C. J. Yorath of Calgary Paid Visit to Prince Rupert Three Years Ago

Brilliant Career

Prominent in Municipal Affairs in Old Country Before Coming to Canada

CALGARY, April 4:—Christopher J. Yorath, president and managing director of the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Heat & Power Co., and former commissioner of the city of Saskatoon, is dead here after a lengthy illness. He was 52 years of age.

Born in Cardiff, Wales, in 1878, the late Mr. Yorath received his education in that city, graduating from the University of Cardiff as a civil engineer. He also took degrees and awards from Canadian and American engineering institutions and was the author of brochures on various phases of municipal affairs including town planning, housing, water supply, sewerage, civic government, municipal finance and administration.

Beginning the practice of his profession with a private engineering firm in Cardiff, Mr. Yorath soon became city engineer of his native city and from 1897 to 1902 played a prominent part in schemes of main drainage, street railway electrification, bridges, roadways, water supply, etc. there. From 1902 to 1908 he was assistant chief engineer of Acton, London, and also had charge of important work there. From 1908 to 1909 he was lecturer on municipal engineering in Westminster Technical Institute, London, and was later engaged on main drainage under Sir Alex Binnie of Acton. He prepared a competitive town planning scheme for Federal City (Canberra) Australia and was deputy engineer of Acton, London, in 1912 and 1913.

Coming to Canada in 1913, he was city commissioner in charge of all administrative work and directing of city financing for Saskatoon until 1917. He later came to Calgary and became interested in municipal utilities here.

The late Mr. Yorath is survived by his widow, two sons and one daughter. He was a member of the Masonic Order and of the Canadian Club. In politics he was independent and in religious belief an Anglican.

The late Mr. Yorath paid a visit to Prince Rupert about three years ago in connection with a bid his company made for the local hydro-electric power utility.

Landings of Foreign Halibut Improve as Result of Better Prices; Three Schooners in

BAGLEY IS NOT HERE

Flurry of Excitement When Desperado is Reported Aboard Steamer Catala

There was quite a flurry of excitement at the Canadian National wharf here yesterday afternoon as the Union steamer Catala docked from Vancouver, several police officers, headed by Inspector John Macdonald and Staff Sergeant Alex McNeill, being on hand in view of a report being received that William Bagley, notorious escaped convict, was aboard the vessel.

A man resembling Bagley stepped off the steamer but he was checked up on and was found to be not the elusive bank bandit and desperado. Constable G. S. Blaney of the city detachment is acquainted with Bagley personally and was among the officers on hand when the steamer arrived to check up on the passengers.

SKELETON IS FOUND

Remains of Man Found Beneath Cannery on Skeena River—Investigation Proceeds

Discovery was made at the week-end of a human skeleton beneath the wharf at Balmoral Cannery across from Port Essington at the mouth of the Estall River. There was nothing to identify the remains except a pair of gray tweed trousers and a belt with the letter "N" inscribed on the buckle. Provincial police were notified and are trying to discover whose remains the bones are.

It is recalled that two years ago a man named Werner Nilsson was one of four men drowned at Falls River and it is thought that his remains may have been carried down the river in the ice.

The police are endeavoring to get in touch with anyone who knew Nilsson, with a view to establishing identity.

POWER OVER MUNICIPALITY

In the bill introduced into the Legislature by the attorney-general providing for increased borrowing powers for municipalities, there is also a provision which looks as if it were put there as a warning not to borrow too much. It is a provision for the appointment of a commissioner by the government to handle the affairs of any defaulting municipality with all the powers of a mayor and council. He would be appointed by the provincial government and would remain in charge as long as it wished.

Take as example the city of Prince Rupert. Had the city defaulted on one of its recent bond payments in New York the provincial government would have dismissed the present mayor and council and appointed some person of its own choice who would take up the work, reporting only to Victoria and with all the powers of the present city council to levy taxes, collect taxes, pay bills and carry on the affairs of the municipality. He would even have the power to pass bylaws.

IS PRINCE RUPERT SLOW?

Page Rideout of the Peace River wants to know in a communication addressed to the Chamber of Commerce if Prince Rupert will wait for a lead from Vancouver before taking action toward the formation of a new province for Northern British Columbia and Alberta. The intimation is that Prince Rupert people are not alive to their own interests and are slow to act.

