Water Poured Through Hole in Hull Made by Repair Men and Workmen Clambered Ashore All Except Five Who Were Still Below

SEATTLE, March 25:—Trapping five men in the depths of her hold, two of whom are believed to be dead, the American mail liner President Madison capsized and partly sank at the mooring dock here last night. The vessel keeled over when water poured into the hold through the opening in her side where repair men had been taking off three of her steel plates. Nearly 150 workmen and members of the crew clambered to safety on the nearby dock.

SURF POINT MINE ACTIVE

Machinery For Mill on Way Says Engineer in Charge Who Was In City This Morning

Installation at Once

Fifteen Men at Present Employed at Mine—Others Will Handle the Machinery

Work is proceeding at the Surf Point Mine and very soon the new mill, already announced, will be in operation there and concentrates will be shipped according to R. E. Legge, mining engineer for the Timmins Corporation in charge of operations at Surf Point Mine on Porcher Island. There are now 15 men employed at the mine and the erection of the machinery and other work will mean active continuous operation.

Mr. Legge did not bring the machinery with him but it is on the way from the south. It consists of a concentrating mill, classifier and concentrating tables. The installation will make it possible to ship ore which could not otherwise be profitably handled. The fact that such an experienced mining company is handling the installation is a guarantee that it is sure to prove successful.

The ore that will be milled at Surf Point goes roughly fifteen dollars to the ton and this will be concentrated to about $150 to the ton. High grade ore will be shipped direct and tailings will be put through the floatation cells.

Mining on Porcher Island will be greatly stimulated by the installation of this mill, the mine being the first on the island to ship ore. Others are likely to follow judging by present prospects.

"It need not affect our allegiance in federal politics," Mr. Jones continued, "but here in British Columbia surely men of both parties can get together."

NO MERIT IN SWEEPSTAKES

Member For Skeena Would Have Hospitals of Province Supported by Grants as in Past

VICTORIA, March 25:—Sweepstakes for the benefit of hospitals would prove economically unsound, Dr. H. C. Winch of Hazelton claimed in the Legislature yesterday, after a careful analysis of the bill now before the Canadian Senate.

A reduction of $200,000 in grants for hospitals prompted the member's remarks. He said he wondered if Finance Minister Jones had made the reductions in anticipation of sweepstakes being permitted. He urged that grants to hospitals be maintained and said he was not opposed to borrowing for that purpose which was vital to the welfare and life of the people of B. C.

H. Pooley on behalf of Premier Tolmie who was absent through illness. The value of such a commission was questioned by T. D. Pattullo who thought the government should shoulder the responsibility itself.

The announcement was made after a long discussion on the subject of municipal grants prompted by a non-confidence motion on the budget moved by Wells Gray. The motion was defeated on a party vote with the exception of Dick and Walkem of Vancouver both of whom voted for the resolution.

THEY LOVE A HORSE RACE

Most English people love a horse race. It is the sport of kings but also it adds to the enjoyment of life for thousands of the humblest subjects of the king.

There was a time when people had to apologize for keeping up horse racing by saying that it encouraged the breeding of high grade horses. Today the same people admit that races are won or lost just for the fun of the thing and not for any other motive.

With the whole world gradually turning to sport as an outlet for their energies, as the length of the working day shortens, horse racing holds its own, not because people can join in it but because they love it.

The ideal recreation is one where many take part. Football and baseball have a wide appeal in this country, cricket in England, badminton and tennis are growing in popularity everywhere, and justly so. These are ideal recreations because everyone can play. Horse racing is different but it survives and increases in interest as the years pass.

DICTATOR A DANGER

While a strong man is necessary at the head of any government, a dictatorship such as that now established in Germany, especially when established on a basis of hate and persecution, is a danger, not only to that community but to all nations. Should Adolph Hitler prove to be the strong man he pretends to be and should he gain wisdom with responsibility, the dictatorship may be a great thing for Germany, but should he be carried away by the trust placed in him, there is an awful doom ahead, a doom that will be also suffered by many of his countrymen.

VETERANS' PENSIONS

There seems to be an injustice in the recent budget proposal of the Bennett government in cutting off the pensions of those veterans who are employed by the government. If the government employees were better paid than others and if the service were more attractive in any other way, there might be some justification for the move. It is only at a time like this that the government service is attractive.

Here is the way one veteran puts it. The government is keeping faith with the money lenders, the bond holders, but not with the men who fought for the Empire when they were needed. He asks if the veterans have not at least as good a claim on the administration as the men who did not fight but instead loaned their money to carry on the war and received a high rate of interest for it. The men who fought did not receive a high rate of pay for their services. It was scarcely a living allowance, yet many never returned and of those who did there are many who bear with them the scars of wounds made by the Germans or by the dread diseases of the trenches.

