TARDIEU BEATEN IN FRANCE

TWO HUNDRED MORE NUDE DOUKHOBORS ARE ARRESTED

Present French Regime Decisively Overthrown In General Elections

Ex-Premier Edouard Herriot Will Again Assume Power—Most Important Change Will Be Amelioration of Armaments Policy

PARIS, May 9:—Defeated by a decisive margin in the French general elections which concluded yesterday, Premier Andre Tardieu will present the resignation of his ministry to the new president as soon as the latter is elected tomorrow evening. Former Premier Edouard Herriot, leader of the Radical Socialists, is most likely to succeed Tardieu as Premier.

The most important change of policy under Herriot will probably be an amelioration of France's stand in regard to armaments.

PRAIRIES HAVE RAIN

Seeding Operations Generally Delayed—Wheat Acreage Is Less

Alberta Drying

Warm Weather Is Now Needed to Speed Up Spring Operations

WINNIPEG, May 9:—During the past week, cool cloudy weather has prevailed in the grain growing territories of Western Canada, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture, Canadian National Railways. This has resulted in delaying seeding operations in many districts which experienced heavy rainfall the previous week. Prospects at present are that the acreage sown to wheat will be ten percent less than that of a year ago. This decrease will be a gain for the oat and barley acreage. In the final analysis the total acreage cropped this year will not vary much from that of 1931.

From no localities come reports of soil drifting as the drought areas of last year have all received heavy downpours, insuring that seed will go into the ground under more favorable conditions than have existed for the past few years. Many districts report from a slight to a considerable increase in acreage devoted to sweet clover and other fodder crops. This is a direct indication that farmers are thinking more along the lines of farm diversification.

In Manitoba, along the Miami, Carman, Wakopa, Wawanesa, Hartney subdivisions, where land is low, seeding has been delayed on account of excessive moisture but, on higher land, wheat seeding is practically completed and a commencement has been made with coarse grains. In some of these localities early sown wheat is already showing above ground. The cool weather will give the grain a good root and will produce thick stools.

Along the Carberry, Neepawa, Rapid City, Rosburn subdivisions, wheat seeding is rapidly nearing completion and ploughing for coarse grains is being proceeded with while, in other districts, active seeding of oats and barley is in progress.

In the Dauphin-Swansea territory nights have been frosty and bright. Warm weather is required to promote rapid germination.

In Southern Manitoba, in districts which were last year infested with grasshoppers, the municipal councils are organizing to combat these pests if a plague may.

ARMY WILL HOLD ANNUAL SELF-DENIAL

Appeal Being Made For Funds to Carry on Work of Organization During Year

The Salvation Army is an organization that is kept up largely by donations from the public but also by its members who, during this week, deny themselves the luxuries of life and give the savings to the work they are doing.

In all parts of the country army officials are collecting donations from those who recognize the work the organization is doing both here and elsewhere. There are rescue homes, shelters and food depots, industrial and maternity homes and various other activities in the larger centres.

In Prince Rupert the army has always received good support and its officers will doubtless on this occasion be given as good a reception as possible. This is one organization where it is sure that the money contributed is used to good purpose.

TWO MEN MISSING

Fears Entertained For Safety of Alfred Swanson and Hans Berquist Near Dundas Island

Capt. Alfred Swanson and Hans Berquist of this city are missing from the gasboat Myfanwy north of Dundas Island and fears are entertained for their safety. The provincial police boat P. M. L. 8 left early this afternoon to search for them.

Capt. Bert Flewin of the fish packer Taplow II arrived in port late last night and reported to the police that he had found the Myfanwy drifting north of Dundas Island. About half a mile distant was located a dinghy believed to be from the Myfanwy.

There was a strong southeast gale blowing.

It is possible the two men may be marooned on Zayas Island.

Future Motor Car Will Look Good Deal Different Than Present Machine

DETROIT, May 9:—Automotive engineers, looking into the future, have discarded the horse and buggy lines of yesterday and today are reaching into the field of aerodynamics for guidance in building tomorrow's automobile. Holding in prospect a complete revolution in motorcar design they declare progress demands first that the engine must be mounted over the rear axle.

