MAYOR GIVES TEMPERANCE PARTY THROW DOWN

KING'S ELDEST SON TO PAY VISIT TO CANADA

The Young Prince May Make Trip Over the Trans-Continental to Prince Rupert—Will Certainly be Invited to Take Part in Some Ceremony Connected With the Work

(Canadian Press Despatch) Quebec, July 11.—That the Prince of Wales will come to visit Canada, either in 1912 or 1913, was definitely stated by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the accompanying ministers on their return from England last night. This much has been arranged. May Visit Rupert Upon the date of the young prince's visit depends whether or not he will declare the Grand Trunk Pacific open. It is hoped to have his visit timed to coincide with the completion of the G. T. P. Trans-continental from Prince Rupert to Quebec and Moncton. A trip across the new line will be one of the probable features of his visit. If it cannot be arranged to have the visit coincide with the completion of the line, and if he comes next year, then some other fête will be arranged connected with the great trans-continental enterprise, probably in the form of a spike driving fête, on one of the newly opened sections.

MONTREAL'S WELCOME TO CANADA'S PREMIER

River Side and Streets Were Decorated With Flags and Colored Lights—Mayor Drouin Presented an Address of Congratulation for Sir Wilfrid's Services in England

(Canadian Press Despatch) Montreal, July 11.—Amid every evidence of rejoicing and public congratulation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier was welcomed home last night. Thousands lined the river bank and cheered his yacht as it hove in sight from Quebec. The river banks and Helen Island were brilliantly illuminated with colored lights, flashing out a welcome to Canada's Premier. The Premier was driven through the decorated streets to the City Hall where Mayor Drouin on behalf of the assembled City Council presented him with an illuminated address from the city, congratulating him on his return, and expressing their admiration for the brilliant manner in which he had represented Canada at the Coronation and the Imperial Conference. A Brilliant Affair The banquet was one of the most brilliant ever held in the city, and fittingly ended an evening devoted to honoring the popular Premier.

GENERAL ELECTION IS EXPECTED IN AUGUST

Opposition Attempts To Hold Up Supplies House Will Prorogue and a Short Sharp Campaign Be Instituted—So Says an Official Source

(Canadian Press Despatch) Quebec, July 11.—Information has come out from official sources, that the arrival of the Laurier cabinet from Great Britain, make it likely that within a month Parliament will be dissolved, and a general election declared. If this expectation is realized there will be a short sharp campaign of voting all over, except in Yukon by the first of September.

Depends on Borden
 The future depends entirely upon the action of the leader of the opposition. If supplies are held any longer, the Government will wait no longer, but will go to the country for a mandate. It is certain, the adjourned session of Parliament will last more than three weeks, there is either a dead-lock or prorogation. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his cabinet are keeping their own council but the word has gone out to the party leaders to get ready for a fight at once. Should Mr. Borden decline to allow progress to be made with the reciprocity bill as he has stated in the West, then the Government will not ask for another interim supply until a redistribution bill be drafted and passed but for a supply for the remaining portion of the fiscal year.

Hot Times Expected
 This will probably result in a struggle of endurance lasting for several days and nights and possibly concluding with dissolution in a political atmosphere boiling hot. Immediately the war would be carried to the country and a short sharp campaign begun.

ALD. NEWTON SCATHINGLY CONDEMNS LIQUOR POLICY

Charges There Has Been Crooked Work Over the Bottle Licenses ---Points Out That the By-law is Being Amended to Secure Licenses for Ald. Hilditch's Customers While Others are Slighted---Mayor Rallies to Aid of Liquor Interests

Last night at a late hour, by the force of Mayor Manson's casting vote the by-law to amend the present Liquor Licence By-law by suspending Clause 36 for two months passed through committee of the whole. It had a stormy passage. Alderman Newton in a very long speech denounced the whole intention of the introduction of this by-law by Alderman Kerr, characterizing it as "a frame up to cover the crooked dealing of the Licence Commissioners over the bottle licence business."

Relentless Denunciation
 He attacked both Alderman Hilditch and Alderman Kerr in relentless fashion, demanding the right to make himself heard at his pleasure when the Mayor endeavored to enforce the closure, and scathingly characterised the recent doings of the Licence Board as the most flagrant case of municipal misdealing he had ever beheld. Perhaps the most picturesque and expressive phrase descriptive of the state of affairs according to Alderman Newton's version is that used by his staunch supporter and corroborator, Alderman Douglas, who declared that "Not all the waters of the Skeena River can ever wash away from Prince Rupert the stain caused by the late deeds of the Licence Board."

