Carter Is Convicted; Trial of Nina Gurvich On This Afternoon

Local Youth Giving Evidence on His Own Behalf at Assizes This Afternoon—Is Final Criminal Hearing of Docket

Robert Thomas Maryland Carter was convicted at the Supreme Court Assizes this afternoon on a charge of rioting and was remanded until the end of the Assize for sentence. A poll of the jury was taken at the request of Gordon Grant, defence counsel. This established unanimity.

The crown had completed its evidence early this afternoon in the trial at the Supreme Court Assizes in which Nina Gurvich, local youth, is charged with rioting in connection with an alleged disturbance of Anyox strikers in the local railway yards on March 1 which resulted in a clash that morning with the police. There were four witnesses for the crown after the evidence of which had been heard the defence started presentation of testimony on its own behalf with Herbert William Macey the first witness, accused later going on the stand himself.

Spring Work on Farms is Delayed By Heavy Downpours

Seeding Well On

Various Districts Report From 50 to 100 Percent of Crop in WINNIPEG, May 12.—In some districts spring work has been delayed considerably by rain as different points report from 30 to 40 hours of continuous downpour while, in districts where weather has been cloudy and cool with high easterly winds, seeding has continued in full swing, according to the weekly crop report of the agricultural department, Canadian National Railways. From many points not delayed by rainfall come reports of wheat seeding varying from 50 percent to completion and a few localities report earlier sown wheat above the ground. Seeding of coarse grains has commenced. A few districts report from 30 percent to 50 percent of these grains seeded. Generally speaking, growth is slow and warmer weather would be beneficial for not only grain germination but the revival of pastures.

DAWSON IS ACQUITTED

Smithers Man Found Not Guilty on Second Arson Charge at Supreme Court Assizes Yesterday

Jury Out Long

Nearly Two Hours Taken up in Considering Verdict—Crowded Courtroom Hears Judge's Charge

After deliberating for one hour and forty minutes, the jury at the Supreme Court Assizes here in the trial of Ernest Claude Dawson, charged with arson in connection with the burning of his store and living premises at Smithers on September 25, 1930, late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict acquitting accused of the charge. Immediately upon receiving the verdict, Mr. Justice Denis Murphy, the presiding judge, ordered accused released from custody. It was the second arson charge upon which accused had been acquitted at the Assize session.

A few minutes prior to returning its verdict of acquittal, the jury came back into the courtroom to ask the court reporter to read over to it a portion of the evidence regarding the ownership of a shotgun which John DeVoin stated belonged to him and which had been in the store the night before the fire.

There was a crowded courtroom in the afternoon to hear His Lordship sum up the evidence and charge the jury. Speaking for about an hour, he defined the law regarding the nature of the crime charged and the degree of proof required, reviewing the facts of which, he pointed out, the jury was "the exclusive judge." He referred to the two kinds of evidence which might be presented, direct and circumstantial, the present case being based on the latter. The jury, before convicting, must be satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the circumstances were such as to be consistent with the guilt of accused and inconsistent with any other rational conclusion.

The judge first dealt with the evidence of the crown apart from that of John DeVoin and Mrs. Dorothy Lewis, brother-in-law and sister-in-law respectively of accused. Movements and actions of the accused on the night before the fire were reviewed.

Important Evidence

Much depended in this case upon how much belief the jury put in the evidence of DeVoin and Mrs. Lewis. His Lordship declared. Here the crown, although not compelled to establish a motive, had put one forward—that accused was in financial difficulties and a fire offered a way out for him. It was important, of course, for the jury to consider whether or not accused believed at the time of the fire that his place was insured for the additional $5,500.

It was most important whether or not the jury believed the evidence of DeVoin. If it did believe this evidence beyond a reasonable doubt, then the jury had to consider if it did not comply with all the necessary principles of circumstantial evidence on the basis of which accused might be found guilty. The defence had sought to attack the credibility of DeVoin's evidence. Credibility was a matter entirely for the jury to decide upon.

At 3:35 the jury retired to consider its verdict, returning to the courtroom at 5:15 with the finding that Dawson was not guilty.

