Two Thousand Men to Be Given Work on Timmins Properties In District; 200 at Porcher Island

That 2,000 men will be employed soon by Noah Timmins, famous Ontario mining magnate, in the development of mining properties in this district is a report that has reached here. Development of three gold mining prospects is to be carried out for Mr. Timmins—one in the Tulsequah River district, one on Porcher Island and the third adjoining and including the Surf Inlet mine, once a rich producer of gold.

On the Tulsequah property, development of which has already been started by J. B. Woodworth of Vancouver, it is stated that 1500 men will be employed when active development commences. At present a crew of 20 men is employed, stripping overburden from the showing which appears on the hillside about 700 feet above the camp. Sampling of this property indicates gold values of $20 to the ton, three veins nearly twenty feet in width having been revealed with good showings throughout.

At the old Belmont mine on Surf Inlet, present equipment will be used. The group has been considerably enlarged and will require about 300 men when active operations get under way.

Porcher Island values run from $7 to $47 per ton and the work will employ at least 200 men. It is proposed to install a mill on the island next spring.

Mr. Timmins recently left for Toronto after a visit in this district.

HOME OIL AT THE FAIR

Illustrates How Money Spent at Home Returns and Keeps Continual Flow of Prosperity

The booth of Home Oil at the Fair with its continuous flow of prosperity fluid from the home bottle was a centre of attraction last night and many wondered how it was contrived. It was designed to illustrate how money spent at home keeps moving and the even flow of prosperity is continuous.

It is pointed out in the booth that Home Oil is made in B.C. by a 100% B.C. company. The placard on the wall says "Keep your gasoline dollars at home. Buying B.C. products means boosting B.C. payrolls. B.C. payrolls mean B.C. prosperity." The final admonition in regard to the Home Oil product is "You can buy no better."

In the booth are a number of Home Oil products. The clearness of the lubricating oil shown when the bottle is placed before a light, indicates that this is an absolutely pure product.

J. E. Clayton, local manager of the company, whose genial smile is a business winner, explains the excellencies of his product to all who come, and he is particularly enthusiastic and emphatic over the motto illustrated by the constantly flowing fluid, that prosperity for British Columbia can be brought about by buying B.C. products.

In that way the money is kept at home and returns to the spender instead of being sent out of the country. He says: "Keep your eye on that bottle and see how steady is the flow. Hard times can't touch any community that supports home industries."

Mr. Clayton issues an invitation to all oil or gasoline users to visit the booth and talk over the matter of fuel and lubricants with him.

Mr. Clayton pays a high compliment to his own staff at the oil dock who were largely responsible for putting up the exhibit. It was rather difficult working out the idea which proved so successful. Mr. Clayton says he has a combination in the local employees that cannot be beaten and the faithfulness of whom has been largely responsible for the success of Home Oil. It is the Home Oil spirit that has built up the present organization of Home Oil Distributors Ltd. whose activities now cover the whole of British Columbia.

LACROSSE EXCITING

Opening Match Between Aiyansh and Prince Rupert Warm Encounter

Six to Six Tie

One Player Goes to Hospital—Police Called in to Stop Fight

The most exciting lacrosse game that has been played in Prince Rupert for years was seen yesterday afternoon at the Acropolis Hill grounds when Aiyansh and Prince Rupert teams played three 20-minute to a six-all draw. It was the first match of a three-game series in which total goals scored will decide the honors.

Within the first five minutes of play, Aiyansh took a three to nothing lead. Just before the end of the first period Pat Clanton scored Prince Rupert's first counter.

In the second period Prince Rupert tied it up. Pat Clanton scored his second goal, his check, Titus Nisyok, ran into his stick and sustained injuries which made it necessary to take him to the hospital. Dick Woods scored the third for Prince Rupert with a spectacular backhand shot. Aiyansh then scored again from Dennis Morvan who play hard and at times checking questionably. Morvan is a big and hard player who believes in using his weight. He made the score 4 to 3 for Aiyansh. Five minutes later Woods again tied the score with another backhand shot. The checking, although legal, appeared to be rough. Bob Frizzell and Cuthbert Morvan started a fist fight which was stopped by the police—Sergeant Service and Constable Grant.

In the third period Bill Gray scored to put Prince Rupert even, seven minutes after the start, on a pass from Stalker. Stalker carried the sphere through heavy opposition to pass to Gosnell who missed. Bill Gray ran in and stole the ball from these two opponents and passed to Woods uncovered who scored. Prince Rupert played a defensive game with five minutes to go and two up on the score. In the last five minutes of play, Aiyansh tied the score, with Abel Derrick registering the fifth and the last within thirty seconds of play.