To Force Bottle Licences
 The gist of Alderman Newton's speech was that the whole purpose of the amendment was to force bottle licences upon the city. He said it had been represented that the hotel licences were in danger, but a portion of the Municipal Clauses Act he read, satisfied him that the old licences were not at all in danger. It had also been represented that it was to help Mr. A. J. Prudhomme. He did not believe that. Everybody knew how the Licence Board had opposed Prudhomme; how they were still spending money in the courts to prevent Prudhomme from continuing to hold his licence. The real reason he was convinced was to force bottle licences on the city. In very strong terms he condemned the action of the Licence Board in voting a licence to the brother of one of the commissioners, while the acting chairman of the Board which granted the licences (Alderman Hilditch) was contractor for the building and alteration of both premises which he assisted to grant licences to.

Significant Retiral
 In the midst of Alderman Newton's charges Alderman Smith withdrew from the council chamber. He was followed later by City Solicitor Peters, and within a few moments Alderman Hilditch also retired temporarily from the council chamber. When Alderman Newton's voice had ceased the three men returned together to their places. Before Alderman Hilditch left, a sharp altercation took place between Alderman Hilditch and Alderman Newton. Hearing Alderman Newton charging him as chairman of the Licence Board, with improper conduct in accepting contracts for the building and repairing of premises used for the new bottle licence holders, Alderman Hilditch demanded that the City Clerk take the proceedings verbatim. Alderman Newton offered Alderman Hilditch his written notes for the speech he was delivering. "I don't want them," said Alderman Hilditch scornfully, "I want the City Clerk to take it." "Well, he can take it," returned Alderman Newton, and

FATHER HARTMANN'S PLAN TO COLONISE THE NAAS

Is Asking for Government Aid to Bring Out One Hundred and Fifty Selected German Families to Settle on the Lands—Would Make Excellent Settlers

To establish a thriving colony of industrious German families in the agricultural districts of the Naas river is the ambition of the Rev. Father Hartmann, the popular Roman Catholic pastor of Prince Rupert. Father Hartmann has for long cherished the dream and has got busy making it a practical reality too. Since his return from the Queen Charlotte Islands where he displayed his intense interest in matters of market garden and farm, he has travelled up to the Naas river district and commenced a careful study of conditions there for agriculture.

Approaches Government
 Satisfied by his examination and tests of the soil that the district is a suitable one for the working out of his plan Father Hartmann has now decided to approach the Provincial Government with a view to obtaining aid for the scheme. He is to interview the authorities at Victoria right away and there is reason to believe that his mission will be a success. From his investigations in the Naas Valley, he believes that an agricultural population as thriving as any in B. C. can be established there to the advantage of the whole district.

Has the People Too
 Father Hartmann knows where to get the ideal type of settlers for the land he has located. In the Fatherland across the Atlantic he knows of at least a hundred and fifty enterprising and thoroughly desirable German families whose industry and patience will make the Naas river district blossom like the rose. To transport these people here with the assistance of the Government will be a simple proposition, and Rev. Father Hartmann is enthusiastic for the success of his idea and the realisation of his dream.

Commander Stewart Has Left the Command of Canada's Cruiser—Conflicting Stories.

(Canadian Press Despatch) Victoria, July 11.—Commander Stewart of H. M. C. S. Rainbow, has resigned from command of the cruiser. The precise reason for his action is not known. It is said that the trouble lay in the Captain's own family circle, some of the members of his family not liking the climate of Esquimalt. Reports from Victoria state that the reason given is that the retiring period from the service had been reached and required the Captain's resignation.

EXCITING SCENE IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBER

Alderman Newton at Close of the Night's Proceedings Makes Charges in the Presence of Aldermen—Declares He Has Been Browbeaten and Will Not be a Party to Whitewashing Investigation Committee

At the close of last night's council meeting Alderman Hilditch laid before the Mayor a request that Alderman Newton be asked to substantiate the charges he made against certain members of the council whose actions he had said were being discussed about the streets. Alderman Hilditch wanted the matter put in the hands of a committee. The charges amounted, he said, to charges of malfeasance of office, and were too serious to pass over.

