GREAT BRITAIN THREATENS GERMANY WITH WAR

LITTLE LAD WAS LOYAL TO THE OLD UNION JACK

Curly Incident in the Sunset Glow on Sixth Street Last Night—Curly Headed Prince Rupert Baby Boy Refuses Four-bit Bribe to Strike His Colors.

Sixth street was warmly aglow with the soft evening sunshine streaming over the water about an o'clock last night. You could hear from the barber's shop you lay back luxuriously in the ornamental arm chair, the voices of the passersby, the men talking in the buildings or street grading, the ripple of girlish gossip, the merry chatter of the children. Suddenly a broad shadow fell past the sunlit window, a thrill of excited boyish laughter rang out as a curly-headed laddie bearing a huge red and dust Union Jack walked gleefully along.

Some Kid That was a veritable veteran flag, the standard bearer was such a little baby boy! His fair hair and the ruddy sunlight, his eyes sparkled. His happy voice rang out in the ever-unconquerable challenge of the world of Youth, and Hope, and Love, and Joy. All the men that were up as the laddie passed, and to the boy nature years cannot age out of the hearts of the best and strongest. "That is some kid, isn't he?" was the exclamation, and the barrier of the door made a jocular offer to the youngster.

Strike the Flag? Never!
Kid, I'll give you four to run round with the Stars and Stripes instead of that flag you got." The laddie paused. "You may have been too young to appreciate the imaginary terror of the Annexation Bogey. You may have been only the little boy sense that "A Union Jack in the hand is worth all the Stars and Stripes in the bush." He turned down the offer of royal disdain shaking his little head with all the indignation of the Canadian west. They tried to tell him it was a foreign flag, a Monarch flag, but no, no, he knew it was an old flag, a torn and a dusty flag, but by

COMETS WERE EXTINGUISHED BY QUILLDRIVERS TEAM

Final Match of Indoor Baseball League Was a Very One-Sided Affair—At Seventh Round the Game Ended with Score 69 to 3

Comets have tails. Prince Rupert Indoor Baseball Comets have a tale. It is a tale of woe. They met the Quill Drivers at the stadium last night in the second League series of indoor ball matches. At the seventh round the game was called off, for then was 69-3 in favor of the Pen Pushers. Nuff Said? The youngsters did their best, but the Comets are very boyish still, and thousand anxious to score, they are the weight and experience of the Quill Drivers' really capable. Their deficiency is one time will cure, and some of the boys who got so badly beaten will yet figure as formidable players in Rupert's First

PARLIAMENT STANDS UNITED "EMPRESS OF CHINA" IS NOW A TOTAL WRECK

(Canadian Press Despatch.) London, July 28.—The most pessimistic views regarding the acuteness of the Moroccan crisis were confirmed by Mr. Asquith in the House of Commons last night when he read from a manuscript which had been carefully prepared, a warning to Germany that Great Britain proposes to stand for what she considered are her rights, and to maintain the balance of power in Europe.

A further testimony of the gravity of the situation is given by the fact that the Prime Minister obviously had taken the leader of the opposition into the Government's confidence, for Mr. Balfour's declaration was no less firm than Premier Asquith's. Such plain speaking on a question so fraught with the possibilities of a great European war has not been heard in the British Parliament in many years. The outcome of the situation now appears to rest almost wholly on Germany's shoulders. The English newspapers are united in supporting the Government. They strongly urge that Germany be not permitted to make any African incursion that would seriously damage Great Britain's national interests.

