PRICE FIVE CENTS

BIG DEATH-TOLL FOLLOWS BUSH FIRES IN ONTARIO

ALL OF PORCUPINE DISTRICT NOW VAST BLACKENED RUIN

Two Hundred People Are Dead at Dome, Four Hundred at Golden City and Streets of South Porcupine Strewed With Bodies

SIX THOUSAND FLUNG THEMSELVES IN LAKE

Even by a Sixty-Mile Gale, the Forests Were Like a Gigantic Blast Furnace---Relief Trains Are Being Sent---Eight Hundred Children Sent to Toronto for Safety

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Thurs., July 13.—That hundreds of lives have been lost in the fires which swept the Porcupine mining district yesterday, that millions of dollars of property have been done is now certain. So awful and complete has been the destruction in places, that the full extent of the death toll may never be known.
Two Hundred Dead at Dome
An indication of the ghastly activeness of the forest holocaust, it is reported from Westport, that out of the eighty-four employed there, only three escaped, while at the town of Golden City, it is believed that the whole population of two hundred souls perished.
Jumped in the Lake
At Porcupine, the six thousand miners only saved themselves by jumping to the lake and jumping some managed to get out in the middle of the lake on boats, rafts and logs. Many are believed to be drowned. The latest report from there at an early hour this morning, placed the number of dead at three hundred. At Golden City it is reported that four hundred perished in the flames.

Some of the Dead
Among those who are known to be dead at West Dome are Robert Weiss and his wife and child. Weiss was manager for the West Dome mine, and head man for Heinz, the Montana mining magnate.
Towns are in Ruins
The towns of South Porcupine, Pottsville, Dome, and a portion of Golden City are completely wiped off the map. There is scarcely a sign that human life ever existed there. At South Porcupine the streets are strewn with the dead and charred bodies of human beings, horses, dogs and cattle, showing how they had perished. All along the mine roads are lines of charred corpses of those who had failed in trying to escape from the flames.

Like a Blast Furnace
The fire according to the stories of eyewitnesses is beyond description. For a width of twenty-five miles, the country was on fire. With a sixty mile gale behind it fanning the flames to white hot fury, the flames rushed at breakneck speed across three hundred miles of country, consuming everything it touched, and giving no chance of escape.
Money Loss is Great
Apart from the terrible loss of life, the money loss is considerable. Hundreds of farms and farmhouses with implements were burned up. Mining camps and costly mining machinery are destroyed. The mining loss at Dome is placed at $800,000.
Relief Train is Sent
A relief train is on its way here from Toronto as fast as it can travel, bringing provisions, bedding and medical comforts for the victims. Thousands of dollars have been voted by public bodies for relief purposes.
Eight Hundred Children
Doctors and nurses are being sent in from all parts of the province. One train which passed through here today on its way to Toronto was crowded with eight hundred children and a few women, on their way out to safety.
Danger Not Over
The danger is not yet all over, though the worst has passed. The flames break out again and again in places. Golden City is the worst situated. It is now encircled by burning forests, and fears are felt lest the remainder of the town may be burned up.
Must Give Reasons
A letter from the City Board of Trade was read at the council last night asking that the water and Hydro-electric by-laws be voted on separately. The Board of Trade will be asked to give their reasons for the request.

THE BASEBALL LEAGUE FIRST EVER IN RUPERT

Establishment in Splendid Spirit of the "Prince Rupert Indoor Baseball League" Last Night—By-Laws and Rules Drafted, Membership Unrestricted in a pleasantly purposeful manner the organization of the proposed indoor baseball league for Prince Rupert was drafted last night by a committee selected, and with the approval of representatives of the presently existing teams in the city.

It was decided that the league be entitled "The Prince Rupert Indoor Baseball League," and emphasis was laid on the fact that the league is intended to be an amateur one, no stakes to be played for.
Restricted Membership
The number of players in any team is limited to twelve, but all are registering in the league and securing members without restriction. This point came up in the question of professionalism, which was felt by some of those interested that possibly a player might find himself in the position of having previously been a professional, and it was decided to maintain the principle of the amateur game in Prince Rupert.
In Prince Rupert, and the rules of the Prince Rupert Indoor Baseball League will be in accordance with these. This meets with the approval of the enthusiasts for the live game in the city.
Presiding over last night's meeting of the baseball team representatives and the committee to draw up the League By-laws was Alderman George Kerr, proved himself a capable chairman. Chief Vickers is Secretary and his experience and enthusiasm in all matters of live sport is of great advantage to the men, and much appreciated.
To Draw Up Schedule
On Tuesday, the 18th inst., in the Police Court Room at 8 p.m., will be held the important meeting of the committee and men interested at which the organization of the League will be finally approved, and as many as possible of the players representing teams formed, being formed, or proposed, should attend.
The closing date for receiving names of teams intending to enter the League is fixed for July 21st, and it is the purpose of the committee to draw up the Schedule on the 25th inst. If the young men of the city are half as live as they look now there should be ten teams in the league. This is the Pioneer League for the city, and enthusiasm for its success is naturally keen, even if the League were not also the forerunner of the coming Athletic Sports Park which will be obtained through its establishment.

