ABANDON FRASER SALMON

Quite a number of years ago the Daily News objected strenuously to the fisheries department taking salmon fry from the Skeena watershed and planting them in the Fraser, the argument at that time being that the Fraser River fish were mostly caught by the United States canners and that Canada benefitted very little from the money expended.

Now it seems that the people in the south are just beginning to realize what we have known for years and are suggesting a line of policy advocated by this paper years ago. It is just as useless to try to build up the fishing on the Fraser while the Americans take their toll each year as it would be to try to build up the fishing on the Naas while the fish have to run the gauntlet of American traps and Canadians are not allowed to use traps in the same channel. There must be a give and take in all these international relations, not all give and no take.

BETTER FOR EVERYONE

Not only would it be better for Prince Rupert and better for the interior towns that there should be a reasonable rate given on the railway cars between Prince Rupert and Terrace, but it seems as if it would be a good thing also for the railway company. At present the company is getting almost nothing out of it because the rate is prohibitive. People do not transport their cars and pay forty dollars for doing so.

If the rate were brought down the extra expense entailed to the company would be very small. They would not have to pay out any more money in order to carry an extra box car for the autos. Anything they received would be practically velvet.

If at every point along the line of railway including Prince George, a request is made, not in the spirit of hostility to the railway company but with the idea of helping both them and us, we believe that it will receive serious consideration and the probability is we shall get what we are asking.

WHO WOULD IT BENEFIT?

Someone who does not own a car asks who this would benefit? It would benefit most the people of the interior who have been looking in vain for the tourist trade which they expected. If the tourists could go right through to Prince Rupert, the inducement would be greater for them to make the northern trip. At any rate it would be worth a trial.

Prince Rupert would benefit through the hotels, the garages, the tire dealers, and all merchants would stand a chance of getting a little pickings. The private citizen owning a car would have an opportunity of making the tour through as far as the lumber mills beyond Prince George or of driving out to Vancouver and other cities.

It seems quite probable that the section of the northern provincial highway between Prince George and Jasper will be finished long before that to Prince Rupert. In view of that it is very important to establish the rail route for cars at this end so that prairie people who wish to do so may drive through to the coast at this point.

It's not stretching things very far to say that rubber bathing suits like this one will soon be seen on Canadian beaches. Thelma Chase, who gave a demonstration recently, says they cannot be outdone by cloth swimming suits.

A SATURDAY SERMON

The Power of Possession

(By Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook, St. Peter's Church, Seal Cove)

A few days ago a young lady said to the writer, "Jesus must have been supremely happy for He radiated it always."

Happiness is not dependent upon external environment but upon correct mental and spiritual attitudes. The "Beatitudes" (Matt. V.) is a series of illustrations of correct attitudes towards life resulting in happiness. If, then, we discover the right attitude toward any fact of life we may transmute that fact or event into happiness. Even Death may lose its sting.

The third Beatitude literally rendered reads "Happy the meek for they shall possess the land." But the word "meek" does not always convey to the uninquiring its true significance. There is a tendency to interpret meekness as weakness or mere passiveness amounting to almost will-lessness, whereas it is active—a strong will subordinating itself to a teacher. It is willing receptiveness. It is a learner sitting at the feet of anyone or anything capable of revealing truths new or old.

It is a Darwin, as a pupil before a mass of sea slime, a Robert A. Millikan spending sleepless nights the slave of an electron. It is a Linnaeus and the Twin-flower interpreting Wordsworth's "Ode on Intimations of Immortality."

"To me the meanest flower that blows can give Thoughts that do often lie too deep for tears."

It is Jesus the Son of God hearing and asking questions. It is Mary sitting at the feet of the Master and letting the world go by.

"Except ye become as little children ye cannot enter."

To be "meek" then in the mind of Jesus is to be acutely alive and as receptive as a child.

Socrates today possesses the world in the dignity of virtue and truth in contrast to the vulgarity of paraded social position, wealth or fame. He was meek and gained happiness through the school of suffering. His last words were that his sons might be taught in the same school. He was one with Jesus in the thought "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Darwin possesses the world of evolutionary science. So does Millikan. So does Jesus. So in a deeper fuller sense Jesus possesses the world. The world's great thinkers may capture the respect of all but they can only really possess the intellect of a very select few, but the ethical teaching of Jesus is graspable and understandable by the most backward as well as the most enlightened peoples.

