SIR ARTHUR CURRIE PASSES AWAY

SUCCESSION DUTY IN THIS PROVINCE IS RULED INVALID

Noted Soldier-Educator Died This Morning in Hospital at Montreal

PRINCIPAL OF MCGILL UNIVERSITY AND FORMER CANADIAN ARMY COMMANDER IN FRANCE SUCCUMBS TO PNEUMONIA AND BRAIN ATTACK; HAD DISTINGUISHED CAREER

MANY TRIBUTES PAID

MONTREAL, Nov. 30: (CP)—From coast to coast and from all overseas parts of the Empire today poured in a wealth of tribute to the qualities and achievements of the late General Sir Arthur Currie. War time associates, university heads, public leaders of present and war days and Allied commanders who knew him in the stress of the conflict were quick to render their tribute to Sir Arthur. While general appreciation was expressed of his sterling qualities as a military man, no less predominant were the tributes to his character.

In extending sincere sympathy to Lady Currie and members of the family this morning on behalf of the people of the province of British Columbia, Premier T. D. Pattullo, in a telegram, added tribute to the great ability of Sir Arthur. "While Canada and the Empire mourn his passing, British Columbia and Victoria particularly feel it as he was always regarded as our own," said Mr. Pattullo.

The funeral will be held in Montreal on Tuesday morning, it was officially announced at McGill University this afternoon.

MONTREAL, Nov. 30: (CP)—Sir Arthur Currie, who was commander-in-chief of the Canadian Army Corps in France during the latter days of the Great War and has been principal and vice-chancellor of McGill University since 1920, died at 2:50 this morning. He was fifty-seven years of age.

Passes Away

Sir Arthur Currie, commander-in-chief of Canadian Army during Great War.

For some days death had not been unexpected and the condition of Sir Arthur was reported last night to be very critical and worse. The famous soldier-educator was running a temperature of 105 yesterday and appeared to be rapidly approaching the crisis in the attack of pneumonia which had complicated the blockade of a blood vessel in mid-brain which sent him to hospital on November 7.

Greatest Day of Life

Notwithstanding the many public offices he had occupied and the honors his country had showered upon him Sir Arthur Currie often declared the greatest day of his life was passed, not in Canada, but in Germany. It was on the morning of December 4, 1918, that he stood amid a drizzling rain by the roadside at Poteau, just across the German boundary from Belgium, and took the salute of the First Canadian Division marching to the Rhine to take up garrison duty at the Bouri beidgehead.

To Sir Arthur Currie this was the climax of a lifetime of endeavor. Commander-in-Chief of what had long been acknowledged among the Allies of the Great War as the most powerful fighting machine on the Western Front—a military unit he had helped to develop from the enthusiastic but untrained throng that crowded the plain of Valenciennes in August, 1914, to the resolute, well-disciplined and efficient force which the Canadian Corps proved itself on innumerable occasions—Currie directed its destinies during some of the most stirring moments of its existence.

It is as a soldier and a commander Sir Arthur Currie will be remembered by Canadians. In later life his activities were transferred

Someone Sees Money in The Runic Rock

This Runic rock found on a farm near Winnipeg has not only become a storm centre of interest for scientists, but has now become piece of stolen property which police are still searching for. Apparently some enterprising person or persons conceived the idea that anything the Norsemen might have said on the stone back in 1342, or thereabouts, would be worth money—hush money, maybe. At any rate, a truck was backed up into the yard, and the top of the stone politely removed. Maybe the story will bob up any day now in Walter Winchell's column. The above layout shows the rock and the finder, Joe Sagnalovitch. Inset is a close-up of the inscription, if any.

USE SCRIP IN RELIEF

Change in System of Distribution Is Announced Today By City Commissioner Alder

Meeting a request which had been made by a delegation representing the local unemployed councils that relief be paid in cash instead of in the form of orders upon certain merchants, City Commissioner W. J. Alder announced this morning that the city had on hand enough scrip which had been printed before the municipality reverted to commissioning to last about a month and, accordingly, he had decided to give the scrip a try-out for that period in place of the order system. It is felt that, by using the scrip, the recipients of relief may have the opportunity of shopping around and possibly obtaining better value.