(Canadian Press Despatch) London, July 28.—(Later)—All the papers give prominence this morning to the Morocco question. They say that owing to the strong statements issued by Premier Asquith and endorsed by Mr. Balfour, these will tend to have a peaceful effect. The Daily Chronicle, the Government organ, has authority to say that the international situation is easier today than it has been for some days, when peace was trembling in the balance. The Paris and Berlin papers express satisfaction at the tone of Mr. Asquith's speech which all claim opens the way to a peaceful settlement. Cause of the Trouble The Moroccan question is not a new one. It has agitated the powers of Europe and threatened to turn Europe into a battlefield for several years past. Morocco is the key to Africa from the Mediterranean. It is governed by a Sultan and a weak native government, and subject to constant internal troubles. Conflict of Jealousy The great European powers are in a conflict of jealousy lest any their number secure possession of Morocco and secure themselves there—such as for instance the way in which Russia obtained a foothold in Manchuria, or Great Britain in Egypt. Interests at Stake Especial rivalry exists between France and Germany. France is facing Morocco on the other side of the Mediterranean. She has a vital interest in seeing that her great rival does not secure possession of Morocco. Germany is ambitious commercially and territorially. She realises the strategic advantage of territory on the Mediterranean coast of Africa. And all of the great powers are alive to the commercial advantage of getting a foothold in Morocco, and of keeping out all rivals. Nearly War in 1906 In 1906 the question nearly led to war, owing to the intervention of France in Moroccan affairs being resented by Germany. Germany's threats over the Agadir incident led to the retirement of M. Delcasse from the French Foreign Office and a subsequent international agreement. Now Germany is the offender. To cap the list of grievances which France has against her, Germany three weeks ago sent a warship to Agadir. This move precipitated the whole question again. British Fleet Ready In the present dispute, Great Britain is in the attitude of backing up France in her resistance to German aggression. A British fleet has been in readiness since July 4th, so delicate has been the situation.

FOUND BODY ON BEACH WITH WOUND ON HEAD

Dead Body of "Old Geo.," the Crab Man, Discovered by Tom Collins—Suspensions of Foul Play are Aroused—Dead Man's Dog Kept Guard Over His Body Until Help Came—Provincial Police are Investigating the Matter.

With a bad bruise on his forehead, and every suspicion of having been done to death by foul play the body of the old crab-man, George Lichtnauer, was found lying dead in about two feet of water over on the beach at the mouth of McNicholl Creek across the harbor this morning, close by his cabin door. The body was taken out of the water, and found to have a mark as of a blow on the left temple. Blood streamed down the face, and was oozing from the eye and nostrils. The body had been about twenty-four hours in the water. Pathetic Scene When the police boat, closely followed by a "Daily News" special launch approached the drowned man, the miserable howling of a little squire terrier made the raising of the body still more pathetic. The poor little creature was wading out into the water trying to get as near as possible to its drowned master, but the water was too deep for it. The drowned man was clad in canvas trousers and a dark shirt. His hands were stretched out before him. A metal watch chain showed at his shirt breast. Reverently he was laid in a boat and left while the police went ashore to examine his shack. Food, Fresh Fish There On the beach in a crab boat close by the shack there was a sack of provisions evidently purchased only lately. Some canned goods were there and some fry bread. On a board at the door of the shack there lay a fresh flounder. It might have been caught less than a day ago.

DOCTOR SAW MAN'S SPIRIT AS IT LEFT DYING BODY

Dr. O'Donnell of Chicago Convinced That he Witnessed the Flight of Life—Is an Expert Student of Spirit Phenomena

(Canadian Press Despatch) Chicago, July 27.—That the flight of life from a human being has been witnessed, is the assertion tonight of Dr. Patrick S. O'Donnell, a famous X-Ray expert, who alleges that he actually witnessed the spirit leaving a dying man who was a patient in Mercy hospital. Dr. O'Donnell couples with his announcement an assertion that he believes that he has discovered what in fact constitutes the soul or spirit, at least the "electrical current" which controls the actions and movements of the body. Dr. O'Donnell already has surprised a score of Chicago physicians by demonstrating several experiments whereby the human aurora or electrical radiation was seen by the human eye. Several persons attended his demonstrations at Mercy hospital. Using a film of dicyanin and other chemicals, held between two small plates of glass, he seated together all the physicians admitted so that by looking through the screen they could distinguish the auras of the different subjects. The aura was shown as a strong radiation of light, surrounding the entire outline of the body and head. In carrying on these experiments Dr. O'Donnell has followed a discovery made by Dr. W. J. Killner of London. Satisfied that he had seen the human aura, Dr. O'Donnell conducted the experiment which he declares revealed to him the "flight of life."