Spalding's Rules are well known to the players of indoor baseball

WHOLE FAMILY DIE IN HORROR

Baffling Mystery is Finally Unravelled by a Clever Detective. Exclusive Story for the News.
(Special to the News)
London, England, July 13.—Have just finished one of the most interesting episodes in my career, and succeeded in solving the mystery of how the Tregennis family, one by one, died from horror. Watson and I nearly met the fate of the Tregennis family, before we succeeded in finding the murderer of Mortimer Tregennis, and then we concealed his crime. Watson was greatly interested in the case, and has written it up for the News under the title of "The Adventure of the Devil's Foot." It will start in next Monday's paper.

WAY IS NOW CLEAR TO ISSUE BOTTLE LICENSES

Mayor Manson, with Ald. Kerr, Hilditch and Smith Gave the Restrictive Clause Its Quietus Last Night---Newton and Douglas Alone Opposed the Proceedings---Ald. Clayton Did Not Attend

By a vote of four to two Alderman Kerr's Liquor Licence By-law Amendment was finally adopted by the city council last night. Clause 36 of the City Liquor Licence By-law is suspended for two months. This means that the hotelmen and the other licence holders may make application for renewal of licence right up to the day of the sitting of the Licence Board.
How the Vote Stood
The voting was as follows:
Yeas: Mayor Manson; Aldermen Hilditch, Kerr and Smith.
Nays: Aldermen Douglas and Newton.
There were no verbal pyrotechnics last night. Alderman Newton wanted to have the by-law held up for six months and moved an amendment to that effect. It was defeated. Alderman Douglas moved that the suspension of Clause 36 be for the benefit of hotelmen only. This was defeated. He had one lone supporter in Alderman Newton. Alderman Clayton was absent from the meeting.

Challenged Ald. Smith
Every effort was made to have the final adoption of the significant by-law held up by Aldermen Newton and Douglas. The former finding his amendment to have the final adoption held over for six months was doomed to defeat, challenged the right of Alderman Smith to vote in view of it being an issue in which a relative was concerned.
City Solicitor Peters explained Alderman Smith could not be disqualified on the ground mentioned.
"Then I would like to ask the City Solicitor why Alderman Smith refused to vote at the Licence Commissioners' meeting?" This Mr. Peters explained was beyond his jurisdiction.
Board Meets Saturday
There was some see-sawing for a time over technicalities, then Clause 36 was legally laid aside for a two months' holiday.
Though Alderman Smith did not actually record his vote last night, the new procedure by-law says that silence when an issue is being voted on must be taken affirmatively.

The Licence Board will meet on Saturday afternoon to issue licences and renewals to liquor sellers.

SAYS HE DID NOT MAKE CHARGE AGAINST ALD. SMITH

Ald. Newton Says he Did Not Say That Ald. Smith Was Interested in Two of the Bottle Licences—A Protest and Explanation

At the close of the council meeting last night Alderman Smith said he wished to contradict a statement that appeared in the News on Tuesday to the effect that Alderman Newton had said that the two bottle licences were controlled by Alderman Smith. He said he had spoken to Alderman Newton about the matter and the report in the News is denied, consequently he was forced to believe the statement was printed maliciously.
Newton's Denial
"I did not make such a statement as appeared in the News," said Alderman Newton in reply to Alderman Smith. "What might have led up to the statement being printed was that I said it was generally believed that the two licences were one. I was dealing with the issue as if it were one. That is how I suppose it came to be reported. It may not have been done purposely."

IN PRAISE OF PRINCE RUPERT WEATHER

At the time these lines are being written the sun is shining gloriously. From the office window a scenic panorama that few places in the world can rival, is to be seen. Westerly across the blue waters of the harbor are to be seen the hills and forests of Digby Island, backed in the distance by the mountain ranges of the Tsimpsean Peninsula beyond Metlakatla. Directly facing us is Mount Morse rising majestically from the waters, his snowy head 3,500 feet above the water, as clear in outline as his broad base on which one can almost distinguish the individual pines in the forests, so clear is the air. There is not a cloud to be seen for less than several miles above the summit of Mount Morse.

