Premier Intends to Keep Canada Money On Its Sound Basis

Suggests, However, That Inflation or Devaluation Might Be Desirable and Possible Under Certain Circumstances

OTTAWA, May 3: (Canadian Press)—An observation which Premier R. B. Bennett interjected during a speech in the House of Commons yesterday on general financial matters forecasting a measure to be introduced shortly respecting money is not to be taken as an indication that the government contemplates any departure from the principle of sound money. It was learned authoritatively. On the question of inflation or devaluation of the dollar, however, it has been stated in reliable quarters that, should this be desirable and possible of accomplishment under the circumstances and would not impair the credit of Canada abroad, the Prime Minister would not hesitate to ask for the necessary authority from Parliament.

URGES NO FISH DUTY

Hansen Has Taken Matter Up With Department at Ottawa and Makes Suggestions

In a letter to the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Olof Hansen, member for Skeena, states that he has made strong representations both personally and through correspondence to the department of fisheries and the government in regard to the duty on fish entering United States and vice versa. He has urged that the duty on fish entering American ports be abolished altogether and, failing this, to have the duty on either side the same, namely one cent a pound instead of two.

Mr. Hansen suggested that a strong resolution be sent forward in regard to the matter by the Chamber of Commerce.

Quebec Power Project Casts Its Shadow Once More On Political Stage; Government Gets Warning

TEACHERS' MEETING

Delegates Report on Recent Convention in Vancouver

Fine Speeches

Impressive Messages Delivered by Various Prominent Men

At the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Teachers' Association last evening, reports of the provincial convention held in ~~Vancouver~~ during Easter week were presented by the delegates and were followed with keen and appreciative interest by the local teachers.

Miss M. Hartin spoke on the opening meeting at which Mayor L. D. Taylor welcomed the teachers and it which G. C. McGeer gave a rousing address on "The Money-Changers in the Temple." Mr. McGeer was strong in his condemnation of the present banking system, not that of the local banks but of the policies of the Morgans, LaVelles, Holts and the controllers of the international monetary transactions. The God of Christianity had been replaced by the god of money. The remedy lay in the hands of the people who had vision to place spiritual values above material values and had the courage to insist on the right God being the object of worship.

The conversations had been a very successful feature with a full program of the best musical talent of Vancouver. Both functions had been crowded.

Miss E. A. Mercer spoke on the addresses by Dr. Carrothers, B. C. Nicholas and Dr. G. M. Weir. Dr. Carrothers emphasized the general insecurity of the present economic existence. As a result, teachers, who had previously been relieved of an immediate concern in economics and so were free to devote their activities to the consideration of ideals and the education of the young, were now forced to face the results of an ill-ordered system. The change had done them good and the rising generation would benefit. The tragedy of the war had been followed by the greater tragedy of economic catastrophe. The lesson was being slowly learned that human values must be placed above profits of industry.

Mr. Nicholas, of the Victoria Times, spoke of "Education and the Press." The press was the child of education. He traced the development of education in an interesting way, showing how the idea of teaching children to earn a living rather than teaching them to live had developed in this materialistic age. A fuller appreciation of art, literature and the good things of life and more sympathy among members of the human family was necessary.

J. S. Wilson

J. S. Wilson, a member of the provincial executive, told of the business of the executive meetings. He paid a tribute to the very efficient

Sir Herbert Holt Said to be Angling For Control—Strong Epithets Used in Discussion by Deputy Speaker and Progressive Members

OTTAWA, May 3: (Canadian Press)—Beauharnois cast its shadow over the political stage again yesterday when Opposition members warned the government that Sir Herbert Holt, Montreal utility baron, was angling for control of the vast St. Lawrence River power project. Three members of the Progressive group, E. J. Garland, Robert Gardiner and J. S. Woods-worth, pressed for expropriation of Beauharnois power and navigation scheme and its development as a public utility. They were joined by Hon. W. D. Euler, Liberal, who suggested that the Dominion acquire control through stock purchase with printed currency. This would have the double effect on requiring the power plant and moderating inflating currency.

Premier R. B. Bennett said that he would make a statement at the proper time.

The Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co. was termed by Armand Lavergne, Deputy Speaker, as "the greatest octopus that ever laid its tentacles on the province of Quebec," by Robert Gardiner as "a set of gangsters" and by Mr. Garland as "a pirating group of unscrupulous promoters and financiers."

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Liberal, said that Quebec would resent discussion of its own private affairs of which he claimed Beauharnois was one.

work of an old Prince Rupert teacher, James Mitchell who, as secretary of the convention committee, had an extremely busy time. In the absence through illness of the general secretary, Harry Charlesworth, Mr. Mitchell had filled a very exacting office with every success. The attendance at the convention was a record. A large number of resolutions had been considered, some international, some national, some federal, some provincial and some local in their scope. Teachers realized the need for sacrifice in these times but, as Dr. Buchanan pointed out, it was the duty of leaders of education to see that the futures of 40,000 children were not to be jeopardized for the sake of the preservation of the bonded interests of the moneyed classes. The heritage of the young was to be safeguarded. "Young Canada, we stand on guard for thee" might well indicate their attitude.

