Under the provincial Redistribution Bill, which was passed by the Legislature at Victoria during the past few days, no change whatever is made in the boundaries of Prince Rupert and Atlin ridings.

The present Fort George riding drops a large northern area to the new Peace River seat, which will take in all of the northeastern corner of the province, but takes in Red Pass and some parts of Salmon Arm.

MEET WITH ENGINEER

Unemployed Delegation Receives Good Hearing from J. C. Brady—Alternative Proposal Offered

A delegation from the Prince Rupert and District Unemployed Association waited upon J. C. Brady, district engineer for the provincial department of public works, at the Court House yesterday afternoon and formally presented their request to be allowed to work out on the highway construction their clothes and regular working board at the relief camp on the basis of $4 per day wages for a six-hour working day. This is the alternative proposal of the Unemployed Association to the $7.50 and board per month plan which they have refused to accept.

Following the interview, members of the delegation, which consisted of Charles Chapman, T. Murphy and J. Carroll, stated that they had been accorded a courteous and sympathetic hearing by Mr. Brady who promised them that the matter would be taken up at Victoria at once. Indeed, Mr. Brady intimated that it was his understanding that the intention was to issue clothing to the men before starting them to work on the $7.50 basis.

The delegation presented the following list of clothing as being required by the average unemployed man before starting to work on the road: one pair of boots, one pair of socks, two suits of underwear, two shirts, one pair of overalls, one jumper, one slicker, one pair of gloves and towels. The value of this issue is placed at about $30, or about eight days' work.

The delegation also requested the district engineer to use his efforts towards having crockery rather than porcelain dishes used at the Cloyah Bay camp dining room.

Mrs. Fortescue Cries When Name of Her Daughter Mentioned

HONOLULU, April 15.—Mrs. Fortescue's icy reserve melted into tears during the session of the "honor murder" trial as the name of her daughter, Mrs. Massie, was drawn into the case. The dead native is alleged to have attacked Mrs. Massie before he was murdered.

Evidence was presented to show that a shot had been heard at or near Mrs. Fortescue's home about the time of the native is believed to have been killed.

The prosecution closed its case in the "honor murder" trial yesterday and Lieut. Massie was the first witness for the defence. He related the harrowing details of how his pretty young wife had been attacked by the dead Hawaiian youth. Clarence Darrow, celebrated criminal lawyer, who is conducting the defence, intimated that a defence of insanity would be introduced for at least one of the defendants.

CRITICIZE FINANCING

Present System of Borrowing For Relief Not Healthy, Liberals Say in Legislature

VICTORIA, April 15.—Rather than charge British Columbia's unemployment relief expenditure to capital account, a special tax on all incomes to pay the cost each year was advocated last week in the Legislature by members of the Liberal Opposition who decried the present system of financing relief expenditures by long term borrowing.

"Under this long term borrowing system, the people of the province will have to pay back $2,500,000 for every million dollars spent on relief," declared G. S. Pearson, Liberal member for Nanaimo. "And how much of this money goes into the pockets of those who really need it?"

A. M. Manson, K.C., Omineca, condemned borrowing for unemployment relief on capital account. The government should not ask for an unlimited amount, he thought, but it should be included in the budget.

The province was becoming more and more dependent upon Ottawa, declared T. D. Pattullo, Opposition leader, and sooner or later the federal government would assume the right to dictate policy.

PREMIER MINE

It's very interesting to learn from the mouth of the general manager that the Premier mine is not yet worked out and not likely to shut down for some time to come. There have been all sorts of rumors about this mine which have been injurious to the district. Now the rumors should be set at rest and efforts bent on bringing new mines into production rather than knocking those that are already producing.

