Over $12,000 Hoisted On To City As Result of Budgetary Change

Reply Received From Minister of Finance Regarding Payments For Institutional Services and Mothers' Pensions

The city clerk is in receipt of a communication from Hon. J. W. Jones, minister of finance, in which it is intimated that costs of social services, transferred at the recent session of the Legislature from the province to the municipalities, will involve some $12,040.32 annually as far as Prince Rupert is concerned, this figure being based on the present basis of use of these services. Mr. Jones, in replying to an inquiry from the city, tabulates these costs as follows:

Mental hospitals, 32 inmates, $5,-840.
Boys' industrial school, eight inmates, $2,336.
Girls' industrial school, two inmates, $584.
Tranquille Sanitarium, three inmates, $602.25.
Mothers' pensions, 10 pensioners, $2,678.07.

USE OF ELEVATOR

The local grain elevator is still being used only as a storehouse by the Wheat Pool. It was filled with grain in the autumn and since that has been inactive. Now the time is coming when the grain will doubtless be shipped out in readiness for next year's crop.

In view of the Pool lease ending at the close of the coming grain season it is probable that some steps will be taken to see that the original purpose of the elevator is carried out. The Pool is no longer the dominant factor that it was a few years ago. It set out to secure complete control of the marketing of Canadian grain and made gestures toward the formation of a world pool which would control the price of wheat in all the great producing countries. That purpose has failed and today the pool, while still actively interested in grain marketing, is not by any means a dominant factor.

Whether it will be wise to continue to lease the local house to the Pool will be matter for mature consideration. In any case it will not be done without some better protection for the port of Prince Rupert being given than was incorporated in the present lease.

The local chamber of commerce is expecting the head of the grain board here very soon and will go into the matter thoroughly with him. Hon. H. H. Stevens has already discussed the local situation with him and it has been aired in the House of Commons by the local member. Something will certainly be done next year to relieve the situation. Possibly the Pool, in view of the possibility of losing the lease, will make a better showing here during the coming season.

DO IT YOURSELF

The city of Grand Forks recently wanted some money for civic purposes. The amount to be raised was $45,000 but the money markets of the world seemed closed against them, just as they are for the time being closed against Prince Rupert. But that little thing did not worry the Grand Forks people. They were not going to be kept down by exterior forces. They issued their bonds for the same price paid for provincial securities and the citizens bought them all. A small city with the pluck, co-operative spirit and wealth necessary for such action cannot be held back by anything.

CORRECT ATTITUDE

Whenever a new industry is proposed for Prince Rupert, the critics set to work to find reasons why its operation would be impossible or at least extremely difficult. We contend that this attitude is not the correct one. The attitude to adopt is to try to find out how such an industry might succeed and to speak favorably of it instead of making objections.

Just now there is a move to establish a sulphite mill in Rupert and while, everyone is for it heart and soul, there is a section of the community looking for the lions in the path. They may possibly be there, but why draw attention to them? We all want the industry, for it would benefit everyone. If we are to get it, let us adopt the right attitude toward it, the attitude of sympathetic encouragement. After all, none of us are pulp experts, so the only thing to do is to leave the matter to the experts and to the financiers and help them all we can by word or action.

We think this is an ideal location for such an industry. If any think otherwise we suggest it would be much better to leave their objections unstated. There are always doubters in regard to every proposal. Many thought we could not get a grain elevator and there are some today who express themselves as doubtful if the elevator now here can ever be operated to capacity. When the pulp mill is being built, the wise ones will say it cannot pay and when it begins to pay they will prophesy that pretty soon we shall see what will happen.

We are all for the pulp mill. Let us forget to be critical and speak optimistically of a new industry that will mean so much to the city when it comes.

A Week's Doings at Parliament

By Tom Reid, M.P.

