LAKES GET BIG STORM

Frigid Gale Brings Zero Temperatures—Score of Deaths Reported—Shipping Tied Up

Season Ending

Winter Tie-Up Believed Impending—Steamers Ashore and Freight Delayed

TORONTO, Nov. 16:—A frigid 40-mile gale brought zero temperatures to the Great Lakes and the upper St. Lawrence River yesterday, snow up to a depth of 18 inches covering the entire area. Almost a score of deaths have been reported from United States points as a result of the cold, damage to shipping and small craft has been widespread owing to the wind and it was predicted last night that another two days of such weather conditions would mean the closing of the Great Lakes to shipping for the season.

Two steamers were reported ashore, one in Lake Michigan and the other in Lake Erie. Two other vessels were missing on Lake Superior but it was thought might be in shelter. Thousands of tons of freight was held up in vessels by ice conditions and it was feared might not be able to get through.

Two men are believed to have been drowned from a coastguard vessel in the gale on Lake Michigan. From Winnipeg two below zero weather was reported while New York had its coldest November 15 in 50 years. It was 10 above at Chicago.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR JOINT TRANSATLANTIC AIR SERVICE BY BRITISH-AMERICAN GOV'TS

Estimated Cost of Undertaking is $42,000,000—Would Make Run in Twenty-Four Hours—Floating Airdromes Every 500 Miles

LONDON, Nov. 16:—Announcement was made simultaneously here and in Washington yesterday of plans for a transatlantic commercial air service to be operated jointly by the British and United States governments. The cost of the undertaking is estimated at $42,000,000 and it would provide a twenty-four hour service between Great Britain and the Atlantic Coast of the United States.

The plans call for ultimate regular departures from various points on the American coast and for radiating services on this side to various European centres as well as to Northern Africa.

It is estimated that two years will be required to establish the service one of the principal features of which would be the installation of floating airdromes in the ocean at intervals of about five hundred miles with one larger central floating platform in mid-Atlantic.

Eventually the facilities of the service would be made available to commercial air services generally.

Mineral Production For Year In British Columbia Will Be Two Million Dollars Ahead

VANCOUVER, Nov. 16: (CP)—Despite a decline during the first six months of the year, British Columbia mines made such strides since June that the total production for 1933 will top that of 1932 by almost $2,000,000 in value, it was predicted yesterday by J. D. Galloway, provincial mineralogist, in speaking before the western meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy and the Mining Association of British Columbia.

The increase is being accounted for largely by gold production which is expected to be fifteen percent ahead of 1932 in value. There will be a slight decrease in silver and zinc production while the lead output shows a slight improvement.

John Hart, minister of finance. Hon. Dr. K. C. MacDonald, minister of agriculture, before the downfall of the former Liberal administration, was elevated to the Provincial Secretaryship but was defeated at the by-election which followed his appointment.

Miraculously, the truck did not go over the bridge nor was the driver hurt. There seems to be some uncertainty as to the actual cause of the machine getting out of control.

NEW PREMIER AND HIS JOB

So much was said of T. D. Pattullo and his capabilities during the election campaign that there is little left to say now. He has been consistent in his general policy since he assumed the position of leader of the opposition. He refused to be swayed from his course by the various influences that were at work to try to induce him to take a line of action which would have made yesterday's appointment impossible. He stood by the Liberal platform as set out at the Vancouver convention and was elected on it. Now he realizes that he has a big task ahead and will need the helpful sympathy of everyone. We suggest that any criticism be withheld until he has had every possible opportunity of making good.

