Senate Sub-Committee Takes Action Favoring Canada Investments

This Country Will Not Be Penalized Under Hoover Reconstruction Program Like Other Powers

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 7.—The United States Senate sub-committee on banking and currency has exempted Canadian governmental and corporation securities from the provisions of President Hoover's $2,000,000,000 reconstruction corporation which states that "no loans or advances shall be made on securities issued by foreign governments or corporations." Canada is the only foreign country so exempted.

Senator Carter Glass of Virginia stated yesterday that the action of the sub-committee was a compliment to Canada and a neighborly gesture.

Speaking further, Senator Glass stated that there was a moral responsibility on the part of the Department of State to American people who had lost billions of dollars owing to the slump in foreign bonds. Senator Glass charged the Department of State with permitting overborrowing on the part of foreign nations.

FORMERLY MINISTER

Dr. Forbes Godfrey Passes Away in Toronto Today at Age of 65

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, aged 65, former minister of labor and health for Ontario, died last night. During his career in the provincial legislature he sat for West York (Toronto).

Born in the Township of York, March 31, 1867, the son of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Godfrey, the former Irish and the latter Canadian, the late Dr. Godfrey was educated at Owen Sound Collegiate Institute and the University of Toronto, taking a medical degree at the latter institution. Later he was a general orificient medallist at the University of Edinburgh.

Practising as a physician at Mimico, Ont. the late Dr. Godfrey was first elected to the Ontario Legislature for the riding of West York on June 1, 1907. He was re-elected in 1908, 1911, 1914, 1919, 1923 and after assuming office as minister of labor in the Ferguson government on July 16, 1923. He was, of course, a Conservative.

The late Dr. Godfrey is survived by a widow who was formerly Miss Mary M. Carson. They were married in 1894. Dr. Godfrey was a Methodist and he made his home at Mimico.

PASSING OF ROSENWALD

Great American Merchant Prince Died Near Chicago Yesterday—69 Years Old

Was Philanthropist

Gave Millions to Charity—Simple Instructions For His Funeral

CHICAGO, Jan. 7.—Julius Rosenwald, aged 69, famous merchant prince and philanthropist and multimillionaire, died at his home near here yesterday. He had given $25,000,000 to benefit humanity.

Rosenwald's final instructions as to burial were in keeping with the simple way in which he lived. He requested that he be given a small and inconspicuous funeral.

Julius Rosenwald devoted many millions of the dollars which he amassed in business, to hammering at racial and creedal prejudices and to encouraging thrift.

"The besetting sin of America is extravagance," he said over and over again.

His earning power started in 1873 when he pumped a church organ at Springfield, Ill., for five cents an hour. It culminated in 1910 when he became head of the Chicago mail order house of Sears, Roebuck & Company.

He built up this business until its annual turnover exceeded $300,000,000 and its branches could be found in almost every sizable town from coast to coast.

In the interim he had been a newsboy in Springfield, a clothing store clerk in New York, a shop keeper on Fifth Avenue and a manufacturer of men's clothing.

His philanthropies grew with his income. They centred largely in efforts to aid negroes in the United States and Jews in foreign lands. But his giving had no set bounds and gold flowed generously from his purse to whites as well as blacks and to Gentiles as well as Jews.

Buildings at the University of Chicago and the Rosenwald Industrial Museum testified to his civic helpfulness. His work as a dolla, a year man in the world war and a gift of $1,000,000 in 1913 to the Council of Grain Exchanges for research work in crop improvement, were evidences of his patriotism. But his delight was in helpful philanthropy.

"Charity," Mr. Rosenwald said, "is the one pleasure that never wears out."

He practiced this precept until (Continued on Page Two)

Frank Sorge, Who Got Away From Okalla, Is Located in Vancouver

Was Considered "Second in Command" of Quintet Which Got Away From Okalla Last Sunday—Bagley Still at Large

VANCOUVER, Jan. 7.—Frank Sorge, aged 27, one of five prisoners who escaped from Okalla Prison last Sunday night, was recaptured by police this forenoon in the bush near the home of his father in the east end of the city. Although armed, Sorge offered no resistance when the officers proceeded to take him. Sorge, when he escaped, was awaiting appeal from a conviction and consecutive sentences of four years on each of two charges of having burglars' tools in his possession. When he was originally arrested he put up a terrific fight against detectives when they forced their way into his room in a local apartment house.