Hot Stuff
 "I have made my statements openly," exclaimed Alderman Newton hotly. "I have not sneaked around to make them, and that is all I intend to do."

"I suggest that you appoint a committee," repeated Alderman

Hilditch to the Mayor. "What!" cried Alderman Newton, "and have the damned thing—I beg pardon, that is unparliamentary, Mr. Mayor—have the whole thing whitewashed like they did with the engineering department? I have exposed what I consider one of the worst cases of frameups that has ever happened in any city, but what is the use? You brow-beat men down. Alderman Hilditch tells you to do this and do that, Mr. Mayor, but I have done enough to make clear to him. Let me tell Alderman Hilditch and other members of this Board that they had better be careful or they will find themselves whitewashed out of existence at the next January election."

"No Line Up"
 Alderman Smith—"There is no line up."
 Alderman Newton—"Oh, I know it does not look like one, but the public outside won't believe you even if you say so, Alderman Smith."
 Alderman Smith—"I don't care if they don't, I know my own mind on the subject. If Alderman Newton gets irrational he must expect to be turned down. He cannot expect to have the support of the other members of this board."
 Alderman Newton—"When a member of this board will go in to get his own brother a monopoly licence in this city, I do not think he is a fit and proper person to criticise me."

TUESDAY, JULY 11

THE UNMASKING OF THE MAYOR

"It is the handwriting on the wall," a citizen was overheard to remark last night as he left the council chamber, after the vote of the "temperance?" Mayor had practically decided that the City of Prince Rupert is to have two bottle licenses forced upon it in addition to the already large number of licensed hotels.

"I wonder how he ever let them corner him so that he would be forced to declare himself?" marvelled another, one whose occupation and reputation classify him as a supporter of Mr. Manson.

That Alderman Newton should have cut himself adrift from his election day colleagues is not a surprising matter. The wonder is that he persevered so long in their company. With his reputation for outspokenness, and for living up to the sincerity of his opinions, it was quite obvious that sooner or later he would have to part company from a group of men whose chief desire seems to be the distribution of public favors among their private friends.

On the day of his election, this journal remarked, "No one worked for his side harder than he, and it is but poetic justice that the new council should be helped or burdened by the presence of one who did so much for them." Now that he has publicly renounced all responsibility for the actions of his late colleagues a career of greater civic usefulness has opened to Alderman Newton. The subdued applause of the citizens which greeted his remarks last night, and the sympathy which went out to him when the Mayor was trying to closure him, are evidences that in his desire to effect a clean up at the City Hall, the citizens are behind him. It was not without a suggestive touch of humor that earlier in the evening Alderman Newton had stood sponsor for a resolution asking that a quantity of scrubbing brushes, mops, and soap powder be purchased for use at the City Hall.

But the most significant thing in last night's exciting meeting was not the charges against aldermen, nor the cleavage with Alderman Newton. Street talk has been busy with aldermanic names for weeks past; Alderman Newton's departure from the fold was obvious.

The significant thing was that for the first time since he assumed the reins of office, Mr. Manson found himself placed in a position where it was necessary for him to declare himself. When the extra hour to the hotelmen was granted, and when the question of bottle licenses came before the License Board, the Mayor had contrived to be absent from the city. It was the hand of Fate that sent Alderman Kirkpatrick away yesterday morning before the Mayor returned, and made it necessary for the Mayor to face the issue he had dodged before.

At the time of the Scott Act campaign, the charge was made that Mr. Manson had pledged himself to both parties. For reasons best known to himself Mr. Manson did not attempt to deny the charge. Many of his temperance supporters would not believe it. On every occasion since then Mr. Manson has dodged every opportunity to declare himself.

Last night, however, he could not dodge the issue. When the council stood three to three on the question of bottle licenses, Mr. Manson threw off the mask, turned his back on his temperance friends, showed himself to be a pro-liquor man and by his single vote decided that Prince Rupert is to have two more bottle licenses thrust upon it.

The unmasking of the Mayor was the significant thing in last night's work.

GETTING BACK TO THE LAND

Among the cheerfulest things in this tense age—possibly a direct outcome of it—are the efforts that are being made in many quarters to get back to Nature's first and noblest occupation for man, a life on the land. At Garden City in England a very hopeful colony is making progress, while in Florida and California innumerable colonies are trying to live up to Bolton Hall's philosophy of ten acres, intensive gardening, and liberty. In our own great country of Northern British Columbia, the hope to own a ranch of a few acres has been the motive of a large number who have travelled hither.