Models of this new type of car have already been built and tests made, indicating to the engineers that, by utilizing experience gained in the development of air navigation, it will be possible to evolve

MACMILLAN ON EUROPE

H. R. MacMillan, vice-president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, who has the controlling interest in the Big Bay Lumber Co. of Prince Rupert, recently returned from a business tour through Europe and he writes his impression in an article just published in "The Commerce of the Nation." The article is full of interest, the first really interesting article ever published in a usually rather dull journal.

Mr. MacMillan deals particularly with Britain, France, Germany and Russia, viewing these countries financially and their effect on Canadian business. He suggests that so far as Britain is concerned the recently reported improvement is mostly psychological and will not show in this year's balance sheets, but is born of experience, faith and courage.

France, Mr. MacMillan sees, tumbling from her former position with between one and two million unemployed. Within the past three months this country has felt the full effect of the depression and has been shocked by bad business failures. Her national deficit amounts to $200,000,000 annually while adverse trade is $480,000,000 and the national railways are losing $100,000,000 a year.

In Germany, by state decree, wages and prices have been reduced as well as rates of interest, freight and commodity prices, postage, power and water. Half the trade union members are out of employment and incomes are low.

Because of the lack of buying power in these three nations, there is unemployment in Canada. Britain blames France for wilfully destroying the pound sterling and rocking the European boat as a demonstration of strength to Germany but the psychological time for compromise among the nations has come with Britain as mediator followed by a return of confidence, enterprise, employment and trade. The British are of this opinion and that the tariff will afford protection and bargaining power.

The Russian situation is interesting and can best be given in Mr. MacMillan's own words:

"There still remains for consideration the situation in Russia, which in some ways profoundly affects Canada. Russia's credit is declining and if she does not pay what can anyone do about it? Their efforts unslacking, the second five-year plan became effective in October last with additional rewards promised to workers in the way of home comforts.

"Some striking visible effects of Russian competition may be cited.

"Gasoline sells in Holland at 10.4 cents per imperial gallon and at 22.6 cents per gallon (including sixpence tax) in England.

"To compete with Russian timber we must sell at $8 per M here. In the last five years Russia is the only country to show an increase in timber export. Up to three years ago, the Pacific Coast of the United States and Canada used to sell from fifty to one hundred million feet of railway ties to the United Kingdom. At present none are being sold and to do so the price would have to be $3 per M.

"Russian competition is ruining the forest industry of Sweden, Finland and Norway, and has forced wages down. In these countries loggers and unskilled mill hands get 55 cents daily and board themselves; skilled sawmill labor $1 to $1.10 daily, and machine tenders in paper mills receive 36 cents per hour.

"Russian newsprint is being sold at $41 a ton in San Francisco, underselling Canada and the East Coast of the United States. Sulphite pulp is being sold at $24 at California ports, seriously affecting prices at importing ports."

Mr. MacMillan is not pessimistic as to the future but he strongly urges the balancing of budgets and all adjusting ourselves to a new standard of living. He says:

"We are justly attached to our standard of living. We will seek to protect it. Let us remember that we are all here because and so long as we can make a living selling forest, mine and fish products in foreign lands. We cannot influence the sale price. That price at present goes chiefly to pay two charges, and two only—taxes and wages. The taxes come first. The higher the taxes the less there is left for wages. The wage earner has, of all people, the greatest interest in bringing about a decrease of all forms of public expenditure."

Drama Enacted Recently at Ivory Island Is Typical of Life on Bleak North Coast

(By "Davaar")

Many heroic deeds were accomplished daily by the three great engineers—Winstanly, Rudyard and Smeaton—with their hundreds of workers during the erection of the three light towers on the famous Eddystone Rock. It was a grand and glorious idea to build such an edifice, but too little is recorded in praise of those gallants who, first of all, acted as light-keepers. Quite uncertain as to the ability of man's building ingenuity and skill to frustrate the terrible onslaught of the huge combers hurled against the tower which often vibrated and shook as if about to crumble to pieces, these people must have suffered much mental anguish throughout their period of horrible isolation.