Famous Pacific Liner Struck Submerged Rock While Going at Full Speed Outside Tokio Harbor—Japanese Warships Rescued Passengers and Mail—Feared Vessel is Total Loss.

(Canadian Press Despatch) Tokio, July 28.—The palatia C. P. R. steamer Empress of China, which for years has been famous on the Pacific Ocean was wrecked last evening outside Tokio harbor. She struck a submerged rock while streaming at full speed off the Nojimisaki Light, in rounding the southern point of Awa peninsula. May be Complete Wreck The liner was in-bound with a full list of passengers from Yokohama at the time she struck. Her bottom was torn open by the rocks, and she rapidly began to fill, but there was no panic on board. The crew and passengers behaved with splendid presence of mind and restraint. Warships to the Rescue The vessel's syren drew the attention of the Japanese cruisers Aso and Soya which were in the harbor at Tokio at the time. They immediately steamed to the assistance of the wrecked liner. Their boats and launches were quickly lowered and the Japanese sailors saved the lives of all the passengers together with the steamer's mail. The spot where the wreck occurred is a dangerous one. In the spring of 1907 the liner Dakota was wrecked close by. It is feared that the Empress of China will become a total loss. Even if repairs are possible, it will take at least three months to put her into commission again. Large Passenger List The passenger list was very large, and contained a great number of Vancouver people. Their names are not yet obtainable, but it is known that all are saved. The Empress of China left Vancouver for Japan on July 12th.

OBSTRUCTION IS STILL IN FORCE

Tactics may Result in Parliament Being Dissolved at Any Moment Now. (Canadian Press Despatch) Ottawa, July 28.—Another day devoted to an apparent obstruction by the Conservatives to the Government motion to proceed with the reciprocity proposals in the Commons has brought the inevitable dissolution of Parliament nearer. It may come now any time, possibly by Saturday and certainly not later than the end of next week.

Many additional deaths are expected.

"IN THE NAME OF IMPERIALISM"

The "tariff reformers" of Great Britain have sent word to the Conservative leaders at Ottawa to draw on them for a sum of half a million dollars to defeat reciprocity. The Conservative party is also expecting large sums of money from the opponents of reciprocity in the United States. This is the gist of the telegraphic despatches which came from Ottawa yesterday. They are worth probing into.

Half a million dollars is a great sum of money. It can do a lot of good—if rightly used. Incidentally, it can do a lot of harm if improperly used. What is the motive behind the act of the "tariff reformers" of Great Britain to prompt them to an act of such a kind? Is it a good motive, or a bad motive?

It can hardly be philanthropy. No philanthropist would send money from Great Britain to Canada. In England there are slum areas to abolish, child labor industries to root out, countless thousands of aged and infirm and unfit to be cared for. It cannot be philanthropy.

It cannot be political idealism, for there are ancient wrongs and iniquities enough in Great Britain to spend money upon in combatting.

Who are the "tariff reformers" in England? They are not tariff reformers at all. There is no commercial tariff to reform. England is a free trade country.

The "tariff reformers" in Great Britain are really "tariff de-formers." They are chiefly manufacturers and capitalists, who, are anxious to have a tariff instituted in Great Britain, in order to supplement their legitimate profits with the illegitimate profits which a tariff makes possible.

They are so anxious to help the progress of the iniquitous tariff system, in the hope that it will be extended to Great Britain, that they are ready to invest half a million dollars in their effort to prevent the Government of Canada from removing the taxes on food products. And this is done in the name of Imperialism? —? —?

Reciprocity is merely a proposal to remove the taxes from the food products of Canada and the United States. Its object is to reduce the high cost of living by removing the taxes from food. It is a purely domestic piece of business between the people of Canada and the people of the United States. It is being contested by a portion of the Conservative party of Canada for political reasons, with money supplied by Canadian manufacturers who get inflated profits under the tariff, by United States interests which fatten on illegal profits under the tariff, and the British "tariff reformers" who hope some day to join their companions at the swill tub of tariff-wrangling extortions.