Beauharnois Has Financial Difficulties—Censure Vote Fails—House Prepares to Hear Budget

Monday, April 4

It is remarkable how few members come down in time for prayers. One can only hazard a guess as to whether they have lost faith in prayer or consider the matter as merely a perfunctory one. I happened to go up in the galleries and the thought strikes one on looking down on the members of the House that they do not seem as important personally when grouped together as when seen individually on some platform. At least that is the thought that went through my mind as I looked down on them from the strangers' gallery on Monday.

Proceedings on Monday were somewhat varied. There is a point in the proceedings of Parliament called the orders of the day and it is when the Speaker reaches this point that members are allowed to ask questions of the government. The Speaker is usually very alert at this time because many members would take undue advantage by reading long letters and paper reports before asking their question, all of which is frowned upon by the Speaker.

Mr. Mackenzie King, Leader of the Opposition, elicited a statement from the Minister of Finance that the budget would be brought down on Wednesday. The Premier also made a statement, in reply to a question, in connection with the Beauharnois Power Company, which seems to be in some difficulties regarding finances and which is at the moment undergoing some changes in regard to that matter.

After the orders of the day had passed, the House proceeded to discuss the amendment which had been introduced some weeks ago by the Honorable Peter Heenan, ex-Minister of Labor, with the object of censuring the government in respect of unemployment. The House divided on the amendment, 26 in favor and 61 against, and it was remarkable in the fact that many members withdrew from the chamber, including the independent group, Labor, United Farmer and some Liberal members. The House then went into committee of supply which to many members means a dull House, and, generally speaking, it is only those who are interested in some items who stay and listen to the debates. When the House is in committee a member can speak as often as he likes on any item. After recess, renewed discussion took place on the measure to reduce wages and salaries by 10%. Two members representing the Ottawa district being the principal participants. The senior member, Mr. Chevrier, moved an amendment which was rejected by a vote at 10:40 p.m., after which the House adjourned for the day.

Tuesday, April 5

It was rather a dull day throughout, the House being practically in supply. It is interesting to note that the House of Commons is not much different from the ordinary municipal council in the matter of voting of monies for various projects, in that it is sometimes the smaller amounts that can make the most discussion. At times an item of a thousand dollars will delay the proceedings of the House for some considerable time, while millions will be passed through before you have time to wink. The greatest discussion in the matter of supply centred around the item in connection with pension expenditure, and the Honorable Dr. Murray MacLaren, who is the minister in charge of this department, received a great deal of advice and very many complaints regarding the matter of pension cases, especially in regard to the delay which has arisen in connection with these. It was pointed out to him that some thirty thousand cases await decision. A great deal of criticism was also levelled against commission counsel, who, after an award has been made by the tribunal board, appeal this to the Appeal Court in an endeavor to have the decision reversed. It was the general opinion of the House that this was an iniquitous system and should be cut out entirely and all were agreed that it never was the intention of Parliament that the government should appeal against any returned man who had been given a decision by the pension board. It is noteworthy that this was one of the questions from which politics were entirely absent, members on all sides being agreed as to the injustices at present occurring and being further agreed that steps should be taken immediately to remedy and adjust these defects which are, without doubt, working great hardships on numbers of those who have given of their services in the country's hour of need.

SPENDING TO SAVE .. THROUGH

Advertising

Not many of us, these days, are troubled with so much money that we cannot spend it. But we are interested in spending the money we have, to get the most out of it.

One way—and not a new way, either—is to make a budget. Put down, week by week, the money that comes in. Put down beside it, week by week, the money that goes out. So much for food, so much for clothing, so much for rent. So much for giving, and for luxuries.

Where Advertising Helps

It won't always be easy, of course, to stay within the budget. That's where advertising helps you. Advertisements in this newspaper tell you how much rugs, butter, breakfast foods, dishes, homes, automobiles will cost, before you go shopping! They point out ways to save money. They show you how to cut a little here, a little there. And each day, they tell about new inventions, new products, new ways of doing things, that help make this life of ours very much worth living!

