Irish Election Count Nearly Completed With Republicans In Lead

Eight Seats More to Hear From But Nationalists Cannot Now Overtake Opponents So DeValera Becomes President When House Meets

DUBLIN, Jan. 28:-With only eight seats of the 153 to come the results of the Irish Free State elections this afternoon gave the Republican-Labor supporters a total of 81 seats in the Dail. This insures a majority of eight over all, not including the Republican speaker, even should all the remaining seats go against the government.

How to Guard against the

Every News reader is urged to heed these precautions

The flu epidemic has reached this community. The health authorities are doing their part, but every individual must be on guard.

Keep the family medicine chest supplied with the sensible aids to health; any sickness weakens the system and lowers your resistance to germs.

Every household should have at least one hot water bag, in good condition, or an electric pad; and a fever thermometer. Sleep in airy rooms, with ample covering. Avoid an overheated house during the day; dress warmly when you go out. Beware of over-crowded cars, poorly ventilated public meeting places, stuffy telephone booths. Flu is contagious! Breathe through the nose. Keep the system alkaline, the bowels in good order; Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will help you do both. If you have any symptom of a cold. take some Aspirin according to directions. Don't lose even five minutes! Genuine Aspirin tablets can't harm you, but a common cold is dangerous at a time like this.

Eat plain foods, get enough rest, and don't over-do. Take these extra precautions to keep in sound physical condition, so your system will have normal resistance against

At any sign of actual flu, call a doctor at once. Do not try to treat yourself for influenza!

A Canadian Press despatch received from Ketchikan indicates that the American fishermen may not go out until they receive some assurance from the fish buyers that a minimum price can be obtained. Conferences with the buyers have been held and the whole question; carefully canvassed but up to this morning no definite arrangement had been made. Most of the negotiations are carried on at Seattle.

The halibut fishing season opens, legally after midnight of Tuesday and there is a possibility that the boats leave for the banks Monday but there is also a possibility that they will not A great many local boats are all in readiness for the annual move and the fishermen are hoping and expecting to get away. Life in these depressed days is not so attractive that they want to remain at home if they can get to work.

Super Knowledge

(By Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook, St. Peter's Church)

Jesus, the Christ, said: "Ye shall all be taught of God," and again, "He (that is the Holy Spirit) shall take the things of mine and show them unto you." So according to the pronouncement of Jesus, there are knowable facts available for man that are not the results of the accumulative knowledge of the past.

"I am a part of all that I have met," but may be, and ought to be, more. Intensive men are.

It is those intrepid adventurers into the land of scientific or religious thought urged on by the promises of God, or the discoverableness of the unknown, unbound by an effete past, who have lead men into new religious and scientific lands of promise, where "lesser breeds," often reluctantly follow. The majority of us are timorous souls, and hesitate to break away to the fuller, freer life, in obelience to the higher leading or divinely imparted knowledge. We are too satisfied. Often we are indolent, unimaginative, pampered sons, tied to our social and religious parental apron strings; afraid to be "I" and if need be to suffer for it.

Were it not for such men of super vision as Bruno, Savaronola, Gallileo, Luther, Westley, Marx and others, we should still be grovelling in gross medieval superstition, socially, religiously and scientifically. There is a higher leading. Ignore it and we become our own enemies. They will not come unto Me, that they may have life"-Jesus. "That thou contracted to thine