Possibly the greatest difficulty here is to get unity of action. It seems to be the case that if one person suggests a line of action there is always a faction ready to oppose just as consistently as an opposition opposes the government in the Legislature. People do not judge a cause so much by its intrinsic value as by the people who are suggesting or backing it.

There is also a reluctance to join the Chamber of Commerce and take a part in bringing pressure to bear in the interests of the city.

It is sometimes complained that the big companies are too strongly represented in the Chamber of Commerce and that they use their influence against free action of the chamber. We do not think this is correct. If there is too large a percentage of representation from what is sometimes known as the larger interests, it is because the others refuse to ally themselves with the organization and take part in its proceedings.

When a government or government department, a financial concern or any outside organization wishes information or advice in regard to Prince Rupert, application is made to the Chamber of Commerce. It is the recognized authority for the commercial life of the city. If every merchant and professional man belonged to it and attended the meetings there would be no end to its possibilities. One of the signs of a really live town is a really live chamber of commerce or board of trade supported by the whole business community.

IN THE LETTER BOX

RE THE DOUBLE TAX

Editor, Daily News:—
 With reference to your recent editorial on the subject of "Double Taxation" of the incomes of certain corporations by the Dominion government, we wish to draw to your attention the following extracts from the Dominion "Income War Tax Act" as presently in force:

"A Family Corporation means a corporation seventy-five per cent of the stock of which is owned by members of one family, one or more of which members takes an active part in the business operations of the corporation, or a corporation, eighty per cent of the stock of which is owned by persons actively employed in the business, or by such persons and their families.

"The shareholders of a Family Corporation may elect that, in lieu of the corporation being assessed as a corporation, the income of the corporation be dealt with under this act as if such corporation were a partnership, and each shareholder shall then be deemed to be a partner and shall be taxable in respect of the income of the corporation according to his interest as a shareholder.

"Dividends of a Family Corporation shall be subject to taxation only to the extent that the dividends are in excess of the amount of the income which has been taxed under the provisions of this section."

The above definition of a Family Corporation embraces a large majority of such small companies as formed the subject of your editorial, and it will be seen therefore that your remarks implying double taxation were misleading. For example, the income of a small company to which the definition of a Family Corporation is applicable, and having, say, three shareholders, is not taxable in the hands of the company, but is taxable in the hands of the shareholders according to their interests as shareholders. Dividends of such a company, in excess of what would be the net taxable income of the company, are taxable in the hands of the shareholders, but only to the extent of such excess. That is to say, the company pays no tax; the shareholders are taxed according to their proportionate interest in the net profits of the company, and, if dividends are paid, also on the amount by which such dividends exceed the amount of net profits on which they have already been taxed. There is therefore no duplication of tax.

By registering as a Family Corporation in the manner provided by the act, the members have the advantage of being taxed at a lower rate than the ten per cent charged on company profits, and can also claim, as individuals, higher exemptions than are allowed to companies.

As this seems rather an unpropitious time to suggest to an already heavily loaded taxpayer that he is being taxed twice on the same income by the same government, the foregoing information is supplied to you for use as you see fit.

GEORGE RORIE & CO.

ARE WE STRUGGLING?

Editor, Daily News:—
 Citizens, are you being paid war time wages? Retailers, are you enjoying war time prices? Wholesalers, are your goods not moving on account of war time prices? We all who buy meat, flour, butter and eggs know quite well that the producer is not even enjoying hard time prices for his product.

After the existence these times there still are a few who believe in war time prices. Not only that but it also appears to me they believe if a man is born in a barn he is a horse and has no other place in life. There are a few citizens who have enjoyed ten to fifteen years of war time prices in the barber business and still there are no changes in their prices. Better still, with this volume of prosperity to their credit they are now striving to meet their obligations. The one man fair cheap shop gets the blame. Just imagine a one man shop can cause so much hardship. That alone ought to be enough to prove what the public want.

Mr. Citizen was also brought to mind, I have been informed Mr. Citizen is out of town, perhaps on the east coast. Some good citizen sure is, as trans-Atlantic rates have been reduced from twenty to forty per cent.