VALLEY TO BE SOUGHT

Ansel Eckmann, Well Known Aviator, to Lead Expedition Into Stikine

Gold is Object

Has Been Rainbow Dream of Prospectors For Many Years

Aviators will attempt to penetrate the Alaskan wilderness this spring to re-locate the fabled "Valley of Gold," said to be one of the richest mineralized areas in the north.

An expedition is now being organized, headed by Ansel Eckmann of Seattle, well known in Prince Rupert, who last summer followed the Stikine River in British Columbia many miles to its forks and came almost within sight of the famous valley.

The so-called Valley of Gold has been the object of constant search since the days of the Russian occupancy of Alaska. It has been the rainbow dream of all prospectors and several lives have been laid down in search for it.

Fame of the valley first spread when Indians brought great nuggets into the trading post at Sitka, then occupied by Russians. The Indians spent freely in those days and boasted of having unlimited supply of gold in the land where they came from. No sooner had the Russians purchased the gold from the Indians by exchange of trinkets than the natives would return to their valley and then come back again with more gold.

Tales of Wealth

Tales of fabulous wealth reached the ears of the czar, who ordered that a concentrated search be made for the valley. The Indians were trailed by scouts, but their tracks were soon lost. However, the report was current that the Indians had travelled up the Stikine River in canoes.

A detachment of Russian soldiers were detailed to search the headwaters of the Stikine but they never returned. It is believed that the soldiers were attacked by the Indians in ambush and massacred and that the Indians, fearful of the white man's revenge, decided never to return to the Sitka post.

It was not until 1898 that reports of the mysterious treasure valley were again brought to life when Indians began to bring pouches full of gold to the trading post at Wrangell. A white man learned the secret of the gold's source and made one trip to the place, returning with a rich store of the metal. He organized an expedition to make a more extensive search of the valley, but his party disappeared and was never reported.

Last summer while in Alaska Eckmann received a rough sketch of the Valley of Gold from an aged Indian. In his plans he followed the Stikine many miles inland. He turned south and followed the river between towering cliffs until he reached a snug lake where it would be virtually impossible to land unless entry was made over the ice in winter.

Eckmann believes that he has found the lake where lies the wonderful valley. Several adventurous flyers are planning to join his expedition for an extensive search for the gold this summer. Failing that, a party may be landed on the lake during the winter and continue their search in the following spring.

Pastor Draws Large Crowd

There was a large congregation at evening service yesterday in First Presbyterian Church when Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth B.A., the pastor, spoke in an interesting and thoughtful way on the subject of "How Shall We Think of Faith Healing?" The pastor treated the subject under three classifications: first, the question of justification in praying for bodily healing, second, differentiation between human and divine healing, and, third, the extent faith plays in the healing of disease.

PHILLIES IN LEAD

Quaker Town Supreme in Both National and American Baseball Leagues

PHILADELPHIA, April 18:—Philadelphia reigns supreme in both major leagues as a result of week-end play.

The Athletics won both Saturday and Sunday over the Washington Senators, who had been hitherto unbeaten, and toppled Walter Johnson's crew from the top to third place.

In the National League, the Phillies, although losing their first game of the season on Saturday when they were shut-out by the Brooklyn Dodgers, came back yesterday to shut-out Brooklyn and retain the exclusive leadership.

The Chicago Cubs are in second place in the National League as a result of defeating the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday.

Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees, as a result of victories on Saturday over Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox respectively, are tied for second place in the American League.

Results of week-end play were as follows:

SATURDAY SCORES

American League
St. Louis 2, Detroit 3.
Cleveland 1, Chicago 5.
New York 14, Boston 4.
Washington 2, Philadelphia 4.

National League
Boston 5, New York 4.
Philadelphia 0, Brooklyn 5.
Pittsburgh 0, Cincinnati 5.

SUNDAY SCORES

American League
St. Louis 1, Detroit 0.
Philadelphia 11, Washington 3.
Cleveland 6, Chicago 1.
New York-Boston, postponed on account of cold weather.

