KIDNAPPERS FEAR TRAP

Negotiations For Return of Lindbergh Baby Delayed But Success Expected

NORFOLK, Va., May 10:—The yacht Maroon, which negotiators for the return of Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., 20-month old son of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, have been using in meeting the kidnapers of the child, was held at its dock here yesterday while John Hughes Curtis was meeting an agent of the abductors.

The presence of two naval vessels near the scene off the Virginia coast where rendezvous have been held between negotiators and kidnapers caused the latter to be suspicious that a trap was being laid for them, it was stated.

Curtis has been endeavoring to assure the kidnapers that no trap is being laid and to arrange a new meeting place. Once this is done, the Maroon will make what is hoped will be her final trip.

Meantime, confidence is expressed that the baby is still alive and well and will be eventually restored to his parents.

NO WORD OF PAIR

Police Boat Had Not Returned Up to This Morning From Swanson and Berquist Search

There was no further word up to this afternoon as to the fate of Capt. Alfred Swanson and Hans Berquist, both veteran navigators of northern waters, whose gas-boat Myfanwy and dinghy were found adrift in the storm-swept waters of Chatham Sound north of Dundas Island on Sunday by the Port Simpson fish packer Taplow II and for whose safety fears are entertained.

The provincial police cruiser P. M. L. 8 left here yesterday afternoon to conduct a search for the two men and had not returned up to this afternoon nor had further word been received from her. Neither had any further word been received from other sources.

It was too rough on Sunday for the Taplow II to pick up the Myfanwy so it was left adrift after it was ascertained that no one was on board.

The only hope for Swanson and Berquist appears to be that they may be marooned on Zayas Island which they were believed to have been visiting.

Another theory is that the Myfanwy might have had engine trouble and that one of the two men might have gone over top outside to go to the engine room and slipped overboard in a rough sea, the other man taking to the dinghy in an effort to rescue him.

REPORT SATISFACTORY

The report of the special committee of the House of Commons seems to have been a very satisfactory one. It recommends a national system of broadcast, thus insuring that the powerful stations shall not get into foreign control. It would be unthinkable for an American or Mexican company to get control of a chain of Canadian broadcasting stations and thus control any propaganda which may be sent over the system. When Canadians need that, they can tune in to the U. S. stations.

CHANGE WELCOME

The change of administration in France will be welcomed by a great many countries. The former administrations have been strongly militaristic and have been effective in stopping advances in Europe toward disarmament. The fear of German militarism has impelled France forward with the result that Europe today is bristling with guns and loaded down with a burden of ammunition which is waiting to be used. Let us hope that the new Prime Minister of that country will make a decided change in French policy which will be beneficial to the whole world.

UNITED FOR CITY

Now that the civic flurry is over and everybody has had his say in regard to the financial condition of the city and the desirability of any particular kind of taxation, it might be well to forget the differences for the time being and unite on paying taxes and trying to improve the local condition. Much can be done through the efforts of the citizens. Some people tell us that mind is everything and material is non-existent. Others seem to indicate that there is nothing but materialism in the world. A third school of thought advocates a half-way policy, claiming that all matter is influenced by mind and that mind is also influenced by the condition of matter. Illustrations of the latter are seen in the condition of a man's mind when he is under the influence of liquor, or when his liver is out of order. It is also seen in the mental and moral condition of a people struggling against poverty.

It is certainly true that our mental condition can influence our business and also the business of the city. If we are always saying and telling everyone that our business is going to the dogs, it is likely the sheriff will be in charge pretty soon. If we put on a good face and keep cheerful, we shall be much more likely to win out and our customers will have greater confidence in us.

No Action Taken in Move to Have B. C. Telephone Co. Reduce Its Tolls

The city council took no action last night in regard to a resolution sent by the Nanaimo city council with a view to receiving endorsement from the Union of B. C. Collart who pointed out that Prince Rupert was not affected by the charges which were being complained of.

The new city garbage dump will be located along the Skeena River highway 200 yards this side of the city limits. It was decided by the city council last night. It has been necessary to move the dump from Park Avenue where the capacity has been exhausted.

OVERSHOES FOR PLANES

Swelling Rubber Cracks Off Ice and Frees Machine of Winter Burden

Rubber and air have been successfully combined to conquer that greatest foe of the airman, the ice which forms on the wings and surfaces of the plane, thereby destroying their flying qualities and causing dangerous forced landings. This "de-icer" is in reality a very simple affair, consisting of rubber coverings containing air tubes which are automatically inflated with compressed air in flight, expanding the surface under the ice formations and cracking the layer of ice into small particles, which are blown away in a rush of wind as the plane moves through the air. These coverings are often termed "rubber overshoes."