Doug. Stalker, Pat Clanton, Bob Frizzell, Bill Gray and Dick Woods starred for Prince Rupert. Stephen Eli of Aiyansh was a wonderful stickhandler. John Morvan also starred for the visitors.

Goal scorers were: Aiyansh—Dennis Morvan, Cuthbert Morvan, John Morvan, Stephen Morvan, H. McMillan and Abel Derrick.

Prince Rupert—D. Woods (3), Pat Clanton (2), Bill Gray.

The Prince Rupert team consisted of:

Goal, Chuck Woods; point, Bob Frizzell; cover point, Doug. Stalker; defence, Brick Skinner; centre, Pat Clanton; first home, Bill Gosnell; outside home, Bill Gray; inside home, Dick Woods. Spares were Unger and Elmer Smith.

The Aiyansh team was as follows:

HAZELTON CRITICAL

Visiting Ball Players Seen at Local Grounds

The Hazelton Cubs baseball team, here for the fair week series, looked over local talent while Native Sons and Elks battle for supremacy on Monday evening.

The ball ground held a certain amount of interest for the Cubs even after a strenuous day's travel, as almost all the visitors took their first look at the brand of ball that the local boys are capable of dishing out for the approval or disapproval of the fans.

The Hazelton boys seem to be of the opinion that the local all-stars will have to strut their stuff in a little better manner during the three-game series than they did on Monday or they are due for a surprise, unless the Cubs suffer from stage fright and fallen arches, as a result of their first visit to the bright lights with those pavements which always annoy persons accustomed to walking on good old terra firma.

The boys took advantage of the weather and had a light workout this morning to take the stiffness out of their tired limbs. The grounds were in fair condition and there only remains the permission of the weather man to make it possible for the lid to be blown off this afternoon at 5:30 when the Cubs will endeavor to exhibit their wares for the approval of the cash customers.

JUDGE IS PLEASED

S. S. Philip Says Flower Display a Really Wonderful One and Farm Exhibits Good

"I have judged at Prince Rupert for several years and, on no occasion, have I seen so fine a display of flowers or so many farm and garden exhibits as this year," declared S. S. Phillips, district agriculturist, Smithers, who is one of the judges here this year.

Mr. Phillips said the flower display was a really wonderful one. He could imagine what it would have been if the weather had been good for the week prior to the fair. It was something for Prince Rupert to be proud of and something that should be encouraged.

The farm displays that were staged upstairs came in for commendation from Mr. Phillips. He thought they were very creditable. The idea of giving special prizes for these was a good one.

SS. PRINCE CHARLES CALLS WITH OUT OF TOWN VISITORS FOR THE FAIR

Breaking her regular schedule to make a special call here with visitors from Stewart and Anxox for the Exhibition, C. N. R. steamer Prince Charles, Capt. Dan McKinnon, arrived in port at 3:50 this morning and, about an hour later, sailed for Massett Inlet points in continuation of her regular voyage. The vessel is due back here tomorrow morning from the Islands and will then be withdrawn from service to be laid up at the local dry dock for the winter.

Large Crowd at Fair Last Night; All Had Evening of Interest

acknowledging the fine support that had been accorded by the mayor and city council, called upon Mayor C. H. Orme to conduct the formal opening.

Mayor Orme paid tribute to the president of the Fair Board and directors for the splendid success of the Exhibition. In spite of the hard times, it appeared to be one of the best shows that had been staged here. There had been co-operation of people of the city as well as from the outside exhibitors as factors in the success.

"Through just such co-operation, Prince Rupert would be able to get through this fall and winter," declared the mayor, "by sacrificing a little and lending a hand to help the other fellow through."

With these remarks, His Worship declared the Exhibition officially open.

Vaudeville and Music

A really excellent program of music and vaudeville followed the opening ceremonies. First the Prince Rupert Boys' Band played three selections—two marches and an overture. This popular local institution acquitted itself in pleasing way and with credit to itself and Bandmaster Thomas Wilson.

The smart Greenville concert band, under the baton of Bandmaster Fred McKay, then offered a number of selections each of which proved keenly delightful to all, bringing down rounds of applause. The Greenville band promises to prove one of the real treats of the Fair entertainment program. Its successive appearances will be looked forward to with keen interest. The band's selections last night were "The Champion," overture, "Tower City March" and "Fritz March."