Some of the merchants are in favor of the scrip system and some are not.

The governments are now bearing the entire actual cost of relief actually, merely the administration of same being in the hands of the city.

Governor of Missouri Says That Hanging of Negro is to Be Thoroughly Investigated

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 30: (CP)—In a statement yesterday regarding the lynching at St. Joseph Tuesday night of Lloyd Warner, 19-year old negro, who had confessed to attacking a white woman, Governor Guy D. Parks declared that there was "no justification for the act." There would be a thorough investigation into the affair, the Governor announced, and, for that purpose, Assistant Attorney General Sawyer had been sent to St. Joseph. The governor condemned mob violence as being destructive of orderly government.

To Find Out
ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 30:—"We intend to find out just who was responsible and will extend every effort to apprehend the leaders of the mob," stated Assistant Attorney General Sawyer on his arrival here yesterday to conduct an investigation into the lynching and burning Tuesday night of Lloyd Warner, young negro, who was being held in jail here after having confessed to attacking a white woman.

"I am a fighting Dutchman," said the sheriff here, in commenting upon the forcible seizure from the jail and lynching of Warner, "but there were too many Irishmen in that mob for me."

McGEER'S POSITION

The Vancouver morning paper, the News Herald, on Monday published the following editorial article under the heading "A Sorry Spectacle."

"In a final attempt to discredit the leader under whose banner he had campaigned, G. G. McGeer on Saturday night delivered himself of such a tirade as has seldom been heard by Vancouver electors.

"His time was well chosen—the dying hour of the week, closing his speech as midnight rang out, too late for reply before voters march to the polls to record their verdict today.

"His medium, the radio, was equally well chosen, as it permitted uninterrupted delivery of one of the most remarkable exhibitions of personal spleen ever vented by a public figure.

"Mr. McGeer denied, in his lengthy and vituperative address that his is a case of 'sour grapes,' denied that his desertion of his leader and his party, and his repudiation of the Burrard Liberal Association, which nominated him, is attributable to his intense disappointment because McGeer Sloan, and not he, was selected for the post of attorney-general.

"His denials, however, will hardly carry weight, and all thoughtful citizens who heard Saturday night's address will give him and his motives their true valuation.

"Unfortunately for Mr. McGeer's case, his much too-long speech included inconsistencies in itself and contained also statements inconsistent with his pre-election utterances.

"He quoted, for instance, the alleged boast of the liquor baron, who was reported to have said he had 'owned' two former governments, and he then added that this same brewer would now be able to boast that he owned a third. Yet, in another place in his address, he observed that he would have been prepared to support A. M. Manson, K.C., as attorney-general, a gentleman who, since he was attorney-general for a number of years in one of the 'owned' governments, must, if the allegations are true, have participated in the guilt of the 'owned' ones.

"And then again, how does Mr. McGeer reconcile his present fears of a government dominated by liquor interests with the stout assertion which he made during his election campaign, that the charges made by the C. C. F. of liquor money in the Liberal party chest were merely a red herring? He may have learned much to change his mind in the short period that has intervened, but, unfortunately for Mr. McGeer, a great many people are going to have their doubts.

"Such things as these would make the whole episode rather funny, were it not for the fact that the spectacle of a man turning upon the leader to whom his entire loyalty and support are due, merely because of personal pique, is extremely nauseating. Mr. McGeer will find that it will seriously deprecate the esteem in which he was formerly held by a large section of the public."

to other channels, such as his vice-chancellorship and principalship of McGill University, but here he merely continued to exercise the genius as an organizer he had demonstrated so effectively in the sphere of arms.

