World Flyer Damages Ship In Coming Down But Able to Continue

Propeller Brought From Fairbanks as He Sleeps at Flat—Is First Aviator to Fly Solo Across Pacific Ocean

FLAT, Alaska, July 21: (Canadian Press)—Wiley Post, one-eyed Oklahoma aviator, took off at 7:28 this morning (Fairbanks Time, which would be 9:28 Pacific Standard Time) in continuation of his flight around the world after having spent the night here following a forced landing. Post was lost for seven hours over Alaska yesterday in the course of his hop from Khabarovsk, Siberia, to Fairbanks and was finally forced down here by lack of fuel. The plane nosed over in a cross-wind and damaged the undercarriage as well as breaking the propeller. Post was unhurt himself although exhausted.

During the night, Pilot Joe Crosson brought a new propeller from Fairbanks and temporary repairs were effected to the undercarriage. Post felt rested and refreshed on waking off today after six or seven hours of sleep.

Post is the first flier to make a solo flight across the Pacific Ocean and he still has a chance to break the speed record for circumnavigation of the world.

 FAIRBANKS, July 21: (Canadian Press)—Wiley Post, American round the world flier, landed here at 10:42 o'clock this morning from Flat, Alaska.

RAINFALL AIDS CROP

More Moisture is, However, Badly Needed on Prairies

Important Factor

Growth in Peace River Somewhat Late But is Looking Good

WINNIPEG, July 21:—Some showers since last report have temporarily benefitted the crops in the prairie provinces but more rain and cooler weather are needed to insure an average crop, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture, Canadian National Railways. The central and southern areas are in more serious condition than the more northerly territory. The moisture factor this year appears to be the most important as affecting the yield prospects.

In the Portage-Brandon division of Manitoba conditions are fair. Grain is ripening rapidly and some wheat will be ready to cut next week. Grasshopper damage is reported at several points doing damage to crops as well as garden stuff. The Dauphin division reports the weather very warm with local showers. An excellent hay crop is being harvested both as to quality and quantity. There has been no damage from any cause and the present grain crop prospects are excellent.

The Regina division of Saskatchewan reports the weather has been hot and winds have dried up any moisture received. Cutting of fall rye has commenced and a good yield is expected. Some grasshopper damage is reported and more rainfall is needed to help the late crops and fill out the maturing grain.

In the Prince Albert division of Saskatchewan some subdivisions report crops going back on account of lack of moisture, having only sufficient for present requirements. Wheat is headed out and coarse grains are heading out. No damage from other sources is reported but rains are badly needed to insure a good average crop.

In Alberta
 In the Southern Alberta area wheat is heading out but straw is very short. The summer-fallowed grain is holding up fairly well but all crops are badly in need of immediate moisture.

In the Edmonton district crops are making good progress and are progressing favorably although some points report rains badly needed. No pest damage is reported. (Continued on Page Four)

Military Drill In Germany

Military drill comes under the heading of "sports" in Soviet Russia, with war news probably running in the "Bib League" column. Anyway, here are some of the boys at Moscow, a few of the 100,000 citizens that recently took part in a giant field day. Note standard of sturdiness.

Crash In Futures Causes Wheat Markets in Chicago and in Other Cities to Close For the Present

Premier Bennett Says President Roosevelt Would be Well Advised to Close Up New York Stock Exchange—Winnipeg Situation Steadied Up by Strong Export Orders

NEW YORK, July 21: (Canadian Press)—Trading in grain and provision futures was suspended on the Chicago, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Duluth Boards of Trade today following yesterday's wild selling session when wheat broke from thirteen to fifteen cents. Before the decision to suspend trading, fluctuation had been the order of the day, being limited in the case of wheat and rye to eight cents in either direction.

FLYING TO VANCOUVER

After a prospecting flight into the Rainy Hollow district of Northern British Columbia and the Pelly River region of the Southern Yukon, Col. Victor Spencer's Junkers seaplane "City of Prince George," piloted by W. L. McCluskey, landed here at 12:30 noon today from the north on its way back to Vancouver. With weather conditions favorable, it was expected the plane would continue its southward flight later this afternoon after refuelling.

Those on board the plane include W. S. Harris, in charge of Col. Spencer's mineral field work, D. J. McRae, Vancouver prospector, and Air Engineer F. Staines in addition to Pilot McCluskey.

NOME, July 21: (Canadian Press)—Jimmy Matern, youthful United States round the world flyer, whose plane was wrecked six weeks ago in Siberia, arrived here yesterday from Anadyr in a Soviet seaplane flown by Pilot Levonovsky, Russian aviator.

The plane arrived after having been forced down six miles west of here when it ran out of gas.

Matern was met here by William Alexander, Fred Fetterman and Thomas Abbey of the New York relief expedition with whom it is expected he will return to New York by way of Prince Rupert and Terrace.