USE CANADIAN PORTS

Practically one-half of all Canadian grain that is exported leaves the continent through United States ports and at the same time Canadian ports are idle and Canadians at those ports are idle. Even the grain on which the government last year paid a five-cent a bushel bonus went out largely over foreign lines and was exported to Europe or elsewhere through United States ports. If one third of this had been sent through Prince Rupert, the railway would have paid its way, the employees of the railway would all have had work, the port of Prince Rupert would have been busy, longshoremen and others would have been given employment at remunerative rates. Prince Rupert has an open port all the year round with the best railway grade leading to it from the prairies in the whole continent. Why ship to southern ports?

There are other Canadian ports that would benefit if the prairie grain were all shipped out through Canadian ports. Vancouver would benefit very considerably and it is possible that the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia ports would also take a share. These ports are carrying on a campaign to induce the government to compel the shipping of Canadian grain through Canadian ports with special reference to bonused grain.

The following is from the Telegraph-Journal of St. John, N.B.:

"If the government of this country would insist that all bonused wheat be exported through Canadian ports, and the Telegraph-Journal and Times-Globe are advocating this policy quite as much for Vancouver as for Saint John, hundreds of the running trades of the railway unions would be put to work; hundreds of right-of-way men would be called back to their jobs, and the repair shops of the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway would be busier repairing cars and locomotives engaged in hauling grain which now finds its way through United States outlets.

"Canadian taxpayers have to face a levy of over fifty million dollars a year to provide for deficits on the Canadian National Railways, and yet this great volume of our wheat and flour export trade is not allowed to go over Canadian railways and through Canadian ports with the explanation that 'it was found impractical to do so.'

"The time has come in Canada when that sort of an answer should not be accepted by the people of this country. Scores of men stood idly by in the port of Saint John this year while their places were taken by men in New York, Boston, Baltimore or elsewhere in handling Canadian grain. The discharge of railwaymen from Canadian railways under such circumstances is to be very much regretted, and it is high time that some practical method of meeting the situation be devised. Surely, there is somebody in authority at Ottawa, or in the railway systems of this country, capable of solving this national problem. To treat the labor of Canadian railway workers and Canadian seabornd workers as something different from Canadian labor as represented by the manufacturing industries of this country is intolerable.

"Before the present session of Parliament terminates there should be some scheme worked out which will result in all bonused export wheat going through Canadian ports."

SALVAGE IS SUBJECT OF AN ADDRESS

Capt. Paul Armour Talks Interestingly of Work Done By His Company on Pacific Coast

Salvage work made an interesting subject for an address by Capt. Paul Armour at the luncheon of the Rotary Club yesterday afternoon at the Commodore Cafe. As local manager of the Pacific Salvage Company, Capt. Armour is qualified to speak with authority on his subject and he acquitted himself well. Capt. Armour told of his early exploits on the water as a schoolboy on Puget Sound since which time he has had to do with shipping either as a navigator or in connection with salvage. He says he likes his business, which is one of the first qualifications for success. Variety lends spice to the salvage man's life.

The speaker mentioned that salvage operations were conducted thousands of years ago by the Phoenicians when by removing lights they caused vessels to go ashore and then salvaged the contents for themselves. Modern salvage is more beneficial.

The amount of salvage earned was based on the value of the vessel and cargo saved and on the value of the equipment used and the risks which the salvors ran. Usually settlement was made amicably but the Admiralty Court was the final authority. His company, he said, had never had recourse to the courts but has been able to settle the amount of salvage by mutual consent.

Captain Armour told of several big salvage jobs which his company had undertaken. One of these was the salvaging of the 11,000-ton German vessel Seostis on the coast of Guatemala. The vessel had become cut off from the sea by a mile of sand after going ashore so that it became necessary to dig a channel through which to float her to the ocean. A big German firm had refused to undertake the work and his company had taken it in hand with final success. Huge sand pumps were used to dig a basin where the ship could be turned around and faced in the right direction. Then the same pumps dug the channel through which she forced her way. Finally a breakwater had to be constructed to protect the ship while she was being finally launched. Then when she was finally freed after six months of work she was seized by the officials of Guatemala in the harbor.

