LOYAL WALES ACCLAIMS HER YOUNG PRINCE

ARE SEEKING THE VICTIMS OF THE PORCUPINE FIRE

Search Parties Enter the Fire Zone to Rescue the Living and Bury the Dead---Death List is Growing as Reports Come In--- Ontario and Federal Governments Will Make Large Grants---Toronto Board of Trade Aids

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Toronto, July 14.—The latest reports from the fire infested district of Porcupine show that the danger period is past. All reports are that the fires are under control, and will be extinguished in a few days, or as soon as a heavy rainfall comes.

Rescue Parties at Work
From several points, searching parties have been sent in to the belt, to search along the trails and lakes for any persons who may have survived the perils of the few days. They are accompanied by doctors, medical stores and stretcher parties, and to rescue a few lives.

A Great Death List
The entire zone is to be covered by the parties, and these will make a decent burial to the dead. In an hour as survivors come in, their tales of horror, the death list grows. Yesterday's report is now believed to be very conservative.

Survivors' Tales
Porcupine is the rallying point for most of the survivors, and these all tell that the trails are strewn with the dead bodies of prospectors who perished in their tracks. Twenty-seven such bodies found near South Porcupine today were all buried.

Dome's Heavy List
At Dome and West Dome the death toll was very heavy. In addition to the fifty-seven miners and muckers who perished in the mine shafts, seventy others were drowned when they were driven by the flames into the lake, or by the upsetting of the overloaded boats. Fully one hundred others perished in the woods before they reached the lake. Of one hundred and forty Italian laborers at Dome, only fifty are accounted for. The others have all perished.

Grants were Made
The Ontario Government and the Dominion Government have both intimated that they will make substantial grants to aid the sufferers. The Toronto Board of Trade this morning donated $23,000 for immediate relief work. Other cities are following Toronto's example.

Fire Insurance will not protect you from fire but it will protect you against loss. The prompt settlement of claim which is a feature of the policies issued by the Mack Realty & Insurance Company will protect you both against loss of money and loss of time.

Brought the Boys Here
Two sons of C. J. Gillingham arrived by the C. P. R. Princess Mary this morning, and will probably remain here permanently.

J. H. McLeod of the Customs Department left for Skagway by the S.S. City of Seattle. He will return to Prince Rupert after a few day's trip.

TRAIN WRECK IN ALBERTA

C. P. R. Special Ditched at Ponoka—Was Loaded with Orange Lodge Adherents.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Edmonton, July 14.—A sad ending to the Red Deer Orange celebration has happened near South Ponoka. A C. P. R. special train which was conveying a number of the celebrants to their homes, was derailed a mile from South Ponoka late last night. Every carriage went into the ditch, and many of the passengers among the women and children were injured.

Fortunately the train was proceeding slowly, and none of the injured are fatally hurt.

Carried 100 Passengers
About 100 passengers went south on the S.S. Prince Rupert today.

YOUNG PRINCE IS HAILED AS THE PRINCE OF WALES

Solemn Ceremonies Attended the Investiture in Carnarvon Castle ---Ritual Dates Back to the Time of Edward the First When He Presented His Infant Son to the Welsh as Their Prince---Rejoicing in Wales

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Carnarvon, July 14.—With all the historic ritual prescribed seven centuries ago when King Edward the First, won the hearts of the gallant Welsh chieftains, by presenting to them his infant son to be their Prince, the solemn ceremony of investing young Prince Edward as Prince of Wales was carried out today. It was the first time since Henry VII sat on the throne that the ceremony has been performed.

At Historic Carnarvon
The Royal party came direct from Kingstown on the Royal yacht for the ceremony. The Home Fleet was in Carnarvon Bay, while the whole of the Welsh Territorial Army, reinforced by British cavalry was mobilized, within the shadows of ancient Carnarvon Castle.

King Performed Ceremony
The actual ceremony of investiture was performed by the King himself (not as had been announced by Queen Mary. Her Majesty was present as an on-looker.) Inside Carnarvon Castle 15,000 leading Welshmen witnessed the proceedings, the poetry and mystic symbolism of which were of a nature to appeal strongly to a Celtic people.

A Pretty Ceremony
Wearing a crimson mantle, young Prince Edward was formally presented before King George, who was robed in purple and gold and wearing the stately trappings emblematic of his Royal station. With his own hands the King placed upon Prince Edward's head a chaplet of gold, made in the form of a garland, as a token of principality. Next the King put into the Prince's hand a sceptre of gold, the emblem of government. Finally, his Majesty placed a ring of gold upon his firstborn's middle finger at the same time adjuring him to be a husband to his country and a father to its children.
After the Welsh bishops had led the Prince of Wales to a species of throne and seated him upon it with due solemnity, the investiture proper was completed. Then followed the picturesque act of the Prince's presentation to the people.