Col. S. D. Johnston Tells of Many Things He Saw on Recent Trip To Old Countries

City Still at War

Three Great Markets in London are Visited and Fishmongers' Banquet Outstanding Event

Berwick-on-Tweed is still at war with Germany officially for, while war was declared on behalf of that city, the name of the place was not included in the peace treaty. That is one of the quaint things discovered by Col. S. D. Johnston during his recent visit to England and Scotland. Berwick was one of the place she saw and, according to his account, Berwick is not a part of either England or Scotland. Formerly the town objected to the Scottish cattle thieves who crossed the border and also to the English driving them back through their city and so became an independent borough. When war was declared it was on behalf of Great Britain and Ireland and Berwick-on-Tweed. The last name was omitted in the peace declaration.

Col. Johnston visited in Somersetshire and very much admired the scenery there, particularly at Cheddar, the place which became famous by the making of cheese. The lakes district of England, one of the show districts of England, was also enjoyed. At Edinburgh the centre of attraction was the war memorial at Edinburgh Castle, so built as to blend into the ancient castle tower and other buildings. It was in memory of all Scottish people who lost their lives in the war. A memorial tablet was erected there to the 16th Canadian Scottish.

During his visit to Salisbury Plains he had gone to an old fashioned inn at night, rang a huge bell and awakened the proprietor from sleep to let him in. The bed in which he slept that night was a historic one in which King Charles I had slept. The floor of the room was on a slant and everything very old and quaint.

At Wells Cathedral the Bishop's Palace was surrounded by a moat with a portcullis. Swans lived in the moat and just above them was a rope which rang a bell. The swans had been trained centuries ago to ring this bell when feeding time came and the young swans inherited the custom which had become with them an instinct. When the bell rang they were fed.

The small size of the suits of armor used by the ancient knights was a matter of note. In one of the small towns visited there was an annual custom to put so many men in armor and deliver them to the lord of the manor. Boys had to be used for this purpose now because none of the armor which years ago served full grown men was large enough for the present inhabitants. A similar conditions was noted in the Tower of London.

Oddities in regard to tourists was noted. At one village church he saw some tourists were visiting and were evidently in a hurry. To save time a man had said to his wife: "You do the outside, I will do the inside."

London, the Colonel said, was increasing in population at the rate of 200,000 a year. Quaint customs he found everywhere. Stock brokers always wore silk hats. Hours of insurance men were from ten to four.

SEA SCOUT PARTY HERE

Thirty-Five Lads in Port This Morning Aboard Power Vessel

The Seattle powerboat Tye Scout, with party of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana Sea Scouts on board for a cruise to Alaska waters, arrived in port about 9 o'clock this morning from the south and the lads were prominent along the city streets for the few hours they were here. There are about thirty-five of them in all. Similar parties have been coming here for some years past. From here they proceeded later in the morning to Ketchikan. The boys will be in the north about two weeks and Ketchikan will be the northern terminus of the cruise.

Among the prominent members of the party are Wallace Howe, scoutmaster in charge, Joe Thompson of Oakland, Oregon, engineer; E. A. Britton, Scout executive of Roseburg, Oregon; Herb Mjorud of Petersburg, Alaska, next captain of the University of Washington rowing crew; Henry Freely, quartermaster of the Sea Scout ship Sea Venture, and Paul Hayward, chief steward.

PAID VISIT TO CANADA

Lord Burnham Here in 1920 As President of Press Union—Leaves Barony to Nephew

When Lord Burnham succeeded his father as head of the London Telegraph, whose death occurred in London yesterday, he also followed him in several public offices. He succeeded him in the presidency of the Newspaper Press Fund, a benevolent institution of which one of the founders was Charles Dickens. He also succeeded him as President of the Empire Press Union. In the latter capacity he headed the Imperial Press Conference when it visited Canada in 1920 and Australia in 1925.

Viscount Burnham's voice was seldom heard in the House of Lords, neither was it heard much on the political platform. But at banquets great and small, held in celebration of the most diverse objects, he was a most frequent, a most fluent, and apparently a most willing speaker.

Viscount Burnham married in 1884 Olive, daughter of General Sir Henry de Bathe. They had one daughter, who married the Hon. J. S. Coke, son of the Earl of Leicester. Teher is no heir to the viscount. The heir to the barony is Col. Hon. W. A. Webster, nephew of the late viscount, who long served under him in the management of the Telegraph and who remained with the paper after its change of ownership.

PORT ALWAYS OPEN

Dispatches indicate that Hudson Bay is filled with ice floes so that navigation is difficult if not wholly impossible. The St. Lawrence River was frozen solid all winter and all traffic in that direction was stopped for a number of months. Prince Rupert is an open port all the year round. No ice ever forms in the harbor, even in the coldest known winter.

OWNERS OF FARMS

British Columbia is ahead of Ontario and the prairie provinces in the percentage of farmers who own their own farms. Nova Scotia heads the list with 94.25%, Prince Edward Island comes next with 93.98% and is followed closely by New Brunswick, Quebec and British Columbia with 82%. The lowest percentage is Saskatchewan with 66.45%. Anything the government can do to increase the number of farmer-owners lends stability to the country and tends to improve the prosperity and appearance of the province.