We have no sympathy with the parlor veterans such as are many of the U. S. pensioners but the men who fought should be treated with every possible consideration.

SOFTBALL IS STARTED

Senators Open by Decisively Defeating Tigers 15 to 2 in High School League

On Thursday afternoon the High School softball League resumed its schedule. The Senators took the Tigers into camp in a one-sided game. They came into the first game of the season with a flying start, collecting ten runs in the first inning.

The Tigers began to tighten up during the rest of the game and only allowed the winners five runs. They were unable to bring in more than two themselves although the bases were often loaded.

For the Senators, Hanson and Bussinach were the heavy hitters, while Smith was good in the field. Allen in the box allowed only two hits but he gave several walks.

For the Tigers the batteries Tobey and Postulo played the best ball.

The teams were:
Senators—R. Allen, p.; Bussinach, 1st; Hanson (Capt.), ss.; Merzan, 3rd; Christianson, c.; Ross, 2nd; Dell, cf.; W. Smith, lf.; F. Smith, rf.

Tigers—N. Allen, 1st; Postulo, c.; Arney, ss.; Tobey (Capt.), p.; Philipson, cf.; Johnson, rf.; Ritchie, 3rd; Peachy, lf.; Currie, 2nd; O'Neill, rss.

Umpires—R. Obata and W. Cross.

Australian Girls Adopt Baseball

Not only Japan, but Australia as well has shown enthusiasm for the pastime of baseball. Even the Australian girls have shown a taste for the game, as witness Miss Rita Humphries, star pitcher for the Golden Eagles. She is warming up before taking the mound in a game between her team and another in Sydney.

SPORT CHAT

Gene Pusie, star of brightest hue of the Western Canada Hockey League, who has been sold "up the river" to Lester Patrick's New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, has enjoyed a great season with Kenny McKenzie's Vancouver Maroons. Pusie led the W. C. H. L. scoring averages with the splendid total of 52 points, 30 goals and 22 assists. His feat is all the more remarkable when it is figured he is a defenceman.

The colorful habitant from old Quebec goes to the Rangers for $3,000 cash, about one-fifth of what McKenzie, owner of the Vancouver Maroons, originally asked. McKenzie has pocketed part of the deal and gets the rest next season if and when Pusie "makes good." And Kenny, according to reports, feels certain there will be no doubt about Pusie's success and his collection of the balance.

ATTACK ON DEPRESSION

OTTAWA, March 25.—Coupling a direct want of confidence motion against the government, and a plea for reciprocity with the United States, J. L. Ralston, financial critic for the Liberals, replied to the Rhodes budget on Friday in the House of Commons. He declared that the budget was barren of constructive plans to surmount Canada's financial and trade problems. "Canada has to attack the depression, it has to attack not the markets but the depression. If this government does not initiate soon it need not be surprised if somebody else takes command," Col. Ralston declared.

Second Game of the High School Softball League Proved Close Contest

Yesterday in the High School soft ball fixture the Giants raised themselves from sole possession of the cellar position by taking into camp the Cubs who were in second place.

In the third inning the Cubs went on a batting spree and added four runs to their score. At the last of the fifth with two runs to go the Cubs again faced the Giant's battery but only made a single run. The game ended by the Giants holding a one-run lead.

For the Giants Gibbs, Smith and Nakamoto proved valuable while D. Morrison and Moxley played well for the losers.

Four Coming In Tonight From Vital Creek Mines

J. F. Redmond, A. Evans, B. Formosa and Dave Cernak, who are expected to arrive in the city tonight from Smithers, came in from Vital Creek by way of Takla Lake, a distance of 160 miles. They state that their time was occupied largely in preparatory work. There was too much water there for successful work. They had to abandon a 40-foot shaft owing to being flooded out and did not reach bedrock.

They see good prospects there and state that Chinamen have been making good money on the creek. They expect to return in about a month when they expect conditions will have improved.

BLUNT TALK OF G. B. SHAW ABOUT JAPAN

Tells Them Their Cities Are Horrible Mess, a Fit Place For Breeding Disease

COMPLIMENT ON TREATRE Declares Country is Perfectly Terrible—Kobe and Osaka Should Be Razed

"What do I think of Japan so far? I think it is perfectly horrible," declared George Bernard Shaw according to an interview given by him to the Japan Advertiser.

"If you had been the first to build your cities in western style it would be excusable, but you have simply copied," continued the British author.