An interesting effort is now being made by a company of artists and altruists in New Jersey to establish a landlord-free colony, without waiting for the millennium to come to abolish the present antiquated and unjust land system. As will be seen, it is no real estate scheme but a plan to afford a foothold on the available earth at a total annual cost of about three dollars for a quarter acre—enough to live and learn gardening on.

Seven miles beyond Summit, New Jersey is a beautiful wooded vale 500 feet above the level of the sea. Here the "Free Acres" Association has sixty acres of good agricultural land and a farm house adapted for an Inn. The land is subject to a mortgage of $1,000.

The Association is to follow the "Single Tax" Arden plan instituted fifteen years ago at Fairhope, Alabama, giving without purchase price, on perpetual lease, plots of land a quarter of an acre up to an acre or so. This will mean at present an annual rent averaging $3.00 per plot of 10,000 square feet—equal to 4 Prince Rupert lots. It is not necessary, therefore, to buy land in order to own a home. The rents are used to pay all taxes levied by state or county on the land and buildings and the remainder for roads, water and other public improvements.

There is good water, and good but neglected soil; the climate is mild and in summer the nights are cool. Already a score of families have taken plots, of whom half have built homes. They are Arts and Crafts people, literary and self-supporting men and women and others who want vacation homes that will help instead of hindering life and getting a living.

The house is used as an "inn," for the temporary accommodation only of visitors. Those who like camping and wish to stay longer buy cheaply from a Camp Association in the neighborhood, tents with wooden platforms and camp beds.

In order that there may be opportunity for out-door recreation, fifteen acres has been laid out in ball ground, tennis and basketball courts and village green. Here are held weekly campfires and theatricals in a natural amphitheatre in the woods, where all who wish may enjoy song and story. Fifty acres of woodland are reserved by the projectors of the colony. Simple bungalows costing from $100 to $150 have been designed for the residents and a serious effort is being made to learn how not to take life too seriously.

It will be interesting to learn how this little company of artists and altruists fare in their efforts to get back to the land and lead a simple but not ignoble life.

ODE TO DIGBY ISLE

We are two lonely bachelors,
Our home is Digby Isle,
But let us tell you candidly
We'll only stay awhile.

We have a little cabin,
A stove, a seat, a cat
With thousands of mosquitoes
As big as any bat.

Now, speaking of the weather,
It really gives me pain
Since we came here a week ago
We've had nothing else but rain.

On second thoughts, one day was fine,
Sol broke his cask and forth did shine,

Three minutes shone, then came the rain.
Since then, he's not been seen again

Yea, Digby, we must cross the main.
Shall we behold thy face again?
If ever we report "returned,"
We hope to find the island burned.

IRISH BLEACHED

There are various reasons for the whiteness of Irish linen. The climate is ideal for the growth of the flax, and is likewise effective in the bleaching process. The best Irish and Scottish linens are sun and grass-bleached. Meadow after meadow in both Ireland and Scotland are white with these cloths which the heavy dew moistens and the bright sun whitens. The alternating rain and sunshine which make the climate of Ireland so disagreeable to a foreigner make the best bleach in the world for linen. It is a slow process, taking from three and four to six months, but the more conservative linen manufacturers abroad are willing to abide by this slower but surer method and build up for themselves enviable reputations rather than gather in large profits and sell inferior goods.

SMART TRAVELING SUIT

A chic little suit, showing the newest wrinkles in tailored models, is illustrated in the sketch. WAY OF ENGLISH WOMEN

Their Natural Shyness Puzzles the Women of Other Lands

The aloofness of the English women is not due to dull disdain of their fellow creatures, but to a native shyness, which makes it painfully difficult to expand in the presence of strangers.

A German lady came from Berlin to London with a number of introductions. Some time afterwards one asked her how she fared. It appeared that her impressions were mixed. She pronounced the English an incomprehensible people. At first she thought them the most brutal race on earth.

The women to whom she had introductions had received her with an icy civility that chilled her kindly soul. Their houses she protested were less genial than her hotel. But then she had fallen ill. At once these distant, icy dames descended upon her in a flood of enthusiastic kindness. They enveloped her in comfort and affectionate attention. They wore out themselves and all that was theirs in her service. But, when she was well again they seemed to her curiously cold and reserved. She could not understand it. The suggestion that it takes ten years for English people to become intimate only bewildered her further.

