VALUATIONS CONFIRMED

No Changes Made By Court of Revision in Assessments on City Land—Sessions End

Allowing not a single one of some 200 or more appeals against assessment valuations of city land, the court of revision on the municipal assessment roll completed its sessions in the council chamber yesterday afternoon and formally confirmed the roll. Appeals against the valuations were made largely on the grounds that the assessments were far in excess of saleable value of the land.

Assessments of the pontoons was removed from the dry dock assessment. The city solicitor advised the court that it was a debatable issue whether or not the city had authority to levy against such pontoons which were not affixed to the ground. In North Vancouver it was pointed out, they are not assessed.

SUN LIFE HEAD SEES PROSPERITY

Big Insurance Company Makes Notable Progress in Difficult Times

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—A gain of over thirty-six million dollars in assets; twenty-six million dollars paid or allotted during 1931 in dividends to policyholders, a substantial increase; over ninety-three millions in total payments to policyholders and beneficiaries, an increase of twelve millions over 1930; nearly five hundred and twenty-eight millions of new business; assurances in force passing the three billion dollar mark: these are a few of the high spots of the Sun Life report for the past year, presented at the sixty-first annual meeting of the Sun Life of Canada, the Dominion's largest insurance company, held at the head office here this week.

The financial statement, which reveals strength and progress, puts an end to rumors circulated from time to time in 1931 that the Sun Life was liquidating United States securities. The portfolio, as compared with last year, is practically intact, except for the addition of many millions of government and other bonds purchased during the year. The reserves of the company have also been calculated on the same conservative basis as last year.

President T. B. Macaulay's message was a characteristic one of courage and conservative optimism. He declared in no uncertain terms that he had not lost one bit of enthusiasm for the future of this great continent, that prosperity would return just as surely as tomorrow's sun will rise.

ENLIGHTENING SPEECH

For months past the administration at Victoria has been putting the blame on its friends at Ottawa for not putting the men in the camps to work, stating that their inaction was due to the inaction of the federal authorities. Members of the Bennett Government have stood the accusations for a long time without reply but at last they have decided to stand it no longer but to tell the truth about the matter. Hon. Wesley A. Gordon, minister of labor, has been the spokesman for the cabinet and he publicly exposes the fallacy.

Mr. Gordon shows that the Tolmie Government delayed from August to October before information was available making approval of any work possible and that, since that, the details of the work as required by their agreement have not been sent to them. In spite of the inaction of the provincial government, the federal government made several advances of money toward relief and also came to their rescue at New York.

