TWO GOOD PICTURES

"Design For Living" and "Love Birds" at Capitol Theatre

"Design For Living," a unique and absorbing Noel Coward story with Fredric March, Gary Cooper, Miriam Hopkins and Edward Everett Horton in the leading roles, and a rollicking comedy "Love Birds," starring the popular team of Zasu Pitts and Slim Summerville, come to the Capitol Theatre here at the first of this week on an interesting double bill.

"Design For Living," a comedy-drama, reveals the strange love affair when an American girl falls in with two young musketeers of art, life-long friends, in the Latin quarter of Paris, the principals resigning themselves to whatever joys, jealousies and agonies may result from a three-cornered love. Meantime, the girl marries another, only to leave him when she finds she has made a mistake.

"Love Birds" finds Summerville and Pitts as bitter enemies buying the same California ranch through a swindling real estate agent. A gold rush occurs to the property which was at first thought worthless and Slim and Zasu have numerous hilarious experiences.

A. Iverson sailed Saturday evening on the Prince Rupert for a months' vacation trip south. He will meet Mrs. Iverson, who has