MISSION TO OTTAWA

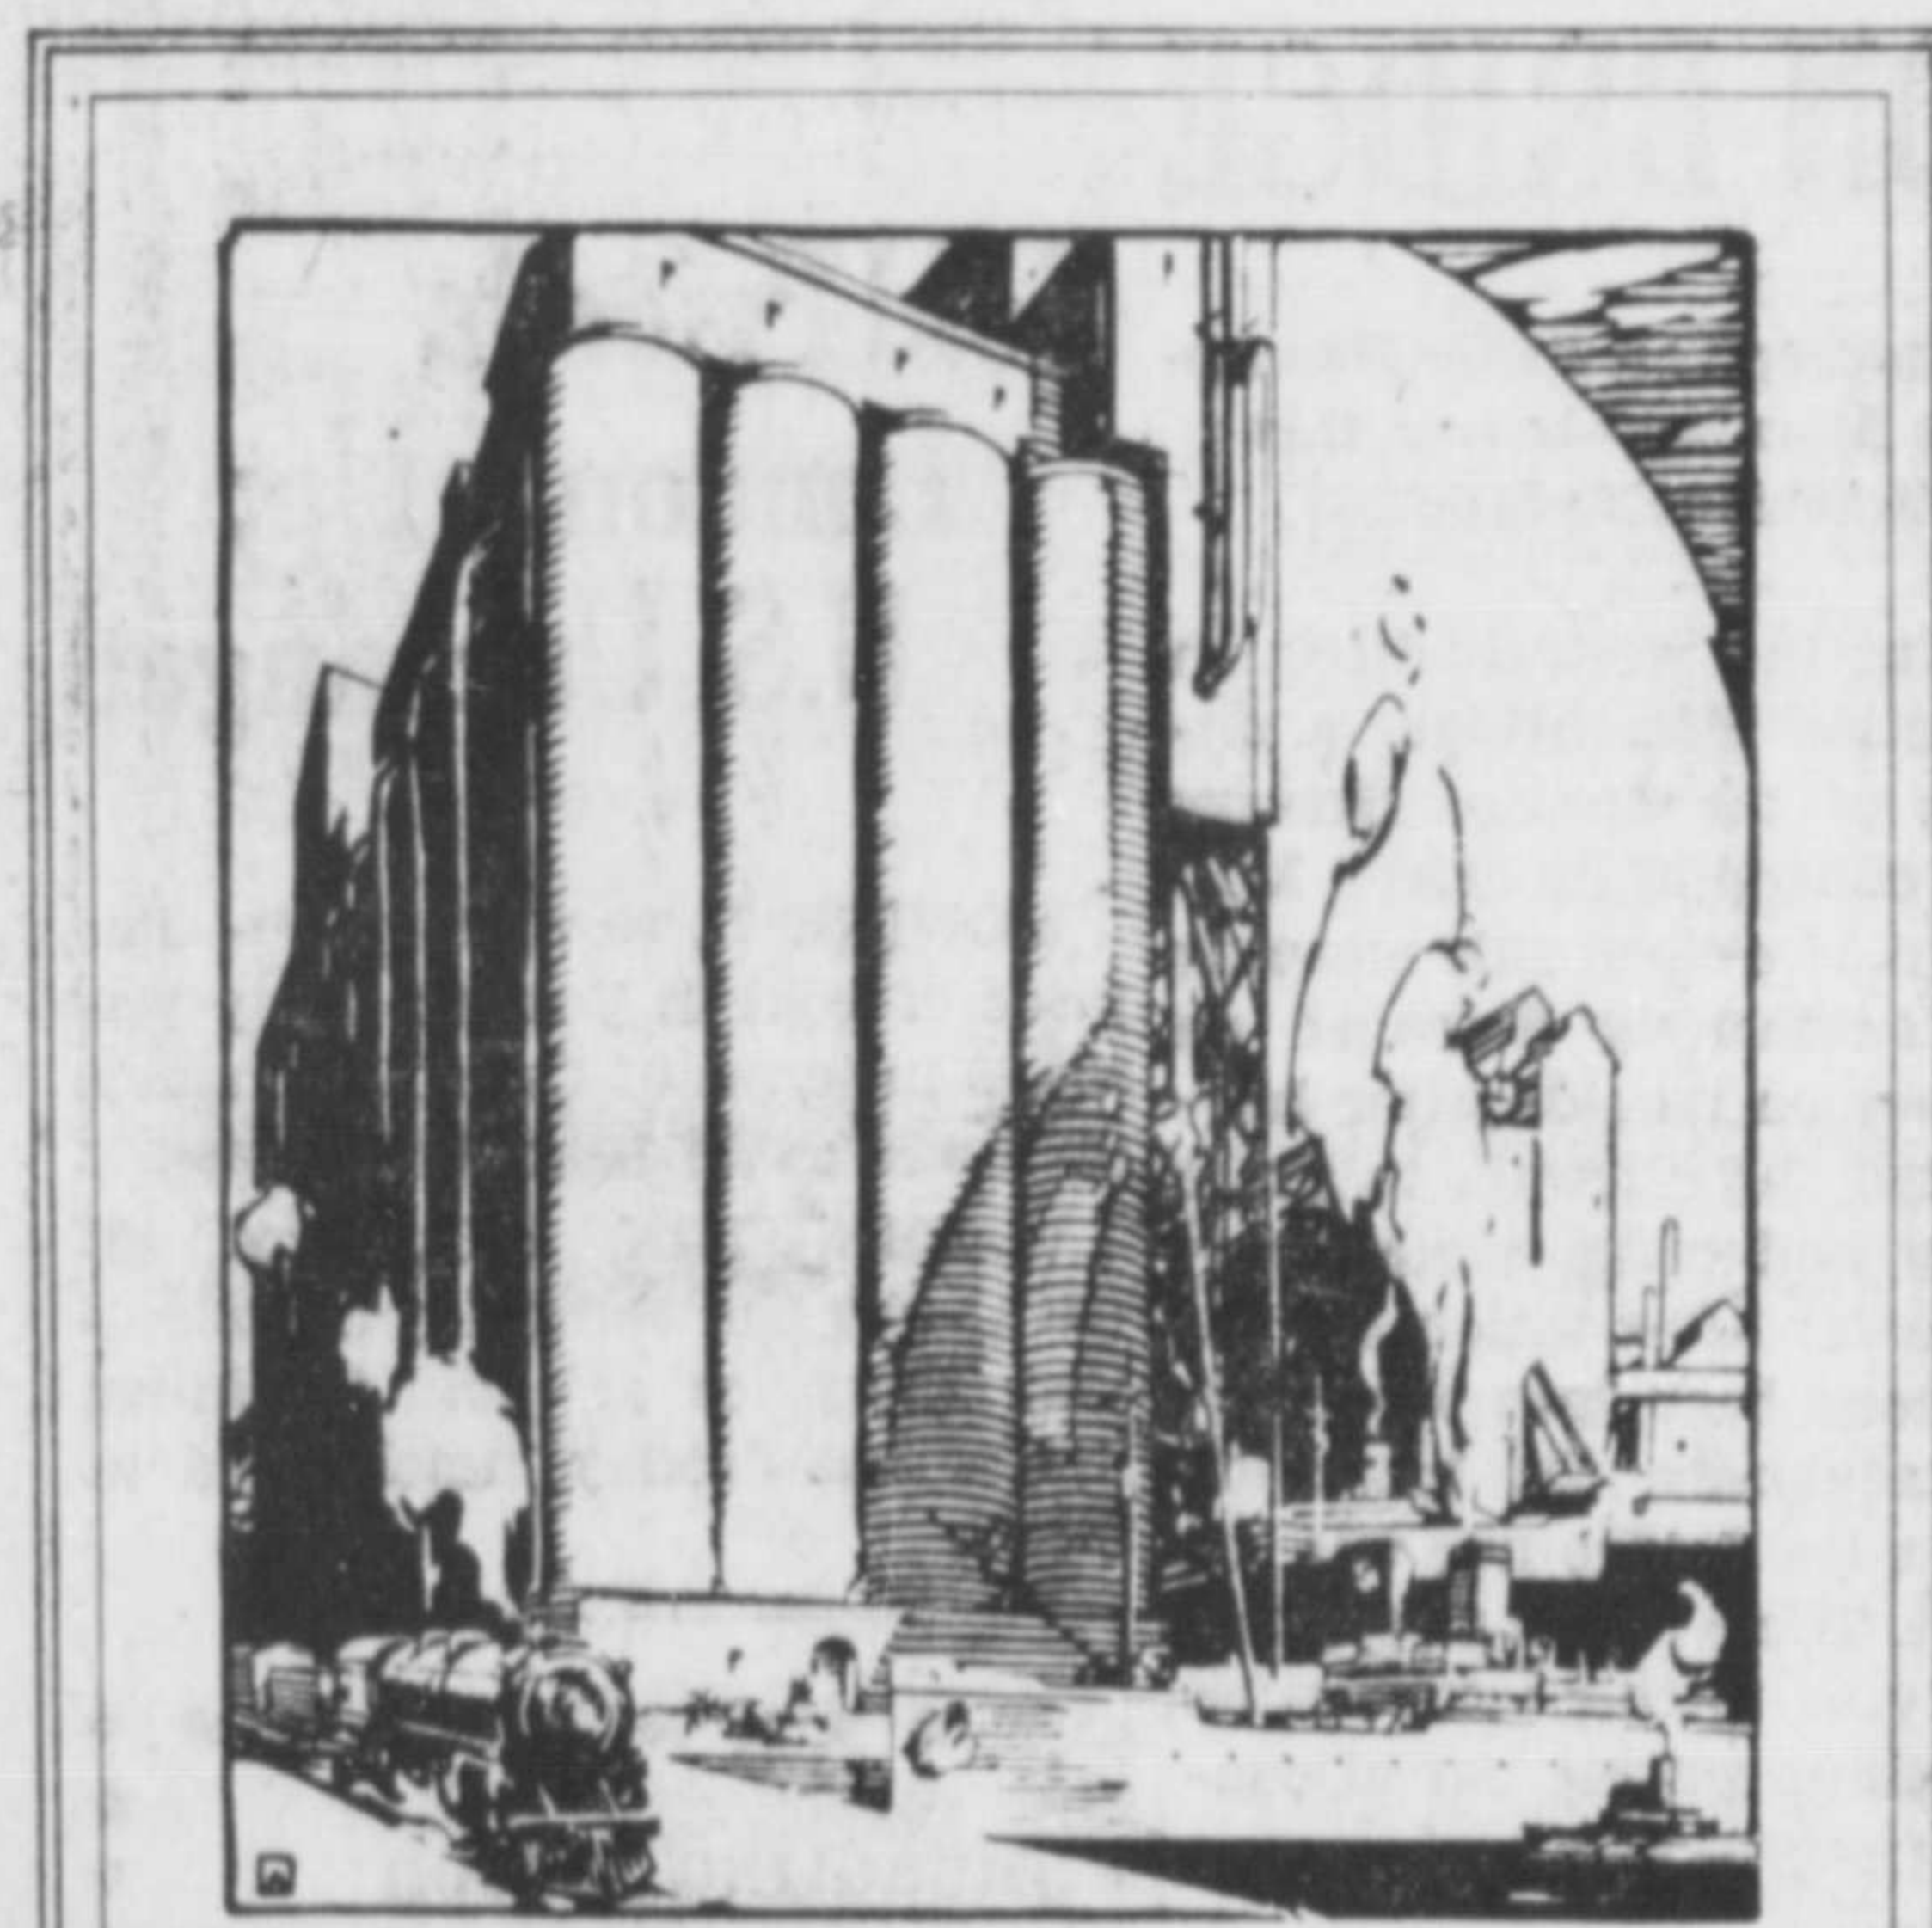

In regard to the new premier's mission to Ottawa, it is known that the Bennett administration was not very sympathetic to the Tolmie government. Time after time there were clashes between them which tended to bring about strained relationships.