OWNING ONE'S HOME

It's a great thing for a person to own his home. A mortgaged home is much to be preferred to a rented home. In fact in this new country it is difficult to make anything like a real home in a rented house. There is a feeling of irresponsibility and of lack of interest which always goes with a lack of permanency. Usually new premises need improving but few tenants care to spend time or money in making improvements such as an owner would do. Pass around the city and it is possible to pick out most of the places that are owned by the people who live in them just from the general appearance.

Owning one's place gives a sense of permanency and an interest in the city which can be obtained in no other way. The people who knock the city are not as a rule the home owners. They are the transients or the tenants. Possession of a real home is a great asset both to the person and to the community.

A Scientist's Opinion of Beer

"Beer not only has food value, but it has for many persons stimulating properties and tonic properties. It is strictly a tonic in many respects. All these properties, together with the effect on the palate of people who like it, go to make it a beverage which has so many advantages that you cannot compare any other beverage with it."

In one place he happened on an official beating some young lads with a switch. This man was carrying out an old custom of beating the bounds of the borough and their course lay through the stage of a theatre.

Messengers of the postal telegraphs amused the visitor very much. They walked very slowly and sedately. On inquiry he found that the matter of hurrying the boys had once been drawn to the attention of the Home Secretary in Parliament with the result that an order was sent out compelling the boys to walk slowly and sedately at so many paces to the minute.

Three Markets

Three markets were visited by Col. Johnston. They were Covent Garden, the Caledonian Market and Billingsgate. The first was the great vegetable, fruit and flower market for the whole of the city. He found that first the retail businesses were supplied, then the hotels and restaurants and, last of all, the push barrows which retailed the flowers on the streets. One of these barrows was piled ten feet high with flowers all of which were sold in the east end of the city.

At the Caledonian Market, known as the market of thieves, he was advised to keep his hands in his pockets. Almost everything was sold there that could be sold anywhere, old things and new, gold and diamonds and old plate and new goods. Nothing seemed to be missed.

At Billingsgate, noted for its language, he heard none of the reputed rough talk for which the place was supposed to be noted. He had an invitation to dine with the fish-mongers in their own hall and found everything most ornate. Flunkeys in gold braid met them at the door and the dress for the evening was not a dinner jacket but full evening dress with swallow tails. For a military man decorations were expected to be worn. General Gough, whom he had known, was there smothered in medals and there was a guard of Thames boatmen in attendance dressed in red and each carrying an oar. The dinner was most ornate and madra and champagne were served ad libitum. At the conclusion each guest was given a huge box of chocolates made expressly for the occasion and put up in a box surmounted by the crest of the fish-mongers. This was for the guests to placate their wives should they suggest that they had been drinking too much wine.

The speaker told of visiting the Bank of England with one of the directors of that institution who showed him the big room where the financial affairs of the kingdom were regulated. Incidentally the Colonel told of an effort in Denmark to develop British trade by displaying British goods. It was estimated that 22,000 shops in Denmark displayed British goods on a "Made in Britain" day.

Vancouver Band Staged Enjoyable Dance Last Night

The dance staged in the Moose Hall here last night by the Rhythm Vendors dance and radio orchestra of Vancouver proved a real treat for a large crowd of local terpsichorean enthusiasts. The four-piece jazz band dispensed music of a very peppy type which kept the crowd on its toes from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. At midnight, there was an intermission for refreshments.

"Charleston" Wright of this city added variety to the evening's proceedings with solo dancing and singing. Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Daly and son of Midlandvale, Alberta, arrived in the city on last night's train and will be the guests here for a time of Mr. Daly's brother-in-law and sister, Capt. and Mrs. W. P. Armour, before returning home via Vancouver and Portland. Before coming here they spent a few days with Capt. and Mrs. Armour at their summer home at Lakelse Lake.

WILL ROGERS HERE AGAIN

Eight well known stars bring the popular novel, "State Fair," to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this week-end. Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers, Lew Ayres, Sally Eilers, Norman Foster, Louise Dresser, Frank Craven and Victor Jory are the stars.

Miss Gaynor and Ayres are the lovers of a romance between a little farm girl and a dashing newspaper reporter, and Miss Eilers and Foster are the principals of another affair, said to be as intense as it is unconventional. Rogers has what is reported as the greatest comedy role of his career, that of a mid-west farmer whose great ambition is to land a grand championship for his prize hog, Blue Boy. Miss Dresser takes the part of Rogers' wife, Craven appears as a country storekeeper and Jory portrays a carnival stand barker.

The action locales are Rogers' farm home and the grounds of a big state fair.

Throughout the whole of the Peace River territory weather has been warm and showery. Crops are in good condition and wheat is well headed out. All grain is doing well but may be a little later than usual.

The strength displayed by the livestock market a week ago was responsible for heavy receipts this week. Well finished grain and hay fed cattle show continued strength while grassers are changing hands on a strict quality and finished basis. The hog market reacted to lower levels and the prospects are that no price improvement can be expected immediately.