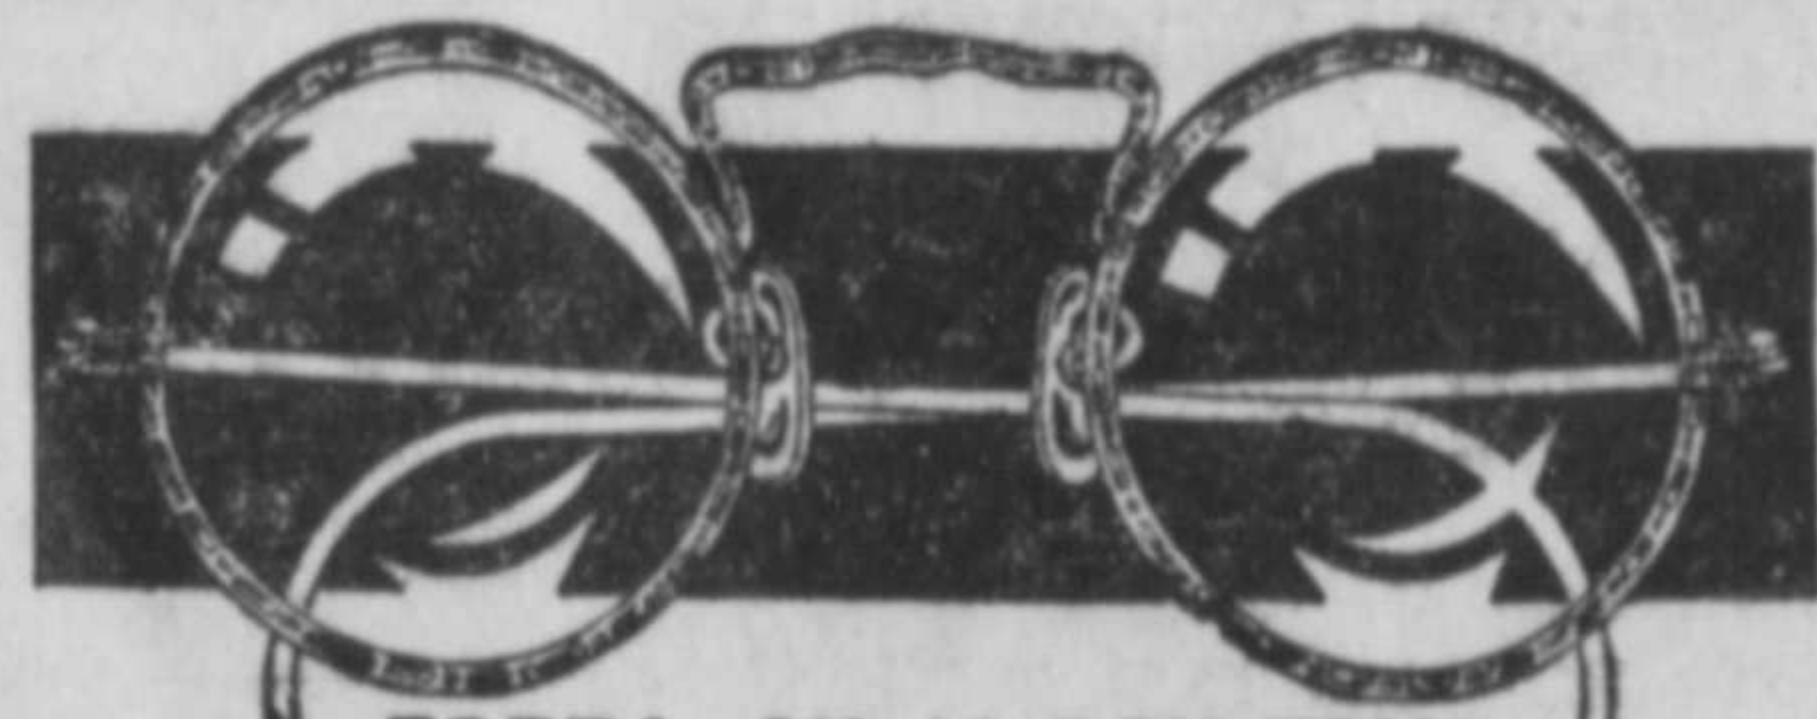

In view of this statement by a responsible minister of the Crown at Ottawa, it seems not at all unlikely that the statement made in the heat of the Columbia election, which at the time was generally discredited, was true. It was to the effect that the provincial government did not want the relief work to proceed but that the responsible provincial ministers were hindering rather than helping the advancement of the work.

The speech of Mr. Gordon in the House of Commons yesterday must have caused much consternation in the Tolmie ranks, especially in view of the likely near approach of an election. With the province unable to balance its budget, according to the statement of the finance minister as telegraphed out by the Canadian Press yesterday; with taxation increases imminent; the action of the Ottawa authorities in refusing to take the blame for the unemployment relief blunder makes the provincial government's prospect for re-election even worse than it was before.

POLITICS INTERESTING

For some time past politics have not been very interesting. People have all been struggling to make a living and have not been concerned with what the Ottawa or Victoria administrators have been doing or saying. Now the legislative mills are again getting busy. The Ottawa house is in session and the Victoria legislature will open its spring session very soon. The result will be that we shall be getting a good deal of political news with China and Japan tending to fade into the background. The British political situation also remains of considerable interest although the big bolt of the year has probably been shot there with the announcement of a tariff against the world with a preference to Empire nations.

WILL NOT BE CANDIDATE FOR POLICE COMMISSIONER

Editor, Daily News:—
As there seems to be a consistent rumor around the city to the effect that I intend to run for the office of police commissioner in the forthcoming election, I wish to say that this is not so.

While I have been approached in this matter, I have definitely concluded that I will not be a candidate, chiefly for the following reasons:

1. I am not in favor of a change in our present efficient police system.
2. From observations in past years as to conditions having developed under police commission administration, most of which no doubt is still fresh in the mind of our citizens, I have no ambition for such office.
3. By lending my name as a candidate in the election next week, it may be the means of assisting in bringing our police administration back under political and petty local influences.

CANADA regarded as "LIFE SAVER" Scientists declare "Good beer is a food!"

IN A RECENT testimony given to the Senate Committee of the United States at Washington, D. C., by Dr. Graham Lusk, Professor of Physiology at Cornell University, beer was described as "a good thing for the people." Professor Francis G. Benedict, Director of the Nutrition Laboratory of the Carnegie Institute at Boston, Mass., explained experiments which demonstrated that alcohol taken moderately (as is the case when drinking beer), had food qualities in calories easily assimilable.

