Sixty Thousand Pounds of Packinghouse Products Are Marketed Weekly in City Every Pound of Which Could be Raised in Interior Valleys

Prince Rupert is importing 60,000 pounds of packinghouse products every week and every pound of this could be produced in the interior valleys, Commissioner Alder stated in an address to the Prince Rupert Rotary Club at its luncheon yesterday in the Commodore Cafe. The commissioner spoke of the valuable co-operation he had received in the city since his arrival # This had come from members of city councils, school boards, library boards and other organizations. All the city departments were functioning in good shape. New equipment had been secured for the fire department and the firemen had painted the building. CARDINAL PRINCIPLES

There are two cardinal principles which should be followed out in considering the present situation in Canada today. One of these is that no man should be kept at the public expense without working, unless he is ill or aged. The second principle is that no person should be denied the right to work for a living at a decent wage. No political party should be allowed to succeed at the polls unless it pledges itself to carry out these two principles.

This matter of the right to earn should not be a provincial matter but it may have to be taken up by the provinces if the federal administration fails to do its duty.

It will be claimed by many that it is impossible for the nation to provide work for all. Yet it will not be denied that the nation has the ability to produce enough for all. If there is food and clothing for all, there should be a means by which that food and clothing may be available for all.

These principles are coming to be recognized every- and the applause after some of the where in most countries. The difference of opinion is as bouts, shows the rapid improveto how to bring about the necessary changes to provide ments the boys are making. The for the carrying out of the principles.

It is useless to point out that some men don't want to cially Nina Gurvich who is training work. Most of them do. Most of them would be glad to earn hard and working out regularly. their own livelihood. The small minority that do not want and under Tommy's instructions to work would be forced to do so if the cardinal principles has developed a different style of were fully recognized by all statesmen.

In Prince Rupert for several years there have been men fight. who have been living on the modicum of relief provided by the government. Doubtless they are tired of doing nothing. During that time the federal and provincial administrations have taken no steps to right the wrong which is being perpetrated. They know as we all know that there is plenty of food for all, plenty of clothes for all, houses for all to live in but no means by which the idle can secure key. Harry Knapple, Johnny Mcthem. It is a condition such as this that breeds radicalism Leod, Jack Annesley and Jim Bremof the most virulent type.

Premier Bennett has taken no step so far to change conditions and W. L. Mackenzie King is not very clear as to his position. The people will not stand for this. They will TWO TENNIS insist on a change. If Liberals will not meet the situation fairly, some other groups will do so. Provincially, the only man who has declared himself clearly for putting the men to work while at the same time having the force and ability to carry out his promise, is T. D. Pattullo.

"The Penguin Pool Murder" Mystery is Clever and Bright With Humor as Well as Mystery

Edna May Oliver, leading lady in "The Penguin Pool Murder" mystery at the Capitol tonight, portrays a tall, angular, outmoded schoolmarm. She dresses like Queen silver-handled large-knobbed black umbrella, rain or shine, fair or cloudy. With Gleason, as a smartaleck, wise-cracking, know-it-all police inspector, Miss Oliver makes the film a laugh-packed, fast-moving comedy-mystery.

The mystery of "The Penguin Pool Murder" is snappily enacted against a highly original background. Virtually, the mystery of a broker's body discovered in the benguin's tank at the Aquarium is solved by sheer laughs. From the moment Gleason, as Inspector Oscar Piper, enters upon the scene and ejaculates from the corner of his mouth: "Some kid called up and said there was a dead man in swimming with the ducks," the film blossoms forth into keen repartee between Gleason and Miss Oliver, every word of which advances the story breathlessly.

The mystery element follows through to a concluding dramatic courtroom sequence which reveals the guilty person through a canny sprung trap by Edna May Oliver. Suspicion points to everyone. Miss Oliver owns the death weapon, a hat pin, and is herself accused. The aquarium director had threatened the dead man for selling him out in the stock market. The deceased man's wife was quailing under his cruelty. Her lover wanted to eliminate the husband's interference. A Be Played Saturday pickpocket is found in possession of the murdered man's watch. And all Two Indian Teams are present at the scene of the