The inspiration of the convention was a very real thing. The realization that teachers were engaged in an important contribution to mankind and that they had a big responsibility to the future as they had great benefits from the past was crystallized into an incentive that would encourage them to work on to the greater happiness of the youth of today, the ideal of a fuller life in the years to come and the realization of the Master's aim that "people might have life, and that they might have it more abundant."

W. W. C. O'Neill spoke on the visit of Dr. Anderson who had addressed the local teachers on her stay over while enroute to Prince George to address the district convention at that point. The meeting had been a very valuable one.

Heartfelt votes of thanks were accorded the various speakers prior to adjournment.

Mrs. Fred Bingham, Swift Current, Sask., writes: "I was bothered with palpitation of the heart, and my nerves were so bad I could not sleep."

I was getting desperate and confided my trouble to a friend who recommended me to use Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I purchased a box and got such relief I would gladly recommend them to all who are troubled as I was."

DEATH RATE OF MOTHERS

Population of Canada Will Decrease Unless Something is Done

MONTREAL, May 3: (CP)—A prediction that in 1940 the population of Canada will be stationary and in 1950 it will be less than 10,000,000 if the present death rate of mothers is not checked was made by Dr. Stephen Langevin, professor of obstetrics of the University of Montreal, in addressing a local service club.

"We must take into consideration that a birth rate of 16.7 is necessary to maintain a stationary population with the present life expectation of about 60 years," he explained. "If the present downward trend continues, therefore, it is only a matter of a few years until the number of daughters will be only sufficient to replace the mothers of the present day when they reach middle age. The proportionate causes of puerperal death are: infection 40%, intoxication 27%, hemorrhage 12%, and instrumental delivery 10%."

"Eleven percent of the remaining are due to what we call the accidents of pregnancy and certain ill-defined causes. There is also the danger of morbidity in 10% of the cases."

Dr. Langevin offered as suggestions for reducing such mortality and morbidity more hours of teaching obstetrics in universities; more post graduate facilities for physicians; more maternal beds available in every hospital, more trained nurses or midwives for cities and rural districts and a public educational campaign.

Simmons, who was largely instrumental in carrying the Athletics to the baseball heights in his several years' connection with that outfit, is beginning where he left off with the Windy City club. Early averages show that he is leading the American League in almost every department. Haas and Dykes are also doing very well. The husky club swingers are here giving the 1933 version of the "spirit of '76." At the left is Dykes, centre, Simmons, and right, Haas. DETROIT, May 3: (Canadian Press)—Nosed out by the Detroit Tigers here yesterday, New York almost dropped into a tie with the idle Washington Senators for the leadership of the American League. The St. Louis Browns had a close victory over the Boston Red Sox at St. Louis, the deadlock to the two teams for cellar position thus being broken.

Pittsburgh Pirates, although losing a close verdict to the Phillies, still retained their two and a half game lead in the National League over New York Giants who were ignominiously shut-out by the Chicago Cubs. The victory gave the Cubs a tie for third place with the Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to the St. Louis Cardinals at Ebbets Field, the Boston Braves dropping into fifth place as a result of their close defeat at the hands of the Cincinnati Reds.

Yesterday's Big League scores:

NEW AIR SERVICE

Pan American to Operate From Halifax to Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., May 2: (Canadian Press)—Pan American Air- don, England.

ways, operating in 30 countries of the world, will extend their service to Newfoundland this summer with flights from Halifax to St. John's.

According to present plans of the company, this will be one leg of a trans-Atlantic route mapped for 1934, when a co-operative scheme will be worked out with Imperial Airways Limited of Lon-

Test flights will be made from Halifax to St. John's as soon as the weather permits. At the forthcoming session of the Newfoundland legislature the company will ask for charter authorizing them to follow a regular schedule for passengers, freight and mails. The company already has established a service for passengers between Boston and Halifax.

Last April F. F. Winslow of the Pan American Airways was in St. John's and addressed a service club, outlining the project. In September, R. H. Logan visited the island dominion, visiting St. John's, Grand Falls, Botwood, Gambo and several points on the east and south coasts. Mr. Logan prepared a complete report on favorable locations for airports in this district.