Further, Dr. Francis Franzak, Health Officer of Buffalo, stated deaths from alcoholism had decreased 60% in that city since the Peace Bridge to Canada was opened. The opening of the bridge, he said, permitted thousands of people to enter Canada and obtain "good beer" whereas, before such access was available, they went to the city parks and drank "hard whisky" on Sundays and holidays. He also stated that deaths from alcoholism during the year following the opening of the bridge were forty compared with eighty previously. These admittances show that good beer is highly recommended by doctors and people who know.

Pilsener Lager Beer is proven by analysis to be pure, healthful and refreshing.

the proposed local force would. Then, why cannot this city own and control its own police force, without dictation or interference from the outside, and give employment to local citizens badly in need of it? Surely Prince Rupert is large enough to govern itself, and what could be more democratic than a police force supervised by a police commission, responsible to the public each year for election and re-election?

SPORT NOTES

The Olympic Games got their name, it is said, from Olympia, Greece, where, according to history, they were first held. Some legends name Hercules, or Heracles, as the originator. By others the beginning is ascribed to a footrace between Pelops and Oenomaus. The latter was wont to challenge aspirants to his daughter's hand, beat them in a race and then slay them. His son-in-law would have to be no flat foot, for Oenomaus was possessed of agile legs. In 776 B.C. the Games were placed on a permanent basis by keeping the list of winners. They were continued at four-year intervals until A.D. 393, (the 293rd Olympia) when they lapsed, to be renewed at Athens in 1896. Today we enter on the first stage of the tenth modern Olympiad.

The honor of winning an event in the ancient days was perhaps even greater than it is today. In the first place, there were only a few events, comprising footracing, boxing, wrestling, throwing a heavy stone, discus throwing, javelin throwing and leaping as well as chariot and horse races. Secondly, each competitor was trained under direct supervision of the authorities to insure perfect condition. When a winner returned home, the walls were torn down and he might be a civic guest for a year, with festivals in his honor. All his life he was venerated as an Olympic victor. Today the victor may not receive such honors, but the spectacle itself, the news of which is flashed by wire and radio throughout the civilized world, outdoes anything the ancients had to offer.

International Division Hockey Standing Tied Up in Interesting Manner Last Night

MONTREAL, Feb. 12.—It was a large evening for the Montreal teams in the National Hockey League last night. Incidentally, the standings of the international division became tied up in a rather unusual manner.

Playing at home, the Canadiens trounced the Chicago Black Hawks by a score of 4 to 1 and moved into a tie again with Toronto Maple Leafs for first place in the international division standing.

At Boston, the Maroons inflicted a 7 to 4 defeat upon the Bruins and joined the New York Americans in third place after a lengthy sojourn in the cellar.

NEWS OF THE MINES AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Atlin Looks Forward to Bright Future—French Company Operating on Large Scale—Drifting on Silverado

While mining activity in the Atlin district is experiencing the usual winter quietness, there is every reason to anticipate greater mining activity about and tributary to Atlin during the coming summer than for many years past, according to Clarence Sands of Atlin in a letter received at Stewart. "Things look very promising for Atlin during the coming year and I think I can say for certain that the gold recovery during the next ten years will be larger than that of any other camp in British Columbia. The Atlin-Ruffner mines are showing up splendidly and, when silver returns to normal value, there will be something really doing and Atlin will be placed on the map a good deal more prominently than it is today."

Larry Dimock, watchman at the Indian Mine at Stewart, who was burned recently when a gasoline lamp exploded when he was taking a bath, one of the mine buildings being totally destroyed in the fire, now in Prince Rupert. Mr. Dimock received treatment for a few days at Premier hospital before coming on to Prince Rupert where the head office of Indian Mines Ltd. is located. Mr. Dimock appears to be little the worse for his arduous experiences one of which was to hike to Premier from the Indian mine in below zero weather following the fire, clad only in an old pair of trousers, an old mackinaw with a sleeve gone and an old pair of boots without socks.