If the Conservative leaders at Ottawa had a sense of national spirit, they would throw the tainted money of the United States grafters and of the British tariff de-formers in their faces, and tell them to devote it to undoing some of the wrongs in their own countries.

This combination of United States plutocracy and British gold to defeat the efforts of the Government of Canada to legislate for the best interests of the people of Canada, should enlighten the eyes of the people to the nature of the opposition that is being made against the reciprocal proposal to abolish food-taxes.

GOVERNMENTAL CARE OF HEALTH

In the social work of applying the laws of hygiene and sanitation, municipal, state and national governments must all take a hand. Each has a different function to perform.

To the municipality falls the task of providing for its citizens clean air, clean water, clean milk, clean streets, clean houses, and protection from infectious diseases. This implies abolition of the smoke nuisance, the closing of the sewers, prompt removal of the garbage, adequate cleaning of the streets, enforcement of ordinances against spitting, maintenance of an absolutely pure water supply, inspection of meat, milk and other foods, enactment and enforcement of strict building laws, publication and isolation of infectious disease, support of bacteriological laboratories, distribution and administration of anti-toxin and vaccine, free medical service, and above all, regular inspection and free treatment for the children in the public schools.

To the state falls the duty of seeing that the vital resources of the nation are not sapped at the root through child labor and the industrial employment of prospective and nursing mothers, or wasted by the subjection of its adult citizens to unphysiological hours of labor or conditions in mine, shop or factory.

The function of national governments is to prevent the importation of disease, through strict quarantine at all ports of entry, and the transfer of disease from one state to another, through strict supervision of all inter-state carriers; to disseminate information on every point pertaining to the vitality of the people; and to collect and tabulate vital statistics—a most important branch of the work of conservation which is at present sadly neglected.—(F. M. Bjorkman in "The World's Work" Magazine.)

LIVE PICTURE ARTIST'S PLAN

Will not Arrive until Wednesday Next in Order that He May Secure Picture of Both Prince George and Prince Rupert at Sea.

All Prince Rupert must pray for three months spell of superb summer sunshine to last long into the fall. There is every reason to believe it will say the old timers. But there is a special reason to hope that it will be as fine on Wednesday next as it has been for many Wednesdays past. W. H. Harbeck, the long hoped for cinematograph specialist whose beautiful work shown by Dr. Slocum was so much admired, will arrive on Wednesday 2nd August. He was expected by the Prince George tomorrow, but has altered his plans in order that he may have an opportunity of taking a moving picture of both the George and the Rupert at the particular point where they will pass each other on their north and south trips next week.

INTEREST DUE FOR 450 YEARS

Doubts Thrown on Right of Great Britain to the Orkney and Shetland Isles.

Doubts are cast upon the British ownership of the Orkney and Shetland Isles. The islands, may, in fact, only belong to Great Britain in the sense that a pawned watch belongs to the pawnbroker. At the opening of the Norse Gallery in the Scottish Exhibition in Glasgow, Lord Salvesen said that, speaking as a lawyer, he was not quite sure whether the islands do not belong to Norway still. He is fortified by very high authority in the opinion that the crown of Norway, if prepared to pay the money for which they were pledged, with interest, would be entitled to redeem them. Plenipotentiaries assembled at Buda in 1668 decided not only that the right of redemption had not been barred by the lapse of time, but that it was imprescribable. The islands were pledged to the Scottish crown in 1468, so that interest is now due for nearly four and a half centuries.

ALBERTANS AND B.C. WEATHER

Chuckling Because They Think We Have Hot and Mosquito Infested Tracts in B. C.

The Alberta Press is chuckling over this wire which hails from Vancouver and says:

"Up in the interior the table-land of British Columbia, the weather is so hot that it is breaking records, while on the lower mainland the mosquitoes are so plentiful that they are seriously interfering with hay making operations. One saw-mill forty miles up country from Vancouver, was forced to close down last week for two days on account of mosquitoes, and surveyors for the Canadian Northern, though protected by gloves and nets, were forced to stop work. In Kamloops the thermometer stood around 106 in the shade.

Meanwhile Prince Rupert continues to enjoy fine weather—cool, sunny—summer to perfection.