There is not a spot on this earth that is not to a greater or lesser degree possessed by Jesus. There is no place where the cultured intellect, "the super-man," does not kneel side by side with the most primitive at the Lord's Table and hold out hands for a common food thus professing a common sonship and a common brotherhood.

"Take my yoke upon you and learn of me for I am meek and lowly in heart and ye shall find rest in your souls."—Jesus.

Man in the Moon

Easter is less than two weeks away and ladies are thinking of new hats, spring suits and other new things.

Jake declares with emphasis that an angel of a hat usually costs a devil of a price.

The really clever person today is the one who can find enough income on which to live.

The other day I heard a joke to the effect that prosperity was just around the corner. Which corner?

The only thing I enjoy about this depression is seeing some of my rich friends go broke. Now we can meet on equal terms.

Jake wants to know how much is a billion dollars. The answer is "An awful lot."

The chairman of the city finance committee is said to be in high glee. If something happens that he hopes will happen he will be able to sell all the city reverted lots for as much as the assessment against them.

Beaming Hostess, to three men telling stories in a corner: "Why you poor dears, you're being neglected!"

Fish Dealer: "Fresh, lady? Why, this fish breathed its last just as you came in the door."

Customer (sniffing): "And what a breath it had!"

The Letter Box

MR. KANE'S LITTLE JOKE

Editor, Daily News:— With your permission, Mr. Editor, I offer a cure for our present financial condition. There is no sense in hiding the truth. All can see the great number of lots that have reverted to the city on account of default in payment of taxes, and the end is not yet in sight.

It is impossible for Prince Rupert to maintain the present large area and keep up the improvements. We shall be forced to close many streets, else face damage actions.

I propose herein to hew to the line and let the chips fall where they will. As many of you probably know I have the best title to the main part of Prince Rupert and hold a proven claim to 1120 acres right in the centre of this city. I was promised justice from the cabinet of that day and after spending thousands of dollars "with victory in sight," I was faced with the cowardly plea that "the King could do no wrong."

Now just to explain to those that don't understand this expression I will say that no judge can sit on a case after this plea has been presented by the Attorney-General. At great expense I compelled the government to properly endorse their refusal on my writ. This writ I still hold and same will never die since I have this endorsement thereon.

Now what I propose is that if pressure were executed against our cabinet at Victoria we could cause them to reverse that decision and have our present Lieutenant-Governor endorse my Flat with the words "Let Right Be Done," and believe me, fellow citizens, I will do the rest. When reinstated in this 1120 acres I will file a plot in the most used portion of this city commensurate with our requirements, and will grant each owner of improved lots a clear title "with safety clauses therein," but free from municipal debt, on payment to me of an amount equal to one-half of this present year's taxes. After the first year the annual tax would be levied by the provincial assessor. To people living on my land outside this chosen area. I will exchange their lots to similar holdings in this chosen area. While they would lose a great deal in tearing down and moving their buildings yet, as it is, they will soon lose all. You may just as well console yourself to solid facts. These bankers and financiers will of course lose on their debtore holdings, but they are guilty of imposing this debt on Prince Rupert. What right has a bank to advance one dollar unless authorized by the Municipal Act so to do?

Quality has no substitute

Tea "fresh from the gardens"

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, GEO. F. KANE.

Moose Dance Is Enjoyable

A very enjoyable dance took place last night in the Moose Hall under the auspices of the Moose Lodge from 9:30 p.m. until 1:30 a.m. There were about sixty couples present and all were loath to go home as Bob Greenfield and his peppy Premier Orchestra closed the dance with the National Anthem. Door prizes were awarded to Miss Dolly Montgomery and C. Horswell.

A. K. Nelson was master of ceremonies and was ably assisted by the genial Joe Slaggard and the various members of the committee. Ted Rorvik and H. Loakes presided at the door. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edwards.

"How do they do it?"

Among your friends there's sure to be at least one smart young married couple who are the envy and admiration of all who know them.

With an income that is frankly abbreviated, and with no benevolent Aunts in the offing, they still have a home that is correct and comfortable in all its appointments, a home that is admired and copied by their friends.

