All the hospital board was asked for was permission to install the machine. The offer was conveyed to the board by S. D. Macdonald, president of the Trades & Labor Council and a member of the board.

This complaint is said to be quite prevalent in the mines of this district.

WATERFRONT WHIFFS

This Week's Sea Serpent Story—Atlantic Coast Has One Too—Fishermen's Earnings Again Under Discussion

Well! Well! Well! Here it is Saturday and what would our Waterfront Whiffs be without a "sea serpent story?" indeed, we believe, that our public demands it after a week's silence on the subject. So who could be better to come to the rescue than our good old friend Jimmy Farquhar, erstwhile well known and popular figure along our marine ways and now a member of the staff of the Surf Point mine at Porcher Island. Furthermore, good old Jimmy could be relied upon to make his contribution to this "sea serpent" episode both new and unique. Last week we were able to suggest how the much-discussed "snake" might have come to his doom as a result of the unerring aim of R. E. Legg, superintendent of the Surf Point mine with his trusty felloe. Now the Farquhar chapter. It seems that Jimmy, from his cottage at Surf Point, one day about a couple of months ago around the time that Mr. Legg got in his dirty work, heard on the shore of Henry island about two miles away from Surf Point across the mouth of Welcome Harbor a great commotion. There were groans and gasps such as might emanate from an enormous creature, possibly in his death throes but, in any case having a "helluva" time of it, as Jimmy might say. The finding of the skeleton recalled to Jimmy's mind his experience which he dismissed at the time as being of little, if any, interest. Now, of course, it becomes a matter of vital moment in the local marine epic.

The Farquhar tale was brought to the city this week by Mr. Legg who was here for a few days on business. Incidentally, Mr. Legg came in on a fish boat and, not far outside the harbor, he saw an enormous marine creature with a single fin on its back frisking in the sea. Maybe, Mrs. Rupisaurus has just come out of mourning and is beginning to feel herself following her sad bereavement. If she had known that Mr. Legg, the slayer of her spouse, was so close at hand, she might have tried to even up accounts. Look out Mr. Legg! The dragon may get you if you don't watch out!

The recent capture of a basking shark in a weir at Grand Manan, N.B., has been suggested as explaining the sighting of supposed sea serpents along the coasts of the Gulf of Maine and the Bay of Fundy. Atlantic fishermen now believe that the so-called sea serpents seen by various captains and sailors were in reality a number of basking sharks swimming in tandem with part of their backs and fins protruding from the water at short intervals and covering a distance of say ninety or possibly a hundred feet or more, thus quite vividly presenting the appearance of partly submerged serpentine coils of the far-famed fabulous sea snake. According to the Canadian Fisherman the idea that the basking sharks have been innocently masquerading as sea serpents is the most logical explanation regarding such supposed monsters that has ever been made.

Fishermen will probably disagree with figures which have been published in the east that British Columbia fishermen this year made anywhere from $100 to $5000 with an average of nearly $2000. One exchange which has come to hand says that off the West Coast of Vancouver Island and on the Queen Charlottes trollers are reported to have earned $2000 each while some estimate their season as high as $5000. Such figures are certainly not underestimating the case.

Home treatment with MUSTARD.....

Give your children mustard baths: nothing better for chills, colds and coughs! Mix one or two tablespoons of Colman's Mustard to a thin paste and add to a bath of steaming-hot water in a warm room. Let their little bodies soak 10 or 15 minutes. Dry them carefully, then pop them into bed and be sure they keep well tucked in. That will sweat the poisons out! Good for you, too, but you'll need 3 tablespoonsful of Colman's. Take mustard foot bath if more convenient.

CHECK OVER THIS LIST

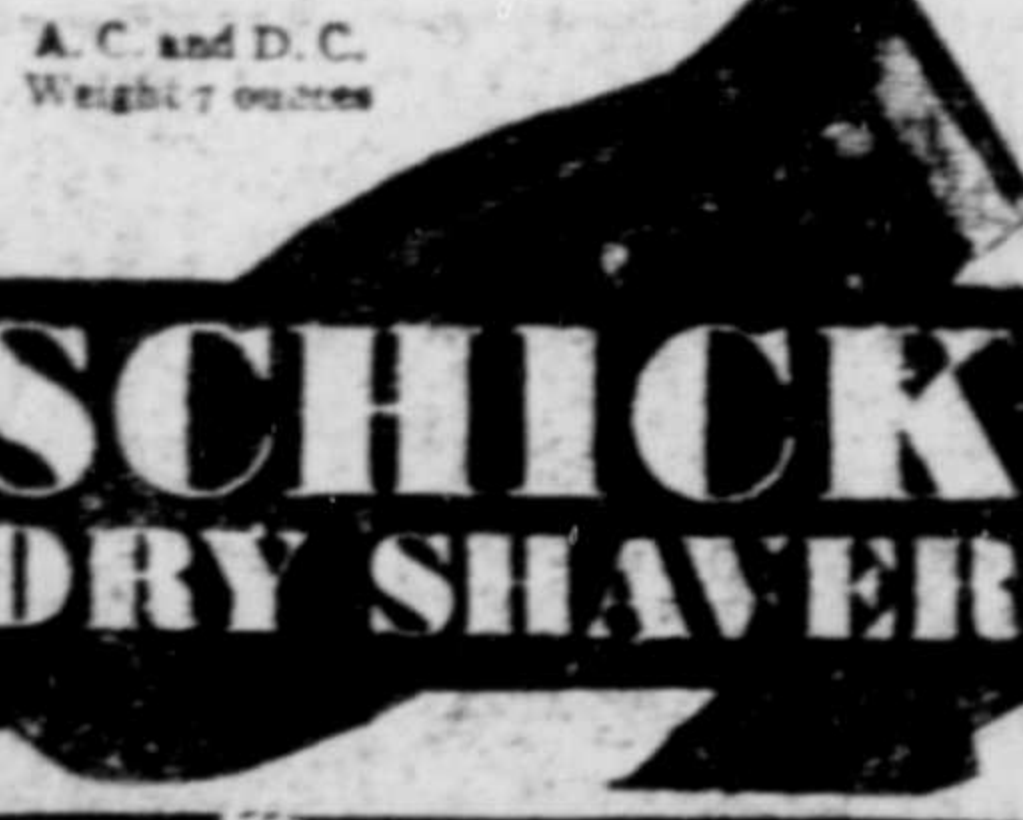

Even barbers are amazed

They laughed at the idea of a man getting a clean, close shave with a Schick Dry Shaver—no lather, no preparation whatever and no blades. Now their own eyes and fingertips convince them when a dry shaving customer comes in for a hair cut. You cannot cut yourself with a Dry Shaver. Tender faces do not smart under its cool gliding. It is economical too—no blades to buy, nothing to sharpen or renew.

Get a demonstration.