Three engineers recently installed the de-icing equipment on a large cabin transport plane, flown by Wesley L. Smith, chief pilot of Transcontinental & Western Air Transport.

At Newark, N.J., Pilot Smith went to 10,000 feet altitude to get an ice-bearing cloud, chased it out to sea, and plunged his plane through it. He reported that the ice which collected on the ship was all thrown off with the exception of a bit on the wireless antenna. The plane, with its de-icer equipment, is to be used regularly on the eastern division of Transcontinental Western Airlines.

American research along the "rubber overshoes" lines was started in 1922, but met with little success. Different fabrics were used to cover the wings, and many liquids were tried in a vain effort to prevent the formation of ice.

The Guggenheim Foundation at last entrusted the problem to Dr. William C. Geer of Ithaca, N.Y.

Experiments proved it impossible to impregnate the airplane surfaces with any solution that would wholly prevent ice formation and it was then decided that an ice-removing device of some sort would be necessary. A rubber covering seemed impractical to experiment with on airplanes without first submitting the product to laboratory tests.

Wind Tunnel

A refrigerated wind tunnel was then built in a factory where ice formations could be made and where the proposed product could be tested. In this tunnel it was possible to create a wind velocity in excess of 80 miles an hour and to lower the temperatures from freezing to zero. An airplane wing section was then installed and ice could easily be formed on its leading edges similar to formations occurring in actual flight.

A small "overshoe" section was manufactured and stretched over a model wing. Ice was formed on the surface, and as compressed air was forced into the tubes of the overshoe and then released, the 80-mile gale tossed the small chunks into the air, leaving the overshoe clean.

Following victory in the wind tunnel the research group turned its efforts to fire and strut appliances and in a short time had also conquered these problems.

Early in 1931 a test plane was completely equipped with overshoes. Tailored covers were snapped to the wings, other shoes were fastened to struts with zipper fasteners and others were laced on the tail surfaces.

While movie cameras clicked at Akron Airport and while aeronautical and technical men observed, the airplane circled into the clouds, picked up a heavy layer of ice and successfully eliminated it from all surfaces.

The motion pictures, made in flight under actual operating conditions, show graphically how successfully this new product has conquered the pilot's greatest foe.

PATTULLO SCOTTISH PLANE TO VANCOUVER

Vancouver Province Investigates Ancestry of Opposition Leader

It was a headline in our own reliable family newspaper which gave the news to the world, and what it said was this: "Duff Pattullo Comes of Good Old Scottish Stock." Thus dies a canard about our old friend Thomas Dufferin Pattullo. It seems that someone had been saying that the Hon. Leader of the Opposition derived from some un-British stock, that his traditions were not those of the English-speaking peoples.

We rejoice to know that it isn't so. It is comforting to discover, as the recent ancestral tracings reveal, that he is pure Scots, way back to the thirteenth century.

But how much better it is to know that Pattullo of Prince Rupert comes of the authentic Pittlochs of "Auld Auld Scotland." You can trace the name down all the storied generations of that splendid age, when the grim Highland Pattullo was rearing the cattle of the Lowland Tolmies. Pittullo became Pittulich, and then Pittillo, and then Pattullo, and so at last Pattullo.—Vancouver Province.

SALES TAX IS FAVORED

United States May Adopt It Following Failure of Other Revenue Measures

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 10.—The tide of opinion is rising again in favor of a sales tax in the effort to balance the national budget following rejection of other revenue measures. A sales tax of one percent on all articles with the exception of certain necessities seems to be meeting with favor. If the Senate would pass such a tax, it is believed it would be approved by the House. The Senate yesterday voted in favor of increasing the passport fee to $9.

Burns Lake Machine Being Overhauled—Follows New Route South

The Pokker seaplane, which Pilot E. P. H. Wells has been using throughout the past winter in transporting mining supplies from Burns Lake to the new McConnell Creek goldfield, is now in Vancouver to be overhauled at the Canadian Airways hangar before returning to Burns Lake after the break-up to resume service with floats instead of skis.

Flying from Burns Lake to Vancouver last week, Pilot Wells and Air Engineer W. Faulkner followed a route via Francois and Whitesail Lakes and over the Coast Range to Kimsquit and Ocean Falls. The flight was made non-stop in five hours.