National League
Chicago 4, St. Louis 1.
New York 6, Boston 0.
Philadelphia 2, Brooklyn 0 (11 innings).
Pittsburgh 4, Cincinnati 3.

Made Perfect Score

Irene Knox, Baltimore sharpshooter, knows her bulseyes all right. She scored 599 out of 600, tried again and got a perfect total.

CONSENT TO JUDGMENT

Counsel for defendant consented to judgment with costs this morning in the County Court case in which J. R. Mitchell et al were suing A. Richmond for $98. T. W. Brown acted as counsel for plaintiff while W. O. Fulton appeared for defendant.

A Difficult One To Take

Spectacular action is displayed as Captain Barord of the United States army Olympic team takes Suzanne over a difficult three-bar hurdle at Fort Rosecrans, California, where they are training.

Winter Sports in Prince Rupert

SKI-ING ON MOUNT OLDFIELD

By Dr. H. O. Johnsen

Ski-ing is one of the finest forms of winter outdoor recreations. And its popularity as a winter sport here in Canada has in recent years grown tremendously as every year an increasing number of lovers of the great outdoors takes up this wonderful and thrilling sport.

For example, the Ottawa Ski Club ten years ago had only 33 members. The membership today numbers 2,300. And that is only one of the several Ski Clubs in the Capital.

In Vancouver there are now at least three ski clubs, with their ski camps on Grouse Mountain and Hollyburn Ridge.

It, therefore, is surprising to find that, here in Prince Rupert, we have as fine a place for ski-ing as you can wish for. In fact, it can be favorably compared with the ski-ing grounds of many of the most famous winter resorts in Norway but nobody seems to know about it.

I came to Prince Rupert in January last year and, although I was told there were no possibilities for ski-ing here, I wanted to find out for myself. So I went up on Mount Oldfield several times during the winter and spring and was surprised to find an abundance of snow up there even quite late last spring.

Now, last year we had unusually little snow so there should be plenty of snow on Mount Oldfield every winter for ski-ing.

Should Be Ski Club

I, therefore, think Prince Rupert should have its Ski Club, with a club camp on a suitable place on the ski-trail leading to the top of Mount Oldfield.

When speaking of ski-ing, most people seem to think it a very dangerous sport with fractured legs or even worse accidents liable to happen at any time. Of course, like all sports, ski-ing has its risks. But I have seen the thousands of members of the ski clubs I used to belong to go ski-ing Sunday after Sunday with hardly any worse accident than, perhaps, a sprained ankle resulting from all the unavoidable bad falls during a winter season.

Of course, most of the people here know about ski-ing only from what they have seen in pictures at the show and these have been pictures from jumping contests.

But jumping is only a branch of the ski sport and, just like high-diving or fancy-diving, is taken up only by a small number of the people who find pleasure and recreation in the swimming sport. Only few of the skating enthusiasts go in for jumping on skates, so only a very limited number of the members of a ski club will take up ski-jumping, largely due to the fact that jumping requires special skills, not suited for any other form of skiing.

The most popular forms of skiing are cross country-ski-ing, mountain climbing on skis and downhill racing which furnish thrills ample to satisfy even the most venturesome.

Had Splendid Sport

I have certainly had a lot of splendid skiing on Mount Oldfield this winter and think it is a shame nobody takes advantage of the opportunities for a wonderful winter sport we have so close at hand.

Now, the old trail is, of course, no good for ski-ing, as everyone who has been up there can easily imagine, but I have this winter been using another trail that is splendid for ski-ing, both easy to get up and giving plenty of speed and thrills when racing down.

Of course, this trail can be marked up and a little clearing and a few improvements made so as to not make it too difficult to follow.

Now, in order to give people an idea of the wonderful ski-ing grounds we have right here on Kalen Island, Mayor Orme has kindly promised to exhibit some pictures from ski-ing trips to the top of Mount Oldfield.

