MALAHAT REFLOATS

Auxiliary Schooner is Somewhat Damaged in Stranding on Holland Rock But Can Navigate Herself

Going South

Went Up in Dense Fog Early Yesterday Morning But Was Freed Early This Morning

Following her stranding in a dense fog early Friday morning near Holland Rock light about nine miles outside of Prince Rupert, the Vancouver auxiliary schooner Malahat, laden with aspen logs which she had taken here for delivery to Vancouver whence they are to be trans-shipped to the Orient, was refloated during the night with the assistance of a power vessel and returned to port about 6 o'clock this morning.

The Malahat, which had been in port since early in the week loading the logs, sailed at 5 o'clock yesterday morning for Vancouver. Soon after her departure a heavy fog came up and in this she evidently went off her course. The stranding occurred at 7 a.m. very close to and just west of the Holland Rock light. The vessel ran up at a slow rate of speed and held to an even keel.

After the vessel failed to refloat herself, a party of members of the crew was sent ashore by rowboat and came to Prince Rupert for assistance, arriving here at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Capt. W. P. Armour, manager of the Armour Salvage Co., immediately proceeded to the scene with the Salvage Princess, steam being ordered up in the meantime in the former trawler G. E. Foster, now the property of the Armour Salvage Co., with a view to going out and assisting in pulling the Malahat off on the high tide this morning. The vessel was able to free herself at 5 a.m. today without the assistance of the Foster, the Salvage Princess giving her a pull. The after tanks were flooded.

NO FISH SALES

No boats being in with catches, there was no sale of halibut on the local Fish Exchange this morning. The Canadian boat Sea Maid, which held over from yesterday with 22,000 pounds, left for Butedale, having sold to the Atlin Fisheries for delivery there at 5 1/2c. and 4 1/2c.

No bidders being on hand, the sheriff's sale of the famous Engineer mine in the Atlin district, set for yesterday afternoon, was further postponed until June 20. The sale has already been postponed on several occasions for apparent lack of interest on the part of bidders.

Being short of money he went trapping this spring in Jasper Park without a license and was caught by police. When his fingerprints were taken they showed he was the man known as Frank Grigware, who is alleged to have robbed an Omaha train 24 years ago.

The ABC's of Gardening

A number of local gardeners have their gladiolus bulbs planted and a few report them growing above ground. It is quite safe to plant them now as they stand considerable frost.

Nasturtiums may be sown but it seems a little early to set out plants although it is possible they may be safe. There is little to gain by setting out seedlings at this time as there is always danger of frost for a month yet. If dahlias are planted they should be covered on cold nights when the shoots come through the ground.

W. M. Brown has a fine showing of daffodils on either side of his front garden walk. His hyacinths in the same borders add a touch of variety that is very pleasing. Many visitors make complimentary remarks in regard to this display.

YOUNG FOLK ENTERTAIN

Variety Show at Stewart Last Saturday Evening Proved Very Popular

STEWART, April 21:—On Saturday evening the Junior Section of the Stewart Branch, Canadian Legion, staged a variety entertainment in the Canadian Legion Hall in aid of the Stewart Hospital. The audience was agreeably surprised. It expected just a "kid show" but got one hundred minutes of first class entertainment. The young people, none of whom have reached the age of twenty, staged a continuous performance, consisting of three short plays and intermission numbers. The overture and some of the intermission numbers were played by a three-piece orchestra consisting of Miss Dorothy McCarthy, Ernest Love and William Cameron. During one intermission Reg. Crozier, accompanied by Harry Wilkinson on the guitar, sang "Twenty-One Years," "Cross-Eyed Sue" and "Smoky Mountain Bill." Reg. had a very fine line of humorous patter with these songs and was enthusiastically applauded throughout. During the second intermission, Reg. Crozier and Dick Traverser staged a black-face dialogue, "Rastus and Mandy," written by themselves and staged with a real professional touch.

The first play was "Do Your Worst," a burlesque on the old-time melodrama, in which the villain, who holds the mortgage over the poor old father's head, tries to force the daughter to marry him, only to be foiled by the saintly hero. All the players appreciated the value of their parts and turned in a smooth performance which many an adult amateur cast might well emulate. Taking part were Miss Tessie Rennie, as the heroine, Victor Bouzek, as the old father, Joseph Bouzek, as the hero, William Cameron, as the villain, and Miss Mary Stewart, as the villain's stealthy sister.