Here was the climax of the story. During a national celebration when most of the men in and around the town became intoxicated the two watchmen aboard were taken ashore and the vessel slipped away and was taken to Victoria where she was sold back to the former owners by the salvage company. Until a few years ago the Salvage King was the largest and best equipped salvage vessel in the world. She was used to tow the Havelah from the Aleutian Islands to Japan, the largest and longest tow on record. Sometimes the salvage operations were successful and sometimes they failed. Payment was made only for successes.

Captain Armour said that since he had taken charge of the local business five years ago they had successfully completed 58 salvages large and small.

NEWS OF THE MINES AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Report of Big Missouri Not Very Hopeful—Granby Losses Increased—Gold Nuggets at Lorne Creek

The annual report of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. paints anything but a rosy picture for the future of the Big Missouri property in the Portland Canal district, which the company has had under development for the past two or three years, although actual results of the work are not published. The 100-ton test mill put into operation on the property late in 1930 treated 24,846 tons of ore to check up previous diamond drilling results but the indicated commercial ore over mineable widths did not correspond with the results obtained. No well-defined ore zone with consistent values was proven but an erratic distribution of values over large areas was shown, the values in most every instance corresponding with the occurrence of free gold in small and irregular strikes. Some of the occurrences yielded spectacular specimens, the value of which formed an appreciable portion of the total recovery, but were, apparently, too far apart to suggest continuity or a definite commercial zone. Diamond drilling followed the suspension of milling operations for the purpose of defining extension below the main level. The result of this work was disappointing although interesting but erratic values were obtained in a large percentage of the holes drilled. The impression derived by those in charge of the property, the report says, is that the values are too low to suggest profitable operations on or above the main level and that no possibilities to develop commercial ore have been overlooked on the main level. At the same time it is suggested that the property is still entitled to careful consideration although the company's geologists are rather emphatic in their opinion that geological conditions are unfavorable for the deposition of sufficient gold to make a mine while stating that the opening up and development of the lower levels may disclose more favorable conditions.

The annual report of the Granby

Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co. for the year ending December 31, 1931, shows a net loss of $959,511 as compared with a net loss of $482,624 in 1930. Each succeeding quarter of 1931 showed lower profits which resulted in passing up the dividend normally due on May 2 next. In common with leading copper producers operations were restricted to 26 1/2% of potential capacity on January 1, 1932, and further restricted last month to 20% of potential capacity. This will have a corresponding effect on revenue for the current year. The balance sheet showed the company to be in a strong liquid position with current assets totaling $4,444,215 as against current liabilities of $184,069, leaving a net working capital of $4,260,146 as compared with $4,861,145 in 1930.

James Jones was in Terrace a few days ago with samples of gold taken from Lorne Creek where he has half a mile of placer leases. He has been working all winter and reports that he did much better than merely making wages. He had with him two nuggets, one large and one small, which he said weighed a half ounce. Jones is more than confident that Lorne Creek is going to produce a lot of gold in the not far distant future. He says there is plenty of room for prospectors who can easily make a living even by old-fashioned methods.

H. Porter will sail on the Princess Adelaide tonight for Vancouver where he will proceed to Kamrose, Alberta.

SPENDING TO SAVE .. THROUGH

Advertising

Not many of us, these days, are troubled with so much money that we cannot spend it. But we are interested in spending the money we have, to get the most out of it.

One way—and not a new way, either—is to make a budget. Put down, week by week, the money that comes in. Put down beside it, week by week, the money that goes out. So much for food, so much for clothing, so much for rent. So much for giving, and for luxuries.

Where Advertising Helps

It won't always be easy, of course, to stay within the budget. That's where advertising helps you. Advertisements in this newspaper tell you how much rugs, butter, breakfast foods, dishes, homes, automobiles will cost, before you go shopping! They point out ways to save money. They show you how to cut a little here, a little there. And each day, they tell about new inventions, new products, new ways of doing things, that help make this life of ours very much worth living!