Easterly, looking up Tuck's Inlet, one sees the grandest sight of all—a mountain guarded fiord that is the rival of anything in Norway. For miles it winds its serpentine way, the blue waters sharply contrasting with the dark green forests. Beyond all that—it must be fifty miles away—one sees the "way out" that Ruskin insisted all perfect pictures must have. This "way out" is through mountain gorges, flanked by snowcapped mountains. Common report declares that they are some of the Alaskan ranges. Candidly we confess to having no geographical omniscience.

Prince Rupert's weather might be very fittingly likened to Longfellow's famous little girl, who had a little curl, right in the middle of her forehead, for:—

"When she is good, she is very, very good,

And when she is bad, she is horrid."

The man who would seek to sing the praises of Prince Rupert's weather must not forget the days when the clouds are leaden colored, and the Heavens weep for hours at a time upon a cityful of men and women in rubber boots and slicker coats.

Badly maligned though the Prince Rupert weather has been, no good purpose is served by concealing the fact that it does rain here sometimes. Even though, Mr. Charles M. Hays, on his many visits has only known it to rain on one occasion, many of us know of at least two other occasions during Mr. Hays' absences when it has rained in Prince Rupert.

Like every other place in the world, Prince Rupert has good weather and bad weather. At its best—on such a day as we had for Empire Day for instance—there is no climate in the world that can surpass it. Its blend of hot sunshine, tempered by the bracing airs of the matchless mountain ranges or the tonic ocean breezes, is native to these latitudes and to the physical character of the contiguous country. But what of Prince Rupert weather at its worst? How does it compare with the worst weather in other places?

Unhappily, the press despatches of the past few days have been full of accounts of what bad weather means in other places. We have had accounts of people in all the great cities of Eastern Canada and the United States dropping in the streets of heat prostration; of two hundred thousand people in Chicago sleeping on the pavements, in the parks and on the fire escapes to avoid the awful oppression of night heat; of over two hundred babies dying from heat in Toronto in three days; of men and women dropping dead as they walked the streets.

After heat follows lightning. From Montreal, New York, Winnipeg and Ottawa come saddening reports of the havoc of the lightning fiend. At one place a valuable church destroyed, at another a university set on fire, at another many lives lost. From Hamilton yesterday came news that the storm had blown the roof off the General Hospital, demolished a wing of the Boys' Home, wrecked a grand stand, and killed a citizen.

More terrible still is that report of the desolation in Northern Ontario where the parched forest for three hundred miles was set by a spark into an awful holocaust.

During the last three weeks when most of Canada and the United States east of the Rockies have been suffering from awful heat, we in Prince Rupert have been enjoying cool weather. On several days we complained because it rained a little, and some of us on picnics bent, grumbled in consequence. For most of the time the weather has been genial as well as cool.

On Monday while Toronto was sweltering under 92 in the shade, we had a temperature that in the whole twenty-four hours of the day and night, was never colder than 43 nor hotter than 47. It was dull weather here. On Tuesday, and on Wednesday—the day on which these lines are being written—we had typically warm sunny days. Yet in the coldest hour of the early morning the thermometer never went below 44, nor at the hottest time of the day did it go above 63.

We have had daylight during the past month from three in the morning till eleven at night. Because we have neither intense heat nor intense cold we have an absence of thunder and lightning.

Prince Rupert weather at its best is the best there is—that we are all agreed. Prince Rupert weather at its worst is agreeable and healthy weather compared with that of other places.

THE ORIGIN OF SCISSORS

Those Handy Helpers in Sewing Room and Editorial Sanctum.

The antiquity of the scissors seems to be almost as great as that of the needle, since cutting implements of the kind have been found among the relics of the Parthians, and in the museums of Rome and Naples are shearlike implements which are clearly ancestors of the modern scissors and garden shears. When they first came into being we do not quite know but the inventor, whoever he was, was a benefactor to humanity. The modern name is derived from the late Latin, "cisorium," a cutting instrument. The scissors were formerly called "cisoires," and the connection of the modern name of scissors with the old French "cisoires," and the later version "cisoires," is, I think, quite obvious.

THE COSY CORNER

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. Any and all of the ladies of Prince Rupert are invited to contribute to its columns, and to take part in its discussions. Suggestions and criticisms are invited by the editor. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

LINEN AND LACE

cloves, inhaling vinegar or placing a sheet of writing paper against the stomach will cure sea-sickness, so take at least one of these remedies with you. Some sugar, as a cube of it soaked in lemon juice will allay thirst. Sweetened lemon juice added to water is much safer for drinking than plain water on boats and trains.

Take some sweet milk chocolate with you, as it will save you from a headache when meals are delayed. Take some salt, as one teaspoonful of table salt in a glass of water taken in the morning before breakfast is a good laxative. Half an hour afterward drink two or three glasses of hot water.