It is recorded that only two keepers resided on the old wooden erection built by Rudyard and that one of them died suddenly. Owing to the boisterous nature of the weather it was impossible for any boat to make connections with the lighthouse for a whole month during which space of time the survivor's signal of distress was of no avail, making it necessary for him to tend the light all night until, finally, relieved from shore. He could not throw the badly decomposed body into the sea for fear of being subsequently charged with murder. It can better be imagined than described what mental strain the poor fellow experienced in his weird surroundings. It is now generally understood that three attendants work watch and watch on the more isolated lighthouses around the British Isles.

Along the seaboard of British Columbia we have lighthouse keepers in whose interesting lives have occurred many incidents which, if proclaimed to the general public, would prove the existence of unsung heroes and heroines in spite of their obscurity.

On Good Friday last, as I logged the time of passing the lighthouse on Ivory Island on my weekly sojourn to Northern B.C., little did I think of the drama that was to be enacted a few hours afterwards in the little white home perched on Surf Point which juts out into Millbank Sound, marking the western extremity of the sheltered Seaforth Channel. Ivory Island is approximately 325 miles north by west from Vancouver, and known to every traveller through the great "Inside Passage." The lightkeeper is Mr. Greenwood with Mrs. Greenwood as his only assistant. They are both thoroughly conscientious regarding the seriousness of their duties, besides being most capable through having many years of service in several of the most outlying and isolated lighthouses on this coast.

Judging from the nature of their lives one would expect them to be morose and reserved but, on meeting them for the first time recently, I was most agreeably surprised to find them quite the reverse. I have often received a friendly wave from them when steaming past the lighthouse. Mrs. Greenwood, though getting on in years, seems always merry and gay, most agile, and full of pep, with lots of London pawky humor. Mr. Greenwood, trained in the old windjammers, is also brimful of interesting yarns about dory fishing on the Grand Banks and the Pacific. In one of those winter blows so often tragically experienced by the hardy off-shore fishermen of the North Atlantic, he was fortunately picked up after being adrift in a dory for four days.

They are both great naturalists with a vast store of information about sea bird life.

To Get Meat

However, to get to the main theme of this article, it transpired that Mr. Greenwood decided to replenish his larder so, about midday, the weather being auspicious, he rowed to the east side of the island which is about half a mile square and covered with stunted trees.

On beaching his boat he shouldered his loaded rifle, and accompanied by his faithful spaniel, was in the act of stepping on to the rocks when he tripped and fell, mysteriously setting off the trigger, though he had previously attended to the safety click. His right thumb was completely blown away, and his right thigh received practically the entire contents of the shell. A stray pellet struck the point of his nose while another lodged in his neck. After bandaging his hand as best he could he thought about fastening a note to the dog and dispatching him to the lighthouse for Mrs. Greenwood who was the only other person on the island. The dog was wearing no collar and, as Greenwood's knife was shot away and lost in a crevice in the rock, he was unable to cut even a rope yarn from the boat's painter.

Shows Initiative

However, necessity is the mother of invention, and having been trained throughout life to use his initiative powers when in a tight corner, nothing daunted, he procured an old broom which lay, in the bottom of the boat and improvised a crutch with the aid of which he succeeded in reaching the lighthouse via an old trail used by the keepers to the sheltered side of the island. He had weakened considerably from loss of blood, and surely presented a pitiable spectacle when first noticed by his devoted companion, as he struggled painfully towards the door—half crawling, half clinging to the broom for support, accomplishing the homeward journey in three and a half hours, which ordinarily is a ten minutes' walk. The brave little woman got her husband in doors and lavished all the attention she could to ease the excruciating pain. At this time of the year there is very little shipping across Millbank Sound and, as months often elapse without a single visitor, she was almost frantic to know what to do. Instinctively she prayed earnestly that help might be sent her in her hour of distress.

It is said "Truth is stranger than fiction," but oddly enough, a lone Indian, who had established a hunting camp on a neighboring island, actually dropped in to pay the Greenwood's a friendly visit that afternoon, appearing at the door like an apparition to Mrs. Greenwood, whom he had great difficulty in comprehending on account of her excitement.