Thanking you in advance, Mr. Editor for giving a poor immigrant space in your valuable paper.
 H. A. NELSON.

LADY SAW DOUBLE WHILE READING

Some time ago a middle aged woman, complaining of headaches and also that whenever she tried to read the print would appear double, called for examination at the Optical Dept. of Max Heilbronner, Jeweler, Mr. G. F. Davey, Reg. Optometrist soon located the trouble, a neglected case of eyestrain, which caused one eye to turn slightly above the other. This caused the double vision and the headaches from the muscles trying to maintain single vision. The proper glasses relieved the eyestrain and single vision with comfort resulted at once.

It's poor economy to neglect the eyes as in many cases a turned eye loses its vision entirely. Phone 264 for appointment.

Two Great Teams, Arsenal and Newcastle United, to Battle in English Cup Final This Month

(By G. W. Laidler)

Who will win the English Cup? That is the question followers of Old Country football all over the world are asking themselves from day to day. The issue will be decided on Saturday, April 23, at Wembley Stadium. The contesting teams in this year's final are "Arsenal" and "Newcastle United," both of which are members of the First Division of the English League and these teams give promise of providing a titanic struggle before the destiny of the famous silverware is decided for another year.

In a league game a few days ago the same two teams met at Highbury and, after a dour struggle, the home team (Arsenal) ran out winners by the narrow margin of one goal to nil. This game drew a crowd of 60,000 people, thus providing supporters of both teams an opportunity of sizing up their favorites' chances on the "fateful" day.

"Cup Final" Day in the Old Land is looked upon as one of the major sporting attractions of the year and is the magnet that draws the people from far and near to Wembley Stadium in London. Last year there were 92,406 in attendance at the game between Birmingham and West Bromwich Albion, two Midland teams, and this year's classic will no doubt, see an even larger crowd because one of the representatives is the premier London team and the match takes place in London.

"The Arsenal" is always a great drawing card because of the very expensive team and is often referred to as the "Bank of England" team. Several of the star players have cost thousands of pounds in transfer fees, whereas the popular manager, Herbert S. Chapman, is recognized as the highest salaried manager in the Old Country today. That he has been successful in assembling a powerful match-winning combination is evidenced by the fact that, in the last three successive seasons, "The Arsenal" has been to the fore in the "honors list" in English football. After five appearances in the semi-final of the Cup they were finally successful in winning the trophy for the first time in the season of 1929-1930. This was followed in the next season by winning the league championship, also for the first time and now, as a fitting climax to their run of success, they are again appearing in the final and, at present, have a glorious opportunity of also carrying off the league championship, as they are now only separated from the leaders, "Everton," by three points, but still have a match in hand. Should "Arsenal" manage to lift both the Cup and the league championship in the one season it would be the first time that this notable feat has been accomplished since the year 1889 when Preston North End achieved the honor.

"Newcastle United," as a contrast to Arsenal, has passed through the most trying and troublesome times of its long career in the last two seasons, as it had to fight very hard indeed to avoid relegation into the Second Division of the league in the season 1929-1930 and again in 1930-1931.

The present campaign, however, has seen a welcome revival and, besides being one of the cup finalists, they are well up among the leading teams in the league. "The Geordies," while they may not be looked upon as such a powerful team as Arsenal, are a team of youth and energy. Some of the players were of the ready-made type and were only secured at high transfer fees, but the majority of them were of the inexpensive variety and were signed on in their 'teens and developed by the club. There is no doubt that the success of Newcastle in this season's campaign has been mainly due to the sterling managerial qualities of the famous old Glasgow Rangers star, "Andy" Cunningham. He was transferred to Newcastle from the Rangers in the role of player-manager but this season has devoted his entire time to the arduous duties of manager, with gratifying results due to his ability to pick up at the opportune moment young players of the stamp and quality that produce the stars of tomorrow. An abundance of strong reserve strength has been a feature of the "Tyneiders" success.