The Campagne Francaise des Mines D'or Du Canada controls a considerable section of the Otter Creek area and is operating under the local management of J. E. Moran, says Dr. Joseph T. Mandy, resident mining engineer for the provincial government, in an official report on placer operations in the Atlin district. The method of operation for cutting in towards bedrock being conducted by the company consists in starting the workings at the furthest possible point downstream and as near as possible to Surprise Lake in this way, when the sluices reach bedrock, a maximum area of the valley gravel will lie ahead. All the heavy debris from the moving of the gravel from the sluices is stacked by monitors working at the dump. A large yardage of the finer and lighter material finds its way into Surprise Lake. Two monitors, one cutting in and the other stacking, equipped with five and six-inch nozzles, work under a head of 165 feet with a very extensive water system as the supply is needed. The extensive scale of operation planned necessitated initially the collecting of a sufficient supply of water. This has been achieved by tapping the water from Otter Snake, Wright, Idaho, Casino and Union Creeks into the main system of ditch and flume. Should it be found necessary it is also intended to tap Quartz Creek situated about two miles north of Union Creek. The present system totals about eight miles commencing at Union Creek on the north end about 320 feet above Surprise Lake. Of this more than three miles is metal (iron). This material is delivered in flat 24-gauge sheets and is easily bent on the ground to the required half-round curve and nailed on a skeleton lumber frame that can be very flexibly adapted to practically any contour of rough terrain. Installed at the operation the cost of the flume, properly secured and made watertight, is estimated at about $1 per foot, which is about the same as the cost of ditch construction. The flume is installed on a grade of five feet in 1000 feet. The ditch is carried on a grade of 1-10 foot per 33 feet and is 18 inches deep and four feet wide at the bottom. During the 1930 season energetic preparatory work was carried on yielding at the same time significant gold recovery. Besides construction piping work was concentrated upon advancing the drain sluice towards bedrock and good progress was achieved. For a portion of the season the direction of this cut traversed gravel carrying remarkable values in comparatively fine gold from the surface down. This occurs in the glacial drift above a layer of hardpan and is probably an inter-glacial layer resulting from concentration of the drift by streams emanating from the melting ice between periods of glacial recession and subsequent advance. Towards the end of August the sluice cut through this exceptional deposit, the continuation of which will be explored at some future time. About $10,000 in gold was recovered in cutting through this section. At the conclusion of the 1930 season the drain sluice had cut up to a stratum of gold-bearing gravel about 40 feet below the surface. At the opening of the 1931 season piping was carried on and on July 1 the drain sluice had been advanced to about 1500 feet from the lake. At this point a shear and composite serpentine, pyroxenite rim was encountered. This was overlain by cemented wash gravel with sizeable boulders the whole having the appearance of a river-wash. It would appear from the altitude of the rim at this point and its correlation with that cutting across the old workings to the southeast that there is a good likelihood of this working being at the edge of the old channel. The projection of this cut southeast at its present grade would carry it through the old workings at approximately 90 feet lower elevation. Promising clean-ups were made at the beginning of the 1931 season. In this operation the excellent progress achieved is augmented by the fact that in the stripping operation only the fine material is run through the boxes at the end of which is a 40-foot stacking interval or gap. The heavy debris is stacked at this point and the light tailings continue on down the pole sluice to the dump at the lake. Eight foot long gold-saving boxes installed at the pit mouth. Interesting figures regarding the work of pole sluice construction given by the management estimated that this sluice installed at a cost of about $100,000 foot as compared with a cost of about $5 per foot for lumber operation is being carried on by a crew of 21 men working with 13 engaged on the hydraulic and eight on the flume ditch-line.

John Haardt, who, with associates, has a working lease on Silverado mine, reports he has completed a lot of preparatory work. Operations are now confined to drifting from between the first and second levels. In this drift there is an inches of high grade silver which is being left standing in wall until such time as it has been extended to the limits of the shoot when the come back and break it down. This done the silver will be raised on for the purpose of increasing tonnage. Some work was experienced near the tunnel owing to the cold weather freezing the

Guide to Correspondents
The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism. Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication. Letters should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

NEW FORD ANNOUNCED

Eight-Cylinder Low-Priced Car to Be Ready in Spring

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 12.—The Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, concurrently with the Ford Motor Company in the United States, soon will present to the public two new model motor cars, Wallace R. Campbell, president of the Canadian company, said today.

His statement, followed the announcement that the American Ford company soon would begin production of a new V-8 cylinder car an improved V-4 cylinder model. The two engines will be interchangeable in the same chassis.

It is expected the first public showing will be made in March. Ten body types will be offered. Both cars will sell in the low-priced field, which has been dominated by Ford for many years.

The new bodies, of entirely new design, will be roomier than former Ford models. The chassis will be low-slung, of longer wheel base and with heavier frame.

In speaking of the new cars, Henry Ford said that he was determined "to get the price of an automobile down to the mark where the public can buy." "The public will always come half-way to meet a man who does his part to meet the public's demand—I always found it so," he continued. "You know the public has suffered a lot, everything we do now must take into account the people's pocket-book. We developed a corking good four and were already to let it go, but we found it was not the new effort which the public expected. That's why we are bringing out the 'eight' now. You see the public has a part in these matters. Somehow it instinctively knows when the time is ripe for something new."