Roy Taylor, roadmaster's clerk, watched the fight from the roadmaster's office. He saw accused in the mob coming down the path. He (accused) beckoned to the men as if to urge them over the embankment against the police.

F. S. Walton also gave evidence as to the alleged riot on March 1. He heard accused say, as the mob was coming back up the embankment after the first clash: "Come on. Go and get them."

Constable G. E. Anderson told of the clash between the police and the mob in which he had sustained head injuries.

H. W. Macey, defence witness, told of going down to near the overhead bridge in company with accused after the crowd of men had passed and later coming back up the path with accused after the crowd retreated. Accused had been separated from him only a short time, possibly ten minutes.

Two Greatest Chinese Cities Threatened If Resistance Continues

Handbills Rained on "Forbidden City" Declaring Soldiers Will be Exterminated and Good and Evil Alike Will Come to Harm—Revolt in Chahar

PEIPING, May 12: (Canadian Press)—Peiping, the old capital of China with population of two million souls and residence of many British and foreign citizens, had its first war scare yesterday when a Japanese bombing plane circled over the "Forbidden City" and rained hand bills warning against continuation of the Chinese struggle against the Japanese and declaring that, if the Chinese fail to heed the solemn command, then the tragedy of Kuei Kow will be repeated in Peiping and Tientsin. "Your soldiers will be exterminated. Good and evil alike will come to harm. You will all lose your stupid heads due to the failure of Chiang," the messages read.

Meanwhile, foreign advices received here from Kaigan indicated that one million citizens of Chahar Province are prepared to revolt against the Chinese government and declare allegiance to the Japanese sponsored state of Manchukuo.

RIOT CASE IS NOW ON

Trial of Robert Thomas Maryland Carter Proceeding at Supreme Court Assizes

Clash Described

Crown Evidence Completed in Short Order Yesterday—Concluding Hearing Case Today

It took the crown less than two hours Thursday afternoon to present its evidence in the trial at the Supreme Court Assizes of Robert Thomas Maryland Carter who is charged with rioting on March 1 at Prince Rupert when he allegedly led a body of several hundred men, mostly strikers from Anyox, towards the Canadian National wharves where the steamer Prince Rupert was moored at the time having on board a number of men going to Anyox to join the employ of the Granby Co. After a motion of Gordon Grant, defence counsel, for dismissal of the charge on the ground that accused had not actually been connected with the incident, had been denied by Mr. Justice Murphy, who held that this was a matter for the jury to decide, the court adjourned until this morning when addresses of counsel and charge of judge were to be heard, the defence intimating that it would present no evidence.

There were five crown witnesses, two of whom were provincial police officers, two railway constables and the other an onlooker in the person of J. H. McLeod, collector of customs.

Constable Harold Raybone testified to a crowd of several hundred men coming down from town and being intercepted at the entrance of an overhead bridge leading to the wharf after which the mob let out a shout and started to clamber down the side of a rocky hill into the railway yards, throwing rocks at police officers who came forward to meet them. This crowd of men was led by accused. The crowd, after being dispersed in the railway yards, proceeded back uptown where another clash with the police occurred back of the Post Office building, Sergeant Service, chief of city police, being injured when stoned.

C. N. R. Constable John McPhail of Jasper told of arresting Carter after a chase in the railway yards. Pleaded Not Guilty. Carter is charged with participation. Continued on Page 2.

DR. MANDY IS HEARD

Resident Engineer Addresses Anglican Young People's Meeting

At the regular meeting of the Anglican Young People's Association held in the church hall Wednesday night, Dr. J. T. Mandy, resident mining engineer, addressed a group of some thirty young people, Dr. Mandy, with the aid of lantern slides, showed the growth and progress in British Columbia due to mining. He showed how it was the observation of little things in nature that was responsible for the progress of a country as in the case of a prospector drinking out of a stream and noting a flake of gold. Many of the unexpected strikes that have developed in this country were due to these small observations.

The theme of Dr. Mandy's address was "Back of the Beyond." He impressed on the young people what possibilities were even around this vicinity for those who went out into the woods and hills and used their eyes for observing the finer points of nature.