Four Times Champions

Newcastle United have been league champions four times, the last occasion being in the season 1926-1927. They have also made seven appearances in the semi-final of the cup competition and have been successful in winning the trophy only on two occasions. The last one was just eight years ago, in April, 1924, and recalls to mind an unusual incident in the history of the club. So intent were the directors on winning the cup they apparently rested several of their star players and fielded weak teams in seven league matches. The Football League, however, got "wise" to the little scheme and the result was Newcastle was obliged to pay a fine of £750 to the league as a penalty, which just goes to show how well the professional game is handled in the Old Country for the benefit of the public.

For the benefit of the many local Old Country football fans we give below thumbnail sketches of the players who, barring injury or unforeseen circumstances in the meantime, will wear their respective club colors in this season's struggle for supremacy and possession of the coveted English Cup, emblematic of the Blue Ribbon of football in England.

The Arsenal

Moss (goalkeeper)—Transferred this season from Oldham Athletic and immediately took his place in the side to the exclusion of Freedy. Safe and consistent.

Parker (right full-back)—Conscientious captain and a great defender, though reaching the veteran stage. Has already led Arsenal and received the cup at Wembley. Many years with Southampton before going to Highbury.

Hapgood (left full-back)—Bristol born; arrived at Highbury via Kettering. Has already figured in international trial and would no doubt get his cap but for the brilliance of Blenkinsop.

Jones (right half-back)—Joined Arsenal in May, 1928 from Notts Forest as forward; since converted into a wing half-back. Played for Wales in schoolboy and full internationals, and was partner to Vizard when Wales surprised England at Selhurst Park.

Roberts (centre half-back)—Often referred to as Arsenal's centre full-back and has earned the nickname of "P.C." for vigilance in regard to rival centre-forwards.

John (left half-back)—Welsh international. Offered himself to Cardiff City, but was not accepted. Born at Barry, he played for the town club and Caerphilly. Signed for Arsenal in 1922.

Hulme (outside right)—One of the fastest men in football. Can give most defenders five yards and a beating and can shoot on the run. Staffordshire is his native place, and his previous clubs were York City and Blackburn.

Jack (inside right)—The most costly player on Arsenal's books, and the first player to change clubs for a five-figure fee. Bolton Wanderers was his previous club.

Parkin (centre-forward)—Taken over from Lambert when he lost his shooting boots and confidence. A young player from the northeast, he has scored numerous goals in four seasons for Arsenal's second string.

James (outside left)—The "baby" of the side; actually an inside right. Like all the other forwards, with the exception of Parkin, is an international. Possible injuries may eliminate him from cup final.

Newcastle United

McInroy (goalkeeper)—Preston born, he went to Newcastle in October, 1929, in a critical period from Sunderland. Proved a rare investment, and at the moment playing right on top of form. Played for England against Ireland in 1927.

Nelson (right full-back)—Captain of the team. Secured from Cardiff City in July, 1930. Splendid positional ability and a player whose steady influence is most marked. Born at Greenock, he has three Scottish caps, and bright prospects of adding to his collection this season.

Fairhurst (left full-back)—A Northumbrian; born at Bedlington, and discovered in the Blyth Spartans' nursery at Walsall, from whom he joined United in May, 1929. Comes from footballing family.

McKenzie (right half-back)—"Father" of the team, being secured from Clacknacuddin (Inverness) in September, 1922. Has all the qualities that make for the complete half-back and always keen to discuss the theory of the game. Born at Inverness, and has been noted by Scottish selectors this season.

Davidson (Centre-half)—Born in Aberdeen and secured from Liverpool in January, 1930. Did not make good until last season, since when he has revealed his full worth.

Weaver (left half-back)—Notorious for his tremendous throw. From corner flag can place the ball further than the far upright. A half-back who excels in developing and participating in attack. A splendid shot. Born at Pagsley and secured from Hull City in November, 1929.

Boyd (outside right)—Been with United since May, 1925. Form varied for a long time, but Newcastle has persevered, and now he is repaying in full as a scoring winger. Born in Glasgow and secured from St. Bernard's.

Richardson (inside right)—Born at Ashington and another product of Blyth Spartans, having joined Newcastle as a youngster in April, 1928. Villa wanted him, and now regret that they missed one of the stars of the game. An artist with the ball and develops tremendous thrust.

