FLYING THE PACIFIC

Today flying the Atlantic is becoming rather a common feat and attention is being turned to the Pacific. The difficulty is that sufficient fuel cannot be carried to enable the planes to fly such a long distance.

And yet in a few years flying the Pacific will be as common as is flying the Atlantic today. Hundreds of people are working to solve the problems of long distance flights and improved engines with greater carrying power will result in the difficulties being minimized to such an extent that plenty of people will take advantage of the opportunities that offer.

OTHER DIFFICULT PROBLEMS

We seem to be concentrating our energies on mechanical improvements and yet when a problem arises such as that which has afflicted the world recently, it seems impossible of solution. Given a too great supply of food and other commodities on the one hand and on the other many people without food and other commodities, yet we have not solved the problem of how to place the food and other commodities in the hands of those who need them without pauperizing the needy. Here is a problem that is worthy of the thought of the best minds.

Many suggestions have been made as to how to deal with this matter but experimenting is difficult and very few problems are solved without actual experiment. Immediately a suggestion is made to conduct an experiment, very keen opposition develops and the experiment is quashed.

ANOTHER GERMAN CRISIS

Recently there was a crisis in German affairs when serious opposition was offered to the re-election of President von Hindenburg. Today there is a cabinet crisis caused by the resignation of Chancellor Bruening and the taking over of the conduct of affairs by a less moderate leader.

Many people are watching Germany as one of the danger spots of the world or from other points of view as the possible salvation of the world. In any event we can look to Germany to keep us interested for some time to come.

CHURCHILL AND PRINCE RUPERT

There is much in common in the situation of Churchill and Prince Rupert. Both are new ports and both aspire to be grain shipping ports. Each has an elevator, modern and with the usual facilities for cleaning and drying grain.

Both Churchill and Prince Rupert have certain strategic advantages but they are to a large extent offset by the fact that there are established routes for grain shipping and that it is difficult to divert from those routes.

For the second season the federal government, under pressure from the prairies, has backed the Hudson Bay route by removing entirely the port and elevator charges at Churchill as an inducement to ship that way. Prince Rupert never had any such inducement offered by the government, either present or past. The port has had to fight its own way without aid and the situation is anything but encouraging.

Today Prince Rupert is at a point where mature consideration should be given and this consideration should be followed by action. The policy of laissez faire must give place to such action as will bring about a change. The elevator was built by the people of Canada for use as a terminal shipping port and not a storage house. The will of the people has been defeated by various interests and the port has had to suffer as a result.

Canadian National Report Brought Down—Slim Attendance as End of Session Approaches—Prorogation By Deputy Governor General

There is an air of excitement among the members as the end of the session draws nigh and many of the members are busy packing up. An uneasy feeling prevailed in the House when the report of the committee on the Canadian National Railway affairs was read and moved for adoption. Had any discussions of a political nature started at this stage no one could have forecast how long such discussions might have lasted. The report, which was unanimous, subjected the directors to some criticism for allowing the purchase of a home in Montreal for Sir Henry Thornton which will cost some $200,000. The expense account of officials was also criticized. They were also asked to reduce salaries on the higher officials and, in the matter of pensions, to have these reviewed as it had been brought out in the committee that excess pensions were being paid and some pensions that ought not to have been paid at all.

The Prime Minister intimated that it had been arranged that the House should meet on Saturday and that we would sit from 11 to 6 in the evening. He also announced that the government of Canada had no intention whatever of entering into any negotiations of trade with Soviet Russia. He took the occasion to notify this on account of an article which had appeared in the press to the effect that such negotiations were under way. He declared this was not true or correct.

There were quite a number of bills passed through and then, in the evening, Post Office estimates were again before the House and again it was Quebec night. The members from that province occupied the time of the House up to the hour of 11 o'clock. However, it was with a sigh of relief that, just before the House rose, all estimates in this department were rushed through which will put an end to further acrimonious accusations being made from the members representing the province of Quebec.

Saturday, May 21—Judging from the slim attendance in the House, it is evident that many members have departed for home. The greatest number I counted in the House at one time was 60 and, at another period of the day, some 28 members were in their places. It is interesting to know that 20 members form a quorum of the House and, if there are less than 20 members at any time, the House can be adjourned.