"Yes, Jane is a remarkable little manager," will probably be the young husband's proud answer. And there is little doubt about it.

THEY DO IT THIS WAY

Take a look around that home and you will find no end of well known advertised products. For Jane is an efficient little manager. She can't afford to take chances that must only be debited to "Experience." When she buys for her home she must get tried and tested and trusted products which carry an honorable name to guarantee her satisfaction.

You will find that Jane is a consistent reader of the advertisements. Are you?

DEPUTY IS RESENTFUL

Patrick Philip Objects to Suggestions Made by A. M. Manson, M.L.A.

VICTORIA, March 12—Before the public accounts committee of the Legislature a few days ago Patrick Philip, veteran deputy-minister of public works, denied charges made by A. M. Manson, M.L.A. for Omineca, that there had been waste in the purchase of equipment by his department. Mr. Philip asserted that eighty-five percent of the machinery purchased was used continually on capital and maintenance work.

When Mr. Manson accused Mr. Philip of being reckless in his statements and saying things he knew to be untrue, Mr. Philip resented the suggestion and said that he did not propose to be browbeaten by anybody and added: "I don't propose to have my character questioned by any person on this committee irrespective of who he is."

ACTIVITY FOR GOLD

Cariboo, Atlin, Dease Lake and Omineca placer areas are receiving more attention today than they have for many years, declared George A. Clothier, former resident mining engineer here, in speaking before the British Columbia Chamber of Mines in Vancouver recently. Lode gold areas are also operating profitably.

There is little incentive just now in prospecting for copper properties, unless high grade ore carries enough gold to make it profitable, Mr. Clothier continued. He predicted that lead will probably be the first metal to increase in price as new lead-bearing deposits are being discovered.

CHILD need REGULATING?

CASTORIA WILL DO IT!

When your child needs regulating, remember this: the organs of babies and children are delicate. Little bowels must be gently urged—never forced. That's why Castoria is used by so many doctors and mothers. It is specially made for children's ailments; contains no harsh, harmful drugs, no narcotics. You can safely give it to young infants for colic pains. Yet it is an equally effective regulator for older children. The next time your child has a little cold or fever, or a digestive upset, give him the help of Castoria, the children's own remedy. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

BASKETBALL

March 15
S. O. C. vs. C. N. R.
Tuxis vs. Merchants.
Cardinals vs. Amazons.
Rovers vs. Japanese.

By Large Crowd Last Night and Climactic Finish Was Afforded

There was tense excitement for the basketball games played in the Auditorium last night. With the fans going wild in their seats, the C. N. R. A., with ten minutes to go and the score 23-5 against them, crept up on the Panthers steadily and, in the dying moments of the game, turned seemingly sure defeat into victory, beating the Panthers 27-26. This makes the C. N. R. A.

a cinch for the second half and they will battle with the Panthers again at a later date for the city championship.

The Intermediates also put up a stirring and very close game but the High School got the edge in the last few minutes and again defeated the Tuxis 26-22.

The girls' game was a one-sided affair in which the Amazons thoroughly defeated the Cardinals 17-7 to clinch the Ladies' League.

The Japanese Young People defeated the League of Nations 14-8 to give them a chance with the Rovers to battle for Junior League honors in the second half.

Senior Game

This game started fast with the Panthers playing stellar basketball and using perfect combination which completely baffled the C. N. R. A. who strained valiantly but to no avail. It looked like a one-sided affair when the whistle blew at half time and the score stood 15-2 for the Panthers.

The second half started with the same enthusiastic play, the Panthers completely outplaying the railway boys who were a little off in their shooting. With but 10 minutes to go the score stood 23-5 for Panthers. Then the fans were treated to one of those peculiar changes which often happen in sport. The C. N. R. boys started to pep up and sank a couple of baskets. They got heartened at this and ripped the ball time after time through to Styles under the basket, piercing the defence of the Panthers who were weakening fast. With deliberate and decisive play, they kept the Panthers at bay and kept piling up the score for themselves till, with a few minutes to play, they found themselves tied. The fans roared with excitement as C. N. R. scored again to give them a lead of two points just before the whistle blew. It looked impossible for a while for C. N. R. to win but they played winning ball in the face of defeat and were rewarded by victory, 27-26.