Sorge was considered second in command of the quintet which escaped, the leader being William Bagley who, with Gordon Fawcett, is still at large. William Martin Kearney and Norman A. Moore were recaptured on Monday.

Unique Scene in Municipal History of Canada as Mayor Taylor Opens 1932 Council

VANCOUVER, Jan. 7.—Characteristically indomitable, Mayor Louis D. Taylor, lying motionless in an invalid chair on which he had been taken from St. Paul's Hospital, covered by a heavy grey blanket, eyes looking upward at the ceiling, presided at the inaugural sitting of the 1932 city council of Vancouver and swore in six aldermen-elect.

It was a scene probably unique in municipal history of Canada.

The Mayor said that he believed he would be able to walk in about two weeks. It was his first public appearance since last July when he suffered a sunstroke at the opening of the Lulu Island airport.

Peace River Paper is Again Out Favoring Province for North

Urges People to Develop Backbone Instead of Wishbone and Demand Right to Develop Own Resources

In its New Year editorial, The Peace River Record sends out a clarion call to the people of Northern Alberta and Northern British Columbia to demand the right to form a new province with Prince Rupert and Stewart as its ports. It draws attention to the manner in which the north country has been treated by both provinces and urges local autonomy. The editorial says in part:

"To the Peace River country the passing of 1931 has merely marked another year of delayed promises—another year of inaction in bringing to this country the development it requires to reach its full fruition, the development that has been promised time and again.

"As periods of difficulty bring us to clearer methods of thinking perhaps the continued inactivity of our governments in the matter of Peace River development may impress upon the people of the north country the necessity for doing our own thinking, and our own acting. Instead of hoping and wishing for the building of a coast outlet, perhaps after a while we will learn to remove the wishbone from the place where we should have a backbone, claim the right to work out our own problems, secure our own autonomy and proceed to develop the vast wealth of our own country and to work out our own destiny.

"The Peace River country from the 54th parallel of latitude northward, together with its sister territory, the portion of British Columbia immediately to the west, contains such a vast storehouse of wealth in resources as is to be found in no single province of Canada. Through its main waterway, the Peace River, it has an artery for the opening up of the still greater wealth of the North West Territories, the development of which should be carried on from Peace River, and the products of which should find their way out through Peace River and the ports of Prince Rupert and Stewart.

Provinces Fail
"The provinces of British Columbia and Alberta have failed in their responsibilities as administrators of this vast area, and have demonstrated their inability to properly administer the vast territory which was taken from Rupert's Land and the North West Territories and added to their areas when they were given their autonomy. As an experiment in increasing the scope of provincial government, the enlarging of provincial boundaries has been anything but successful. This being the case, and the dominion government having also failed in its responsibilities, it is but reasonable to suggest that the time has arrived when it is fit and proper that the experiment launched in 1905 be abandoned, and that the boundaries of the province of Alberta be reduced to their old limits returning that portion formerly belonging to Rupert's Land and North West Territories to its original state. This area, or a corresponding area to set apart the Peace River country, together with the similar area in British Columbia, has its own problems of development that can best be worked out by its own people.

PAYING DIVIDENDS

The Royal Bank has issued its annual statement indicating that its profits during the past year were sufficiently large, in spite of the bad times, to pay the regular income of twelve per cent and at the same time maintain intact its reserves and pay its taxes. In addition to this it made a profit of four million dollars which was paid into profit and loss fund for next year.

It is very important that Canadian banks maintain their stable position as public confidence is one of the requirements in a banking system. Only recently the Bank of Montreal issued its statement which showed it to be very sound financially and the Royal has followed along the same lines. Since the weak banks have been weeded out it seems as if all the remaining Canadian banks are strong enough to stand any buffeting of unkind conditions which cause other commercial structures to tremble and sometimes to fall.

EDMONTON'S ACTION

The city of Edmonton is enforcing a measure by which single men given two meals a day and a bed must do one day's work a week for the city. They are being employed in various ways brushing land and cutting hillside roads. Married men are being employed in city relief work part time and are being paid cash for their labor.

In Prince Rupert all work is closed down because the governments who agreed to a certain standard of aid have failed on their contracts. However, we are still hoping that they will see the light and that work will proceed.