"Kobe and Osaka are awful. You should recall your army and navy from Manchuria, turn the guns on these cities and level them to the ground. Then start afresh and build them right."

"Every man who could get himself a plot of ground the size of a postage stamp set a building on it, with no thought where the road was, whether or not there was drainage or what kind of house was next door, has apparently done so."

"The whole thing is a horrible mess, a fit place to breed disease, discontent and social evils. Did you never hear of city planning? These cities look as though they were built for use in a revolution, so that the people could run away and hide easily when the guns began to pop in the streets."

"I asked if there were factory acts preventing sweat shops and child labor. I was told that there were, but I was told that I could not visit the factories. Whenever I am told that, I am sure that behind the doors there are small children working."

"I came to Japan," Mr. Shaw said, "prepared for the beauty described by Lafcadio Hearne and I came in to a hell."

As if to take some of the edge off his remarks, Mr. Shaw then said that, in the midst of this jumble of slums, he had visited one of the most beautiful theatres he had ever seen, referring to the new Kabuki-Za Theatre in Osaka.

The playwright then warned Japan that they knew nothing of modern war fought on its own soil. "Wait until your cities are bombed from the air, when you dare not show a spot of light in your homes at night and you sit there in the dark expecting a fleet of planes to rain bombs on you, then you will know what war is."

"You in Japan have smashed the League of Nations," he continued. "I cannot say whether you will live to regret it or not. The Great Powers had to decide whether to save the league or make a lot of money selling you war supplies. They decided to make money."

The Japanese custom of committing suicide in protest over something also came in for notice. "The Japanese go about simply looking for an excuse to commit suicide," he said. "When they do they are hailed as heroes and great men. In the west it is a crime. If I were suddenly to become fed up with things and cut myself in two people in England would say that they always suspected that Shaw was crazy and now they knew it."

A SATURDAY SERMON

A Personal God

(By Very Rev. J. B. Gibson)

One of the characteristics of our time is the fading away of that vivid sense of a personal relationship with a personal God. To our fathers God was the most real of realities to many of us He has dimmed away into an abstraction we call "Universal Law" or "A Great First Cause." Then prayer was a dialogue in which God and the soul part one as much concerned the other, to many of us prayer became a series of vain repetitions. It has been suggested that the mood of the time is to be found in the vastness of the universe. Science believed that the earth was the centre of the universe and man was lord of the earth for all things had been created in man as a contrivance for ending him to mark off the divisions of his calendar, the sun to light him by day, the stars to guide him on his journeys of navigation. Hold a world view it was common to believe in a personal God standing very close to us, interested in human lives, intervening in private lives to bless or punish. Then science came along and for ever destroyed the ancient idea of creation by uncovering to our eyes a universe so huge that our earth is by comparison the merest of specks. In such creation the old view of man as its special darling disappeared, so also in too many cases the consciousness of a sense of the nearness of a personal and friendly God, glad and able to commune with His children. It is true that science has revealed the universe stretching out towards the infinity of the big; but it is also true that science has unveiled to us the universe reaching inwards towards the infinitely small. The atom for example is a universe in itself. We are to take a particle of the dust found on the wings of a moth and place it under the microscope you would find that what you Aspirin brings you immediate relief. It acts before you can feel any effect at all from the slower forms of relief.

Do not hesitate to take Aspirin tablets because of this speed. Their quick action is due to the fact they dissolve immediately. They are perfectly safe. They do not depress the heart.

That's the beauty of a remedy like Aspirin. Anyone can take it, as often as there is any need of its comfort. In sufficient quantity to get complete relief. You could take Aspirin every day in the year without ill effects.

When you want relief from headaches, colds, neuralgia, or neuritis, periodic pains, etc., stick to Aspirin. You know what it will do, and you know what you are taking.

The new reduced price on bottles of 100 tablets leaves no reason for experimenting with any substitute for relieving pain. Insist on Aspirin.

TROLLING ON WEST COAST

Number of Camps at Tofino and Other Points and Big Season Is Expected With Prices Low

TOFINO, March 23.—With salmon trolling now in full swing all along the West Coast of Vancouver Island, the different fish-buying organizations have established themselves at the strategic points in anticipation of a good "run." The largest fish-buying organization is that of the Kyququot Salmon Trollers' Co-operative Association, which comprises more than half the trollers on the coast. With headquarters at Kyququot village, where its main fish-buying camp is established each year, it also maintains buying camps at Quatsino, Nootka, Sidney Inlet and Ucluelet.

The Tofino and Clayoquot Trollers' Association operates its own buying floats situated at Tofino, while the Ucluelet Fishermen's Association likewise maintains its own camp at that place. Two independent buying camps are also established at Bamfield for the period of the early part of the season, while the run exists off Cape Beale and the vicinity of Bamfield.