Four Teams Expected in 1932 Senior Football League

Preparations For Active Soccer Season Here Are Now Under Way; Legion and Regiment in Field

Preparations for the 1932 Senior Football League season got definitely under way last evening when an enthusiastic general meeting of the Prince Rupert Football Association was held in the City Hall. Canadian Legion and Regiment definitely announced intentions of entering teams. There is a possibility that the Home Oil Co. will sponsor a team while it is expected the Merchants will operate again. This would make a four team Senior League.

SPORT CHAT

Australia's lightning bolt, Phar Lap, blazed a rainbow over the United States turf world before he died so tragically. Just when everything looked dark for almost every racetrack after a losing winter season, south and west, the wonder horse from "down under" arrived to give the sport of kings a new thrill. Then he died as dramatically as he arrived.

"I cannot think of any better possible break to American racing than the invasion of Phar Lap," said the 71-year-old Colonel Matt Winn, directing genius of the Kentucky Derby for the last 33 years. "The invasion of Phar Lap and his victory in the Agua Caliente Handicap stirred the imagination of every race fan and gave us all renewed enthusiasm for a bigger and better turf year. They tell me he really was a great horse. He must have been to stand that long 10,000-mile ride over the Pacific and come out as sound as a dollar."

Colonel Winn had started plans for staging a big match race for Phar Lap and some of the best stake runners in June at Washington Park, for a purse of $25,000 or $50,000, depending upon the thoroughbred chosen to oppose the big horse. It might have been the winner of the Kentucky Derby on May 7 or the winner of the $50,000

The feeling was expressed at the meeting that use should be made in the Senior League of a considerable number of young players who will be available this year. To encourage these younger players it was decided to distribute them among the four teams in the Senior League.

The meeting was adjourned until next Thursday evening when all entries are to be in and at which time it will be decided when the season will be opened and a schedule drawn up. It is expected that the Gilhuly Cup will again be the first of the season's trophies to be played for.

Pert Morgan, president of the Prince Rupert Football Association, presided over the meeting.

Engineer in City

J. Armstrong, maintenance engineer for the provincial department of public works, arrived in the city from Victoria on the Princess Adelaide this afternoon, being here on official business.

Preakness, the winner of the American Derby or Twenty Grand or Mate, or all of them. The best thoroughbreds in racing were to be chosen as Phar Lap's opponents. Colonel Winn is a specialist in producing match races and international contests and knows the values of these attractions.

Held Seven National Championships

Reginald "Snowy" Baker, sports director, Riviera Country Club, Los Angeles, formerly of Australia and Australia attache for the Olympic games. Back about 1904 he was credited as being the holder of seven national championships.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.
Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.
Letters should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

SPRING TEA-SALE HELD

Delightful Affair Yesterday Afternoon By Ladies' Aid of First Presbyterian Church

A very successful spring tea and sale of home cooking and sewing was held in the church parlors yesterday afternoon by the Ladies Aid of First Presbyterian Church. The rooms had been prettily decorated for the occasion with spring flowers and foliage and the scene was very attractive. Many ladies who called during the afternoon were received by Mrs. D. McD. Hunter, president of the Ladies' Aid, and Mrs. W. D. Grant Hollingworth, wife of the pastor.

The tea room was in charge of Mrs. J. Watson who was assisted by Mrs. D. McLeod and Mrs. D. C. Stuart. Mrs. T. M. Spencer and Mrs. John McRae poured and serviteurs were Mrs. G. W. Abbott, Mrs. Robert Davie, Miss Annie McLeod, Miss Sheila Stuart and Miss Mabel Ivarson. Mrs. William Anderson acted as cashier.

The swing booth was in charge of Mrs. J. L. Lee and Mrs. W. L. Sandison. Mrs. W. D. Vance and Mrs. E. N. Valentine presided at the candy table while Mrs. James Simpson and Mrs. Thomas McMeekin conducted the sale of home cooking.