MOVED THE SALOONS

Many stories are told about Julius Rosenwald, head of the firm of Sears Roebuck, of Chicago, whose death is announced today.

In 1906 when the new plant was opened, there were numerous saloons on all sides of the great building. Being without legal recourse against the dram shops, Mr. Rosenwald sought to render them ineffective through united action of the employees. At a mass meeting of the workers, an agreement was reached under which no one in the employ of the company would be allowed to enter a saloon within eight blocks of the establishment.

Eighteen months later, the nearest saloon was on a corner eight blocks from the main entrance of the mail order house. A huge sign in front of the saloon read "First Chance" on one side and on the other "Last Chance." The bar remained on the edge of the "agreement zone" until national prohibition came.

his known benefactions totalled $25,000,000. When in 1922 he reached three score years, he celebrated his birthday by giving away $687,500.

He was a firm believer in giving so that the living would be benefited. Foundations designed to aid future generations did not appeal to him.

His interest in the negro was aroused by Booker T. Washington, famous negro educator and head of Tuskegee Institute. From donations to the institute, the interest developed into a campaign for primary and secondary schools for negroes.

More than $5,000,000 had been devoted to the work by the end of 1930 and 5,075 schools for negro children, housed in clean, modern, airy buildings, dotted the southern states from Maryland to Texas.

Establishment in Chicago of the first negro Y. M. C. A. was largely through Mr. Rosenwald's efforts. After several years of successful operation of the institution, he made a standing offer of $25,000 to any city which would raise $125,000 for a similar Christian centre for negroes. As a result more than $625,000 was given by him for such buildings in many cities.

Mr. Rosenwald's Jewish charities were more direct and larger than his negro benefactions. He spent $5,000,000 to help put Russian Jewish farmers back on land in the Crimea after they had been dispossessed in other sections of Russia. Other hundreds of thousands were given to similar Jewish colonization plans, although he never believed in the Zionist movement for establishing a Jewish homeland in Palestine.

In February, 1921, Mr. Rosenwald headed a committee of 25 Jews who visited the stricken peoples of Europe. This was in preparation for a campaign conducted by the American Jewish Relief Committee which brought $14,000,000 in contributions.

Mr. Rosenwald was born in a house close to the old home of Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, Ill.

Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam (left) and Mrs. Freddie Lund, aviation enthusiasts, talk things over at the air races at Cleveland, Ohio.

August 12, 1862, and was one of five children. His two brothers and two sisters reside in Chicago. The mother of the family, Mrs. Augusta Rosenwald, died there on February 4, 1921. She was born in Germany, came to America in 1853 and married Samuel R. Rosenwald in Baltimore in 1857.

Of his boyhood, Julius Rosenwald often said: "I was uneducated in the public schools."

From Springfield he went at the age of 16 to New York as a clerk in the clothing store of Hammerslough Brothers, conducted by his uncles. At 21 he opened a store of his own on Fifth Avenue but it had different success.

His next venture was partnership in Chicago with Julius Well. Beginning in 1895 the firm manufactured clothing. In 1895, it became Rosenwald & Company and sold much of its output to R. W. Sears, a mail order house. At that time Sears needed more capital and Mr. Rosenwald bought a half interest in the business for $70,000. A year later he became vice-president and in 1910 when Mr. Sears died he was made president of the concern.

By 1916 the half interest in Sears, Roebuck & Company had become worth $150,000,000.

Mr. Rosenwald established the revolutionary policy in the mail order business of refunding purchase money to dissatisfied customers without question.

Mr. Rosenwald was married twice. His first wife was Augusta Nusbaum of Chicago to whom he was wed April 8, 1890. She died in May, 1929 and the following January he married the mother-in-law of his eldest son, Lessing Rosenwald. She was Mrs. Edelaide Goodkind, widow of a merchant of St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. Berger will spend a short time in the Telkwa and Smithers district visiting with relatives before proceeding south.

WASHINGTON EDICT ON MANCHURIA EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, D.C., Jan. 7:—Officialdom of the Capital is waiting in keen expectancy for a momentous declaration from the administration in regard to Manchurian affairs and the attack made a few days ago in Mukden on United States Consul Chamberlain by Japanese soldiers.

obstacles if we of the north country undertake the task seriously and energetically. The fathers of confederation undertook a large order in framing the first government which united two peoples of different racial origin and different language into one composite whole. At that time they laid down certain principles which hold good today with regard to the responsibilities of the dominion to the several provinces and territories, responsibilities which have been more definitely stated in the acts establishing the governments of the several provinces.

