FAMOUS IN MEDICINE

Dr. John Stewart, Great Canadian Surgeon, Passes Away in Halifax at Age of 87

Lister Disciple

Formerly Dean of Dalhousie Medical School—Served in Great War Also

HALIFAX, N.S., Dec. 27: (CP)—Dr. John Stewart, O.B.E., M.B., C.M., LL.D., F.R.C.S. (Edin.), great Canadian surgeon, former dean of Dalhousie Medical School and widely known as an associate of the late Lord Lister, father of antiseptic surgery who died in 1912, died here Tuesday night at the age of 87 years. His passing removes one of the connecting links between present day surgery practice and teaching and that of the Nineteenth Century.

Dr. Stewart sat at the feet of Lister as a pupil when taking his medical degree from Edinburgh University. When he graduated in 1877 Lister had just been called to the Chair of Clinical Surgery at King's College Hospital, London, and Dr. Stewart was chosen as the one to accompany the beloved master to that institution as house surgeon. But the association was to be short lived. Within a year Dr. Stewart's father died and he was called back to Nova Scotia to shoulder his responsibilities as head of the house. After this great sacrifice to duty Dr. Stewart determined to devote his abilities to a career in his native land and he remained domiciled in Nova Scotia for the rest of his life. But his friendship with Lister remained constant throughout and his great admiration and appreciation of his famous teacher was frequently reflected in his writing and lectures.

Born July 3, 1847, at St. George's Channel, Cape Breton, Dr. Stewart received his preliminary education at the Model School, Truro, N.S., and at the Provincial Normal College in the same place. He taught school for one year at Sydney Academy, then decided to take up medicine. He commenced the latter study at Dalhousie University and finished at Edinburgh University, from which he graduated in 1877. On his Continued on Page 2

TO REPAIR SHIP HERE

Prince George Job to be Carried Out At Local Dry Dock

Damage Extensive

Official Announcement Regarding Reconditioning Expected By Tomorrow

Although no official announcement is expected until tomorrow night, there was understood today to be no doubt but that repairs to the Canadian National steamer Prince George, which was extensively damaged last Wednesday when she struck Askew Reef, Vadsø Point, near Anxox, would be repaired at the Prince Rupert dry dock where she is now on the pontoons following her arrival in port on Monday night. T. C. Workman, surveyor for the London Salvage Co., arrived here today to complete specifications and make final arrangements for the repair job.

An inspection of the vessel at the dry dock reveals that she has sustained extensive damage to her bottom from the curve of the forefoot, aft almost to one third of her length. She has one large gaping hole in her bottom through which it is possible to look clear inside the vessel. Her keel and bottom have been holed and crumpled elsewhere and many plates have been shattered, buckled and displaced. No official estimate had been made up to this morning as to the number of plates which would have to be replaced.

Passenger accommodation of the vessel was not affected by the wreck although Stewart freight and mail was immersed.

EYES ON OTTAWA

Premier Pattullo expects to be in Prince Rupert Sunday evening and Monday on his way to Ottawa to meet Premier Bennett and discuss with the other premiers of the Dominion the question of rehabilitation of provincial finances and the work and wages scheme on which he has set his mind. So far he has secured the support of the western premiers and the co-operation of Premier Bennett in securing facilities for laying his plans before the other premiers at a conference at Ottawa. Nothing but fair sailing has been experienced so far, and there is reason to believe that the conference at Ottawa will deal sympathetically with the proposals which will be made there.

PRINCE RUPERT'S PROBLEM

Prince Rupert's problem is closely bound up with the success of the conference and the sympathetic consideration given the proposals by the federal administration. If a "work and wages" program is adopted the northern transprovincial highway from Prince Rupert to Jasper will undoubtedly be included in the public works plans which are being advanced. If this can be carried out as a federal project or a provincial project financed or assisted by Ottawa, it is pretty well assured that real work will be done on it and that it will be carried through to completion within a reasonable period. It is the one thing that Prince Rupert wants more than anything else just now.

GOOD SHOW IS STAGED

Shakespearian Drama Put on By Pupils of Stewart Superior School

STEWART, Dec. 27.—The annual school entertainment by the pupils of Stewart Superior School was staged last Wednesday evening at the Canadian Legion Hall before a large and appreciative audience. The entertainment was produced under the direction of the teachers, F. H. Hoadley, principal, and Misses Cherie Campbell and Merle Nickerson. The entertainment took the form of the production of parts of Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and, during the interval, twelve of the younger pupils in Eighteenth Century costumes performed the French Minuet. The principal parts in the play were taken by Tessie Rennie, Helen Knipple, Mary Stewart, Bobby Hutchings, Gertie Pettipiece, John Thomey, Ernest Love, Jewel Rice, Grace Allen, W. Hanson, Reg. Crozier, Doreen Jack, John Studdy, Bill Cameron and Arthur Thomey.

Following the performance Mr. Hoadley, in a short speech, wished all a merry Christmas on behalf of the pupils and teachers. P. S. Jack, secretary of the school board, was called upon for a few remarks and thanked the pupils and teachers for the entertainment. He referred to the undoubted benefits of the pupils studying Shakespearian drama. He also explained that the proceeds of the entertainment would go towards equipment for the school gymnasium, and warmly complimented the staff and the older boys of the school for their excellent work in fixing up this gymnasium.

In 1915 Dalhousie University received permission to organize No. 7 Stationary Hospital for service overseas and Dr. Stewart was unanimously chosen to command it. The unit reached France early in 1916 and remained there until the end of the war, Dr. Stewart remaining in command until March, 1918, when he was appointed to headquarters of the Canadian Army Medical Corps as consulting surgeon. He returned to Canada on January 6, 1919.