Premier Pattullo will go to the nation's capital without this handicap. He will go as one who received a large measure of support from Conservatives and who triumphed over the new socialism to which both he and Mr. Bennett are opposed. There is no reason why he should not receive a sympathetic hearing and there is no reason why he should not give Mr. Bennett some good advice that may stand him in good stead when he again asks for endorsement of his policies. After all, the good of the nation is the first consideration and political victories are only secondary.

THE NEW CABINET

While there are some surprises in the new cabinet, it must be acknowledged that the choice of ministers is an excellent one. It was hardly expected that so many of the ministers in the Oliver and McLean cabinets would have been left out but of those taken in there can be little criticism. All are representative men. It was thought that possibly two northern men might have been given seats in the executive but the premier knows the territory well and can advise on the problems of the north as well as any man. We do not think the north will suffer from the lack of greater representation.

We must congratulate the new premier on the good start he has made. We shall expect to hear very soon that he is actively at work on the problems that confront him.

"NOT CONSTIPATED FOR SEVEN WEEKS"

Writes Mrs. Johnson After Using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Sufferers from constipation will be interested in this unsolicited letter:

"Your ALL-BRAN surely relieves constipation. I am so glad over the good it has done me that I feel I must write and tell you of it.

"For lunch I take a banana, a large one. Six tablespoons of ALL-BRAN in a sauce dish, and dip banana at each bite until all is consumed. I haven't been constipated now for seven weeks."—Mrs. Louise Johnson. (Address furnished upon request.)

Constipation often causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. This condition is usually due to lack of "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further promote regular habits. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has both, as well as iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the wastes.

Try ALL-BRAN in place of patent medicines—often harmful. Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green packages. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

PIONEER DROWNED

Albert Michaud of Terrace Loses His Life in Copper River, Provincial Police Are Advised

Headquarters of the provincial police here have been advised by Constable H. L. McKenney of Terrace of the drowning of Albert Michaud, well known Terrace prospector and trapper, at Eighteen Mile on the Copper River on November 10. Michaud and his partner, W. Elder, were engaged in rafting supplies across the swollen and turbulent stream when their paddle broke. Michaud was swept downstream and seen no more, Elder escaping to shore.

Michaud was one of the very early settlers of the Terrace district. All rivers and creeks in the Terrace district are very high.

The fire department had a call at 5 o'clock last evening to Glennie's florist shop in the Stori Block on Second Avenue where there was a chimney fire. No damage was done.

SOCIALIZED EDUCATION

Rev. C. D. Clarke Speaker Before Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association

There was a good attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association which was held last evening in the Borden Street School with Mrs. H. B. Eastman presiding.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. C. D. Clarke who spoke on the subject of "Socialized Education." Socializing education did not mean in the schools, declared the speaker. The schools should never be dispensers of propaganda of any kind. Education should serve and minister to the life and common welfare of the people. Ministering to life did not merely mean preparing the pupils to earn a living. If education had meant merely this, it was because people had demanded this objective—because they had believed that the chief aim of life should be to make a living. In the past people had thought too much along the lines of what education could give in dollars and cents.

Today people were living under constantly changing conditions. They thought it drastic when the working day was reduced to eight hours. Now they were told that, if they were to be absorbed into industrial employment, the working day must be still further shortened—perhaps even to four hours. Socialized education would help to solve this problem for it would prepare the future citizens to live life at its best, not only for the hours of labor but also for the whole day. It would produce intelligent and thinking citizens, trained for the work they were best adapted for and who would be capable of utilizing the free hours of the day in a way beneficial to themselves and of service to their fellowmen. If education were truly socialized it would be available for all citizens. No one capable of profiting by a higher education would be denied the right to attend High School or University. No parent would have to confess, as one did recently to the speaker, "It is not only a matter of paying fees, I couldn't send my children anyway for I am unable to provide them with clothes and books."