"An important feature of these acts is the allocation of liabilities, either of the province or of the dominion. In this regard, if we attempt to consider the extent to which the provinces of Alberta and British Columbia have executed their trust in the administration of the north country, a cross-section view of the bonded indebtedness of both provinces will prove most enlightening. In the case of the province of Alberta, the bonded indebtedness of the province, amounting to approximately $120,000,000, is found to be almost entirely in connection with utilities and equipment in which the north country does not benefit except in so small a degree as to be wholly inconsiderable. Of that portion of our provincial bonded indebtedness in connection with provincial telephones, we find a few thousand and allocated to the Peace River country, and more than ninety-five per cent. in the central and southern portions of the province, with which we are not even connected. In the highway bonds we find a similar state of affairs, with not a single mile of standard highway in any part of the Peace River country, and with such sub-standard highways as have been given us representing only approximately the amount our own district has paid in gasoline taxes.

Railway Situation

"In British Columbia a similar situation prevails. The provincial indebtedness in connection with railways has been for a road that does not even touch the northern part of the province. British Columbia's highway indebtedness is for roads in the southern part of the province exclusively, while even the city of Prince Rupert, the only city in the northern half of the province, is denied highway connection with its surrounding district.

"The northern part of both provinces is taxed its full proportion to pay the debts incurred for the southern portions of these provinces. Yet we are denied any semblance of assistance in our own great problem, that of transportation."

We have verified the cash and securities at Head Office at the close of the Bank's fiscal year, and during the year we examined the cash and examined the securities at several of the important branches.

We have obtained all the information and explanations that we have required, and in our opinion the transactions of the Bank, which have come under our notice, have been within the powers of the Bank. The above statement is in our opinion properly drawn up so as to disclose the true condition of the Bank as at 30th November, 1931, and it is as shown by the books of the Bank.

SPORT NEWS

A swashbucklin' old time skipper, with a fine lot of youngsters in his crew, will man the Pittsburg Pirate brig when she sets sail on the baseball seas next spring. George Gibson, colorful old buccaneer leader of years ago, coming out of retirement to take the helm again for Barney Dreyfuss, is pinning his faith on stout hearted recruits, although he'll have nearly all of last season's veterans at his call. The Pirates need a seasoned catcher, Gibson has told the owner of the Bucs, but otherwise the Canadian is pretty much satisfied.

Gibson is receiving encouraging letters from little Tommy Thevenow, shortstop, injured last year just when he was finding himself. If Tommy's legs are all right, he'll be on the job this season. Gus Suhr should improve next season and will be on first, Gibson said. Tony Piet, who set the circuit afire the short time he was in the game last season, probably will win the second base job, but he will have to fight it out with Howdy Groskloss, the sparkling collegian and hometown boy. Either Groskloss or Piet will be available if Pie Traynor should need help at third. Gibby said if the brilliant "Pie" is able to work he'll captain the club again.

The fleet, hard-hitting outfield of last summer will be kept intact, with Paul and Lloyd Waner putting on their famous "brother act" again and Comorosky holding down the other garden post. Glenn Spencer will be a regular pitcher, taking his turn with French, Brame, Meine and Kremer. Eddie Phillips and Earl Grace of last season's backstopping department, may have a fight on their hands if Hal Finney and Bill Brenzel, the Coast leaguers, live up to advance notices.

Likewise, Dave Barbee, Coast outfielder, would like to shove Comorosky or one of the Waners out of a job. Other youngsters who hope to get Pirate uniforms are Jim Nevin and John Niggeling, Western League pitchers; Floyd Vaughn, snappy Western League shortstop; Stan Schino, Wichita outfielder; Floyd Young, an infielder from the Western League; Leon Chagnon, Texas League hurler; Bill Harris, pitcher bought from Waco, and Gus Dugas, slugging Kansas City outfielder.

Chicago, Ill., is connected with 160 cities of the United States by air transport lines.