Those pictures might as well have been exhibited as ski-ing pictures from some famous Norwegian winter resort, but they are all taken right here on Kalen Island.

Take a look at the pictures, and if you are interested, send me a note and tell me so, and give your name and address and, if I find there is enough interest in it, we will try and get a ski club started.

BURNSLAKE

The Burns Lake and District Board of Trade has had 1000 folders printed containing information of interest to settlers thinking of coming to this district to take up land.

While driving a load of wood on Monday last on Burns Lake, the ice suddenly gave away and Thomas Radley, his team and load were precipitated into the icy water. There were no ill effects following the cold bath.

PRINCE GEORGE

There has been cooler weather here during the past week with touches of frost in the evenings.

The Northwest Telephone Co., which controls the local telephone system, has assured the city council that no increase will be made in rates here for a period of five years at least.

The city council is considering building a sidewalk and roadway on Wells Street which would open up the Crescent area of the city which has long been clamoring for direct access to town.

Owing to interference with surrounding citizens and property, it may be necessary to prohibit the use of Duchess Park here for further playing of baseball games.

Smart...

To be truly smart one must have a certain keen perception which enables them to recognize at a glance that which is not only the vogue at the moment, but which also has real value... that is why so many of the smart, younger set choose Dixie Cigarettes. Those with an eye for smartness recognize a finer appearance... those with a taste for a cooler, sweeter, more fragrant mellowness realize how much more they receive when they smoke Dixie, Canada's Pleasure Smoke.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism. Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication. Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

CAME HERE VIA PEACE

Judge Howay Tells Vancouver
Transport Men How First Settlers Arrived on Coast

VANCOUVER, April 18—The first settlers on the mainland of B.C.
came to the coast by way of Peace River and the first man-built trail in the interior was cut from Fort St. James to Fort Mc-Leod to shorten the route from the Parsnip to the Fraser.

It was some time after that when Sir James Simpson made the obvious but then remarkable discovery that the distance from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific is considerably shorter than from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

"That is a discovery that the Board of Trade might well keep in mind. Too many have overlooked it since the days when the Hudsons Bay Company started bringing its furs to the coast and taking its supplies in from here," said Judge F. W. Howay of New Westminster in an interesting address before the Transportation and Customs Bureau of Vancouver Board of Trade. His subject was "Transportation Pioneering in B.
C."

The absorbingly interesting and romantic history of the Cariboo road formed the chief part of Judge Howay's notable address. He traced the various links of the road that succeeded the trails and recalled the succession of changes from packing by Indians to horsepacking, mule teams, camels, and then the wagons drawn by horses and oxen.

Tried to Use Engines

There was even an unsuccessful attempt to use steam traction engines brought out from Scotland.
But they were no faster and were much more expensive than horses and not one of them ever made the trip into the Cariboo.
Stage coach days were recalled in delightful anecdote.

It is a mistake to say that the old Cariboo road was built by the Royal Engineers, Judge Howay
said. They surveyed and planned the road and built two small sections, but only that.

To many it is still a mystery how the cables for the old Alexandra suspension bridge at Spuzzum were transported there. The fact is that the wire was taken up and the cables woven on the spot,
Judge Howay said.

A number of members of the New Westminster Board of Trade were guests at the luncheon, including President Archie Hoeg.
The head table was ornamented
with a model of the pioneer ss.
Beaver, lent for the occasion of the Hudson's Bay Company. Another relic of early days was a large model of the Vancouver Belle,
first schooner built on False Creek.

Mechanical Manicures Now

A machine that is touted to do everything a manicurist can, except make a date, was recently displayed at a convention of beauticians in Chicago. It shapes, files and polishes, but won't listen to your domestic troubles.

GOVERNING BY GANGS

Christian Science Monitor Comments on Lindbergh Kidnap-ing Case

Some months ago an English cartoonist pictured Al Capone in the act of overthrowing constitutional authority in the United States and himself entering the White House as head of the Government.
Such a view is, of course, an exaggeration of the extent to which gangsters rule America. But it is only an exaggeration; all the materials for the portrait exist in the American scene.