The time was surely coming, the speaker emphasized, when the way of education would be opened to everyone.

Fundamental Objectives
Socialized education had four fundamental objectives. First, it would provide special training for those useful occupations and vocations for which each pupil was best adapted. Secondly, it would liberate and train the mind of the individual. Pupils would not be forced to believe and think along certain lines but would be encouraged to question, weigh, and consider. Language and literature, mathematics, the sciences and the study of the evolution of the physical universe and of the forms of life would advance this second objective. For its third objective socialized education would have the imparting of social information to the end that students would be acquainted with the lives and customs of other peoples. Ignorance of other peoples led to isolation, prejudice and war. History, anthropology, politics, sociology, and ethics would form the core of the subjects which would further this objective. History would not be taught as propaganda, and would not have as its aim nationalism and the glorification of war. The historian would lay before the student not only the story of his own nation but of all nations and it would be laid before them as thinking intelligent people. They would know life as it was and life as it is. They would understand the problems, the culture, and the aspirations of other peoples and they would become better citizens of the world.

Governments lacked contact with the real life of the people. The war-mutilated soldiers were not present at the tables of the disarmament conferences; the destitute and workless were not present. In reality legislators and governments often had no real contact with the stern realities of the lives of the people. If they had, something worth while would be accomplished for peace and humanity.

Finally, socialized education would train the pupils to respond to the great social virtues of truth, beauty and goodness.

Such were the great objectives of a socialized education and these,

RELIEF FOR UNEMPLOYED

Condition of Local Single Men Being Placed Before Premier With Plea For Assistance

At a meeting of several hundred unemployed last night at the Canadian Labor Defence League Hall it was decided to send a telegram to Premier T. D. Pattullo drawing his attention to the serious situation which has arisen among some 175 local unemployed men who have been suffering for about a month now for want of substantial food after having been cut off relief following their refusal to proceed to the work camps in the south. A committee has been working on this matter for the past week and reported that it had obtained good results, the Prince Rupert Trades and Labor Council, Canadian Legion, Prince Rupert Retail Merchants' Association and other organizations having been interviewed. The unemployed realized that the new government could hardly be expected to get all the unemployed back at work for at least a year but urged that some immediate and more effective relief measures be invoked meantime.

A committee, of which Charles Chapman was spokesman, met Government Agent Norman A. Watt this afternoon with the demand that the men who had refused to go to the work camp be reinstated on relief.

ARMISTICE OBSERVED

Remembrance Day is Fittingly Observed at Stewart

STEWART, Nov. 16.—Remembrance Day was fittingly observed in Stewart, all activities being sponsored by the Stewart Branch, Canadian Legion. At 10 a.m. there was a short service in the Legion Hall conducted by the branch chaplain, O. N. Mansbridge and Rev. G. H. Moody. Following the service veterans paraded to the Cenotaph where many citizens also gathered and at 11 o'clock the two-minute silence was observed and wreaths were laid.

Throughout the day poppies were sold on the streets by wives and daughters of veterans, under the co-sponsorship of Mrs. S. G. Lawrence. Poppies were also supplied by the Stewart branch for sale at Hyder, B.C., Premier, Big Missouri mine and United Empire Gold and Silver Mines.

A large and very successful dance was held in the evening, James Morrice being chairman of the committee in charge.

FINANCING IMPROVED

Public Revenue of Britain Mounting—Balanced Budget and Tax Reductions Anticipated

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Revenue of the British government has been increasing recently on an average of $7,000,000 per week, it was revealed in the House of Commons yesterday.

It is predicted in authoritative quarters that it may be possible to at least nearly balance the next budget in addition to making some reductions in taxation.