Last night the letter from the Board of Trade regarding the segregation of the Hydro-Electric Scheme from the Water Supply Scheme was read before the city council. Referred to committee.

CLEAR OX TAIL SOUP

One of the Most Delicious and Nourishing Soups Made

Clear oxtail is a delicious soup, and is made in the following manner. Procure an oxtail, and ask the butcher to joint it. Put it in a saucepan half full of cold water, and just bring it to the boil, then throw the tail away. Fry the pieces of tail in two ounces of butter, and when a good brown, wipe them with a cloth wrung out in hot water, and put them in a saucepan with one quart of stock. The stock should have been made the day before with two pounds of lean beef and two quarts of water, and must be flavored with onion, carrot, a little turnip, and celery. It must also have been well strained and entirely freed from grease when cold. Boil up the stock and pieces of tail, and add an onion stuck with two cloves, a carrot and three sticks of celery, a bay-leaf, two sprigs of parsley, two sprigs of tarragon, 20 peppercorns, and season to taste with salt. Simmer for one hour, and then remove the oxtail and any trace of grease that may have arisen. Mince three-quarters of a pound of lean beef, removing every particle of fat or skin. Separate the whites of two eggs from the yolks, and beat the whites to a froth in about a teacupful of cold water. Crush the shells, wash, and add them to the soup. Whisk the minced meat and whites of eggs briskly in the soup, then let it simmer for ten minutes, when a good scum

Mike Donlin, who is back with the Giants, is being used as a pinch hitter. Mike expects to be in the regular line-up before long.

The Pittsburg club paid $2,500 for shortstop Sovelin, who comes from the Erie Q. and P. league team.

Baseball fans in several New England league cities have been handling the umpires pretty roughly this season.

President Lindsay has suspended Eddie Householder of the Victoria team, indefinitely on a charge laid by Umpire Steve Kane.

President Comiskey of the Chicago Americans has purchased Pitcher "Flam" Delhi, of the Los Angeles Club. Delhi is reported to be the pitching sensation of his league.

Stephen W. White, the Princeton College pitcher, has signed a contract to pitch for the Boston Americans and will report to the team at once, according to President Taylor of the Boston team White's home is Boston.

Several business men of Cincinnati have subscribed $50 and will wire the money to Umpire William Klem of the National League in St. Louis. This money is to pay his fine for striking Manager Bresnahan of the St. Louis Nationals in Cincinnati.

The interesting announcement is made that Lord Desborough, who is his day was one of the best all-round athletes in England, will visit Canada shortly and will travel across the continent to Vancouver. In his college days when he was plain W. H. Grenfell, he made some good records at swimming, fencing and punting. Writing to a friend in the west Lord Desborough says: "I am glad to see that Life Saving is making such progress in Canada." He also adds that he will be in the west in the autumn.

It would be difficult to say what Lord Desborough has not done. He has rowed from Oxford to London in a day, stroked an eight across the English Channel, won punting and fencing championships, thrice climbed the Matterhorn, shot in the Rockies, twice swam Niagara, caught 100 tarpon fish in three weeks in India, and helped to make the Olympic Games in London three years ago the success that they were. He was president of the British Olympic council, and represents Britain on the International Olympic Committee.

A boxing contest, which in reality was an unadulterated exhibition of slugging between Street-er of Cranbrook and Dragon of Fernie, was brought to a finish in the ninth round the other night at Fernie by the counting out of Dragon. From the Opera House Dragon was conveyed to the hospital in a state of unconsciousness, where it was found upon examination he had received injuries affecting the brain, evidently a clot of blood causing pressure thereon. His pulse was far below normal and his condition considered extremely critical. Later he regained consciousness and more encouraging hopes are entertained of his recovery than at first.