A very important measure to municipalities was introduced in connection with the Soldier Settlement Board whereby the government could transfer to the provinces or municipalities lands which were obtained by the Soldier Settlement Board and which are not under contract of sale to any person. It also provides for the payment of taxes, etc. This, to me, seems a very commendable measure and one the municipalities of British Columbia have long asked for. Official estimates came up before the House and practically the whole afternoon session was taken up by Quebec members which, to me, seems quite a waste of time, being mostly political recriminations from members on both sides. Even though the House is anxious to hurry along, we had to sit patiently and listen to stories of whales and fishing in the Hudson Bay given by members who represent these northern constituencies and then we witnessed one of those incidents which makes me sometimes ponder on our Parliamentary affairs.

Just as the House was about to rise at 6 o'clock, at the suggestion of the Prime Minister, the chairman of the committee started in on the estimates on railway earnings and, inside of some five minutes, millions of dollars affecting every department of the government were passed through, just as fast as the chairman called the number of the item. It is during these times you have to be on your toes—that is if you have some matter of importance you want to speak of in any of the items called because, if you do not rise quickly or are not in your seat, your chance of speaking at the time is gone.

One learns very easily that the House of Commons, besides being a distinguished assembly, is at times also a cold-blooded assembly as well.

In the evening, after the House rose, there was much bustle in the rooms as it was expected that the House would prorogue some time early the following week. Monday, May 23—This was entirely a day of legislation—some very important and lengthy bills being debated and passed, two of them affecting insurance and taking up the greater part of the day. It is doubtful if the majority of the members fully comprehended the various clauses in these bills but we were forced to accept them trusting that the government knew what it was doing in this regard.

The bill in connection with the amendments to the Civil Service Act created a great deal of discussion and it was evident that a great difference of opinion existed among the various members of the House. Personally, I regard it as a retrograde step to go back to the appointment of postmasters by patronage. The appointment of all postmasters, where the annual revenue of such post offices does not exceed $3000, is now entirely in the hands of the minister instead of under the Civil Service Commission. I have my own opinion as to how these appointments will be made.

Under the estimates of the Indian Department, the question of radium was discussed at some length, it being pointed out that now was the time for the government to control these deposits of radium ore.

For some reason, known only to the government, the report of the committee on gasoline prices had been left on the table without its adoption being moved and, so as to bring the whole subject of gasoline prices before the House for discussion, Ed. Young, Weyburn, although not a member on that committee, moved that it be now adopted. He made it quite clear that he was not in favor of the report but was taking this method so as to bring the matter up for discussion.

From about 11 o'clock to 12 the sales tax was debated, Mr. Rhodes, minister in charge, making some amendments thereto. He mentioned the fact in regard to the three percent impost tax that the government expected a revenue from this tax of $16,000,000. He stated that, in regard to the six percent sales tax and the three percent impost tax, the government needed revenue and these were the two methods of obtaining same. The bill passed at the stroke of 12.

Tuesday, May 24—Although this was Victoria Day and a holiday throughout the city, the House sat as usual, meeting at 11 o'clock in the morning. The expected discussion on gasoline prices did not materialize. Mr. Young, the day previous, had been asked by the Prime Minister to wait until today before he brought the matter up and, when he did so, one of the members moved that the House proceed with the orders of the day which was tantamount to cutting down all discussions on this important question. This precipitated a vote and the move to discuss the question of gasoline was defeated 83 to 43. Practically every Conservative member and a few Liberals voted with the majority and it looked to me as if the oil companies had quite a few sympathizers in the House.

The Civil Service Bill was passed but, before passing, necessitated voting again—to vote in the House takes up 15 to 20 minutes' time. The bill was adopted 77 voting for, 20 against. Before the hour of noon three bills were introduced for the final reading and passed, namely: The Customs Tariff; The Income War Tax Act and Excise Act.

On the floor of the House, Mr. Gardiner moving a motion asking that a royal commission be appointed in regard to the whole question, particularly relating to the jurisdiction of water power, as between the province of Quebec and the Dominion government, and also advocating that a federal hydro commission be set up to control the electrical energy generated.

At 10 o'clock a resolution was introduced by the United Farm group asking, among other things, for an export market board to control inflation, etc. The resolution was advocated as being in the interests of agriculture throughout the country.

It was pointed out that, in some districts in Alberta, eggs had dropped as low as three cents per dozen and butter had fallen in two years from 39c to 17c per pound.

The House rose at 11 o'clock with this matter still to be continued on the following day.

Wednesday, May 25—The general feeling is now that the House will close either today or on Thursday, the numbers getting gradually less as the closing day draws near.

Up to the hour of 1 o'clock matters affecting agriculture generally were still being discussed. Hon. Mr. Weir, minister of agriculture, being the last speaker, endeavored to show the House how the tariff had really helped the prices on farm products. It is difficult to visualize how prices on agricultural products to the farmers could be less than they are at present.