Indian to Aid

On seeing the injured man the visitor instantly made up his mind what was best for him to do so, knowing that Greenwood was as comfortable as the circumstances would permit, he got aboard his gasboat, and soon covered the 15 miles to Bella Bella Hospital where he gave Dr. Darby the whole story. Besides being preacher and doctor, this much respected gentleman is an amateur navigator with a thorough knowledge of the many intricate and dangerous channels of Northern B.C. Giving instructions to his matron to have everything ready for his return at midnight he chose four willing sturdy native sons from the village and, with a nurse boarded his cruiser "Edward White." A strong south-west mist-laden wind had sprung up causing a nasty swell to break on the rocky shore of Ivory Island and making the landing most difficult. The doctor and his crew were all visitors to the island on previous occasions, thus simplifying matters.

Lighthouse Flashes

Needless to say Ivory Island Lighthouse continued uninterruptedly to flash its friendly ray across the treacherous waters of Millbank Sound that night—thanks to Mrs. Greenwood—thus recalling the lines written in the visitors' book by Sir Walter Scott when he visited the Eddystone Lighthouse in 1815:

"Pharos Loquitur"

"Far on the bosom of the deep
"O'er these wild shelves my watch I keep.
"A ruddy gem of changeable light
"Bound on the dusky brow of night
"The seaman bids my lustre hail,
"And scorns to strike his timorous sail."

Weather conditions made it imperative to postpone the departure until daybreak, when they succeeded in portaging the stretcher case over the rough trail to the lee shore where they boarded the little hospital tender. A fair westerly wind and following sea helped to drive the "Edward White" along Seaforth Channel to finish another of her many errands of mercy.

To show the wonderful team work in the Bella Bella Hospital the matron, wondering at the long delay of the doctor's return, heard the siren of the mission boat "Thomas Crosby" as it was about to tie up to the dock, so she immediately informed Captain Robert Scott of the full particulars. The captain immediately headed for Ivory Island but was intercepted by the doctor on rounding Dryad Point Lighthouse.

A Good Hospital

Once again Dr. Darby and his competent staff of nurses have demonstrated the usefulness of a properly equipped hospital in the upmost isolated regions of British Columbia, for Mr. Greenwood is slowly recovering after the extraction of numerous pellets of lead including the one close to the jugular vein.

Dr. Darby most considerably made arrangements to have friends accompany Mrs. Greenwood while she reincarnates the same brave spirit that imbued the breast of Grace Darling—when she became a world-wide heroine on September 5, 1838, for the noble part she played in saving the nine survivors of the ill-fated steamer "Forfarshire" which met her doom near the storm-battered Longstone Lighthouse off the Northumbrian coast.

greater refinement in motorcar design, develop more power per engine weight and provide easier riding and driving qualities than have yet been achieved.

Designers here are generally agreed that to adopt all at once the things that aerodynamics have revealed would be too much for the motoring public; that the changes must be made gradually. Against this is the contention of T. Tjarda, chief designer of a customs body concern, that there is no real middle ground between the design of today and the ideal rear-engine car of the future.

Rear Engines

L. Clayton Hill, president of another firm of body builders and designers, is another of the enthusiastic advocates of slip-streams and rear engine mounting. Engineers of this firm, he said, have made wind tunnel tests of models, bearing out the claims made by the London engineer and designer, Sir Dennistoun Burnley, who recently told the Society of Automotive Engineers here that the standard car of today consumes no less than 75% of the power given off by the engine, at a speed of from 45 to 60 miles per hour, in overcoming air resistance.

Mr. Hill pointed out that the trend toward the rear engine motorcar is already under way, naming such current advances as slanting windshield, V-shaped radiators and rolled header or pompadour brow with the visor removed, all of which he said are here to stay. Mr. Hill also detected a definite growing of tadpole tails in the region of the rear bumper and he said this tail would gradually be developed into such a shape as to house the rear-mounted engine.

Mr. Tjarda said the coming design may be quite shocking to some at first, but eventually the motorcar will be more beautiful than ever.

terializes this year. Along the Lewvan, Lampman, Avonlea, Gravelbourg, Central Butte, Riverhurst subdivisions in Saskatchewan, weather has been cool with local showers. Land, as far as moisture is concerned, is in excellent shape and wheat seeded varies from 15% to 65%. Surface moisture in all of these districts is sufficient to insure good growth for the next few weeks.

