EXTEND FISHING SEASON

THE International Fisheries Commission has notified local fishermen that the southern banks will be closed to fishing at midnight August 25, the reason given being that these banks are being fished too extensively and that very soon there will be no fish left if the season is left open.

While we have every sympathy with the commission and its work our chief sympathy is with these fishermen who may be thrown out of employment at this critical period. Last season nothing was made from halibut fishing and as a result the fishermen had to go on relief during the winter. This year in spite of the low prices the men have kept down expenses and worked hard and as a result are just beginning to get ahead. But if they are to be thrown out of work for six months they and their families will have to be fed by someone.

The federal government is being importuned to give work to the unemployed. Here the work is already laid out for them. There is a market for the fish and the men are ready and willing to carry on if allowed to do so. They have the gear and everything necessary for the production of this desirable sea food.

We suggest that, not as a general policy, but for this season only, the fishermen be allowed to carry on fishing in order to help bring back that prosperous condition for which we have all been hoping and striving. One year will make little material difference to the conservation scheme for there have been more halibut on the banks this year than for many seasons past.

RECOVERS FROM HEART WOUNDING

Eternal Triangle Was Cause of Trouble at Alberni and Assault is Committed

PORT ALBERNI, Aug. 1:—The old saying that a person cannot recover from a wounded heart, seems to have been belied in the case of Charlie Sam, an Indian from the west coast of Vancouver Island, who was wounded in the heart but is still alive and likely to fully recover. His assailant, Andrew Moses, was accused of attempted murder here and committed for trial.

The most interesting part of the case was the evidence supplied by Dr. W. D. Higgs, local medical man, who testified to the condition of the wounded man and outlined one of the rarest operations on record—that of sewing up an inch and a half wound in the heart of Charlie Sam. In giving testimony, Dr. Higgs told of his being called to Kildonan in the early morning of June 29 and of administering first aid to Charlie Sam, after which he had the Indian removed to the West Coast Hospital at Port Alberni where he procured the assistance of Dr. C. T. Hilton and, after giving a local anaesthetic, opened the wound until the gash in the heart was located. Dr. Higgs then performed the delicate task of inserting six stitches in the punctured organ. According to the doctor, Sam had "a rocky time for three weeks" but his general condition is now good and undoubtedly he will recover from the wound. But he must have complete rest for an indefinite time.

The Eternal Triangle

Following the testimony of the physician, Louise Louie, common law wife of the accused, took the stand and testified to having lived with Andrew Moses for three years and borne him two children, although they were never married. She left him about two months ago because he licked her and didn't treat her right, and she went to live at Kildonan in the house of her cousin, Bobby Coots, where her grandmother also lived. She told the court about the night of the crime, how Moses tried to persuade her to return to Dodgers Cove with him and even used force, and of Charlie Sam's frequent declarations of love for her, made in front of Moses. She was in bed when Moses, Coots and Sam arrived at the house, and she heard a thud as if of a body falling. Getting up and entering the kitchen, she saw Moses lying on the floor and under cross examination she admitted that his shirt was torn and he looked as if he had been beaten up. Moses took her by the hand and pulled her with him out on the sidewalk to the dock, the others following. Near the Saltery she put her free arm around Charlie Sam's neck, and as the latter again declared his love for her she saw Moses strike Sam in the left breast. Sam fainted.

Halibut Fishing in Area 2 Will Close Midnight, August 25

Intensive Fishing in Southern Area Has Caused International Fisheries Commission to Take Action to Conserve Fish

The announcement is made by the International Fisheries Commission that fishing areas one and two will be closed to halibut fishing August 25 at midnight unless changed as a result of voluntary curtailment. This includes all the nearby banks and leaves only area three, off the northwestern coast of Alaska open to the halibut boats.

Landings from area two this year have been unusually heavy. Up to July 29 landings for the year have been as follows:

Area two, 17,750,000 as against 13,750,000 last year.

Area three, 12,250,000 as against 12,750,000 last year.