Early Military Pendant

Napoleon's saying that every soldier carries the baton of a field-marshal in his knapsack is aptly supported by the career of Sir Arthur Currie. He early displayed a penchant for military matters and in 1897 at the age of 22, he began his militia service as a gunner in the Fifth Regiment, Canadian Garrison Artillery, at Victoria. His promotion was steady and three years later saw him presented with the Queen's Commission. As an officer he threw himself vigorously into the affairs of the service and he climbed the ladder progressively until he was rewarded in 1910 by being given command of the regiment. After 15 years with the "Gunners" Currie withdrew from that arm and transferred his activities to the infantry. In 1913 he assisted in organizing the Fifteenth Regiment of Foot, the Gordon Highlanders of Canada.

The outbreak of war found him placing his wide knowledge of military matters at the disposal of his country. He volunteered for active service and his worth was immediately recognized by the government appointing him to the command of the Second Brigade of Infantry. It was with this unit he proceeded to England in September, 1914, and February, 1915, saw him in France.

The Second Battle of Ypres, in April, 1915, was the baptism of fire of the First Canadian Brigade. Few engagements of the war stand out in greater relief, for it was here the Germans first introduced gas into warfare. It is common knowledge how the regiments of French Colonials broke before this new and awful agency of destruction and how the Canadians, flanking the Allies, stood in the breach to bear the brunt of the German assault. Currie and his men performed magnificent service, the Second Brigade in particular being singled out for unstinted praise for its endurance and its hardihood.

He continued with the Second Brigade through the engagements of Festubert (May, 1915) and Givenchy (June, 1915), and on the relinquishment by General Alderson of command of the First Canadian Division in September, 1915, Currie was appointed successor with the rank of Major-General.

In July, 1916, with the organization of the Third Canadian Division and the grouping of the Canadians into a complete army corps a commander had been found in the person of that brilliant officer, General Sir Julian Byng, who as Baron Byng of Vimy eventually became Governor-General of the Dominion. Byng held this post until June, 1917, when he was advanced to the command of the Third (British) Army. Prior to his departure he urged the next commander of the Canadian Corps be a native-born Canadian and he indicated his logical successor should be Major-General Arthur W. Currie. The recommendation was promptly acted upon and on June 8, 1917, Currie was appointed to the supreme command. Nine days later, in Albert, France, he received the accolade from His Majesty and was created Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

The victorious part of the Canadian Corps in the closing months of the war is indissolubly bound up with the activities of Sir Arthur Currie. He was not unprepared for the tremendous drain which the fighting of that year would be certain to impose upon his forces and he realized success or failure depended entirely upon maintaining his units at full fighting strength. He labored hard training reinforcements and infusing through all ranks the theory and spirit of the offensive.

It was fitting that since the Dominion troops had contributed so much toward the undoing of the enemy they should be selected for the honor of advancing into Germany. Two divisions were chosen, the First and Second and on November 16, 1918, began the long march from Mons to Cologne. One month later saw Sir Arthur Currie at his headquarters in the city of Bonn with his troops in garrison on the hills east of the Rhine.

Sir Arthur and the Canadian Corps had brought a glorious chapter to a successful conclusion.

RETURN TO CANADA

The return of Sir Arthur Currie to Canada and the demobilization of the Canadian Corps brought the army of the Dominion back to its peace-time footing. His activities were transferred from the sphere of arms and armies to that of learning, for McGill University of Montreal, quick to estimate the great advantage to that institution of having at its head a man of Currie's calibre, offered him the position of Principal and vice-chancellor in succession to Sir Auckland Geddes, subsequently British Ambassador to Washington.

In his office as Principal of McGill, Sir Arthur Currie brought his fresh and vigorous mind to play on the problems attendant upon administering a great modern university, and his success is attested by the place of honor that McGill continues to hold among the academic institutions of the world. His 13 years at McGill was a period of progress for that institution. One new building after another sprang up around the campus, new departments being formed and old ones strengthened.

Sir Arthur was president of the conference of Canadian Universities from 1925 to 1927. The following commissions in which he held office showed the widespread nature of his interests: Montreal General Hospital, life governor; Bank of Montreal, director; United Services Club, honorary president; Anti-Tuberculosis and General Health League, chairman; Montreal Rehabilitation Committee, chairman.