THE stone church on Komiaken Hill (V.I.) commemorates the bravery of Father Rondault, a Catholic missionary, who by his eloquence, alone and unaided, turned aside the blood lust of the Cowichan Indians from a wholesale slaughter of the white settlers.

The church, partially built in 1870, was never finished, as according to Indian superstition, it was haunted by the spirits of 700 braves massacred on the site twenty years before.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.
Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.
Letters should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

THEIR LOT IS WORSE

Women of Great Britain More Unhappy Than Ever, Says Book

LONDON, Jan. 7.—Regarded as a whole, the women of this country were never in a more unhappy state than they are today. The better class woman now turns criminal more readily than her poorer sister. These are statements in a book on "Woman and Crime" by Cecil Bishop. He says further that women have more imagination than men, and the problems with which they face the dective are in consequence much more difficult. Practically every burglar now uses a woman decoy, whom he trains as an expert driver; and, as Mr. Bishop points out, her clean record will probably save her from punishment on the first occasion on which she is detected. In the great majority of cases she has slipped into crime owing to some lapse from the moral code which, however reprehensible, is not criminal at all. Once thus betrayed into criminal circles, her sex becomes her greatest weapon. It is common to ascribe these evils to the war, but in the author's view the war was merely an irritant which brought into prominence social diseases which up to that time had lain almost dormant. In part they are due to the claim for equality between the sexes, which is translated by the advanced thinker into an equally low moral standard for both of them; in part by the invincible reluctance of parents to acquaint their children with the elementary facts of existence.

Countless girls might have been saved from shipwreck by a little knowledge; and Mr. Bishop deplores the abolition of married women teachers who, under suitable safeguards, might give the very tuition which the parents too often shirk.

The crusade against the white slave traffic is hampered by a hundred petty restrictions; inside the courtyard of a railway station

Noted Actress

In case you wonder what became of Helen Ferguson, stage and screen star, here she is after a trip to Hawaii with her banker-husband, R. L. Hargreaves.

no member of the Metropolitan Police can act; no disorderly house can be raided unless it has been watched for six consecutive nights—it is consequently used only for four. In despair Mr. Bishop is driven to prefer the Continental system of licence and registration. He has a good deal to say about overcrowding in town and country slums, but the most serious problem of all is the vicious foreman or employer who gains his ends by the menace of dismissal. At present the law cannot touch him; but the Times thinks it should not be beyond the wit of the Home Office to draft a new section to the various Criminal Law Amendment Acts which would protect his victims. The question of criminal assaults where consent is a defence is much more difficult. Countless juries have been directed that the consent must be real consent and not a mere submission to superior physical force, but the percentage of acquittals in these cases is extremely high. Indeed, the advent of women on juries has made it more difficult to obtain a conviction, the attitude of respectable women being that no other respectable woman would allow herself to be found in such compromising circumstances and that probably both were to blame.

Cheapest Way of Reaching the People

The cheapest way of reaching practically all the people of Prince Rupert and district is by means of the classified columns of the Daily News.

Nearly everyone has something they could turn into cash through the "For Sale" column. Perhaps they have a house to rent. Here is the chance. Spend 50c on a classified advertisement and secure a tenant rather than have it idle.

If a girl wishes a position or a housewife wishes help, the best means of getting supplied is through a want ad.

Dressmakers sometimes want work; small store-keepers want to move their goods; or maybe you need an article that has been used rather than pay the price for new. Give the Daily News classified columns a trial. Many have been very pleased at the result.

"DEVOTION" ON SCREEN

Fine Picture, Featuring Ann Harding and Leslie Howard in Splendid Roles, Is Offered

"Devotion," current feature on the talking picture program at the Capitol Theatre, can be recommended for the dual reason of being well played by an excellent cast and being a pleasantly clean story.

The lovely Ann Harding has a dual role in this picture and she does a superb characterization not only "straight" but for a good share of the picture disguised as an elderly cockney nursemaid. Miss Harding possesses a poise and sureness of delivery which does not fail to entertain.

Leslie Howard has in "Devotion" the best role that the screen has ever offered him. Compared with this, his talents seem to have been almost wasted in some past pictures. Here the role allows him to demonstrate the splendid actor that he really is.

When a man of Leslie Howard's fine genius is beside a girl of Ann Harding's loveliness and talent, the combination cannot but be pleasing. There is an excellent cast in supporting roles.