A fanfare of trumpets announced that the ceremony inside the castle was concluded, while over 100,000 people outside the castle craned for a good view of the King and Queen and the young Prince as they moved to their place above the Gate. From this same spot seven centuries ago, King Edward I. presented his infant son to the Welsh people to be their Prince. There was a breathless hush while King George V. stood forward and in ringing tones presented his own first-born as Prince of Wales.

Real Welsh Cheers
Thunderous cheers greeted the King's announcement, which were repeated again and again. For the remainder of the week Carnarvon and all Wales will continue to hold festival.

STEAMBOAT TRAFFIC BUSY AT WHARF TODAY

In Midnight Last Night Till Noon Today a Procession of Big Steamships Kept Going and Coming—An Indication of the Way Things are Living Up at This Port

It is a feature in steamboat traffic again this weekend. From midnight until noon today the wharf officials were busy. The R. S.S. Princess Mary arrived shortly after midnight, followed by the City of Seattle. Boats had large cargoes and passenger sheets. The G. T. P. S.S. Prince Albert arrived from the Islands, and the Venture from the south berthed this morning at 11 a.m. The S.S. State of California on her return trip from Seattle called, and brisk to and fro tourist trips up town and back kept the waterfront lively. The American papers brought up by the City of Seattle were in great demand amongst the tourists and the small boat sellers of them did a roaring trade. The State of California brought back from the north 20,000 cases of salmon for the American market.

This morning also saw the G. T. P. S.S. Prince Rupert leave with a big list of local passengers for Vancouver and the south. The Prince Rupert left on time after her arrival from Stewart. The C. P. R.

S.S. Princess Ena with freight from the south berthed at the wharf last night and was here this morning. Tonight the Camosun arrives.

FAREWELL VISIT OF STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Palatial and Popular American Steamer Goes South to Replace the Wrecked Santa Rosa—Ramona and Delhi to Take Her Place on Alaska Run

Today the palatial S.S. State of California paid her last visit for this summer at least to Prince Rupert. She is going away south to take the place of the wrecked Santa Rosa. Replacing the State of California on the Alaska trip will return the Ramona a boat already familiar in Prince Rupert. Though a reliable boat the Ramona is smaller than the State of California, and to assist her in dealing with the traffic it is probably that the steamer Delhi will be added to the list making the Alaska run.

May Not Call Here
There is a possibility, however, that the Delhi may not include Prince Rupert in her schedule, but will make the trip to Alaska direct from Seattle. The Alaska trade is getting heavier at this season, the consignments of salmon for the south promising to be exceptionally heavy this season, and the tourist traffic is on the increase. For this reason some surprise is expressed that the popular State of California should be replaced by smaller boats, but she is needed on the California coast.

Visits of the State of California to Prince Rupert, since the very first evening she called here, have been occasions for the enlivening of the town by her groups of sightseeing passengers, and her presence at the wharf has ranked in importance with that of the big G. T. P. and C. P. R. boats. Prince Rupert bids good-bye with regret to the popular "State" but it is quite expected that she will be back again by next summer with her merry tourist parties.

HAS GONE BACK EAST ARMED WITH PHOTOGRAPHS

Frank Scott, Treasurer for the G.T.P. and G.T.R. took Seventy-five Photographs of Prince Rupert to Show His Friends—Charmed With Scenery

These pictures of Prince Rupert will be framed, and shown to his friends. There is no doubt that they will advertise the city very favorably," said Mr. Scott, treasurer of the G. T. P., to the News this morning as he looked over the 75 of the best views of the district showing the progress the city had made since it was a handful of tents a few years ago.

that those who saw the pictures would be given a good idea and impression of Prince Rupert and the surrounding scenery. Amongst the views were some surprisingly good ones of the Skeena River. Mr. Scott was very pleased with the pictures of the first train that left here over the G. T. P. main line on June 14th.

Mr. Scott with his wife left for the East today on the S.S. Prince Rupert.

"I have been nothing in Italy or Switzerland to compare with the scenery of Prince Rupert, the Skeena, and the Alaskan Coast," was the enthusiastic tribute Mr. Scott paid to the district before he left.

TO TAKE MOVING PICTURES OF RUPERT

Special Corps of Photographers on Their Way Here—Will Show the Beautiful Scenery of the District in all the Great Cities of the World.