Transatlantic Service

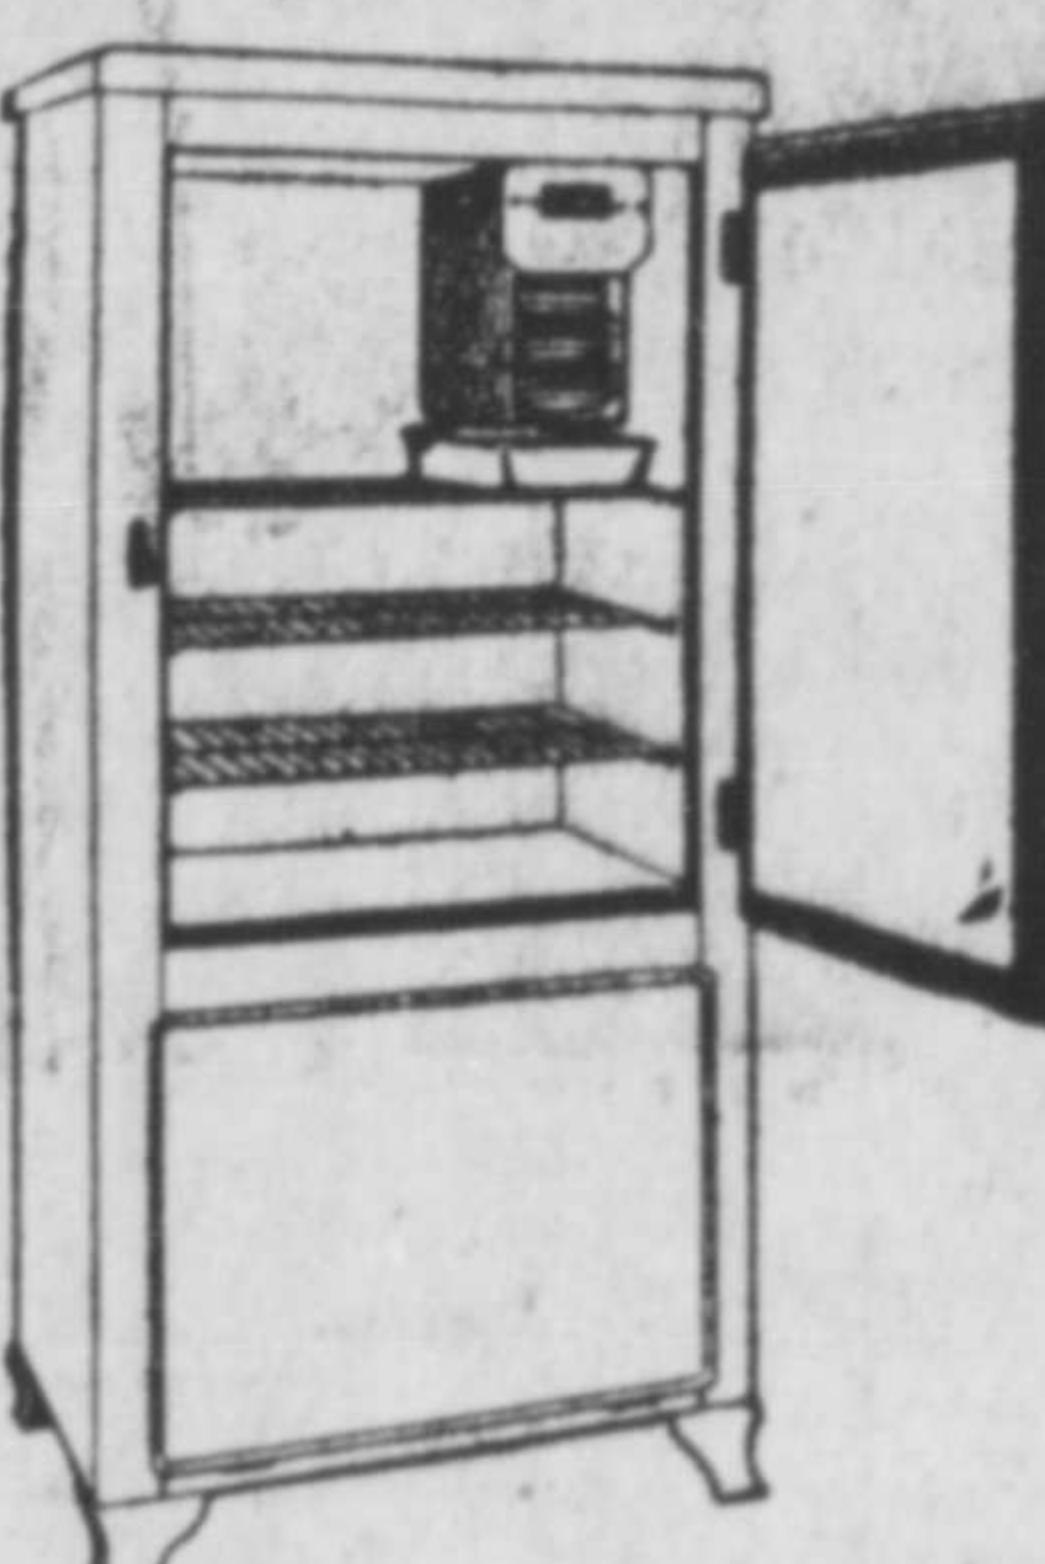

When the Pan American company has established a scheduled service to Newfoundland, the Imperial Airways will immediately complete plans for service across the North Atlantic to Newfoundland, thus opening the first transatlantic service between Europe and the North American continent.

The Imperial Airways will use a fleet of planes on the route, via Iceland, Greenland and Labrador.

Latest reports received here indicate that both companies are confident the connection can be made in 1934. Several successful flights have been made over the northern route and the Capt. Wolfgang Von Gronau's repetition of the journey has won strong support for the promoters.
