was a great decrease in value from 88c per ounce in 1928 to 26c today. When the value of the money of more than half of the population of the world became so debased, it was obvious the effect there would be on world trade.

Stabilizing Means

Mr. Pitt then proceeded to discuss means of stabilizing the price of silver. One plan was to establish a fixed value for silver on the basis of twelve to one with gold or the ratio of the amount of silver mined to that of gold, establishing the price of silver at $1.66 per ounce. There was, however, considerable opposition to this plan and economists seemed to favor a simpler process whereby leading nations of the world would meet in conference and agree not to sell any more government silver for a period of three years unless the price should go above 55c, then marketing it in an orderly way. This would remove the dark cloud that now threatened the silver market. It was a practicable plan, too, since there was actually no overproduction of silver. No legislation would be required to effect such a plan but it would be a mere statement of policy.

It has been truly said that, "If every wife knew what every widow knows, every man would carry adequate Life Insurance".

GATHERING IN CHURCH

Interesting Addresses at Public Meeting Last Night in Connection With Presbytery

Inspiring Speeches

Important Announcement That Local Church is Now Self-Supporting

A public meeting held last night in First United Church in connection with the sessions of Prince Rupert Presbytery, which is now proceeding here, proved of much interest to an audience of good proportions which was in attendance. The principal features of the meeting were an inspiring talk by Rev. W. H. Gibson of Bella Cooles on some of his experiences during forty years of missionary work around Rivers Inlet, Bella Cooles and Bella Bella, a unique account by Rev. J. Kobayama, Japanese missionary at Ocean Falls of how he came to be converted to Christianity and entered the ministry, and a brief but earnest address by Rev. Charles E. Motte on the importance of foreign missions.

Rev. W. H. Gibson read the Scripture Lesson and Capt. Scott led in opening prayer. The first speaker was Rev. C. E. Motte, Rupert East, convener of foreign missions for the Presbytery. Mr. Motte stressed the importance of this branch of the work. People who scoffed at foreign missions could not believe Christ when he had commanded his disciples to "go out into the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." Despite great work that had been done by the church in such fields as Africa, Tangola Honan, South and North China, Korea, Japan, Trinidad, etc., these fields were still crying out for more workers. There were opportunities in these countries today such as never before had been offered. There was a big call in China for Christian leadership and political troubles that had hampered the work of late in that country was fast disappearing.

PRESBYTERY BUSINESS

Many Matters of Interest Were Taken up Yesterday

The United Church Presbytery of Prince Rupert opened yesterday at 1:30 p.m. in the First United Church. Rev. W. Deans of Ocean Falls presided and Rev. T. H. Wright, Hazelton, acted as secretary. The proceedings were opened by devotional worship in which Captain Rev. R. C. Scott and Rev. C. E. Motte took part. The first business was the presentation of the Home Mission Report by Rev. A. Wilson. The financial situation called for more generous givings by the people, and all the fields were asked to increase their contributions.

three-years. It had taken only a few months for them to raise the money for and build a fine hall. Mr. Gibson wished all his hearers could only see his church with its fine congregation of three hundred natives. There were many fine families among the Indians of this coast, asserted Mr. Gibson, and the best of them were quite as up-to-date, accomplished and careful as the whites. It was a treat to be in the homes of many of them.

As the hour was getting late, Capt. Scott excused himself with a few witty remarks and the benediction was then pronounced by Rev. Dr. George A. Wilson of Vancouver, superintendent of missions for British Columbia. After the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid of First United Church in the basement social parlors.