PITHY PARAGRAPHS FROM ALD. NEWTON'S SPEECHES

Outspoken Member of Council Did Not Mince Words in Telling His Colleagues What He Thought of the Way They Have Conducted the License Affairs of the Town

Back to the Fray
I am going to renew this attack tonight and I am not going to be induced to forego it.
Very Simple
The object of amending this by-law is simply in order to bring into effect an issue of bottle licences.
Helpful Council
It means that the Licence Commissioners have made up their minds to issue bottle licences in this city, but they have not been smart enough to get these documents framed up in the legal sense, and now have to go to the council to pass a by-law to enable them to have this done.
Good Samaritans
They say that this by-law is to help Prudhomme. I think this is just as flimsy as the contention that it is to save the hotel keepers from losing their licences. I do not think there is anything in it.
Crocodile Tears
It is rather curious to hear at this board, at this date, expressions of sympathy with Alex Prudhomme. It seems like the shedding of crocodile tears. Still it is a mighty good thing to see repentance even if repentance comes late.
What About Mr. Brown?
But why has not some of that contrite spirit shown in dealing with the bottle applications of Mr. Brown, Mr. Sutherland, and Mr. Levi? These men wanted bottle licences, and they did not get them. If the move is sincere why were not these other people treated with some consideration?

Might be an Extra
The idea of giving these men some show is not on the programme.
Not "Pro Bono"
The whole frame up of this bottle licence proposition is done for self interest. It is not done for the good of the city.
A Legal Monopoly
I take still further objection to the issue of bottle licences under present conditions, because in issuing them we are creating a legal monopoly.
One and One and One
It is true that two bottle licences have been issued, but is there one of us here who believes that two have been issued? In practice there is only one bottle licence in this city today. The Commissioners have taken good care to issue a bottle licence, and to see that that bottle licence secures a monopoly of all the trade in the city. That is what makes the thing so contemptible.
Pretty Raw Deal
To go ahead and issue bottle licences, and then see that these licences are absolutely in the hands of one set of citizens is absolutely unfair. It is unfair to the other applicants. It is unfair to the citizens.

In the Beginning
I would like to start with the commencement when Alderman Hilditch became contractor for the building which now houses one of these bottle licences, and also made the repairs necessary for the second. Though these licences are two in number they are one.
Step by Step
I will go a step further to the time when your Worship had occasion to go to Victoria. In your absence instead of the senior member of the council (I allude to Alderman Smith) being moved to be Acting Mayor during your absence, he himself moved that Alderman Hilditch become Acting Mayor. Later on I think it was Alderman Smith who moved that Alderman Hilditch also become acting licence commissioner. Why was Alderman Hilditch particularly chosen for licence commissioner?
Star Chamber Work
Things seemed to go very well until all the business was disposed of except the bottle licences. Acting Licence Commissioner Hilditch seemed very anxious to stop there. He peremptorily stated that the Board was adjourned not even waiting for the others to move the adjournment. That same evening the committee to investigate the engineering department was to have met here. I with other members of the committee strolled in here. I saw the three licence commissioners, City Solicitor Peters, and Magistrate Carss, who is of course interested as solicitor in the J. A. Smith application. They all went into the Mayor's private office, and there did their private business. We did ours in the Assessor's office.
The Real Issue
I say, Mr. Mayor, that the whole issue is not the matter of the issuing of bottle licences. The real issue before us is the question are we as a council going to stand by and condone work which looks mighty suspicious to say the least of it?
Does It Look Right?
We see Alderman Hilditch doing the work of a building which is supposed to be going to get the bottle licence. We see him in his chair as Acting Mayor. We see him as chairman of the Licensing Board. Does it look right? Does it look square to the other applicants?
Hilditch's Reply
I do not intend to reply to such talk, Mr. Mayor.—Ald. Hilditch.
Oh You Sniff Yacht!
Captain Babington's tender of $19.75 per trip for towing the civic sniff yacht out to sea, and back to port will be accepted without any specified period of time being mentioned. F. M. Davis bid $25 a trip. It is understood that the city is to provide a man to take command of the sniff yacht and dump the cargo in deep water. The launch men want to keep well to windward and tow with a very long rope.
Hydro-Electric By-law
After some discussion of various clauses in the Hydro-electric By-law with the city solicitor last night the by-law was left in Mr. Peters' hands for the adjustment of one or two clauses before it comes up for further consideration in committee of the whole under the chairmanship of Alderman Douglas.
Scavenging By-law
Leave was granted Alderman Hilditch last night to introduce