Allen (centre forward)—Another local, born at Newburn and went from Prudhoe Castle to Leeds, then to Brentford, but it was with Sheffield Wednesday that he built his reputation as a dashing and persistent leader; possessed of a tremendous shot.

McMenemy (inside left)—Son of the famous "Napoleon" McMenemy, born at Glasgow, and has turned out to be the pick of the Scottish Intermediates, for which there was such a scramble. May seem slow at times, but he schemes to great purpose, and has a delightful swerve. Clever in exploiting the cross pass. Secured from Strathclyde.

Lang (outside left)—Another Scot, born at Larkhall, near Glasgow, and came to Newcastle from Larkhall Thistle in October, 1926. A scoring winger with whom the club has persevered to get best results this season.

The Referee

The appointed referee is W. Percy Harper of Stourbridge. In 1926 and again last year he was one of the linesmen at Wembley in the Cup Final. Since 1924 he has been honorary secretary of the Worcester F. A.; he is treasurer of the association of Football League Referees and Linesmen, and a leading member of the Kidderminster Referees' Society.

'Unreality' Was Lesson-Sermon Subject Sunday

The subject of the lesson-sermon in Prince Rupert Christian Science Society on Sunday was "Unreality."

One of the Bible texts included in the lesson-sermon was the following from I Peter 5: 6, 7: "Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time; casting all your care upon Him; for He careth for you."

The lesson-sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Suffering, sinning, dying beliefs are unreal. When divine science is universally understood, they will have no power over man, for man is immortal and lives by divine authority."

DEAN OF PASTORS

the 19th century and well into the 20th. When Dr. Patterson was born in the West Barony of Kilsyth, George IV was on the throne. When he came to Canada at the age of 27 Confederation was still 10 years off. Dr. Patterson was ordained into the Church of Scotland ministry at Dunoon and actually came to settle in this country by accident; he wanted to visit an aunt who lived in Prince Edward Island.

He stayed in Canada, becoming pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Hemmingford, Que., for a quarter of a century. In 1882 he was appointed Protestant chaplain for prisons and hospitals in Montreal and served in this capacity for 35 years. He acted as clerk of the Presbytery of Montreal through these two periods, finally retiring from his church activities in 1917 at the age of 87.

During the time he was chaplain for prisons and hospitals he was attached to the staffs of several charitable institutions, in Montreal and did much to ameliorate the conditions of the many who suffered from the spring floods that visited the lower part of the city annually in those days.

Helped Children

The Fresh Air Fund of Montreal was founded by Dr. Patterson and a number of church workers. Beginning in a small way it provides ways and means to send poor mothers and children to the country during the summer and now has permanent headquarters at Chambly, Que. Until he was more than 100 years old Dr. Patterson regularly attended the Fresh Air Fund's annual picnics.

The honorary degree of doctor of divinity was conferred on him in 1915. For a number of years he was the oldest minister in Canada.

Dr. Patterson was always interviewed by the Montreal press on his birthday after he reached the century mark. He could give no particular reason for his remarkable longevity. He used to testify that he had worked very hard during his lifetime. He was a lifelong teetotaler but until he was more than 80 used to smoke in moderation.

Dr. Patterson married in 1860 Rossina, daughter of Dr. Francis Sheriff of Huntington, who predeceased him.

Legion Questions Grotto Crib Supremacy — Tobacconists Do Likewise With Whist

The Canadian Legion, winners of the Fraternal Whist League for the past season, has challenged the Grotto, winners of the Cribbage League, to a cribbage match. Grotto has similarly challenged the supremacy of the Legion at whist. Accordingly it has been agreed to fight it out and the whist will be played tonight with a date to be set later for the cribbage evening.

Miss Eby Speaks Before Pastors

Representative of British and Foreign Bible Society Addressed Ministerial Association

The Prince Rupert Ministerial Association was addressed at its regular monthly meeting this morning by Miss Eby of the British and Foreign Bible Society who has been here from Vancouver for the past few weeks. The talk proved very interesting to a good-sized attendance of the city clergy with Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth, president of the association, in the chair. Routine business included assignment of members to Sunday services in Prince Rupert General Hospital and weekly sermons for the press.

The reckless motorist is usually the fellow who has no place to go and is anxious to get there.