C. N. R. A.—Styles (10), D. Morrison (2), Johnson (9), Lambie (6), Nelson, J. Morrison.

Panthers—Mitchell (10), Irvine, Cross (5), Lyons (2), McDonald (9), Thurber.

Intermediate Game

These boys also put up a real clean and fast exhibition of ball. At no time was the game secure for either side. The score did not vary any more than two or three points between the teams. Both teams played good combination but the Tuxis were away off in their shooting. If they had scored half their shots they could easily have won. However, the team that gets the baskets wins so the High School beat the Tuxis, 26-22.

High School—Walters (5), Wingham (13), Unger (6), Vance, Tobey, Hickey (2).

Tuxis—Morrison (3), R. Morrison (6), Nakamoto, Thurber (4), Smith (1), Hanson (3).

Girls' Game

The girls' match was very one-sided and the Amazons played all over the Cardinals.

Amazons—Boddie (7), Pritchard (6), Tite (4), McLeod, Ritchie.

Cardinals—Lowe, Irvine (3), Stone (2), Gilchrist (2), Rivett, Steen.

Junior League

The Junior match was also very one-sided. The Japanese played all over the League of Nations who have a habit of dribbling the ball too much and taking long shots. The Japanese used combination and cinch shots instead of long ones and consequently won, 14-8.

Japanese Y. P.—Obata (6), Kanaya (4), Kishimoto (4), Suehiro, Nakamoto.

League of Nations—Gillis (2), Antonello, Arney, Marshall, Greer, Allen (6).

Fire Protection Proposals to Be Dealt With Later

In view of the fact that the fire marshal for the province is expected to pay a visit to the city in the near future, the house committee recommended to the hospital board last evening that certain proposals offered some time ago by the fire marshal in the interests of better fire protection at the hospital be not acted upon until after the official has been here and made a personal inspection. Among the proposals are that fire hose racks and valves be lowered so as to be at closer reach, that the fire extinguishers be regularly inspected and records kept, that drip basins be placed below lysol barrels and that alcohol and such supplies be stored in a cool place away from radiators.

People, as a rule, are not so dumb. They know exactly what kind of weather we are having.

SPORT NOTES

The psychic bid in contract bridge is pictured by Mrs. P. H. Sims as a monster which, to garble a metaphor, will bite the hand that feeds it. Mrs. Sims, petite wife of the doughty Captain of the famous "Four Horsemen" of bridge, has reason to know, she asserted, because psychic bidding by her teammates was the potent force that eliminated them from the Reisinger team of four competition, just played in New York. "I invented psychics, you know," Mrs. Sims explained. "Years ago in Chicago, I was playing auction in a tournament. I was a little rusty on auction so I simply bid helter-skelter. It worked like a charm, so I wrote an article about it.

"I meant to call it 'Psychologica'."

but somehow I wrote it 'sycic.' I'm a little erratic at spelling. It seemed to be great stuff and I kept bidding them. In a Philadelphia tournament I bid so many they accused me of being dishonest. But they worked. But I started something I couldn't stop. I'm through with them forever. People are getting hysterical about them, and the game is being ruined. Psychological play is all right, but—no more psychics (please spell that 'sycics')."

Mrs. Sims is women's vice-president of the American Bridge League and the former holder of four national bridge titles. She started the interview by reading some notes she had jotted down concerning psychics. Here is what she wrote:

Sharp Pains In His Heart
Nerves In Bad Condition

Mr. Fred J. Chase, Thomson Station, N.S., writes: "I have used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills with wonderful results. My heart would beat so fast I would have to sit down when at work chopping in the woods. I had sharp pains in my heart when I would lie down at night. My nerves were also in a very bad condition, but after using two boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel just fine, and am fourteen pounds heavier than I have been for years."

Stole 500 Chickens
But Left His Card

IN A certain suburban district, 500 chickens had disappeared, but no one could find the thief. Then one morning, in the hen-house of E. O. Wagner, a pocket mirror was found. On that mirror was a thumb print.

In the finger print records of a nearby city was found a print that matched it. It said, as plainly as a letter, "The man who stole those chickens is Albert Espens. He lives in Bakersfield. He is father of 11 children, but not straight."

They found the chickens in a hideout, beneath the culprit's barn. They put him behind the bars. He made the mistake of leaving a record with a finger print impressed.