That is the unhappy fact, and two circumstances connected with the Lindbergh kidnapping have given public recognition to the power of the underworld. One is the popular credence given to the theory that Capone engineered this latest abduction and hopes to bargain with the Government, offering return of the child for his own release. The other is the fact that Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh have publicly commissioned two notorious gangsters as their agents to deal with the kidnapers. Both theory and fact offer sad commentary on the extent to which the government of the underworld has usurped the functions of lawful authority.

One reason this subterranean government is effective is that it practices law enforcement. Infringements are not tolerated.
Punishment is quick and sure.
Only when honest citizens inject some of the same efficiency into the police and the courts will they cease to be vassals of gangdom.

For vassals they are, in great or small degree. Every citizen pays taxes to gang government in the gigantic annual bill for crime.
And none is free from the threat of racketeering and violence—not even the gangster with his body-guards. Men, women and children are seized on the street and abducted from their homes.

No American but is potentially subject to a tyranny seldom exceeded by any despotism in history. If the Lindbergh baby was not immune, and if constituted authority has been unable to recover him, what is to assure ordinary folk? They can seek divine protection. And they can revolt against government. They can vote. They can interest themselves in ward politics. They can support honest police. They can purify and strengthen legitimate government.
Until they do, they can hardly call themselves free or self-governed.

CROSSING OF PATHS

Chance Meeting in B. C. Rockies
Has Sequel Later in Montreal

MONTREAL, April 18—Two men who crossed one another's path by chance last summer in the Rocky Mountain Canyon met again quite unexpectedly in Montreal recently.
They were Dr. Norman Henry, Philadelphia's director of public health, who was the first white man to cast eyes on the "sub-tropical valley" of British Columbia, and Rev. George Wolfendale, a Church of England missionary from Fort St. John in the Peace River District. Both visitors were lecturing in this city at the time of their meeting.

Mr. Wolfendale was returning from the most northerly part of his scattered parish last September when he met a young goldpanner near Gold Bar. They joined forces, paddled by raft a few miles down the Peace River and then found an abandoned boat.
They travelled on, balling as they went, but stopped at midnight and camped on the shore for the rest of the night. The missionary had a bag-pail, a large haversack and the gold-panner had only a little rice.
Next morning found them at the Canyon and witness the fortunate meeting with Dr. and Mrs. Henry and their party, which included 60 pack horses in the expedition.

"We were lucky in meeting the Henrys," said Mr. Wolfendale as he smilingly recalled the episode.
"They gave us their lunches which had been prepared that morning and I never tasted better. There were even chocolate bars in those lunches. We don't get them often in the north and how they were enjoyed," he said.

With a fair-sized list of passengers including a number of can-ner workers for the Naas River,
Union steamer Catala, Capt. A. E.
Dickson, arrived in port at 4:45 yesterday afternoon from the south and sailed at 9 p.m. for An-yox, Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow morning enroute back to Vancouver and waypoints.

"Atonement" Is Science Church Subject Sunday

The subject of the lesson-sermon in Prince Rupert Christian Science Society on Sunday was "Doctrine Atonement."

One of the Bible texts was:
"Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye love one another with a pure heart fervently." (1 Peter 1: 22.)

The lesson sermon also included the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:
"If Truth is overcoming error in your daily walk and conversation,
you can finally say, 'I have fought a good fight... I have kept the faith,' because you are a better man. This is having our part in the at-one-ment with Truth, and Love." (page 21).

NOTED baby specialists find that Carnation Milk (pure, unsweetened, evaporated) is easier to digest than raw, boiled or pasteurized milk; that it is rich in vitamins and other necessary food elements. Air-tight sealing keeps out all contamination. Being homogenized Carnation does better cooking, makes foods smoother and richer. Carnation is satisfactory, convenient and economical.