Building Permits Higher But Not Yet Equal to Last Year

Building permits for the month of July totalled $6,540, an increase over last month but still far behind the total of last year. The permits for July consisted of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. wharf, Mrs. Worsfold's new eight-roomed residence at Seal Cove and some minor repairs.

TO INQUIRE INTO BANKS

OTTAWA, Aug. 1:—The establishment of a Royal Commission to inquire into the operations of the Bank Act in Canada was completed by the cabinet council yesterday, announcement having been made last evening of the personnel which is as follows:

ACTIVITY IN POLITICS IS NOTICEABLE

Movement Toward Putting Independents in Field in Province As Other Movements Have Failed

VICTORIA, Aug. 1:—In spite of the lethargy induced by the summer weather there is a very noticeable political activity everywhere and people are in an expectant mood. The idea of a Conservative or Unionist rally seems to have been rationally dropped and members of that party are now devoting their attention to the independent Conservative movement that is being found to have a stronger appeal to the electors. The Bowser boom having petered out, the C. C. F. having split down the centre over the matter of policy, the United front having been found to be allied too closely to the communist movement, and the Unionist move having been a flop from the very first, there was no hope left for those who oppose united Liberalism but to try to secure the election of a sufficient number of independents to later unite as a reactionary force. So it is seen that the number of independent candidates is multiplying.

With approximately 90 candidates already in the field and with many more yet to be nominated the election looks like a merry scramble, but there have so far been no Liberal defections and T. D. Pattullo is as confident as ever. Premier Tolmie will be announcing the election date before long and it is expected that he will ask the Lieut. Governor to dissolve the Legislature and hold an election not later than the early part of November.

New Plan of President Is Starting Today

General Co-operation Seems to Be Rule in United States as Campaign Opens

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1:—The new plan to bring back prosperity in the United States sponsored by President Roosevelt, commenced today and is receiving general support. The auto, steel and most other industries are affected. The scheme is to shorten the hours of labor, increase the wages and thus put everybody to work and increase the buying power of the nation.

DAILY EDITION Tuesday, August 1, 1933

AFTER FIFTEEN YEARS

Fifteen years ago the present management took charge of the Daily News. Since that time the paper has tried to support every good move. It has brought the news to the people impartially and has given them the best possible service with the support it has received.

It was to be expected that this paper like all others would suffer from the depression but Canadian Press and all other necessary services have been retained and there has been very little falling off in circulation. Today the out of town circulation is just as large as ever and the percentage of subscribers to the population in the city is as large as it has ever been. There has been no weakening.

We are making plans for improvements as business picks up in the fall because we want to give our readers the best possible newspaper.

On this our anniversary day, we wish to express our appreciation of the support given us. There never has been a time when the paper has been so well known and appreciated throughout the district and when we have found the people so anxious to carry on as readers and subscribers. All this is naturally very pleasing to us and it is good for Prince Rupert because it keeps the city and country districts in touch with each other.

FOR THE FUTURE

The management of the Daily News is just as optimistic as to the future of Prince Rupert as ever. While there have been many setbacks, the country around is being gradually developed and with that development the city will grow and the business of the port will steadily improve. Industries will be secured because of the strategic position of the city and the valuable power reserve which can be used.

Now that we are on the move once more, we suggest that all citizens unite in pressing for anything and everything that will benefit the city. We may be divided politically, but that is a trifle. It is unimportant. Even in that the division is not serious.

In the United States today there is little division along political lines. All are behind the president in his endeavor to improve conditions and we must act as a unit here if ever we are to make headway.

Tommy Morgan Puts Boys Through Their Paces and Brings Them Along

For an hour and a half last night before an appreciative number of fans at the Moose Gymnasium there was the usual weekly work-out and the comments passed on the improved condition of the boys since they are getting down to regular training under Tommy Morgan was very favorable. Dan Perrin boxed two rounds with Nina Gurvich and is showing marked improvements, he is developing all round, and will make a first class showing with the sailors. Henry Knappe, a newcomer to Prince Rupert is a very free mixer, and under skilful management will develop into a real fighter. There is a lot of improvement in Johnny McLeod. He is developing quite a punch and if he will follow instructions has a long way to go in the fight game.