Coming up on the S.S. Prince George now steaming for this port from the south is a man armed with the latest moving picture apparatus. This man and his aides have been engaged exclusively by the G. T. P. Publicity Department to take views of the scenery between Vancouver and here, also to get miles of film showing Prince Rupert in the making, the progress and beauty up the 100 miles of line running alongside the Skeena River and other features for advertising purposes. These films when completed will be loaned to moving picture theatres in every town and city across the two hemispheres.

from the Prince George, set up his machine in some convenient nook on the shore, then the big G. T. P. steamer will go full steam ahead and the man at the picture machine will take a few hundred feet of this interesting feature.
When the Prince George steams through the harbor entrance tomorrow morning the picture man will be stationed on the fo'c'sle head turning the wheel of his machine which will record the beautiful scenery surrounding the harbor, this city in the amphitheatre of hills, the crowds on the dock and every animate and inanimate thing that comes within the range of the wonderful lenses.
By the train that leaves at one o'clock for Copper River will be attached a special car at the rear on which will be the picture man and his machine and during the 100 mile run he will wind up a lot of film, on which will be recorded all and perhaps more than human eye can see.

What this will mean as an advertising feature to Prince Rupert it is impossible to estimate. The G. T. P. is to be congratulated on such enterprise.

SEATTLE IS IN PERIL OF DANGEROUS FIRE

Latest Despatches Received Before Going to Press Tell of Hotel and Boarding House on Pike Street and Eighth Destroyed—Gale Carrying Sparks Into Business Section

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Seattle, July 14.—A serious fire is raging now in the city of Seattle. A general alarm has been turned in, and strong efforts are being made to prevent the fire from spreading to the business portion of the city.

Starts in Hotel
The fire started in the basement of a three storey frame hotel building at the corner of Eighth avenue and Pike street. The building is now entirely destroyed and the flames have spread to the adjoining property. An apartment house next to the hotel is now on fire and cannot be saved. Other property in the vicinity is threatened, and a serious conflagration is feared.

A strong wind has sprung up to fan the flames, and sparks are being carried out over the business section of the city. On many of the buildings, janitors and porters are busy watching to quell any possible outbreak, but nervousness is felt lest the fire should get out of hand while the gale lasts.

Mrs. S. Frizzell left this morning for a two weeks' visit to friends in Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle.

DRAGGED TO DEATH BY WEIGHT OF WIRE CABLE

Verdict of Coroner's Jury at Inquest Held on Body of J. Stussi, Killed by Fall at the Government Wharf—Funeral Held Today

"We the jury... find that the deceased came to his death by falling from a scaffolding on the false work used in the construction of the B. C. Government Dock while handling an unattached cable."

Such is the verdict brought in by the jury appointed at the inquest held yesterday afternoon on the body of John Stussi the workman killed on Wednesday at the Government Wharf.

Fatal Cable
From the evidence of Messrs. J. C. McLeod, Andrew J. Wheatley, and Harry Headrick, deceased's workmates who were near at the time of the accident, Stussi's fall was clearly caused by the weight of a wire cable he was handling, which in sliding off the wood work above him jerked him off his own platform. Stussi did not manage to drop the cable quickly enough when warned by the man above him that it was sliding off the beam over which it was looped, or he may have thought he could hold it. He fell thirty feet to the false work, and fifteen more into the sea.

Fought for Life
First hasty accounts of the accident gave it that Stussi had been stunned by the fall. Evidence given by Andrew Wheatley, foreman at the work, showed that the poor fellow had put up a brave

A LESSON FROM THE INDIAN

A pleasing incident showing the loyalty of the Naas Indians is told by Indian Agent Clifton Perry who is in the city after completing the census of the Indians in his district.

On the morning of Coronation Day, Mr. Perry and his party were proceeding up the Naas to visit the Ayansh reserve. Rumors had been current of trouble between the Indians and the white men, and the Indian Agent was investigating the matter—happily with the result that he found there was little ground for the exaggerated stories that had been circulated.

As the steamer steamed up the Naas, the Indians at Ayansh, hailed the flag she carried in honor of the King's Coronation, and came in a body to the wharf. "Tell all the white men, the King's people to come with us to a white man's feast in the Feast Hall," said Chief Skadeen to the party. "We have killed a cow and a calf, and are having a feast for the white men, in honor of the King."

To the Feast Hall, Mr. Perry's party went, and there at the head of the table, the Indian Agent presided over a goodly gathering. From all the railway and survey camps—the "highways and the byways" of the Naas—the white men gathered in response to the chief's invitation.