A fleet of seven fish packers, some owned by the Fishermen's Association themselves, and others chartered vessels, maintain a regular service through the Spring and Summer months, packing the catch to Vancouver and Seattle. Over 75 per cent of the fish goes to the Seattle markets, that point being the largest salmon distributing centre in the Pacific Northwest. Ice and supplies comprise the cargo of the packers on their return trips.

The prices realized so far this season for salmon have not been very favorable, six to eight cents per pound being all the fishermen have netted. With the advancement of the season, however, it is anticipated the price for first-class spring salmon will reach ten cents per pound, at least.

WEIRD WAR STORY TOLD

Edmonton Paper Tells How Prince Rupert Was Saved From Bombardment by Three Funnel-shaped Steamers

An Edmonton newspaper of recent date published the following: Mention of von Spee's squadron, loose in the north Pacific at the outbreak of war, and which sunk Craddock's vessels off Coronel before meeting its doom in the Falkland Islands' fight, recalls a narrow escape of Canadian soil from bombardment during the late war.

The lower mainland of B. C. was saved from risk of attack by two Chilean submarines, purchased by Sir Richard McBride on the outbreak of the war, and which functioned in the Straits of Juan de Fuca. Outside territorial waters, off the west coast of Vancouver Island, was the big Japanese battleship Kongo with another heavy vessel. In this predicament von Spee decided to come in through Dixon's Entrance, north of Queen Charlottes, and bombard Prince Rupert.

I was in Prince Rupert when the alarm was raised, said the writer of the article. The old Niobe which would have been only meat for the German war dogs, was there with steam up. Money from the Prince Rupert banks was put on trains and sent away. Many citizens were ready to take to the hills.

Only the merest accident saved Prince Rupert from bombardment.

Town Type
Be it known that the C. N. R. steamers "Prince Rupert" and "Prince George" with their three funnels and cruiser sterns, have a silhouette resembling the "town" type of British cruiser. The "Newcastle" was then on her way out with Craddock. As von Spee with the Gneissau, a mere speck on the horizon, was coming in from the Pacific he sighted the "Prince Rupert" dashing at full speed past Porcher Island for Prince Rupert. He mistook her for a "town" type British cruiser. Not daring to risk battle in narrow waters with an enemy whose strength he did not know, von Spee took his ships out to sea again.

Some months after, the lone survivor of von Spee's squadron—a German sailor sent ashore to hospital in Seattle on an American fishing schooner, as von Spee sailed south to Coronel—told of how they turned from raiding Prince Rupert when they saw a British light cruiser entering there. Capt. Dan Donald and the officers of the Prince Rupert then learned for the first time how their vessels three funnels and cruiser stern had saved Prince Rupert from bombardment.

Salmon Packer is Jack of All Trades—Natives Invade Cow Bay—Chat About Boats and Waterfront People

Fish packing for the troll salmon is not such a "snap" as it sounds. The packer goes out to the grounds where there are a couple of hundred boats fishing and waits patiently for the fish to come in. Salmon have to be handled very carefully as the fish are easily bruised and the packer usually has to stand the "cull." One of the first things they connected with the Livingstone as both the big boats are in the south. When ships go to the bottom of the ocean it is Paul's job to raise them and what a job it is!

Boats of all descriptions and all sizes were tied up at Cow Bay the last few days when a large number of natives from the neighboring villages were in town. Some of the fishermen have left already for their annual pilgrimage to the Naas River for ollichans and soon the villages will be deserted with only the old and infirm staying.

There were no halibut arrivals this morning and consequently no sale on the market.

One of the old-timers in the fishing game claims that depression has also hit the halibut. He claims that time after time he has pulled his lines in and the only live fish on the lines were dead herring.

The caretaker at the Yacht Club has had to be on the job constantly all this winter because of heavy winds. Mooring lines have the bad habit of getting broken. And owners do not want their boats drifting freely around the harbor. It keeps him busy making new lines and patching up old ones to keep the boats tied where he can keep his fatherly eye on them.

All the boys along the waterfront have been out with the paint brush these last couple of days getting their little ships fixed up. Depression does not keep them from giving the boats their annual coat of paint. It is necessary to keep the boat from rotting let alone making it look nice. If this weather keeps up over the week-end the proud owners of pleasure boats in the yacht club will doubtless be putting around them tomorrow.

The trolling boats Drott, Owl and Torberg are on the ways at Lipsetts and the Alpha at Cow Bay getting painted and fixed up for the coming salmon season.