Express Company Is Denied Relief

City Council Insists on Full Licence Fee of $100 Being Paid By Canadian Pacific

The city council last night declined to meet with a request from the Canadian Pacific Express Co. that it be given relief from the annual licence fee of $100 it is required to pay here. The company felt that it was entitled to this relief in view of the fact that business had decreased and, further, because of the fact that its competitor in the express business here is exempt from the licence under Dominion order-in-council.

Ald. Collart and Ald. Black expressed sympathy with the company's claim but Ald. Casey and Ald. Macdonald held the view that, when householders were having to pay more to the city, it was no time to consider reducing the charges for corporations such as these. Ald. Pillsbury pointed out that the Canadian National was paying the city $65,000 annually in taxes.

The request was filed.

McPhee Estate Is Discussed. After hearing a report from City Solicitor E. F. Jones on the status of the estate of the late Joseph N. McPhee, which was left to the city for the benefit of children's playgrounds, the city council last night decided to have a further report from the finance committee on the whole matter with a view to finally deciding whether the bequest should be accepted. The report of the city solicitor stated that there were $1720 debts which would have to be paid before the estate could be cleaned up. The city treasurer advised that the city was not in a position at present to meet this indebtedness. With the estate including houses that were bringing in $60 a month rent, Ald. Casey felt that the finance committee should go thoroughly into the matter and report back to the council. His resolution along this line was carried by the council.

Twenty Years Ago
In Prince Rupert

May 10, 1912

According to figures of the decennial census which have just been made public, Prince Rupert boasts a population of just a little under 5,000 souls.

J. M. Clancy, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, has advised the mayor and city council that he has been instructed by the general manager of the bank to make no further advances to the city without authority except such advances as will be paid from the sale of £200,000 of treasury certificates and funds in anticipation of taxes. The council will hold a special meeting tonight to consider the situation.

HALF TIME SUGGESTED

Ald. Casey Would Stretch Out City Employment As Far As Possible

The three major committees of the city council—finance, utilities and board of works—will report on the possibility of putting employees on half-time with a view to stretching out city employment as far as possible. A suggestion to this effect was adopted by the council last night on suggestion of Ald. Casey who found a seconder for his motion in Ald. Pillsbury.

Ald. Collart, chairman of the finance committee, and Ald. Macdonald, chairman of the utilities committee, did not believe that the suggestion could be put into effect in their already reduced departments but promised it would be considered.

Clean-Up Week To Be Declared

Suggestion of Medical Health Officer to Be Put Into Effect Next Week

The city council last night approved a suggestion, conveyed through Mayor Orme, from the medical health officer that the annual "clean up week" in the city be declared this spring. May 15 to 21 were designated as the dates.

Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, called on the Catala this afternoon for a two-weeks' trip to Vancouver.

SENATORS WIN AGAIN

Cleveland Indians Drop to Fourth Place—Reds Take Third Rank In National League

WASHINGTON, May 10.—While Washington Senators increased their margin of leadership to three full games, Cleveland Indians fell into fourth place behind the idle Detroit Tigers as a result of the only American League game played yesterday when Washington blanked Cleveland. Rain or cold weather prevented the playing of all other games in this league.

Cincinnati Reds displaced the Phillies from third place in the National League by taking opening honors in a crucial series at Cincinnati. It took 12 innings for the Boston Braves to eke out a close victory over the lowly Pittsburgh Pirates.

Yesterday's scores:
American League
Cleveland 0, Washington 3.
Other games postponed by rain and cold.

National League
Philadelphia 3, Cincinnati 4.
Boston 6, Pittsburgh 5 (12 innings).
Brooklyn 6, St. Louis 7.
New York-Chicago, rain.

SPORT NOTES

Despite the growing crop of contenders from the rising generation, Jack Dempsey, who lost his title several years ago to Gene Tunney, is ranked as the foremost heavy-weight of the present day, by none other than Tommy Burns, a former heavyweight champion himself and the only native-born Canadian to reach that exalted station. Burns, who succeeded to the title by right of conquest, following the retirement of the great Jim Jeffries, was in a reminiscent mood as he sat among his trophies of past days in the modest night club he now operates in New York "to keep him occupied" as he put it.

Burns, whose real name is Noah Brousseau, is 51 years old now and a trifle more rotund than in the days of his ring campaigns, but he appears far younger. He carries few of the scars of battle which rigors of the ring generally leave upon its gladiators. There is no flattened nose, no cauliflower ear, no disfigured face. The huge fists which delivered "KO" punches and earned him many decisions, may be a bit knotted, but the powerful body that carried him through scores of grueling battles, is still lithe; and he proves it by demonstrating the punches that won some of his major victories.