The Ayansh band in uniform played patriotic airs. They had previously rendered a Coronation hymn in the village church, the music for which was specially composed by their own missionary, Rev. Mr. McCullagh. To the assembled company Chief Skadeen told of their loyalty to the King, of their friendship for the "King's people," as the whites are called in the vernacular, and of their respect for the law and order that the King's people had instituted. Very significantly, the Chief referred to the cause of the rumors of trouble, the Indian's reluctance to serve the white men, until their claims in the land title dispute are referred to the law they have been taught to reverence.

"If the law says the land is for the Indian, it is well. If the law says the land is for the white men, it is well. We will be satisfied when we know," said the Chief.

The little incident of the spontaneous act of loyalty in preparing a "white man's feast" for the white men on Coronation Day ought not to go unrecorded. There is real logic in the plea of the chief of the Ayansh, that if the Indians are to venerate and observe the law of Canada, then the Province of British Columbia in its dealings with the Indians should be prepared to submit itself to the courts of justice.

"If the law says that the land is for the Indian, it is well. If the law says the land is for the white men, it is well. We will be satisfied when we know," is an attitude of mind that would very well become the administrators of law and order in this Province.

NEW ZEALAND'S RAILWAY RECORD

Notwithstanding the period of hard times that has visited New Zealand during the past two years, the government-owned railways of New Zealand have shown a steady and gratifying growth. The net profits for the year 1910 were $5,401,580.

It should be remembered that the settled policy of the New Zealand government is to operate the railways for the benefit of all the people and not for profits.

As rapidly as the receipts warrant, freight and passenger rates are reduced, while special provisions have been made by which the railways are utilized in the government's effort to assist the people to become home-makers, without them being denied the chance of having their children properly educated, and without interfering with the regular city employment of the heads of families.

To foster this work, a nominal fare is charged the workers and the school children during certain hours morning and evening, by which, at a cost not exceeding that paid by patrons of the street railway service, the artizans in the country are able to continue work and their children can enjoy city schools while making their homes in the country.

ALL ENDED HAPPILY

A Little Story from Belleville on Which You Could Write a Novel.

A romance which had its commencement on the other side of the Atlantic many years since, had a happy culmination in Belleville.

Some thirty-five years ago a couple were married in Scotland, the man's name being Rice, and the woman, after several years of wedded unhappiness secured a divorce about twenty years ago, and the custody of her two sons, one of whom is captain of an Atlantic steamer and the other mate on a liner. The woman remained at home and the man went to the Western States. A few months ago the woman came over to Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, to visit relatives and there was given information as to her former husband. The result was that they entered into correspondence, the old-time love was revived, and they decided to meet in Belleville, about midway between their respective homes, and renew the troth which was plighted in their youthful days.

The license was thereupon issued and the couple were duly reunited in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Dr. Bishop.

DEVOTED PRINCIPALLY TO THE INTERESTS OF WOMEN

This is a little section of the paper, which from day to day will be devoted to subjects of special interest to women. The hope is expressed that "The Cosy Corner" will fill a social need.

A CHARMING AFTERNOON GOWN

An exceedingly good looking and serviceable afternoon gown of black chiffon satin made in tunic fashion. Lower part of bodice and upper part of tunic are black filet lace over white chiffon cloth. Sleeves and upper part of bodice are stain with undersleeves, yoke and stock of white Mechlin lace.

A gown of this type is appropriate for wear upon any and all occasions.

CAMPING OUT

Has your dinner lost its savor, Has your greeting lost its cheer? Is your daily stunt a burden? Is your laughter half a sneer? There's a medicine to cure you, There's a way to lift your lead, With a horse and saddle and a mile of open road.

Is your eyeball growing bilious? Is your temper getting short? Is this life a blind delusion, Or a grim, unlovely sport? There's a world of health and beauty, There's a heap that cannot fail, In a day behind the burros On a dusty mountain trail.

Come out, old man, we're going To a land that's free and large, Where the rainless skies are resting On a snowy mountain range. When we camp in God's own country, You will find yourself again, With a fire and a blanket and the stars upon the plain! -Bliss Carman in The Reader Magazine.

CARING FOR FINE WAISTS

Some Laundry Hints That Every Woman Ought to Know and Practice.

By this season of the year lingerie waists are showing strain and must be carefully laundered to last until cold weather. Every woman should know how they are done to instruct her laundress. See that all repairs are made before the blouses are put into the wash. Very fine ones last longer if not done in the general wash. Many women save a half dozen or more to be done at one time.