LIFE'S GIFTS

One of Olive Schreiner's Dreams

I saw a woman sleeping. In her sleep she dreamed Life stood before her and held in each hand a gift—in the one Love, in the other Freedom. And he said to the woman, "Choose!"

And the woman waited long, and she said, "Freedom."

And Life said: "Thou hast well chosen. If thou hadst said 'Love,' I would have given thee that thou didst ask for, and I would have gone from thee and returned to thee no more. Now, the day will come when I shall return. In that day I shall bear both gifts in one hand."

I heard the woman laugh in her sleep.

PRACTICAL HOUSEHOLD HINTS

To open jars of preserves that have been put up for some time, place a warm flatiron on the cover of the jars for a few moments and you will have no trouble in unscrewing the lids.

To take the leather stains out of light-colored hose, add a tablespoonful of borax to the water in which they are washed. This quantity is sufficient for only one or two pairs of hose.

Add a small piece of butter the size of a walnut when starch comes to a boil. This not only gives a nice, smooth finish and makes ironing easier, but it prevents the starch from boiling over.

MERRY DANCE LAST NIGHT

Dainty New Hall Opened for Assemblies on Second Avenue Party of Young "Old-timers" Gave It Send Off.

In the nature of a "House-warming" was the extremely pretty dance held last night in a new dainty hall just opened on Second avenue. A happy party of some of the young pioneers of Prince Rupert (so young that to call them "old-timers" though true, is not properly descriptive) met to give the hall its send-off with a real live dance. The spirit of the merry old-time dances held in Prince Rupert before the population attained its thousand mark, prevailed to the limit, and two-step, waltz, lancers, and the pretty minuet went with glorious swing and verve. The floor is of the smoothest, the hall with its soft electric glow lamps, delicately pretty decorations, and assembly of raidantly merry dancers circling to music full of melody and memories, looked a perfect picture framed by the strong square archway of a cosy smoke-room. Appetising refreshments were served during the intervals; the music by Professor Kauffmann gave every pleasure; and the end of the dance as dawn began to break came quite too soon. The new hall which has just been opened is associated with the name of a popular lady in the city, and is certain to be the scene of many pleasant gatherings in future.

CITY SCAVENGING BY-LAW POINTS

Ald. Douglas Defends Citizens' Right to Disposal of Refuse Themselves if They Choose to Do So.

Considerable discussion was used at the council meeting last night when the City Scavenging By-law came before the Committee of the Whole. It passed that stage all right and will likely go through the last stages of completion next Monday night.

Alderman Douglas watched its passage very carefully. He wanted to know if people's privilege to remove their own garbage would be taken away by the by-law. Then Alderman Kerr asked if a storekeeper could take away garbage from his store without calling in the contractor.

These crimps were finally straightened out by granting a storekeeper or householder the right to remove his garbage, but he must not hire any other person to do so but the licensed contractor.

As the civic fathers were being piloted clause by clause through the by-law with the City Solicitor and City Clerk as guides Alderman Douglas stumbled over "the con-

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Public Building, Chilliwack, B.C." will be received at this office until 4:00 p.m. on Monday, July 24th, 1911, for the construction of a Public Building, Chilliwack, B.C.

In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering declines to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fails to complete the work contracted for. tractor shall be exempt from all or any water taxes during the term of his contract." Alderman Douglas wanted to know if the contractor would get free water at his house. The City Solicitor said that was what the clause meant.

"This by-law is not going through like this," said the Mayor. "Suppose the contractor started a brewery?"

The result was that the contractor will be given free water only for the use of washing his apparatus and general use in the contract.

Another amendment to the contract which was submitted is that any man can convey his own garbage to the perfume barge, but the licensed contractor is the only person who can be hired to remove the garbage.

All persons removing their garbage must do so to the satisfaction of the Medical Health Officer. The contractor must also do the work to suit Dr. Reddie or in default the contract will be forfeited.

NO ROWS ON THE TWELFTH OF JULY

Credit for Keeping the Peace Goes to Roman Catholic Police Officer at Hull, Quebec

(Canadian Press Despatch)

Victoria, July 13.—The Orangemen of the Province celebrated the battle of the Boyne here yesterday, when several thousand paraded, listened to speeches and passed resolutions.

In many parts of Canada celebrations were held, but the only noteworthy incident was at Hull, Quebec, where troubles were threatened over the action of the Ottawa Orangemen coming there to parade. The trouble was neatly averted by the act of the chief constable of Hull—a Roman Catholic—who marched at the head of the procession and maintained order. The threatened disorder did not take place, and the Chief is being warmly applauded for his tactful act.
