Spent Most of His Life in Politics Although Destined For Legal Career—Brought His Country Out Of Post-War Storms

NORTHAMPTON, Massachusetts, Jan. 5: (Canadian Press)—Calvin Coolidge, who served as President of the United States for five and a half years from August 3, 1923, on the death of the late President Warren G. Harding, until March 4, 1929, when he retired after having declined re-election, was found dead at his home here by his wife at noon today. He was sixty years of age and had suffered no serious illness prior to his death which will come as a shock to the nation. A state funeral will be tendered the former President but it is doubtful if his wife will accept.

Mr. Coolidge's death is said to have been due to heart disease. The body was discovered by Mrs. Coolidge when she returned from a shopping tour. The former president was believed to have been dead about fifteen minutes when found.

Mr. Coolidge had gone to his office this morning but returned home about 10 o'clock, accompanied by his secretary.

Mr. Coolidge's death was entirely unexpected although, for the past three weeks, he had complained of what he thought was indigestion which doctors now believe to have been heart trouble.

After spending a short time in his office this morning, Mr. Coolidge became distressed and decided to return home. Harry Ross, his secretary, accompanied him. Mr. Coolidge assured Ross that he would be all right after a short rest. After aiding the former president to his bedroom, Ross returned to the first floor of the house.

When Mrs. Coolidge, twenty minutes later, returned home and Ross told her of Mr. Coolidge's illness she went immediately to his bedroom where she found her husband's body. A doctor was quickly summoned but the former president was beyond aid. He must have died a few minutes after Ross left his room.

Mr. Coolidge was the last surviving former president of the United States.

Was Farm Bred

Born and reared in the humble surroundings of a Vermont farm, Calvin Coolidge was destined to go by successive steps to the highest and mightiest office of a great nation, to administer its affairs nearly six years and to terminate his presidential career virtually of his own volition.

To the vice-presidency and to the presidency, he brought a shrewd common sense, a quiet personality in vivid contrast with some of his predecessors, a keen native wit and many homely likes and dislikes retained from his New England boyhood.

Among his supporters he inspired an ardent admiration and from his political opponents he often received the bitterest of denunciations. But there were, nevertheless, many in the latter group who valued his friendship and liked to smoke a cigar with him and talk things over.

Reaching the presidency upon the death of Warren G. Harding in 1923, Mr. Coolidge was confronted with problems of rehabilitation arising from the World War and the depression of 1921, and almost at once the country was shaken by the scandals which were revealed in the naval oil leases, the justice department and the office of the custodian of alien property.

Rode Out Storms

With serenity and calmness he rode out these storms and meanwhile instituted a policy of governmental economy and mutual helpfulness in assisting Europe to work out its post-war problems. Such was the success of this program that when he ran for president in 1924 he was returned to office by a popular plurality of 7,000,000, the greatest that had been accorded a candidate for the presidency up to that time.

The manner of his leaving the presidency aroused a national interest comparable with that of his induction into that office by his father in a lamp-lit room of the latter's Vermont farm home.

As early as the spring of 1927 there was widespread opinion that if Mr. Coolidge wished to be re-elected he had only to indicate it. By his own confession, this view was shared by Mr. Coolidge himself, regardless of the popular tradition that a president must retire after his second term.

The nation was startled when on August 2, 1927, the president issued his famous statement:

"I do not choose to run for president in 1928."

Political Career

Mr. Coolidge never had time to prove to the world whether he would have made a great lawyer for he was drawn almost immediately into politics and with few intervals that thereafter was his life work.

On October 4, 1905, Mr. Coolidge married Miss Grace A. Goodhue, of Burlington, Vermont, making a home for his bride in a two-family house in Northampton. They continued to occupy that until Mr. Coolidge became vice-president and returned to it at the conclusion of his services as president. They had two sons, John and Calvin Jr. The latter's death which occurred after a brief illness during the summer of 1924 was the first of two bereavements in Mr. Coolidge's family during his occupancy of the White House. Early in 1926 his father died at his Vermont home while his son was speeding from Washington to his bedside.

Milestones in Career

Born July 4, 1872, at Plymouth, Vt. Received preliminary education in ungraded school at Plymouth and at Black River Academy at Ludlow and St. Johnsbury Academy.

Was graduated at Amherst College in 1895. In senior year won gold medal in national competition for best essay on causes of the Revolutionary War.

Studied law in offices of Hammond and Field at Northampton, Mass., and began practice there.

Citizens of Calgary Make Big Prepayments of Taxes to Aid City in its Financial Crisis

CALGARY, Jan. 5: (Canadian Press)—With the city of Calgary still adamant against paying $300,000 in adverse United States exchange charges on debentures despite the threat of the Bank of Montreal that all credit would terminate if this attitude is persisted in, taxpayers are now coming forward with thousands of dollars not required to be paid until June 15. In one day three hundred taxpayers came forward with no less than $185,000 in advance taxes.

Payment of debenture issues exceeding $2,000,000 to outside holders of bonds in Canadian funds is proceeding. Legal action by some of the bondholders against the city has not yet developed.

Civic officials have given up hope of bank assistance in obtaining funds to maintain city services but tax prepayments have assured operations for several weeks.

Wild Disorder Reigns in Jamaica Capital; British Soldiers Mad at Killing

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Jan. 5: (Canadian Press)—Wild scenes were enacted in the streets of this city when soldiers of the Northumberland Fusiliers, out to avenge the alleged murder of Private Daniel MacDougall, attacked civilians and smashed windows. The soldiers stopped street cars, taxicabs and automobiles, beating the conductors, drivers and occupants of the vehicles. They clashed also with the police and, during the melee, several civilians were hurt, none seriously.

Order was finally restored and the authorities were not inclined to take a serious view of the situation.