Although claimed as a westerner, Arthur William Currie was Ontario-born. He was born at Napperton, Middlesex, Dec. 5, 1875. He was educated in the public schools and was first attracted to the profession of teaching. At the age of 19 he heard the call of the west and left in 1894 for British Columbia where he continued teaching at Sydney and Victoria, where in 1899 he transferred himself to the commercial world. In 1901 he married Lucy Sophia Chaworth Musters of Nottingham, England. There were a son, Garner Arnsby, and a daughter, Mrs. A. T. Galt Durford. Currie engaged for 15 years in the sale of insurance and real estate on the coast. But his heart's interest lay in military affairs and 1914 gave him his chance to prove himself a great soldier and a great leader. He received high honors for his military service from the British and all Allied governments.

BASKETBALL AT TERRACE

Girls' and Men's Games On Saturday Well Played

TERRACE, November 29.—The weekly basketball games were pulled off here in good style Saturday night. The Intermediate girls played a close game which resulted in a win for the Dragons by a score of 13 to 11. The Pirates put up a strong fight but were weak in the shooting.

In the senior girls' game the Duds defeated the Mikes by a score of 19 to 14. The Mikes fought a hard game but the superior combination of the Duds was too much for them. The Mikes had a slight lead in the score at quarter time but after that, the Duds started to force the play and soon had a lead the Mikes were unable to overcome.

The senior men's game started fast with both teams out to settle a feud which has been standing between them for some time. The Town team tried to force the play but, with the Mill guards playing a stellar game and the forwards giving the extra punch that was needed, they were able to trounce the Town by a score of 31 to 9.

Individual scores:
Senior Girls
Duds—C. Smith (5), Cole, E. Dover, M. McLaren (10), F. McLaren (4), Miss McInnes, R. Taft; total, 19.
Mikes—Mrs. Mihel (2), B. Moore (12), A. Thomas, J. Dover, M. Kenney; total, 14.

Senior Men
Mill Crew—F. Hipp (7), F. Thomas (14), D. Little (13), K. Kerr, D. Kerr; total, 31.
Town—W. McConnell (2), F. Green, J. Bignore, D. Nelson (4), T. Hipp (1), C. Mitchell (2); total, 9.

SPORT CHAT

Tonight's senior hoop fray will bring together Grotto and C. N. R. A. Both teams are tied for first place and, with "Shorty" Stiles and "Jumping Joe" Gillis on opposing sides, this game should be a classic. High School and Warriors tangle in the intermediate division. The last time these teams met High came out winners but Comadina says it won't happen again. The Cardinals and the Comets are also on the bill in the Ladies' League. This should be a battle royal, Scouts and Flashes will be in the junior opener with Scouts still having to register a win.

Last Monday night an incident took place that left a nasty mark on local basketball. That was when Stiles stood there and tried to tell Referee Skinner how he should referee the game. The senior players have been playing long enough to know that the referee's word is final and that he calls them as he sees them and has a grudge against no one, at least he should not have, Brick Skinner is one of the ablest arbiters in the game north of Vancouver and has done a lot of work in regard to basketball in this town and will undoubtedly continue to do so as long as the players help him.

Breach of Promise Case Against Well Known Boxer Fails

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 30.—A $250,000 breach of promise case brought against Max Baer, California heavyweight boxer and contender for the world's championship, by a waitress was dismissed yesterday.

SUSPECTS RELEASED

Twenty Men Given Liberty Following Line-Ups Yesterday In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Nov. 30. (CP)—Twenty men, picked up in police raids early yesterday morning for investigation as suspects in connection with recent crimes, were released later in the day when victims of recent robberies failed to identify any of them in the line-ups.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS

People everywhere are considering the question of Christmas presents. One of the most welcome presents a former Prince Rupert resident could get would be a subscription to the Daily News.
In order to co-operate with our readers who wish to keep alive in the minds of their friends the activities of the people of the Prince Rupert district, we are making a special half-rate for people living outside the district, if sent by a person who is already a subscriber to the paper.
Send in $1.50 with the name of the person to whom you wish to donate the paper and we see that they get it by mail for one year.