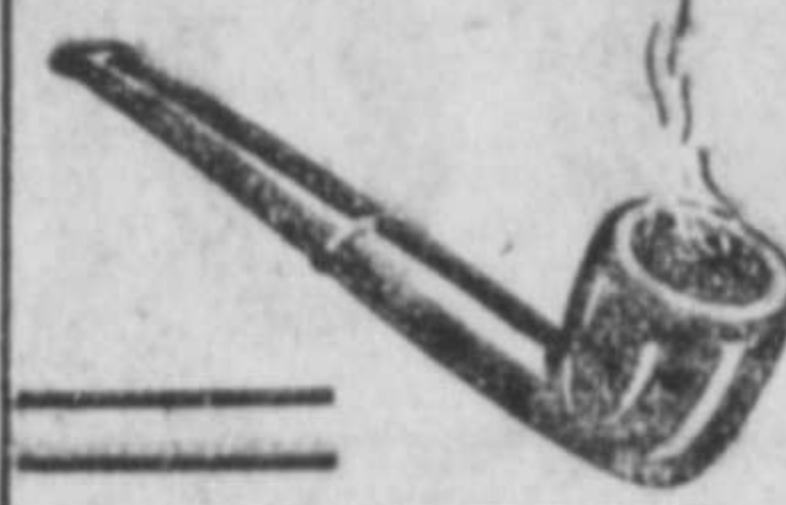

When the House met at 3 p.m. the discussions on agriculture were continued, some four speakers occupying the time of the House. To me it seemed there was a great deal of repetition in many of the remarks made regarding agriculture and I believe I am safe in saying that the question of agriculture throughout Canada has been spoken to more often than any other one subject and that may well be, considering the acute conditions prevailing among the farmers. No property can be looked for until this one class of producers is in a better position than it is in at the present time. One wonders, however, just why this motion should be introduced on what is practically the last day of the session as this could easily have been done many weeks ago when more time and more members could have had an opportunity to participate. Vote on amendment was 47 for, 17 against.

Thursday, May 26—We met for prorogation and await the arrival of His Excellency the Deputy Governor General with a flare of trumpets and a salute of 21 guns at 11:45 a.m., this ending the third session of the seventeenth Parliament.

Vancouver Man Suffered For Twelve Years

Charles J. Payne, a well-known citizen of Vancouver, B. C., recently said: "Stomach trouble and constipation had been pulling me down for 12 years. I'd be so nervous all night I couldn't get to sleep for hours. My circulation was poor and I had severe rheumatic pains in my knee. The relief I got from Sargol and Pills was amazing. I now eat anything I want. I sleep soundly and the pains and numbness have gone. But the greatest blessing of all is my relief from constipation. I want all my friends to know what this truly wonderful medicine has done for me."

Playing the first round of the football series, Greenville defeated the Kiltladamiks Y. M. C. A. by one goal to nil. In the final game with the Sons of Kincolith the score was the same. Thus the football cup is added to the Greenville trophies this year.

LUCKY WIN IN SOCCER

Home Oil Bucked Play Last Evening To Score Two to One Victory Against Canadian Legion

Bucking the trend of play all the way but aided somewhat by poor finishing on the part of the losers who lost chance after chance to score, Home Oil was lucky last night in defeating Canadian Legion 2 to 1 to register its first victory of the season in the Senior Football League. Possibly there has never been seen a soccer match here in which a losing team had so much of the play with such little success in scoring. Home Oil was bucking the tide at practically all stages of the game and the victory was an extremely fortunate one.

With weather conditions favorable, a good-sized crowd of soccer fans witnessed the match. G. A. Edgcombe was referee, Hested and DeJong acted as linesmen and the line-ups were as follows:

Canadian Legion—S. Gurvich; Miles and Gomez; Greer, S. Currie and Haddon; Baptie, Bussanich, J. Murray, Morrison and D. Gurvich.

Home Oil—Moxley; Bye and J. Currie; Webster, Howe and Murray; Fisher, Nakamoto, Davies, Palmer and Marshall.

The Canadian Legion had it all over the Home Oil in the first half. The ex-service men, on at least four occasions, faced an open goal mouth with no goalkeeper in sight but either hit the uprights or the crossbar. After twenty-two minutes of play, Nakamoto got away and gave the Home Oil its first goal when he found the Legion defence napping. It was a combination of bad luck and indifferent finishing that prevented the Legion from having a substantial lead at half time instead of a score of 1 to nil against.