After the address President Orme Stewart thanked Dr. Mandy on behalf of the group for his interesting and educational talk. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

LONDON, May 12: (Canadian Press)—Lord Haulsham, Secretary for War, told the House of Lords last night that, in his opinion, any attempt on the part of Germany to re-arm would be a breach of the Treaty of Versailles and would bring into operation sanctions provided by the treaty.

FAIRLY TRUE BAROMETER

H. W. M. Roiston of Stewart, who passed through the city Wednesday returning home from a visit to Vancouver, told of the great activity in stocks in Vancouver. He said the brokers' offices were almost as busy this week as they were during the hectic days prior to the slump.

Students of economics have noted that always the stock exchange is the barometer of conditions. It indicates beforehand what is going to happen. If stocks advance it means that conditions will improve. If stocks go down it indicates that industry will be depressed.

Of late there has been a notable recovery in the price of stocks and it is looked upon as a clear indication of an improvement in industrial conditions.

SEEM BADLY SPLIT

The Conservatives of British Columbia have been badly split by the breaking away of the Bowser faction. That is evident from the despatch that Speaker Davie is about to throw in his allegiance with the Bowserites. It is understood he will be followed by others, but no one knows just how many.

What is true of the members in the Legislature is true in the country at large. Even in Prince Rupert it is generally rumored that many Conservatives will desert the Tolmie leadership and throw in their lot with the Bowser faction which calls itself unionist.

ing in a riotous and unlawful assembly and disturbing the peace tumultuously. After he had pleaded not guilty to the charges, the following jury was empanelled to try the case: J. A. Hinton, foreman, James Gaul, L. C. Eby, H. F. Glassey, Arthur Brooksbank, S. A. Bird, Hubert Ward, Lee Gordon, W. D. Vance, J. B. Agar, Dugald McLean and Robert Gordon.

C. C. Ketchum, William Robb, George H. Arnold and Max Heilbroner were challenged by the defence and W. H. Goodsell, Thomas Ballinger, Fred MacLeod, Robert Kydd, George Ferguson, Robert Lashiff, C. E. McKeown, B. J. Bacon, Abraham Lipsin, William Rance, John Gabriel, Frank Dibb, J. F. Filion were stood aside by the crown.

In briefly reviewing the case, L. S. McGill, crown counsel, stated that evidence would be adduced to show that between 10 and 10:30 on the morning in question accused had led a large body of men towards the station and wharf premises of the Canadian National Railways. The crowd was met by police constables who sought to dissuade the men from going down to the dock in such numbers. The crowd, however, refused to be dissuaded and forced its way upon the premises, the men taking up stones which they threw upon the police raising such a disturbance and uproar that it was considered advisable to have a steamer moored at the wharf pull out to midstream and forcing the police to use force in resisting the attack upon the railway premises. The crown would show that accused was the leader of the crowd and that, during a critical stage of the riot, he was arrested and charged with the offence. The trouble had continued for some time and some of the police officers received injuries.

Constable Raybone

Constable Raybone testified as to how the crowd, in number, he would say, some 200 to 250 and led by accused, after he (Raybone) had told them that they could not come past the entrance of the overhead approach to the station and wharves, had let up a loud roar and started to pile over the rock bank onto the flat where the railway yards were located. Witness then proceeded down to the flat to assist the other officers in dispersing the crowd and preventing the men from going to the steamer Prince Rupert at the dock. The men retired up the bank where they proceeded to throw rocks on to the officers. Starting back up town, the mob was followed by Inspector Shirras, Staff Sergeant McNeill, Sergeant W. J. Service and other officers, the men continuing to throw rocks as they retreated. Reaching the top of the cinder path, the mob broke in two directions. Witness saw Service hit with a rock. He staggered for a while but kept on going.

The disturbance continued about half an hour and witness saw accused on the railway track after he had been arrested by Constable McPhail. Constable Anderson had been hit with a rock on the railway yards and injured on the head. Sergeant Service had sustained injuries on the head and elsewhere. Other officers had sustained small cuts. Witness would say that several hundred rocks had been thrown.

Under cross-examination, witness admitted that there was a sort of a trail where the men clambered down into the railway yards. There was a softball ground in the flat. He (witness) did not tell the men there would be a fight if they went down there. He did not see clubs, weapons or placards in the hands of the men. He assumed that the men had intended to attack or rush the police in order to get to the steamer on which men were going to Anyox to work for the Granby Co.