"Molly O'Brien, Detective," the second play, was a finished performance, well staged and convincingly acted. In this play Miss Dorothy McCarthy, as Molly O'Brien, the lady detective, masqueraded as a burglar and eventually got into the confidence of the gentleman crook, played by Joseph Bouzek. They were both held up by the hotel detective, played by William Cameron, who relieved them of the loot and proved to be a crook himself. However, Molly O'Brien outwitted both crooks and, with the aid of a burly policeman (Ernest Love), took both into custody. All the players gave very realistic performances of difficult characters.

The final number, a skit entitled "And the Lamp Went Out," was a novelty. Miss Dorothy McCarthy read a few pages from a sensational "dime novel" type of story, and the players, in dumb show, carried out the actions literally. For instance the man who "turned a little pale" picked up a small pall and turned it. The character who "swept into the room" did so—with a broom. When the "thermometer rose rapidly" the thermometer did just that. It slid up the wall and through the ceiling. The players were Joseph Bouzek, Victor Bouzek, Ernest Love and William Cameron. Another player was Master Denis Heinekey. The audience did not see him. He was concealed under the table but, when the reader came to "The lamp went out," lamp, table and all left the room.

The whole performance was staged as a radio studio, with Joseph Bouzek as announcer, and the numbers were "sponsored" by local merchants, which gave the announcer opportunity to put over several good local wise cracks. A tremendous amount of work was done by Joseph Bouzek, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Junior Legion, who was in charge of the production. Edward T. Applewhite, secretary of the senior branch, assisted with the sound effects and staging.

Campbell's Team Wins Softball

Lindsay and His Crew Taken Into Camp in High School League

In a heavy hitting, free-for-all High School softball game yesterday, Campbell's team took Lindsay and his crew into camp to the tune of 7 to 4. It was a slugging affair from beginning to end with Naylor emerging the victor. His circuit clout in the second stanza and three-bagger in the fourth and Orme's three-bagger were the highlights of the game. Lindsay almost squared accounts when he attempted to stretch a three base hit into a homer, but was thrown out at the plate.

Lindsay and Postulo were best for Lindsay. Campbell, Houston and Naylor starred for the victors. Ernie Santerbane was umpire, and Pat Palmer, scorer and reporter.

NEWS OF THE MINES

New Financing For Jessie Gold—Equipment From Dolly Varden to United Empire—Premier And B. C. Silver

Financing arrangements have been completed by L. S. McGill, manager of the Jessie Gold Mines Limited, with a view to completing the adit tunnel on the 400 foot level and to run a further drift tunnel at lower depth on three strong veins of gold-bearing ores which were previously opened up on the surface and which have now been proven underground with increasing gold values and greater ore widths than on the surface. Jessie Gold, situated on Hudson Bay Mountain overlooking the town of Smithers, has long been regarded as a most promising property of outstanding merit. Some day it is expected it will be an important producer.

The steamer Catala, on its voyage this week, took from Alice Arm to Stewart a quantity of equipment from the Dolly Varden mine which is to be used on the United Empire property at Stewart where an aerial tram is being installed. The shipping of the equipment was personally superintended by William Dann, superintendent of the United Empire mine.

In regard to the much discussed possibility of the Premier Gold Mining Co., in view of diminishing reserves in its own property, taking over the operation of the adjoining