Second Half

The Legion worked hard in the second half in the attempt to get the equalizer and again had control of the play. Baptie made two good shots but failed to score. Although the Legion was continuing to have the majority of the play, after 29 minutes Fisher got away on the right wing for the Home Oil and scored with a good shot after breaking through. The Legion continued the attack and John Murray put through a good shot which went straight to Moxley who cleared without difficulty. Webster was adjudged to have handled the ball in the penalty area and the spectators were astounded when a foul was awarded against Murray who was banished from the field for disputing the decision. Six minutes from full time, Charlie Baptie found the goal and sank a good one for the Legion.

Howe and Webster were the pick of the Home Oil team while Lenton was best served by Baptie and Sam Currie. On the whole, it was a fast enough game.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism. Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication. Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

DOES YOUR BUSINESS NEED A DOCTOR?

Now, Mr. Businessman, have you ever tried to diagnose the reason for that sudden drop in profit over the figures of "last month?" If the temperature of your business alarms you there is no need for you to lose any sleep—the remedy is simple.

ADVERTISE

"Ah!" you say, "But that's all very well. I'm only a small man and can't afford it." That's the reason the small man remains a small man. The big men in business today did not become big by hiding their light under a bushel, they advertised, and Advertised, and ADVERTISED. Advertising is as necessary to a "sick" business as the doctor's services are to a sick person. And it will find the money to pay its own bills, if done judiciously, from the increased volume of increased profits. Start with a small appropriation

Strong Position Shown By Bank Of Montreal

Total Assets Stand at $748,612,481—Liquid Assets $385,483,225, Equal to 57.34% of Liabilities to Public

Ready ability to meet rapidly changing conditions and at the same time maintain its uniformly strong position is shown by the Bank of Montreal in its statement of the affairs of the bank as at April 30. The statement, which is the semi-annual one, appeared in this paper yesterday and is presented in an easily understandable form. It shows total assets at $748,612,481, compared with $786,897,706 a year ago. Of this amount quickly available assets are $385,483,225, equal to 57.34% of all liabilities to the public.

Included among these liquid assets is cash in vaults and in Central Gold Reserves amounting to $78,491,119, equal to 11.67% of public liabilities.

Every section of the statement reflects a policy of maintaining a strong liquid position through a period of unusual trade conditions and also indicates the readiness with which the bank will be able to meet any demands that may develop from its customers.

Liquid Position Strong

The most important change in liquid assets is represented by an increase in government and other bonds and debentures to a total of $228,901,146. These are recognized as gilt-edged securities, the greater portion of which mature at early dates. Included among them are Dominion and provincial government securities of a value of $174,730,246, up from $149,229,626 a year ago. Call loans outside of Canada are $20,262,324 and are secured by bonds, stocks and other negotiable securities of greater value than the loans and represent moneys quickly available without any disturbing effect on conditions in Canada.

Call loans in Canada secured by bonds and stocks of greater value at current quotations than the loans stand at $5,645,610, as compared with $11,347,487 at the same date last year.

The total of current loans made to manufacturers, farmers, merchants and others, is reported at $336,572,388.

Deposits have held up remarkably well under prevailing conditions. Total deposits are reported at $626,701,081.

Total assets of $748,612,481 are available to meet payment of liabilities to the public of $672,310,882, which leaves an excess of assets over these liabilities of $76,301,599.

Profit and Loss Account

The profits for the six months amounted to $2,589,292.70 as compared with $2,771,753.71 for the corresponding period last year. The profits were distributed as follows: dividends, $2,160,000.00; provision for taxes Dominion government, $228,316.28, and reservation for bank

BEN HUR IS HERE

Famous Silent Picture Loses None of Its Glamor in New Talking Version

The new talking version of "Ben Hur," the splendid and spectacular silent picture of a few years ago, is well worth seeing at the Capitol Theatre at the middle of this week. The technique of picture-acting has changed considerably since the development of the talkies and the change is apparent in this picture but the glamor of "Ben Hur" is undiminished. Many who have seen it in the silent version will enjoy this classic of Biblical history with its added sound and dialogue. Children who are old enough to appreciate it will find it thrilling.

The cast of the talking picture is the same as that of the silent and includes Ramon Novarro as Ben Hur, Kathleen Key, Betty Bronson, Francis X. Bushman and Carmel Myers.

Constable G. S. Blaney of the city detachment of the provincial police is confined to his home with recurrence of war ailment. He is reported to be doing well and is expected to be around again in about a week's time.