Smith, F. Pierce, E. Harman, Mrs. L. Wide, Mr. Clapp, Mr. Clay, Mr. Halvorsen, Mr. Hodgins, Mr. Nickerson and Mr. Kurlock.

The Citadel was a very attractive place on Christmas Day for the children. It was a happy sight to see the smiling faces of the children as they sat around the table which was gay with Christmas decorations. The popping of the Christmas crackers caused much merriment among the children. Just after dinner telegrams from Santa Claus excited the children but not nearly so much as did the sight of the old man himself, appearing in the Citadel with his arms full of parcels. These parcels contained a warm pair of woolen stockings for each child present. Boxes of chocolate toys were also given to the tiny tots. Mr. Chandler appeared with his camera and pictures were taken of the happy crowd. Music was supplied by E. Kane, who donated his gramophone for the occasion. T. Andrew, Mr. Hodgins and Mr. McLeod carved the turkeys and Mrs. Bussey, Mrs. Hunt, Miss Clara Pierce, Miss Mildred Hunt, Misses Katy and Clara Kurlock waited on the tables, Frank Pierce, Mr. Prescott, Mr. Nickerson, Tom Pierce and Mr. Hunt assisted in the kitchen. Overseeing and arranging the work were the officers, Captain Coxson and Lieut. Milley.

Several children who lived a long way out of town were brought to the Citadel in S. E. Parker's car, which was kindly loaned to the Salvation Army for use during the Christmas rush.

The happy time was brought to a close late in the afternoon when Capt. A. Coxson closed in prayer and as each child passed out of the door, a bag of candies, etc. were handed it.

All Are Thanked

The Salvation Army wishes to say a hearty "thank you" to all who so willingly assisted in the relief work during the past few days. They wish to express through this paper their thanks to Col. McMordie who so kindly assisted by putting on a food matinee, S. E. Parker for the use of his car, the staff of the Commodore Cafe who roasted the turkeys and Mr. Andrews who prepared them; the Elks Lodge, Mr. Ballinger and the United Church who supplied dishes for the occasion. A hearty thanks was also extended to Mr. Pullen who has this year as in previous years carried on the advertising of this work.

Donations received since last Saturday were as follows: Miss Patmore, pies. Mrs. D. Allen, pies. Prince Rupert Bakery, large

Tentative Agreement Reached Between Newspaper and Radio Organizations

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Representatives of the Associated Press and American Newspaper Publishers Association and of the National and Columbia Broadcasting Co.'s in session here, came to an agreement, it is reported, which would virtually eliminate dissemination of news in radio broadcasts in the United States as well as the giving of free publicity by newspapers to radio broadcasting programs. Under the tentative agreement, it is understood, no news could be broadcast over the air until at least six hours after it had appeared in the newspapers and then only 30 words of any news story could be used.

James Durran, who is in the service of the Granby Co. at Anyox, was in the city at the end of last week enroute from the smelter town to Terrace to spend Christmas at his home.

Deaths From Heart Attacks Reported to Police Headquarters From Various Points

Three sudden deaths from heart attacks in various parts of the district have been reported to divisional headquarters of the provincial police here.

At Prince George Walter Wyatt, a colored man, collapsed and fell dead while carrying wood upstairs from a basement. Little was known as to the man's personal history or affairs.

Alexander Halstead was found dead in the Granby Co.'s bunkhouse at Anyox. He was a pensioner of the American Army and had no relatives in this country, his next of kin being a brother in West Virginia.

Carl Solberg, who lived in a cabin at Uncha Valley in the Southbank district, had not been seen for some days so neighbors went to look him up and found that he was dead. He was a Norwegian, 69 years of age and had lived in the Lakes District for fifteen years, having come from the United States. He is survived by a widow in Michigan and a brother, Marshal Solberg, in Chicago.

Rev. Dr. William Stephen Rainsford Of New York Passes Away At Age of 83

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Rev. William Stephen Rainsford, former well known Western Canada pastor, for four years assistant rector of St. James Cathedral in Toronto and in his younger days on the prairies a noted rifle shot and buffalo hunter, died here at the age of 83 years. While studying at Cambridge University in England, he organized a colonization scheme which later resulted in the settling of 8000 people from the slums of London on the Canadian prairies. He had been rector of St. George's Church here from 1882 until 1906 and for the last several years had resided here in retirement.

Born in Dublin, Ire., October 30, 1850, Dr. Rainsford studied theology at St. John's College, Cambridge, receiving his doctorship of divinity from Trinity College, Norwich, Eng., from 1872 to 1876, coming to Canada in 1878 as assistant rector of St. James' Cathedral in Toronto which post he held until he moved to New York in 1882.

Dr. Rainsford was author of a number of works on theological subjects. In 1878 he married Emily Alma Green of Prince's Garden, London, Eng. In politics he was a Progressive. He actually made his home for years at Ridgefield, Conn.

Another Language Presents Story Of Family Relations

Helen Hayes and Robert Montgomery are the stars in "Another Language," at the Capitol Theatre here this mid-week.

It is a drama of family life which shows Miss Hayes and Montgomery as a pair of newlyweds who find the honeymoon is over when the husband's ineffectual relatives take charge of their domestic affairs.

The picture has a dramatic climax when the young nephew falls in love with his new aunt. Her husband's neglect brings about this situation which eventually embroils the entire family.

It is a swiftly paced story that has tense interest from start to finish.

Miss Hayes is magnificent in her role and Montgomery's performance leaves little to be desired.