Almost Instant Relief From Neuralgia

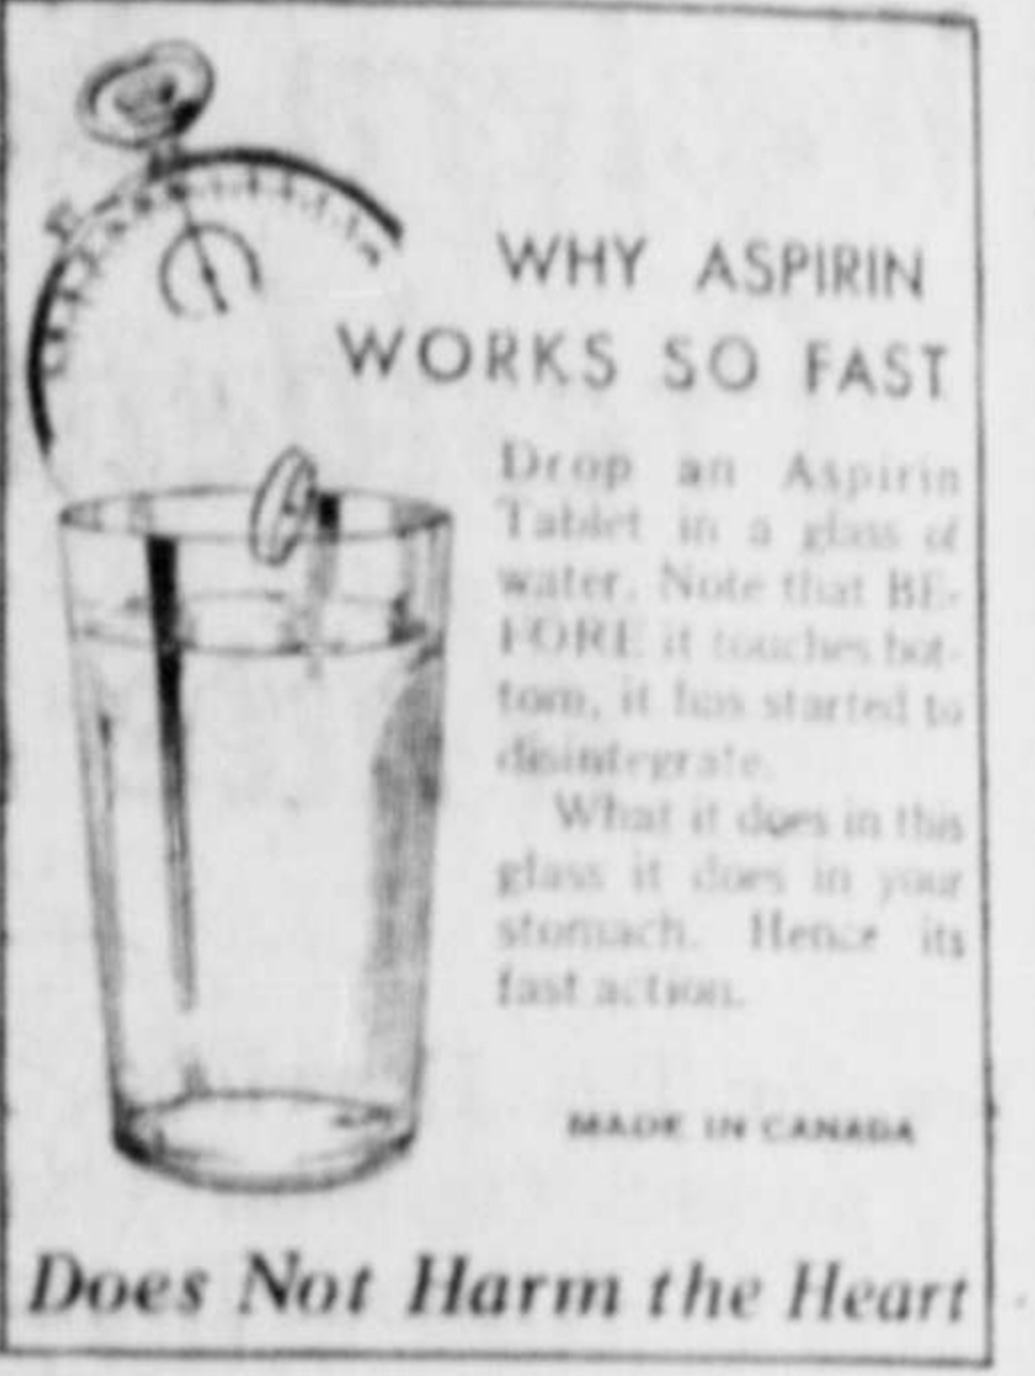

For Quick Relief Say ASPIRIN When You Buy

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia... the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And thus is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN'S quick relief, be sure the name Bayer is the form of a cross is on every tablet of Aspirin.

Supper Carnival Enjoyable Event

Fun, Food and Frolic Featured at Function Last Night

Fun, food and frolic were featured at the supper carnival in First United Church last night. Many people enjoyed a supper such as only the Ladies' Aid can prepare, the specialty being waffles. Several reels of moving pictures were shown three times during the evening.

Peals of laughter came from the House of Many Wonders as the older folk saw Prisoner No. 432 in a mirror and themselves as they thought they were. The Old Curiosity Shop contained samples of handiwork of different nations and the previous century such as an intricately made dress and a fringed parasol that looked like a modern lamp shade.

The children and grown-ups tried their skill at shooting and tossing the rings, then stalked around with canes and noise makers as their reward.

Altogether the affair was considered successful for this time of the year.

Halibut Landings Are Increased—Trollers Getting Busy—Nelson Bros. Plans

Despite the fact that fishing operations were a full month later in starting this year, halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the 1934 season up to and including yesterday had reached a total of 2,878,765 pounds which was but little more than 200,000 pounds below the landings of the 1933 season up to a similar date totalling 3,106,000 pounds. Indeed, Canadian landings for this season to date are well ahead of last year, having reached a total of 1,540,365 pounds in comparison with 1,230,700 pounds. The American total for this year to date is 1,338,400 pounds as against 1,875,300 pounds last year. The decrease in American landings is largely due to the fact that, longer tie-ups between trips having been agreed upon under production code arrangement many of the larger United States vessels which formerly landed their catches at Prince Rupert and hurried out to the fishing grounds again are now running through to their home ports in Puget Sound to land their catches and spend the lay-up time at home. This condition may be expected to continue throughout the season and will, no doubt, result in continued lessened American landings at the port this year. It is not all a loss as far as the port of Prince Rupert is concerned, however, for most of the American vessels still call here on their way to the banks to take on bait and ice.