The straight vaudeville program offered a number of excellent and well executed turns. Adolphe Seretney did clever exhibitions of juggling and tight rope walking, being quite a comedian in addition to agile gymnast. Giddy and Giddy, man and girl team, performed some clever turns of acrobatics and strength while Miss Rita Delroy offered thrilling contortionist exhibitions. Each of these artists came from southern vaudeville circuits. Their entertainment proved acceptable and was well received. They will appear each night during the Fair at the Exhibition Building in new programs.

Of course, the Beatequest parade and judging was something to which all present were looking forward with keen interest. Miss Vivian Hickey, candidate of the Elks' Lodge; Miss Pauline Furness, sponsored by the Prince Rupert Retail Merchants' Association; Miss Annie Boddie, backed by the Rotary Club, and Miss Dora Heilbroner, choice of the Gyo Club, made their appearance in the order mentioned. Each charming young lady was given a great reception. Three judges, the identity of whom was known only to the committee in charge of the Beatequest, gave their choice in favor of Miss Annie Boddie and, apparently, it was a popular choice. There will be a poll of this kind by different judges each evening during the Fair and the final choice of the lucky young lady who is to go to Los Angeles to attend the International Beatequest as Miss Prince Rupert will be made by all the judges at the grand dance concluding the Fair on Friday night.

Exhibition Features

On conclusion of the evening's program, those present took advantage of the opportunity to move around the building and view the many and diversified exhibits.

The fancy work and sewing display is found in the usual place. Here has been assembled many beautiful and novel pieces of needlework. The ladies were particularly interested.

At the accustomed place in the balcony are the exhibits of culinary products, again showing that Prince Rupert housewives are not lacking in this important domestic work. Exhibits are numerous and attractive.

The vegetable exhibits are divided between positions on the balcony and on the main floor. Possibilities of growth in both city and interior are amply demonstrated in the vegetables as well as in the grasses, grains and field crop sections. Collection displays from the interior are especially worthy of mention.

The Indian Section in the balcony contains displays of culinary, fancy work, art, school work and a few garden exhibits. An interesting corner is that where Capt. Brown of Massett displays the art of slate carving.

Also upstairs are the displays of the city schools, consisting principally of painting and drawing with the busy work of the tiny pupils. The manual training display excited much favorable comment. In the same corner is a Japanese miniature glassed-in pagoda with huge doll, this novelty being put in by U. Suga. Another part of the balcony contains the fine art and photographic display. Benson's Studio has a large panel of commercial photography while professional photographic achievements are also displayed by the corner occupied by Wrathall's Photo Finishings.

Educational Displays

Entirely educational are the displays of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station (upstairs) and the British Columbia Forest Branch (downstairs). The former contains exhibits of many marine bi-products, discovery of which have been made locally. The latter displays woods of the district in cross-section for examination by all who may be interested. Arrangement of both displays is excellent, that of the Forest Branch being much the more pretentious.

The flower show, occupying as it does much of the main floor, is again one of the big features of the Fair. It is, indeed, most colorful and a splendid exposition of Prince Rupert's horticultural adaptabilities. Varieties of flowers are widespread with possibly gladioli and dahlias predominating. Group exhibits from individual gardens are again featured with fine effect.

The poultry and pets department illustrates many varieties of chickens. There are a few ducks and rabbits.

Creditable commercial booth displays include that made by the Pacific Mills, where Ocean Falls paper products present an interesting revelation. There is also a corner therein showing forest fire fighting equipment.

Straight business displays are made by Borden's Milk, Kalen Motors, Pacific Milk (where moving pictures of Prince Rupert and district are to be seen), Northern B. C. Power Co., Home Oil Distributors, McRae Bros. Ltd. and Nestles Milk.

The Ladies' Aid of First Baptist Church is operating the tea room at this year's Fair. Miss Wadea Musallam has a hot-dog and coffee stand concession inside the building and R. G. Ford has a novelty stand.

Outside the building proper in the midway Gyo and Rotary Clubs plied a large business with all manner of carnival concessions. As usual, this proves the centre of attractions for many persons.

Safe Robber Convicted by Grapefruit

He Left His Print

Los Angeles had an epidemic of safe-breaking. But the robber always erased his finger prints with grapefruit juice, and thus baffled the police. Then Lieut. Barlow, the famous expert who convicted Hickman, the kidnapper, found a finger print on one of the grapefruits the robber used. That print identified the thief, and he is now behind the bars.

Just another of the thousands of examples of how people, innocent and guilty, leave prints on whatever they touch.