Man in the Moon

Good afternoon. Have you bought our Christmas presents?

I have been counting up my pennies and trying to see how little I can get away with this year without offending anybody. I find that if I fulfil all my obligations I shall be $73.25 in debt when the season's over.

I see by the newspaper headlines that the "market is unsettled." It can't be wondered at. Since it's difficult to get credit people are selling their stocks to buy Christmas gifts.

There are a few certificates in my collection that I'd like to give away but I do not wish to offend anyone.

The talk of the town this week has been the action of Gerry McGeer in urging people to vote against the Liberal candidates in Vancouver after being passed up for the attorney-generalship.

If Gerry is going to oppose the government he should go back to his constituents and ask for their endorsement of his action. But he won't.

A new town is being started in the Cariboo. You'd think the condition of the towns already established would have been a warning against starting any more.

This is St. Andrew's Day. Andrew is the patron saint of Scotland, whatever that may mean.

Andrew seems to be better known than George as a patron saint but then Andrew never killed a dragon.

It must be great to be a Scotchman and have that kind of opinion of one's own people and that kind of a taste for whiskey.

Jake says a Scotsman thinks he comes from the best country in the world and his people are the best in the world but the Englishman thinks he owns the world but is mostly broke.

Rumors travel by wireless, truth by slow freight.

The town of Quick has at last come into prominence. It is being published in the south that letters for points west of Quick go north by steamer and those east of the same dividing line by rail. Quick seems to be about at the centre of things and should be heard from.

Birthday Surprise Party Last Night

A delightful surprise party was held last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Bartlett, Eleventh Avenue East, in honor of the birthday of their eldest son, Bert. There were about twenty-four young persons present and the evening was happily spent in dancing and card playing. Delicious refreshments were served.

Birthday congratulations of all were tendered to Mr. Bartlett jr. and a suitable presentation was made.

Several members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce addressed the students at the various schools this week in regard to the essays on buying at home. Sam Jabour spoke at the High School, Reid McLeman at Borden Street, Harry Gourlay at Booth School and G. P. Lyons at Annunciation School.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism. Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication. Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

Newcomers in U.S. Grid Spotlight

(1) Tony Mazziotti, sophomore quarterback from White Plains, N.Y., Italian boy whom Notre Dame relies on to follow Carrideo. Mazziotti appears to have the pilot's job on the Notre Dame team clinched in his first year of Varsity competition. (2) Pierson Lewis Metoxen, full-blooded Indian of the Oneida tribe, whose home is in Phoenix, Arizona, has reported for a backfield position on the freshman squad of the University of Pennsylvania. Metoxen is a third cousin to the most legendary Jones Metoxen, who performed such deeds of might and valor for Carlisle not so long ago.

HOLD BOOZE FOR STATES

Canada Has Big Shipments Ready; What Will Be Effect of President Roosevelt's Policy?

OTTAWA, Nov. 30: (CP)—It was revealed here yesterday that some forty million gallons of Canadian liquor is being held in bond in this country for shipment to the United States to supply the market there immediately after repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment becomes effective and sale of liquor in that country is legalized.

There is some speculation here as to what the effect on this country will be of President Roosevelt's announced policy that United States will grant liquor orders to foreign countries in accordance with the action those countries take to lower tariff barriers against American goods. This, undoubtedly, will present another problem for the Canadian government to deal with.

RIVALRY REGARD JUNIOR CHAMBER ESSAY CONTEST

Considerable interest is being taken in the announcement made this week that essays are to be invited from the pupils of the schools giving reasons why people should buy at home. There seems to be some school rivalry in regard to the matter and efforts will be made by each school to have a pupil among the winners. An advertisement is being published in this paper Saturday in regard to the contest. The whole movement is being sponsored by the recently-formed Junior Chamber of Commerce and is part of a campaign of education it is planning.

Ill-Treatment Of Children Is Alleged in East

It is alleged that the children were badly used by the matron and attendants, beaten, forcibly fed and dragged by the heels. The child that died had been given a chemical bath for the purpose of removing bruises on his body.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularly. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.