During the week ending yesterday landings were well up to average, totalling 459,000 pounds of which 258,000 pounds was brought in by twenty-one Canadian boats and 201,000 pounds by thirteen American vessels. The high price of the week for American fish was 7.6c and 6c received by the Alki for 8,000 pounds and the low 6c and 5c paid the Wabash for 6,000 pounds. For Canadian fish the top price of the week was 5.3c and 4.2c which the Helen II was paid for 10,000 pounds and the low 5c and 4c which several boats received.

Capt. Joe Kipp, after having spent the winter in Vancouver, reached Prince Rupert this week with his packer Mary Rita which he will use this season in packing salmon for the Atlin Fisheries plant at Prince Rupert. Last year, with a different boat, Capt. Kipp was packing in northern waters for Nelson Bros. Fisheries Limited.

Reports are current along the "front" that Nelson Bros. Fisheries Limited, which is now operating the Tucks Inlet reduction plant at Prince Rupert, plans a rather extensive expansion of its operations in connection with the fisheries in the vicinity of this port. Richard Nelson, secretary-treasurer of the company, was recently a visitor here but he refused to be drawn out when questioned as to what plans the company might have in contemplation.

R. G. Johnston, manager of Inverness cannery and veteran Skeena River canneryman, is now starting upon his fiftieth season in the game. The years seem to fall lightly upon the highly popular "Bob," who is known as one of the most persistently successful operators in the canning industry. After having spent the winter in Victoria, he returned north a couple of weeks ago and paid his first visit of the year to town last Saturday. He was also in again yesterday, arriving from the river in the morning on the Inverness cannery service boat Provincial and returning to the cannery on last evening's train.

Trolling Season Starting

The advent of warm and sunny spring weather this week has attracted quite a few vessels of the Prince Rupert trolling fleet out to the fishing grounds for the first time this season, a definite improvement in the run of fish being reported in such waters as those of Warke Canal and Dundas and Stephens Islands. Packing services are also being inaugurated and it is expected that troll fishing will soon be in full progress. Capt. John Clausen, having already started, will be operating packing services from Warke Canal, Dundas and Stephens Islands this year with camps at each point. He will have three packers, the Ada S., Elmer C. and Rap I. in service. So far the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. has only the one packer Chief Legale in operation to Dundas Island, where the camp scow was established this week, but it is expected other vessels of the company pack-

Found No Herring

Gammon & Watt's seineboat Zenardi returned to port yesterday from a herring prospecting trip in waters down the coast as far as Milbank Sound. The herring run seems to have pretty well petered out for the season now.

Canning of butter clams in the southern part of the Queen Charlotte Islands, British Columbia, has been undertaken this year for the first time. A large bed of these clams is reported at Burnaby Narrows. Previous clam canning in the Queen Charlottes had been restricted to a northern district.

A party of members of the Khtada Fishing Club will be leaving tonight aboard Dr. L. W. Kerlin's power cruiser Aledor, George Bryant's Harla and Dr. R. G. Large's Neurus for Khtada Lake, taking in the three skiffs which are to be placed on the lake for use of members of the new local angling organization. The boats, which were built by Alex Wylie at Seal Cove, have been ready at the floats of the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club for the past couple of weeks. They will be carried in over the trail to the lake. The party expects to return to port tomorrow night.

Again delayed by having heavy freights to discharge at cannery points along the coast, Union steamer Cardena, Capt. Ernest Georgeson, arrived in port at 8:45 this morning from the south, several hours behind schedule. The vessel sailed a couple of hours following arrival on her return to Vancouver and waypoints. Coming out of Vancouver the Cardena had a capacity passenger list and freight cargo. Included in the passengers were Dan McPherson, manager of Porcher Island cannery, which will be operated by the Canadian Fishing Co. this season as a fishing camp; C. E. Salter, manager of Haysport Cannery, crew, and A. D. Matheson, manager of Carlisle Cannery, and crew.

John Dybhavn, president of general manager of the Mias Cannery, left yesterday aboard the company's service boat Jodel, Capt. Johnny Hartlin, for a trip to the cannery at Old Mass which the company has decided to operate this year again. Mr. Dybhavn expects to return home tomorrow.