Private MacDougall was said to have been killed during a fight on Monday night.

The situation at Shanhaikwan is reported to be quiet again although the air is tense with fear of further conflict thereabouts.

ORIENT MARKET

Room for Expansion of British Columbia's Trade Across Pacific is Seen

VICTORIA, Jan. 5: (Canadian Press)—There is a market in the Orient for British Columbia in the opinion of Major L. R. Andrews who returned yesterday following a three months' study of the lumber business outlook in China, including North China and Manchuria, as a representative of the Associated Timber Exporters and the British Columbia Lumber and Shingle Manufacturers' Association.

"If we make the necessary effort, we can secure a good volume of business in the Orient in 1933," Major Andrews said.

MEETING IN CATHEDRAL

Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth Speaks on "The Christian Life"

The second meeting in a series of four conducted under the auspices of the Prince Rupert Ministerial Association in connection with the Universal Week of Prayer was held last evening in St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral. The service was conducted by Dean Gibson. Rev. W. D. Grant Hollingworth, minister of First Presbyterian Church, preached to the large congregation assembled, upon the subject of "The Christian Life."

Discussing many current theories as to what constitutes a Christian, generally accepted but obviously false, the speaker sought to show that the vital thing in religion was man's personal relationship to Jesus Christ. "The great question for each one calling himself a Christian is: Do I, in my personal life, give Christ the pre-eminence?"

"With this as a text we must ask ourselves are we really Christians or merely sermon-saturated pagans?"

The third meeting of the series will be held tonight in First Presbyterian Church when Rev. C. D. Clarke of the United Church will preach on "Christian Citizenship."

Anchorage reported the quake of greater intensity than any previously recorded. It shook that city for forty-five seconds.

JUDGE YOUNG

Judge Young has just concluded a long term of over 25 years as judge of the county court for this district. During that time he has dispensed justice without fear or favor and he retires with an honorable record.

The judge has been looked upon in Prince Rupert as an institution. During the war days he was president of the Red Cross Society and did splendid work and he continued in the position until the services of the society were no longer required.

The Daily News wishes to express publicly its appreciation of the work of Judge Young in this city and district. We wish him long enjoyment of his rest period and only regret that he may be leaving the city before long.

METLAKATLA FIELD DAY

Field and Aquatic Sports Staged on New Year's Day

METLAKATLA, Jan. 5.—At Metlakatla on Monday the festivities in connection with the holiday season reached a climax when, favored by a calm, sunny day, a program of aquatic and field sports was held under the auspices of the Young Men's Benevolent Association.

Following a parade of the members of the association, headed by the village band, a canoe race was held. This was one of the most interesting and keenly contested events of the day, the second and third canoes finishing almost in a dead heat.

The winners of the various events were as follows:

Canoe race—First, "Boowale," J. A. Prevost, captain; second, "Green Top," Peter Robinson, captain.

Four-oared boat race—first, Percy Ryan and James Ryan; second, J. A. Prevost and George Ryan.

Girls' race—under 19 years, Cora McKay, Dorcas Prevost.

Softball Game

In the afternoon a softball game between Married men and Bachelors proved highly entertaining to the spectators, a light powdering of snow on the ground rendering effective help to this end.

At the conclusion of the sports a sumptuous banquet was served to all in the village hall, which was tastefully decorated for the occasion.

The evening was spent in dancing to the fine music of the orchestra and, during an interval, the prizes were presented to the winners of the day's contests.

Favorable comment on the spirit displayed by the contestants, also on the admirable arrangements for the occasion, was expressed by many.

RIGHT BACK TO WORK

Those who insure their lives help indirectly to bring comfort and happiness to thousands of people, apart from the beneficiaries immediately concerned.

They provide largely the funds for public and private enterprise—railroads, farms, utilities, factories—all those collective activities which mean work and pay rolls.

Life insurance tolerates no idle dollars.

Its very existence depends on the prompt re-investment of every dollar received in premiums, for the benefit of the policyholders. These dollars, like water passing through a power house, turn the mighty turbines of trade and then, released, flow on to bring happiness to distant valleys.

While in trust with the insurance company, they turn the wheels of industry, and return at last to the policyholder or his beneficiaries, bringing to the aged or bereaved welcome freedom from financial hardship. Like mercy, life insurance "blesses him that gives and him that takes"—not only those whose future it safeguards but all whose fortunes are linked with those vital economic enterprises that it stimulates and maintains.

The Sun Life Company has over Two Hundred Millions of dollars invested in Canadian enterprises alone.

WEATHER AND DEPRESSION

Editor, Daily News:
It was very interesting to read the weather report in the Daily News on Tuesday. It seems that either the weather is affecting the depression or the depression is affecting the weather.
Taking the year 1928, the sunshine hours amounted to 1158 and 1929 was a prosperous year. The sunshine hours increased to 1253 in 1929 when prosperity was at the peak. Before the year was out the depression started and our sunshine hours in Prince Rupert dropped to 1194 in 1930. As the depression became intense, our sunshine hours became less as in 1931 we had 824 sunshine hours and in 1932 the depression was worse and the sunshine scarce as we had only 692 hours sunshine.
May I ask you to scan over the files and see if we had any one year less sunshine than in 1932? If not then we may look with confidence to better times in 1933.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letters should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

Salvation Army At Metlakatla Holds Festival

METLAKATLA, Jan. 5—The annual musical festival of the Salvation Army was held under very happy circumstances in that the St. Paul's Church Chior helped with two very creditable numbers on the excellent program.

The playing of "The Heavens Are Telling" and "Hallelujah Chorus" by the massed singers of 30 voices were features.

Through the timely arrangements by the Village Council, St. Paul's Church was secured for the sacred concert as the local Salvation Army Hall was considered not large enough to hold the audience.