"Why do I think Dempsey is the best heavyweight of the present day?" Burns answered his own question. "Well, because he has proved himself to be one of the most aggressive, rugged and hardest punches the game has seen in some years. He is an excellent defensive fighter when such is called for in addition to the important quality of ring generalship and experience, which are necessary requisites of any title holder. I really think Dempsey could whip any one of the present crop of heavies, if he got down to serious business," Burns declared. "At the height of his career I think he could have easily taken Jack Johnson at his best, and the latter was probably one of the best defensive fighters the ring ever produced."

like a drowning man clinging to a floating spar. As a ruse I kept mumbling to Johnson to let me go and, when my head had cleared a bit, even appealed to the referee to break the negro's hold. All the time I was holding on for dear life and a crowbar wouldn't have separated us. It worked all right and when I had completely recovered my senses I waded into Johnson and took him by surprise. It he could have realized the actual condition I was in, he could have finished me right there."

Burns insisted, however, that if the police had not stopped the fight in the fourteenth round, he would have had a good chance to win. Despite the fact he weighed only 167 pounds against Johnson's 209 and the discrepancy in height and reach, Tommy said he never feared his towering opponent. "I felt as fresh as a daisy after the fight, drove my car 70 miles to my home and shaved myself," he said. "Johnson, on the other hand, was taken to hospital where it was found he had two broken ribs."

"What a difference this was to the fight I had with Fireman Jim Flynn in Los Angeles back in 1906! Without a doubt he was the toughest and gamest man I ever met. Flynn finally took the count in the fifteenth round and for 20 minutes his handlers worked over him before they brought him to. As for myself I was in pretty bad shape and collapsed when I got home. Furthermore I was glad to remain in bed all of the next day." And as a parting shot he observed: "Even if there are no outstanding heavyweights in the horizon today, don't let anybody tell you the fighting game is in eclipse and that the boys of today can't compare with the old time fighter. There is no yardstick by which such comparisons can be settled satisfactorily and take it from me a real champion will ultimately emerge who will be a credit to the game and the idol of the fans."

SOFTBALL

Referring to the fight in Sydney, Australia, on December 26, 1908, when he lost his title to Jack Johnson, Burns had the following to say: "Jack sure gave me a pretty bad lacing. As a matter of fact he almost flattened me in the first round with a sledge-hammer blow to the jaw. I was virtually out on my feet, saw the crowd moving in dizzy circles before my eyes. But I had sufficient sense to cling to Jack

Elks to Construct Booth on Grounds At Acropolis Hill

The city council last night gave the Elks' Lodge permission to erect a permanent refreshment booth near the grandstand on the Acropolis Hill grounds. The cost of the structure is estimated at $65 and, under the arrangement for its construction, the lodge will be entitled to charge $5 per day rent for use of the booth until the original cost has been covered after which the booth will be turned over to the city. The council also agreed to remove some rock which stands in the way of the booth, this work to cost about $2.

J. A. Morris, chairman of the Elks' building committee, appeared before the council and spoke briefly in support of the request.

RIGHT BACK TO WORK

« « « Those who insure their lives help indirectly to bring comfort and happiness to thousands of people, apart from the beneficiaries immediately concerned.

They provide largely the funds for public and private enterprise—railroads, farms, utilities, factories—all those collective activities which mean work and pay rolls.

Life insurance tolerates no idle dollars.

Its very existence depends on the prompt re-investment of every dollar received in premiums, for the benefit of the policyholders. These dollars, like water passing through a power house, turn the mighty turbines of trade and then, released, flow on to bring happiness to distant valleys.

While in trust with the insurance company, they turn the wheels of industry, and return at last to the policyholder or his beneficiaries, bringing to the aged or bereaved welcome freedom from financial hardship. Like mercy, life insurance "blesses him that gives and him that takes"—not only those whose future it safeguards but all whose fortunes are linked with those vital economic enterprises that it stimulates and maintains.

« The Sun Life Company has over Two Hundred Millions of dollars invested in Canadian enterprises alone. »

Waiting to Go Into Northern Gold Field—L. S. McGill Speaks in Vancouver—Prospectors For Stikine River

A. H. Daniels and Don Ray of Des Moines, Iowa, and C. M. Looney of Caspar, Wyoming, are among a number of mining men who are awaiting at Burns Lake aerial transportation to proceed into the new McConnell Creek gold fields where they plan on engaging in development of placer property. John Alto, Emil Maunu, John Annala and C. Matt of Trout Creek are also at Burns Lake enroute to the goldfields. It is expected that the most of these men will be able to get away from Burns Lake for the north within the coming week.