ALD. NEWTON CONDEMNS PARTY

then in a loud voice, "Mr. Mayor, I am not going to let Alderman Hilditch bull-doze me." (Cheers from a fairly large audience).
"Scurrilous Cur!"
Alderman Newton declared that Alderman Hilditch in the absence of the Mayor had been made first Acting Mayor, and then after he had got his hand in, served as acting licence commissioner, too.
"I challenge that statement, cried Alderman Smith.
"I deny it. It is a dirty, scurrilous charge, and he is a scurrilous cur who would make it," exclaimed Alderman Hilditch.
"Are you going to sit there in your chair and allow me to be called a cur?" demanded Alderman Newton of the Mayor who made no move to call the alderman to order. "I will stand for fair criticism, but I will not stand for language like that." (Cries of "Hear! Hear!" from the crowd).
The Mayor ruled that Alderman Hilditch ought to withdraw the term. He did so. "I withdraw the word cur," he said, "but I do it with a very bad grace." (Loud laughter greeted this self evident fact).
Studied Inaction
Alderman Smith was charged by Alderman Newton with having taken part the night before the last sitting of the licensing commission, in a frame up by which though he himself took no action in the matter at the open sitting of the board, still ensured the granting of the bottle licence to J. Arthur Smith, his brother.
Alderman Smith in denying this declared that he had endeavored to persuade his brother not to apply for the licence at all. Alderman Newton further declared that the whole city is well aware that Alderman Smith really controls the other bottle licence granted, that is, the "1. 2. 3." store. This was not specifically denied.
Mayor Voted for By-law
Owing to the absence from the city of Alderman Kirkpatrick and Alderman Morrissey the council consisted of but six members and the Mayor. Three members, Alderman Kerr, Alderman Smith, and Alderman Hilditch were for the passing of the By-law. The other three Alderman Newton, Alderman Douglas, and Alderman Clayton were against it. The Mayor's casting vote was therefore required if the by-law was to pass. When the motion for the passing of the by-law through Committee of the Whole was put the Mayor voted for the passing. Alderman Newton's amendment that the by-law "be given a hoist for six months and killed dead by a door-nail," was lost. The By-law has now passed its third reading, and after a period of twenty-four hours has to be reconsidered before its final adoption. On Wednesday night the council will meet again for this purpose.
Question of Fairplay
Alderman Kerr protested very strongly at last night's meeting that his sole purpose in introducing the By-law was in order to give Alex Prudhomme a square deal. At this statement Alderman Newton sneered, remarking that it was a strange thing that such a sudden fit of contrition had befallen the council even while it was yet in the midst of Appeal Court proceedings against the decision granting Prudhomme the licence. He wondered why they were not as desperately anxious to be strictly fair with Austin Brown, Sutherland, and even Julius Levi. He mistrusted this contrite repentance on the part of the Licence Board and its supporters on the council.
Charged by Alderman Kerr with having himself supported the voting of $50 towards the costs of the appeal against Prudhomme, Alderman Newton declared that he had made his position quite clear at the time. He condemned the Licence Commissioners, but defended the principal that municipal authorities should not be over-ruled by the powers without. After the storm had subsided for a spell, it broke out afresh just before midnight, and an adjournment had to be called to end the wrangling for the night.

If So, Why So?
Chief Vickers' request that something be done to abolish the curtained off boxes in restaurants and hotels came before the council last night, and was laid over for a week after some discussion during which Alderman Douglas declared that gambling was worse than the private boxes was allowed to go on in the city, and asked why?
For Fire Dept.
Fire Chief McNis has approached the council with a view to having two call men engaged. The fire committee have the matter before them.
More Water Wonders
A request for the extension of the water pipe to a point near Hays Creek have Alderman Newton an opening in council last night to ask that efforts be made to carry the water still further to residences beyond the creek which are anxiously awaiting it. The incident was taken as an argument in favor of hurrying on the Hydro-Electric Scheme.
City Weigh Scales Site
City Engineer Davis has suggested that since it is impossible yet to find out where the G. T. P. Company intend placing their depot, etc., the city weight scales should be placed at a point on the G. T. P. reserve near Fifth street. This place if approved meantime by the G. T. P. officials, Left to the department of public works.
None Too Soon
A by-law to deal systematically with the control of infectious diseases in the city was introduced at last night's council by Alderman Newton. While there are few cases of infectious complaints at Prince Rupert, and the Medical Health Officer's report last night was again an excellent one, the precautions proposed by Alderman Newton come none too soon in the light of the fact that an outbreak of prevention is better than a cure with epidemics.