A delightful musical program, arranged by Mrs. William Millar, included vocal solos by Mrs. A. J. Webber, Mrs. J. H. McLeod, Mrs. F. N. Good and Mrs. H. N. Brocklesby and recitations by Miss Adelia Thurber. Accompanists were Mrs. C. E. Cullin and Mrs. E. J. Smith.

The Letter Box

USE CANADIAN PORTS

Editor, Daily News:— The United States Department of Commerce recently announced that on the average forty-nine percent, or practically one-half, of Canada's wheat and flour export trade has been handled through United States ports during the past six years.

During the past season, practically no wheat has passed through Eastern Canada ports during the winter season, and during the summer months our information is that almost the entire Canadian crop passing east went to Buffalo.

Of course you know that when wheat or flour reaches United States lake waterfronts or railways, the traffic is handled by United States railwaymen and lake portworkers and that, of course, means not only the crews who haul the tonnage, but the men who repair damaged rolling stock and motor power and the men who load vessels at the seaboard, check cargoes and work along the waterfront. In addition, the vessels carrying this Canadian trade are, if necessary, repaired in United States dry docks and the supplies come from United States factories. Further, they are provisioned from United States farms. And, then do not let us forget that millions of bushels of the wheat which went through Buffalo this year for export was bonused by the Canadian people at the rate of five cents a bushel.

At this time, thousands of railwaymen are being laid off in all parts of Canada, when they might profitably be employed in handling Canadian wheat and Canadian flour to Canadian ports. This, in turn, would give business to manufacturers, retail merchants and to the agricultural interests of this country.

You have a personal interest just as much as we have in holding this employment within Canadian channels, and we are taking the liberty of enclosing an editorial commenting on this unusual situation in a country the citizens of which are being urged morning, noon and night to buy Canadian goods and, therefore, employ Canadian labor. In our judgment, Canadian labor covers a Canadian railway man and a Canadian port worker as fully as it concerns itself with the employee of some manufacturing industry.

Any comment that you may make on this editorial will be appreciated.

Yours very truly,
F. X. JENNINGS,
Acting Editor-in-Chief.

What is the PRICE OF BEAUTY?

Without health there can be little natural beauty. The wise woman knows that the condition of her body shows itself on her face, her complexion, and in her eyes.

She takes care to avoid constipation. This treacherous ailment frequently causes headaches, sallow skin, pimples, premature aging.

Try the pleasant "cereal way" to protect yourself from constipation. Science has proved that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron, which helps build up the blood.

The "bulk" in this delicious cereal is much like that of lettuce. How much safer than abusing your system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming!

Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

COMEDY IS ENJOYABLE

A Capable Cast Presents "The Laughing Cure" at First United Church—To Be Repeated

The bright two act comedy "The Laughing Cure" was presented by a capable cast in First United Church last night before a good-sized audience and will be repeated tonight. The play is being staged under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Church, the director being John Jeans.

The principal character in "The Laughing Cure" is Miss E. M. Earle, a sick lady who finds laughter as an effective remedy for her troubles and ailments. Miss Earle is as usual, very good in a part which is by no means easy.

Robert Irvine as the "laugher" doctor, is excellent while an outstanding performance is turned in by Mrs. G. V. Wilkinson in a difficult character role.

Earl Gordon gives a good portrayal as a boisterous youth while Misses Cathie Irvine and Ruby Llewellyn are attractive young ladies.

Another important part is that of G. V. Wilkinson as a long-suffering business man and husband of the sick lady.

G. F. Davey, as a physician of the old school, and Miss Edith Miller, as an Irish maid, round out the cast.

Introductory and between act music was furnished by an orchestra consisting of Miss Ruth Wilkinson, Bert Cameron and Percy McIntosh, violins, and Mrs. A. Wilson, piano.

The entertainment is very acceptable and it is to be anticipated that there may be an even larger crowd tonight for the second stand.

Frank L. Gordon of Porcher Island arrived in the city yesterday afternoon for a brief visit to town.