In a recent Vancouver Sunday Province appears an article by Lyster Mulvany, pioneer of Burns Lake, on the McConnell Creek gold country. The article deals with many of the outstanding personalities of the early days in that region.

L. S. McGill, manager of the Omineca Branch of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, will give an address in the Eagles' Hall in Vancouver on Wednesday night of this week on the subject of "Gold Mining in Omineca Mining Division." The address will be illustrated with lantern slides.

Included in the lists of successful students at the recent convocation of the University of British Columbia in Vancouver is that of Vladimir Okulitch who won his Master of Applied Science degree in geology with a thesis on "The Ore Deposits of the Eastern Side of the Coast Range Batholith with Special Reference to the Atlin District."

Fifty prospectors, who have been wintering at Seattle, have been assured of transportation into the country surrounding Telegraph Creek on the Stikine River in a search for gold. Capt. S. C. Barrington of the Alaska Grubstake Mining Co. has let a contract to the Barrington Transportation Co. to take the men north. They will be well supplied with provisions before being turned loose, it is stated.

Will Instruct Gold Panning

Classes to be Held by Resident Engineers at Various Points in Province

Prince George and Smithers are among six points in the province to which rockers are being sent by the Department of Mines so that would-be placer miners may be able to take lessons in gold-panning. Instructions in panning will be given by the province to all green hands at these several points.

The rockers to be used were designed by Major Nation of the Department of Mines at the request of Hon. W. A. McKenzie, minister of mines, when the latter's office was deluged by applications for free miners' licences from men who had no previous experience in gold panning.

Instruction in the use of the rockers will be given by the resident mining engineers.

Stewart Opposed to Move to Abolish Mining Engineers

STEWART, May 10.—The Stewart Board of Trade has passed a resolution strongly opposing any move that might be made to do away with resident mining engineers of the provincial government. Appreciation and commendation of the services to Dr. J. T. Mandy, resident mining engineer for northwestern mineral survey district, has been expressed.

SUSPENSION EXPLAINED

Liquor Control Board Writes City Council Regarding Royal Hotel Beer Parlor Licence

The city council was in receipt of an explanation at last night's meeting from the Liquor Control Board regarding the circumstances of the recent suspension of the beer parlor licence at the Royal Hotel here, the letter, after brief discussion, being filed. The communication explained that three convictions had been recorded against the Royal Hotel, once before Mr. Zarelli's ownership and twice since. The board deemed the circumstances of too serious nature to be dealt with lightly and a further conviction against the house might even jeopardize the existence of the licence. The letter pointed out that there were over 300 licensed beer parlors in the province and it was necessary that these be conducted in a fit and proper manner so they would not fall into disrepute. Last year there had been 22 licences suspended. The communication asked the council for co-operation in impressing upon Mr. Zarelli the seriousness of his situation and in seeing that the regulations were adhered to.

In commenting upon the communication which he considered a weak explanation, Ald. Casey charged the police with being out to "get" Mr. Zarelli. Such had been the nature of his punishment for voting against retention of the provincial police in the city. Ald. Casey declared "rule by malice" and declared that the real bootleggers of the city had been behind the Retail Merchants' Association in supporting the provincial police at the referendum held recently.

The letter from the Liquor Control Board was in reply to a request sent by the council to Victoria asking for leniency in considering Mr. Zarelli's application for reinstatement. It is now understood that the suspension will be for a period of three months.

A request from the Prince Rupert Branch of the Navy League of Canada for permission to hold a tag day on June 11 to raise funds for Sea Cadet work was granted by the city council last night.

INSPECTOR IS ASKED

Shareholders of Woodbine Mine to Petition Ottawa For Probe of Affairs

VANCOUVER, May 10.—Shareholders of Woodbine Gold Mining Company Ltd., at a meeting here, decided to ask the Secretary of State to appoint a competent inspector to investigate the affairs of the company and report thereon.

J. Edward Sears has been retained as solicitor to prepare the necessary application to the Secretary of State on behalf of the members.

Reason for this action, as outlined in the preamble of the resolution, is that, according to the text, "there is reason, on substantial grounds, to believe that material information regarding the affairs or management of the Woodbine Gold Mining Company Ltd. has been and is being concealed or withheld from shareholders, whose interests entitle them to the disclosure."

J. M. Harper was chairman and J. A. Edgcombe secretary of the meeting.

She read about a little book called "The Good Provider" and a marvelous way of making delicious things with St. Charles Evaporated Milk. Now her cakes are a joy to see—and taste. Her soups and creamed dishes would change any man's mind. And here's what she writes about Borden's
