The miners had voted 264 to 222 against a strike last Wednesday but haulage crews, numbering 120, later protested that their case had not been given proper consideration, alleging that they were the lowest paid underground workers. They asked a five percent increase but were refused, whereupon the miners quit. Pump and maintenance men are continuing work.

Stevens Declares Big Interests Trying To Get Something On Him

Praises Newspapers in Toronto Address For Their Courage and Warns Government Against Policy of Drifting—Has no Ambitions

TORONTO, Nov. 6: (CP)—Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce, told newspapermen yesterday that "certain financial interests" had employed investigators, including a "known Detroit gangster," in an attempt to "get something on me." Mr. Stevens said that he had not taken the investigations seriously although "it's a fact that I was trailed all the time during my last two visits to this city."

Mr. Stevens said also that "certain Toronto interests" had sent investigators to Vancouver in an attempt to obtain damaging stories concerning his past.

Newspapers Praised

Addressing a large meeting here last night, Mr. Stevens returned to the price spreads and mass buying investigation. He praised the newspapers for publicity given the reports of the commission's proceedings and disclosed that his last official action as minister of trade and commerce had been a move to check evils he had found in industries engaged in mass buying. This was to sign ninety authorities to prosecute stores in Toronto for short weights and other practices.

Mr. Stevens again reiterated that he was not seeking the Conservative leadership. "I have no desire to embarrass any government," he said, "but I would solemnly warn them that a policy of drift in matters vitally concerning the welfare of tens of thousands cannot be tolerated. In business and industry the human equation must take precedence over profits."

TRADE WITH UNITED STATES

There is a growing movement in the United States and Canada today toward having the two countries enter into a trade agreement that will be beneficial to both. In this part of the country we could gain a great deal by a reciprocal arrangement. We have halibut to sell in the United States but we are handicapped by a two-cent duty. This duty does not benefit the American fisherman. He would get the same price for his product as he does now, if it were removed. We also have wood products that might be sold to a larger extent in the United States market. We have other products that the United States could take from us. On the other hand we want United States citrus fruits and early vegetables. We can buy other articles if the supply is not handicapped at the border.

Premier Bennett has shown some willingness to enter into an arrangement of the kind suggested because he has already been holding preliminary conversations in regard to the matter with the Roosevelt administration. The leader of the Liberals also is pledged to a reciprocal policy. Possibly we should press harder for what we need in order that our leaders may understand how we feel about it. On Friday of last week R. J. Magor, president of the Montreal Board of Trade, addressing the National Foreign Trade Council at New York said: "It is only sense that we, who are already so close, should at least try to keep and build up the trade we have with each other upon the basis not of mutual concessions but of mutual advantages."

TODAY'S ELECTION IN UNITED STATES

The election in the United States today will give some general idea as to how the people of that country are backing up the "New Deal" policy of President Roosevelt. That will be the most interesting feature of the count tonight. Another outstanding but much less important feature is the attitude the state of California will take toward Upton Sinclair, the Socialist-Democrat candidate for governorship. Sinclair is the author of many books tending to stir up class war. He has castigated every big interest in the country, religious or secular. He devoted a whole volume to the suggested misdoings of the press. He has been an extremist and extremists are always unfair. As he has grown older he has mellowed slightly. He admits that he has changed his mind on some subjects but he is still sufficiently advanced in his policy to be feared by those who have vested interests. Dire results have been predicted if he should be elected but that is simply political talk. It would be interesting to the rest of the world to note how Mr. Sinclair would act if elected and we rather hope he will have the opportunity to try some of his theories in practice.

Junior League—Scythians, 17; Boy Scouts, 8.
The Canadian National Recreation Association continued its losing streak by dropping the Senior League basketball game to the Grotto 36 to 44. It was just a case of the Grotto guards, J. Morrison and Stalker, holding off the trainmen while their two forwards went on a scoring spree to gather 32 points between them. Gurvich got 20 points and Morgan 12. The C. N. R. A. took an early lead at the start 8-2 but with seven minutes left of the first half, the Grotto started going to town. They stopped at the interval with a tie score of 13-all. In the second half the Grotto continued sinking them and, when the final gun went, the tobaccoists had an eight-point lead. It was just a basketball game and no more. It was fast in spots and ragged in others. The Grotto are favorites to win over the Moose on Thursday.

In the Ladies' League Annette's defeated the Grotettes 11-7 to continue their winning streak. Babs Beale was the outstanding player for Grotettes while the Morris sisters took the spotlight for Annette's.

In the second spasm play became fast with the students tying the score but Comadina and his battlers turned on the heat to win 24-18. The game was featured by "Nelly" Nelson's shooting. This lad garnered himself 16 points.

WHIFFLETS From the Waterfront

Bringing salmon packing operations in Prince Rupert district for the 1934 season to a close, the B. C. Packers plant at Namu in the central area has now finished packing. It was the last plant in the district to close down this year.

Eight halibut boats called at Ketchikan on Saturday last enroute from the banks to Seattle with their final catches of the season. Only one boat sold its catch there on Saturday.

Tomorrow will probably be the final market day for halibut this season on the local Fish Exchange. Up to last night, only two Canadian boats still remained to report with their last catches of the season, the Lysekil, Capt. Al Wole, and Signal Capt. Paddy Ivarson. Both should be in by tomorrow, possibly with a few of the last American boats. Yesterday was the largest market day here in some time, nine American boats disposing of 204,000 pounds; while one Canadian vessel, the Takla, was in with 34,000 pounds.

The United States coastguard cutter Chelan has been assigned to special duty in Alaskan waters to give assistance, if necessary, to any fishing vessels that may meet with difficulty during an anticipated storm at sea.

Union steamer Catala, Capt. A. E. Dickson, returned to port at 10 o'clock this morning from Anyox. Stewart and other northern points and sailed at 1:30 this afternoon for Vancouver and waypoints.

Northland Transportation Co.'s motorship Norco, Capt. Ekholm, left Ketchikan yesterday afternoon for Seattle and is not calling here southbound this trip.

Ocean Shipping Co.'s freighter City of Vancouver, which sailed from here three weeks ago last night for the Orient with timber cargo including aspen logs from Fraser Lake for China, arrived at Muroran, Japan at the end of the week, according to wireless advices received here.