Germ-Laden Prints

This is told to remind you that you leave finger prints on everything you touch. And those finger prints are usually germ laden.

You pick up the germs from things others have touched, from handshakes, from pets, etc. Your touch may convey them to foods—to a piece of toast you butter, to a cookie, to a chocolate. A few of those germs may breed to millions in the mouth. From there they go to attack vital organs.

Life Extension Institute lists 27 diseases which may be conveyed in this way. Colds are the most common, perhaps. Any hand which has been used to check a sneeze or a cough becomes contaminated. And every touch of that hand, in the print it leaves, may spread colds.

How to be Safe

Lifebuoy Soap is used by millions, the world over, to combat these dangers. It contains an antiseptic. Its lather washes away the germs, or makes them inactive.

So, wise people use Lifebuoy often, and always before meals. They teach their children the habit. Thus Lifebuoy, in every country, is bringing safety as well as refreshing cleanliness to thousands of users.

A Delightful Way

Lifebuoy is a luxurious soap, based on two palm oils. No better soap was ever made, no greater beautifier. Its lather is gentle and abundant. There is no perfume—but a refreshing scent of safety, which lingers but a moment, yet tells you it purifies—and protects.

Another safeguard is against body odours. Lifebuoy's friendly lather goes deep into the pores of your skin, cleansing them of odour-causing waste. Use Lifebuoy for every bath—then all evening or during the day, you may be sure of no offensive odour from the body.

If you will prove these facts for yourself, by a simple trial, you will always wish to have this luxury soap at hand.

Halibut Crisis is Approaching—Salmon Packers Commence Operating—Herring Seining Continues

Owing to the low price situation, a number of the Prince Rupert halibut boats are now tying up with a view to cutting their losses and avoiding further "hole" trips. With prices of 4c and 2c prevailing, it is absolutely impossible for the fleet to even pay its way much less operate at a profit. Even now it is beginning to appear that the only remedy for the situation is a further curtailment of production by reduction of the number of units in operation. A crisis appears to be fast approaching so far as the halibut fishery of the Pacific Coast is concerned.

After having spent the past few years in California, Kenneth Meagher, son of Harry Meagher, former agent here for the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union, returned to Prince Rupert during the past week. Conditions in California are far from promising and Kenneth concluded that opportunities were still better in little old Prince Rupert. His father is now engaged in cod fishing at San Pedro and it is not beyond the realms of possibility that he may also return to Prince Rupert.

Halibut prices have recently slumped at Seattle and Ketchikan although to not as great an extent as at Prince Rupert. During the week ending March 1 some quarter of a million pounds was landed at Seattle, selling at from 7c and 3c to 14.5c and 10c. At Ketchikan during the week ending March 5, 234,400 pounds was landed of which the lion's share was taken by the Alaska Fishermen's Co-operative for shipment on consignment to the eastern markets. What little fish was taken by the regular buyers brought only 5c and 3c.

The only industry of its kind in the British Empire, the digging of razor clams, is carried on in the Queen Charlotte Islands, according to Sam L. Simpson, whose article "The Trusty 'John' in the Whale Country," in the Canadian National Railways Magazine for March, tells a fascinating story of the islands, which are regularly visited by Canadian National Steamships. Mr. Simpson describes other queer industries such as diving for abalone shells, and points out that the only whaling stations left on Canada's Pacific Coast are in the Queen Charlottes. It is here, too, that grows the "airplane spruce" which, once used by the Haida Indians for totem poles and canoes has now a distinctly modern significance.

Possibly no figure was more widely known or more highly esteemed than the late Bob Hanna, veteran fisherman of Prince Rupert, whose death the local waterfront has mourned this week. When the Grim Reaper removed Bob on Wednesday morning of this week in Prince Rupert General Hospital, one of the real pioneer landmarks of this community passed on. Old timers recall Bob back in 1908 or earlier operating gasboats, one of them the Beaver and another the Rainbow, between Prince Rupert and Digby Island for the government. Later he had followed the fishing game, sometimes as troller and at others as gillnetter for many years. But his background was that of a sailorman and, long before coming to Prince Rupert, he had gone down to the sea in ships for many years. He was 69 years of age when he died and his career had been packed full of action and adventure. He hailed from the River Clyde, the home of doughty seafarers, and was born at Rothesay near Glasgow, his ancestors having been Irish. His friends are paying their final tributes of esteem and respect as they give him an honored burial this afternoon. We are sure that, if there is to be a reward in the hereafter, our old friend Bob will have richly merited his.