Constable J. W. Boys told of seeing accused come out of the Canadian Labor Defence League Hall on the morning in question at the head of a mob of about 250 men. He led the men from the hall and they hurried down Sixth Street and on to the cinder path past the Prince Rupert Hotel. Accused was very conspicuous at the head of the crowd, said witness under cross-examination by Gordon Grant, defence counsel. He (witness) saw no shouting or disorderly conduct at that time.

DOCTORING YOUR DAIRY HERD

Cows aren't machines. They can get sick or hurt. But Minard's Liniment makes it easy to care for their ills. Mrs. Thos. Bulmer of Lardo, B.C., found one of her herd with a lump in her udder. "I rubbed it with Minard's Liniment", she says, "and it soon got better." Minard's is best for Cuts, Bruises, Colic, Distemper, etc., and equally good in stable or in house. Well named "King of Pain".

Railways investigator, told of being on duty on the morning in question at the C. N. R. station and wharf.

Two days previous witness had informed accused that he would not be able to allow men to congregate further around the railway property as they had been getting in the way of passengers.

He (witness) had seen the crowd of men coming down the cinder path on the morning of March 1 and heard the shouting as they started to clamber down the embankment. Witness, fearing they would attempt to rush past the police and get on the boat, had rushed to the wharf and ordered the steamer to leave the dock. The steamer moved out into the harbor and freight was transferred to it by a smaller boat, the ship leaving for the north at 12 noon instead of on schedule at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Arrested Accused

C. N. R. Constable John McPhail saw accused on the morning in question at the head of the overhead bridge. He had been at the head of a large body of men coming down the cinder path. He heard the shouting and saw the men starting to pile over the bank towards the track. The police officers moved up to meet them and the men started to throw rocks at the police. Witness crossed over to assist the police. Witness saw accused signing to the men by waving his arms, beckoning them to come on. Witness gave chase to accused who ran up the track toward the elevator, overtook him near the round house and placed him under arrest. Collector of Customs J. H. McLeod told of his view of the conflict back of the Post Office from a window in the customs house. The police were endeavoring to drive the men back. Sergeant Service was hit a couple of times with rocks. Witness heard men already there shout to other men on Second Avenue to come and join them. Finally the crowd was scattered by the police.

JURORS ARE ADDRESSED

Pleas of Council and Judge's Summing Up in Carter Trial

L. S. McGill, counsel for the crown, made an impassioned speech to the jury in his address at the Supreme Court Assizes this morning in the Carter riot case, pleading with them that the responsibility lay with them to preserve law and order in the community. He ran briefly over the evidence, urging that there had been not only an unlawful assembly but a riot. Accused had led them and urged them on. Concluding he said: "I want you to proclaim that mob violence will not be allowed."

Gordon Grant, counsel for Carter, declared that the crown had failed to prove that Carter had broken the law. The men had been forbidden to pass through the overhead path but nothing had been said about going the other way. It was a good-natured crowd and when rocks were thrown it was because the police were attacking them on one side and the men coming down behind forcing them forward. In that case it was a matter of self-defence. He did not think a reasonable amount of evidence had been produced and he remarked at the absence of Inspector Shirras and Sergeant Service.

The judge, in summing up, explained that the accused had been warned and there was no evidence that the police had broken the peace. Throwing stones and shouting would constitute a riot. If he did what the evidence indicated he was a rioter.

CLUB HEARS OF QUEBEC

Clergyman Who Lived for 30 Years in Montreal Tells of Institutions of Province and City

An extremely interesting word picture of affairs in the Province of Quebec was given by Rev. Dr. Allan Reid of Toronto at the Prince Rupert Rotary Club luncheon yesterday, George Woodland presiding. Dr. Reid is a native of Quebec Province and has lived in the city of Montreal for over thirty years and is highly appreciative of the people and institutions in the province and city.

Speaking first of agriculture, Dr. Reid said some of the richest land in the Dominion was in the Chateauguay and St. Lawrence region. Dairy and other stock from there often took first prizes in Chicago and other shows and was well known. Next to it came the Eastern Townships often spoken of as the "Garden of Quebec." North of the St. Lawrence the land was poorer and so were the people. The habitant lived on very little, made his own clothes, raised most of his own food and was happy and contented.