The same conditions prevail along the Yorkton, Tompkins, Rhein, Asquith Dodsland subdivisions and, with the advent of warmer weather, early growth should be rapid.

Along subdivisions constituting the Prince Albert division work on land is proceeding rapidly and, with fine weather, all seeding will be completed in record time although dates of seeding will be later than in some previous years. Land is in good shape and moisture ample.

Alberta Situation

In Alberta, following recent rains, fields are drying quickly and practically all districts report seeding on summer fallow land completed. Warm weather would materially assist in speeding up spring operations as many farmers are becoming anxious and afraid they will be unable to seed as much land to wheat as they expected.

From the Peace River come reports of fine weather with land drying quickly and seeding now general.

Lighter cattle receipts on western stockyards have resulted in prices stiffening and this strength should continue until grass fed cattle begin reaching the market. The hog market has also strengthened. As there will be a decrease in pigs marketed this year, this price improvement should make itself more manifest towards midsummer.

Mrs. O. J. Benson, Seal Cove, N.B., writes:—"I was in a very nervous, rundown condition, and not able to do my own work. NEW COURTS ARE OPENED

Large Crowd Attended Public Function of Prince Rupert Tennis Club Saturday Afternoon

The formal opening of the new courts and club house of the Prince Rupert Tennis Club on Acropolis Hill took place Saturday afternoon under auspicious weather conditions and with a crowd of some ninety persons in attendance. The official opening was conducted by Mayor Cyril H. Orme and other speakers were A. E. Parlow, president of the Prince Rupert Tennis Club, and F. E. Robertson, chairman of the building committee. The building committee has charge of the afternoon's proceedings.

Mayor Orme turned the key of the new courts over from the chairman of the building committee to the president of the club.

Most of those present took advantage of the opportunity to try out the new courts with which all were very pleased. Others played bridge during the afternoon in the fine new club house. Tea was served by lady members of the club.

An American tournament was to have been staged among members of the club yesterday afternoon but the rainy weather prevented it.

The building committee consisted of F. E. Robertson, chairman, W. R. McAfee, Alex Mitchell, Lyman Hinton, Roger Wright and V. S. Moore.