Make thick suds of lukewarm water and pure white soap and squeeze the blouse up and down in it. Rub as little as possible. If necessary, wash through a second suds.

Rinse out the soap through several waters, using a little bluing at the last. If the blouse is not to be starched, hang in the sun to dry, if the material is white; otherwise, dry indoors. Sprinkle half an hour before ironing and wrap in a clean towel. Use moderately hot irons and see that the ironing board is covered with clean muslin. Use an old blanket in several thicknesses, into which press embroidered parts. Put an extra muslin cloth over this.

A sleeveboard ensures quicker work. Without one use a small iron and there need be no creases. Iron the sleeves first.

Iron tucks and plain part of waist next on right side. Start at the shoulder, holding the tucks firmly with the left hand. Then turn blouse and iron lace and embroidery on wrong side.

Lace ruffles and edging should be pulled out after ironing to give a new soft look. Frills should be basted along bottom edge before being laundered, and when ironing begin at bottom, pulling gently at top so the plaits fall into place.

Most thin materials, save handkerchief linen, are improved by a thin starching. They keep fresh longer and take a better color. Sometimes this is supplied by dampening with a little cold starch water.

Another starch is made by making a paste with two teaspoons of starch and a little cold water, over which is poured a pint of boiling water, stirring until smooth. A drop of bluing added gives a better color. Dip blouse in starch, wring out at once, and hang out to dry.

Provide a number of coat hangers for the kitchen. String over a line and hang each blouse on it, instead of folding. As the folding hanger can be had for ten cents apiece, get a big supply and have enough to hang the waists in closets instead of putting them in bureau drawers.

ITEMS OF SPORT

Ad Wolgast is said to have remarked a few months ago that Owen Moran was the only one of his prospective opponents that he considered seriously.

Lord Conyngham, who was formerly a lieutenant in the Third Battalion, Duke of Edinburgh's Wiltshire Regiment, is one of the best known sportsmen in the whole of Ireland. He has three seats in Ireland; Slane Castle, the Hall, and the Lodge, the two latter in County Donegal.

Merritt Griffin, a representative of the Chicago A. C. at the Olympic games in London in 1910, and one of the greatest amateur discus throwers in the world, is today in a paralytic state from serious injuries sustained in a runaway accident. His condition is critical.

Calgary has only two men now in the charmed circle of .300 and over in the batting averages. Both of these are the big league timber - Wilson and Standridge. Duggan, Moran and O'Brien are close runners up, and have all fattened up their batting averages during the victorious series with Edmonton.

"Too much grease," according to Jim Sullivan's own statement, made the English fighter sick and was responsible for his recent defeat by Billy Papke. Sullivan said today he knows he can beat Papke, and would have done it if the American hadn't entered the ring with a pound or so of hog fat rubbed into his skin. Sullivan insists he will make Papke fight him again in the near future.

It is now almost an assured fact that when the football season starts in the Old Country, next September will see a third division of the football league. There is already a first and second division, and the organization of a third division is creating popular interest. The clubs so far which have signified their intention of joining this new league are as follows: Burslem P. V., Cardiff City, Chesterfield, Croydon Common, Crewe Alexandra, Darlington, Hartlepool United Lincoln City, Portsmouth, Rochdale, Rotherham Town, Southport Central, S. Shield Adelaide, South Liverpool, St. Helen's Town, Walsall.

LICENCE REQUIRED Can't Keep Shop Without Even Way Out at Seal Cove

For running a little general fruit, grocery and "notion" store down at Seal Cove without having taken out a trader's licence G. McMillan was brought this morning before Magistrate Carss. He gave as his reason for the omission that he had thought his premises were outside the city limits. This was considered rather thin, but on payment of costs, and the cost of a licence McMillan was released with an admonition. A man Godstein, manager under McMillan, was also required to pay costs of court and to take out a trader's licence.

OTTAWA TEAM FINE ATHLETES

The Eight Who Did so Well at Henley are All Crack Men and Credit to Canada.

Inquiries have been made in Prince Rupert about the personnel of the Ottawa Rowing Club's eight which put up such a fine race for the Grand Challenge Cup at Henley last week.

The Ottawa eight representing Canada at Henley is made up of a crew that is well-known in the East not only in the rowing circles, but in various other lines of sport.

Though defeated by Magdalen in the final race was one of the fastest ever rowed on the course.

A good deal of interest was centered on the arrival of the Princess Mary and the fact that she came and went away in the night time was a disappointment to many people.

Captain Neroustos is master of the Princess Mary.