An outstanding example of the industries was the asbestos mine at Danville, the largest on earth. Lumbering was carried on extensively, the timber limits providing quantities of pulp wood. Quebec also boasted of having one-third of the water power of the Empire.

In regard to the city of Montreal four-fifths of it had been built in the past thirty years. Several cities were inside the city of Montreal such as Westmount and Outremont and Verdun was a triangle alongside the larger city. The activities of all were co-ordinated by a metropolitan board.

School taxes were paid to either the Catholic schools or the Protestant, the 100,000 Jews paying to the latter and sending their children to the Protestant schools. The Protestant schools were controlled under an antiquated system by men nominated by the various denominations with two from the city council. It worked well. Income from taxes on corporations was divided between Catholic and Protestant according to school population. As 85% of the money invested was by Protestants this did not seem just but no objection was made. It was considered that corporate wealth was produced by the co-operation of capital and labor and, as the bulk of the labor was Catholic, there was no objection to it getting the bulk of the school taxes.

At the close of the address Mr. Reid was thanked by the president for his instructive and interesting address.

FOOTBALL WAS GOOD

Canadian Legion Defeats Regiment 4 to 2 in Season's Opener

Canadian Legion defeated Regiment by a score of 4 to 2 last evening in the opening game of the Senior League football here, it being the first fixture in the Gilhuly Cup series. The nature of play was much closer than the score would indicate, the younger Regiment players putting up a fine, fast fight against the more experienced Legion players. A splendid brand of play was turned in which augurs well for what may be expected as the season advances.

S. D. Macdonald kicked off the opening ball and there was a good sized crowd of spectators.

Half-time score was one-all, Legion playing downhill in the second half.

J. Johnstone was referee.

SOURD ON THE WORLD?—THAT'S LIVER

Wake up your Liver Bile—No Calomel necessary

Many people who feel sour, sluggish and generally worried make the mistake of taking salts, oil, mineral water, laxative, candy or chewing gum, or roughage which only move the bowels and ignore the liver.

What you need is to wake up your liver bile. Start your liver pouring the daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels. Get your stomach and intestine working as they should, once more.

Carter's Little Liver Pills will soon fix you up. Purely vegetable. Safe. Sure. Quick. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. 25c at all druggists.

TRUE STORY ON SCREEN

"The Match King" Based Upon Unusually Amazing Modern Story of Industrial Magnate

Ostensibly paralleling the career of Ivar Krueger, the Swedish industrial magnate, who committed suicide last year, "The Match King," which is coming to the Capitol Theatre this week-end is said to be one of the most amazing true stories ever presented on the screen. It is a powerful dramatization of the life and loves of a character who stole a billion dollars, forged a government's bonds, and was a power behind a dozen thrones. This story of gigantic financial deals and political intrigues in one man's attempt to control the world is the epic of the generation.

The role is played by Warren William with Lili Damita as one of his many enamoreds. Other well known actors in the cast include Glenda Farrell, John Wray, Hardie Albright, Juliette Compton, Alan Hale, Edmund Breese and DeWitt Jennings.

Try this Recipe for Dinner Tomorrow

HERE is a simple recipe for a delicious custard pie. Serve it to your family for dinner to-night and watch them come back for more!

- CUSTARD PIE
- 1 1/2 cups St. Charles Milk
  - 1 1/2 cups water
  - 4 eggs, well beaten
  - 1/2 cup sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - Unbaked pastry
  - Few Gratings Nutmeg

Dilute the milk with water and bring just to scalding in a double boiler. (Do not boil). Add sugar and salt to eggs, blend well. Pour the hot milk slowly over the egg mixture, stirring constantly. Cool. Pour into pastry, sprinkled with gratings of nutmeg and place in a rather hot oven to set and bake sides and bottom of crust. Then DECREASE the heat and cook at a low temperature until a silver knife inserted in centre comes out clean. The custard must not boil at any time or it will be watery.

Borden's St. Charles Milk is equally delicious in any recipe that calls for milk.