HIGH WINS IN SOCCER

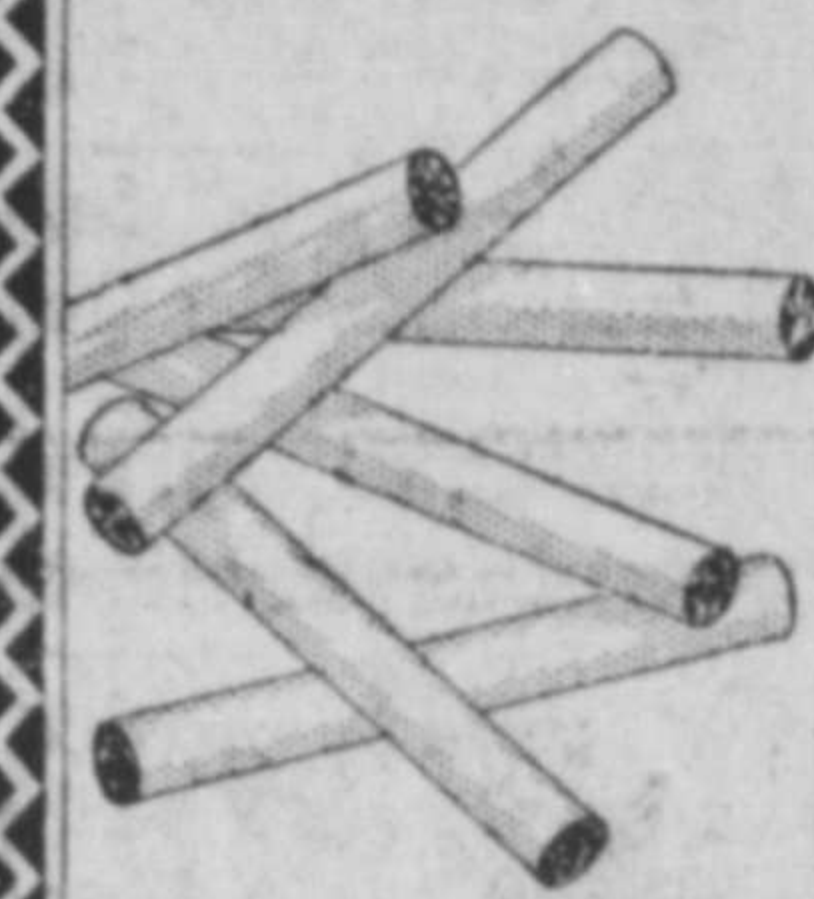

Defeats Booth School By Score of 5 to 1 in Junior League

High School continued its victorious career in the Junior Football League on Saturday by winning over Booth Memorial School by five goals to one although the play was much more even than the score would indicate.

Winning the toss gave High the advantage of the hill and a strong wind so that they early attacked. An awkwardly bouncing ball went off Ritchie's foot to give High the first goal. Then a weak play by Christon gave Nelson a chance and he put Booth level. The play was even with Gomez and Ritchie showing up well for Booth till Watson added a second with a simple bouncing shot that the Booth goalie should have cleared and later followed with a fine cross drive to put High two goals up. Gay caught another high shot and later threw himself at a dangerous shot that hit the upright and went behind. High added another goal to obtain a four to one advantage at half time.

The second half was very even with Booth doing rather more of

'Adam and Fallen Man' Is Science Subject Sunday

The subject of the lesson-sermon in Prince Rupert Christian Science Society on Sunday was "Adam and Fallen Man."

One of the Bible texts was, "Hide thy face from my sins, and blot out all mine iniquities. Create in me a clean heart, O God; and renew a right spirit within me (Psalms 51: 9, 10)."

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through repentance, spiritual baptism, and regeneration, mortals put off their material beliefs and false individuality."

BURNSLAKE

The men in the Decker Lake relief camp went on strike last Monday against the government wage scale of $7.50 per month but, with two policemen early on the job, most of them decided to go back to work. Some of the transients left on the next freight.

Charles Van Tine, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Van Tine of Ootsa Lake, is progressing favorably at the Burns Lake Hospital where he is receiving treatment under Dr. Holmes for painful injuries sustained when he jumped off a windfall and landed on a snag.

BENNETT IS DIFFERENT

Popular Constance Gets New Kind of Part in "Lady With a Past" and Does Well, Too

The popular golden-haired Constance Bennett steps forth with a new characterization refreshingly different from those she has been given in recent films in "Lady With a Past," which is the first of the week attraction on the screen of the Capitol Theatre here. Incidentally, it is a part in which she is entirely at home.

Miss Bennett's role in this picture is that of a young New York society girl who blossoms forth from a shy wallflower into a dazzling charmer under the influence of expert Paris masculine tutelage. In Paris the girl, who had been too shy and serious at home to attract men, falls under the guidance of a charming gigolo, becomes the toast of the ballrooms and cafes, attracts a lot of beaux and, through a turn of circumstances, finds herself a "Lady With a Past" when her old acquaintances in New York begin to sit up and take notice.

The appeal of the production is far from being limited to the eye, however, despite the loveliness of the star and her wardrobe. The story is gay, charming and intensely human. Beautiful sets and excellent atmosphere has been provided and Miss Bennett has been given an adequate supporting cast with Ben Lyon and David Manners in the principal male roles.

Mother's Day Service Held

Ald. P. H. Linzey Speaker at Meeting in Rupert East Church Yesterday Afternoon

A delightful Mothers' Day service was held yesterday afternoon at Rupert East United Church Sunday School. It was a bright and interesting meeting and the hall was tastefully decorated with flowers and mottoes. Many mothers availed themselves of the opportunity of being present.

A thoughtful and instructive address was given by Ald. P. H. Linzey. Mrs. Charles Lord was leader of the service. Misses Jean Watt and Lily May Bell read the scripture and Miss Kathleen Duncan presided at the piano. Jack Collins and Charles Lord Jr. took up the offering.

Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, after having presided at the session of the Supreme Court Assizes, which has been in progress here during the past few days, left on this afternoon's train for Prince George where the spring session will open on Thursday of this week. The judge was accompanied by H. Langley of Victoria, court stenographer.