Thirteen members of the staffs of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station and International Fisheries Commission here are winding up this afternoon an interesting singles badminton tournament which has been in progress during the past week. During the past winter a court was rigged up in the basement of the new building and a great deal of enjoyment has been derived from the sport during the season.

The second meeting of the newly formed colloquium of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station took place last Friday night at the home of the acting director, H. N. Brocklesby. There were 21 persons in attendance and the feature of the evening was the presentation by Orville Denstad of a paper on "Late Developments in Vitamin Research," a general discussion following the reading of the paper. Next Friday the colloquium will hold another meeting when the speaker will be H. N. Brocklesby who will be heard in a chemistry subject.

Regulations in Force

New regulations of the International Fisheries Commission to govern the Pacific Coast halibut fishery are now in full effect including that which closes the Massett and Timbered Island banks entirely to fishing operations. While a limitation has been placed on the catch of fish to be taken from certain areas, it is not expected that there will be much probability of these limits being reached. The new regulations involve a good deal more statistical work to be carried out by Commission officials.

Taking the Prince Rupert all-star basketball team and party of fans to Port Simpson where the first of a series of two games for the Northern British Columbia senior championship will be played tonight, the P. R. T., Capt. Harris Kerr, a Margaret I. Capt. George Fritz, left at 2 o'clock this afternoon for the neighboring village. The party is expected back early tomorrow morning.

Jack Hazelton, who had an arduous experience recently in the losing of his net boat "Oh Yeah" while running in from Pearl Harbor to Prince Rupert, has purchased another boat "Donalda" and is busy again. He is engaged in fishing herring under contract for the Bacon Fisheries. He put out at the first of this week on his first trip, operating in the vicinity of Captain's Cove and Porcher Island.

Flewin & Brown have commenced packing spring salmon with the Taplow II from the trollers in the vicinity of Port Simpson and Warke Canal to Prince Rupert. Fishing is quiet and deliveries light averaging around 400 and 500 pounds for the first weekly trips. However, an improvement in the run is expected soon. The prevailing price at Prince Rupert is 12c for red springs and 6c for white. The Taplow was in yesterday with her third load, having 300 pounds.

Chris Johnson, production manager for the Seaport Crown Fish Co. of Vancouver, was a visitor to Prince Rupert early in the week on company business. While in Prince Rupert, he made arrangements with the Bacon Fisheries for increased shipments of fresh halibut to Vancouver.

There has been a curtailment of herring seining at Pearl Harbor, the herring seining ground contiguous to Prince Rupert. The Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. has now met its bait requirements and the reduction plant of the Rupert Marine Products has been closed because of the low price of fish meal. The boats Balsac, Capt. John Orvik; Anna S., Capt. Eli Skog, and Zennardi, Capt. R. Gammon, are still seining however, the first two to supply the halibut fleet with fresh bait and the last mentioned being engaged in filling the Gammon & Watt fresh herring pound.

George Fritzell's power vessel Laura F. II has been on the Ward Ways for hull repairs the latter part of this week. The vessel is being put in shape for another busy summer between Prince Rupert and Skeena River canneries which will soon be commencing.

With spring in the air, Shef Thomson will soon be engaged in getting his fleet ready for the summer yachting season. The grid is already being booked up, and within the next few weeks, there should be considerable activity in the way of spring cleaning and overhaul.

In the face of a steadily dropping price situation, halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert showed a distinct increase during the week of March 5-11 inclusive when a total of 338,300 pounds was brought in of which 135,300 pounds was landed by Canadian vessels and 202,000 by American. For the season up to March 11 landings had amounted to 668,450 pounds of which Canadian boats had brought 346,250 pounds and American 322,200 pounds. The prevailing price throughout the week for both American and Canadian fish was 4c and 2c.

W. Green of Port Simpson was in port yesterday with 300 pounds of spring salmon from Warke Canal. The fish was taken by the Bacon Fisheries as was that brought in by the Taplow II.