Mr. Ford's decision to bring out the V-8 cylinder car came last December while the great Ford plants were already engaged in production of the new improved model A. One morning, early that month, Henry Ford and Edsel Ford, his son, met in an office in the Ford laboratories at Dearborn. They were together alone for an hour. The decision to launch the "eight" was made at that meeting.

"We are not abandoning the 'four' either in principal or production," said Mr. Ford. "We are going right on making 'fours' for all who want them and the 'eight'—why that's just two 'fours' put together." During the development of the new "eight" and the preparation of the Ford plants for the production of the two new cars, Mr. Ford has been the dynamo energizing the entire institution, it was said today. "My father is never happier than when he is solving some big mechanical problem," Edsel Ford said.

NEW DISCOVERIES CONFIRM VIRTUES OF BRAN IN DIET

Supplies "Bulk" and Vitamin B for Constipation; Also Iron for Blood

For ten years, now, millions have found Kellogg's ALL-BRAN a safe, pleasant way to overcome common constipation—with the headaches, loss of appetite and energy that so often result from this condition.

Recent laboratory tests show that ALL-BRAN supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN contains twice as much blood-building iron, by weight, as beef liver.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like the "bulk" in lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture and forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Think how much better it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to take endless pills and drugs, which often lead to harmful habits.

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases with every meal—are usually sufficient. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

William McLeod is New Head of Elks' Lodge This Year—Proceedings in Fine Lodge Quarters

Installation of William McLeod, exalted ruler, and other new officers of Prince Rupert Lodge No. 45, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, was conducted last night by George C. Mitchell, district deputy grand exalted ruler, who was assisted by Sam Joy, esquire of the lodge. There were about forty-five members of the lodge present at the proceedings which were followed by an enjoyable banquet.

The new officers are as follows:

Exalted Ruler—William McLeod
Leading Knight—George Roger.
Local Knight—Harry Menzie.
Lecturing Knight—Arthur Phillips.
Secretary—Trevor Williams.
Treasurer—Bert Morgan.
Inner Guard—Mike Budinich.
Tyler—Len Bond.

Benquet Enjoyed

G. C. Arseneau presided as toast-maker over the banquet proceedings which followed the lodge meeting and opened the proceedings with suitable remarks. The toast to the Grand Lodge was proposed by Frank Dobb and responded to by George C. Mitchell. W. D. Vance proposed a toast to the new officers to which William McLeod responded. During the program Bert Morgan was also heard in a few appropriate remarks. Musical honors were accorded the new officers by the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" and the giving of three hearty cheers. Piano selections by C. P. Balagno were much appreciated as were vocal duets by H. B. Stiles and George Roger. A fine supper was served.

Comfortably settled in their fine new and up-to-date home, the local Elks are looking forward to a very successful year in 1932. There has been a marked revival of interest in the lodge and its work.

Two unidentified half-breed boys of Porcher Island were drowned yesterday morning near Lawyer Island lighthouse when their boat capsized in a heavy sea. Unable to help, Lighthouse Keeper Elsterman was a witness of the tragedy.

The gasoline halibut schooner Princess Victoria arrived in port from Pacofi yesterday afternoon in time to ship a haul of halibut to Vancouver aboard the steamer Camosun. While fishing off Dundas Island, the Princess Victoria drifted perilously close to shore when her engine would not start. The fishery patrol steamer Falcon picked her up and towed her in.

Able Attell and Johnny Kilbane will meet in Los Angeles on February 22 in a 20-round bout for the world's featherweight boxing title.

It's got to be good to be ADVERTISED

READ THE GROCERY ADS TODAY

All the king's horses . . . and all the king's men can't make a success out of a bad product. No amount of advertising will create a market for it. The more it's advertised, the more its defects become known.

A Good Product Well Advertised

grows as swiftly and naturally as a healthy plant. People try it and like it. They tell others. They like it. Soon that product is found everywhere . . . and its name, spread abroad by advertising, is on every tongue. When you see something widely and consistently advertised, you can be pretty sure it's well worth having. If it weren't . . . if it didn't represent an honest and worthy value . . . the maker couldn't afford to advertise it.

Look Over the Advertisements in this Paper

Some of these names you know. Others, perhaps, are newcomers, all are entitled to your trust . . . all are here because they have potential friends bringing some new comfort or convenience. But something real to contribute to your advantage . . . your service . . . your happiness.