So On Your Foods

So you leave prints on every thing you touch with contaminated hands. On bread, on toast, on cookies and candy—everywhere! Those prints convey dangerous germs. You may have picked them up from others, by a handshake or by touching something others have touched.

Life Extension Institute lists 27 diseases which may be conveyed in this way. The most common is colds, conveyed by hands which stopped a cough or sneeze.

Your only protection lies in washing hands often with a germ-destroying soap, and always before eating. That soap is Lifebuoy Soap. It destroys most germs, and makes others inactive.

Safety—Luxury— Protection

Lifebuoy Soap is based on two palm oils. There was never a soap more luxurious, more helpful to the skin and complexion. But, instead of a perfume, there is a germicide. You can smell it for a moment, but the scent disappears. Countless tests prove that no germs can live or thrive after its application.

You have three supreme results whenever you use Lifebuoy.

First, a gentle and luxurious soap, based on oils which, since ancient times, have been recognized as best for the skin.

Second, a germicidal soap which protects you from contaminations.

Third, a soap which stops body odour and thus prevents embarrassment. That is why people use it as a bath soap.

Millions of people, in every country of the world, are using Lifebuoy for skin help—for combating germs—for insurance against body odour.

Keep Lifebuoy handy for the wash basin and the bath in your home. Encourage the family to use it often. Your dealer has Lifebuoy for you.

Howe, commissioner of fisheries, wires that, as an emergency measure, the executive has approved an order in council reducing the salmon dry saltery license fee from $1500 to $500 and also permitting dry salting of any salmon in any cannery holding a cannery license on payment of an additional fee of $5.

Any licensed salmon cannery, pilchard reduction plant or herring saltery plant in the province can be utilized for dry salting any salmon on the payment of an additional fee of $5, and any unlicensed cannery can dry salt salmon on payment of $500 fee.

DERIDED BUT SUCCEEDED

Hall Caine Was Really Great Author

Derided, laughed at and condemned because of some of his early literary efforts, Sir Hall Caine, who died Monday night, attained success the equal of which few authors could boast. His English-speaking public on both sides of the Atlantic was larger than that of most writers and novel readers generally were eager for his latest work.

It would seem that Sir Hall always had in mind a dual purpose for his work—to please the reading public and then present the same subject dramatized so that it would appeal to theatre-goers. Many of his book successes attained even greater popularity when presented on the stage. In 1907 he was declared by the manager of the Lyceum Theatre, London, to be the wealthiest novelist in the world. His theatrical royalties from America and England up to that time amounted to $450,000, the manager revealed, and it was said that the sales of his novels had produced an even larger income.

Sir Hall Caine was born May 14, 1853, at Runcorn, Cheshire, of mixed Manx and Cumberland parentage. At an early age he went to live with relatives on the Isle of Man where his boyhood, spent in a condition of poverty, considerably influenced his imaginative writings in later years.

His foster parents eventually sent him to Liverpool with the idea of making him an architect and he was educated with that object in view. He never practiced that profession, however, turning to journalistic work upon completing his studies, when he became a leader writer on the staff of the Liverpool Mercury. Mere newspaper writing became so unsatisfactory to Hall Caine that it is related he petitioned for shorter working hours and a reduction in salary so that he might devote more time to novel writing. After six years in Liverpool he went to London on the invitation of D. G. Rossetti, with whom he lived and acted as secretary and companion to the poet-painter until the latter's death.

Sir Hall was married and had two sons. One of them, Derwent Hall Caine, became an actor of note and appeared in the leading roles of many of his father's dramatic works.

MARLER IS AT JASPER

Development of Oriental Trade Up to Manufacturers, Merchants and Exporters

JASPER PARK, Sept. 2:—Feeling that he has accomplished his mission, and that expansion of trade with the Far East now rests with Canada's manufacturers, merchants and exporters, Hon. Herbert M. Marler, Canadian minister to Japan and this country's apostle of trade in the Orient, is taking a week's rest at Jasper Park Lodge, following a strenuous lecture tour of more than three weeks. Mr. Marler will leave here over Canadian National Railways on Saturday evening and will travel directly to Montreal, where he will hold further consultation with governmental officials. He will remain in Canada until October 10, when he will sail for Tokyo from Vancouver.

Since he opened his lecture tour in Montreal on August 10, Mr. Marler has spoken to Canadian Clubs, boards of trade and branches of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in eight cities, six of which have been in the west. In addition to these addresses, he was given private hearings by the governments of Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia and he also interviewed officials of the wheat pool in Regina.
