P. T. ASS'N RESUMES

"How to Study" Subject of Interesting Address by Frank Charnley

The first regular meeting of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers Association since the summer vacation was held last night in the Borden Street School with Mrs. D. C. Stuart presiding.

Following the business meeting and musical program, F. Charnley, member of the scientific staff of the Prince Rupert Fisheries Experimental Station, gave an address of great interest to parents and teachers on the subject "How to Study." At the outset Mr. Charnley briefly considered the human body as a behaving organism and described, by means of diagrams and examples, the receiving, connecting, and reacting mechanisms. Study and learning were intimately related to the laws and principles of psychology. The first great principle was that all learning was reacting. Mr. Charnley next defined and elaborated the most important of the laws of learning. These were: The Law of Use, The Law of Disuse, The Law of Effect, and the Law of Association. Tracing the learning process from the simpler forms of sensory-motor learning up to the higher and more complex thought and reasoning processes, the speaker showed how these great laws were involved in all learning processes. Interesting examples were given of how these laws were specifically applied to the teaching and learning of such subjects as writing, spelling, memorizing and problem solving. The importance of the principle of intelligent use was emphasized in the learning of spelling and in the acquisition of the vocabulary of a foreign language.

Certain economical methods of study which resulted in greater permanence of recall, and, consequently, in the improvement of learning were explained and elaborated. Such methods were: learning by wholes or by large units in preference to part learning or learning by small units; spaced practice periods in preference to unspaced periods; part of the study period given to recall by recitation in preference to devoting the whole time to reading.

EDUCATION DISCUSSED

Roth Gordon M.A. of High School Staff is Speaker Before Rotary Club Today

Stressing the desirability of equal educational opportunity for all regardless of the classification or size of community, Roth Gordon of the teaching staff of King Edward High School was an interesting speaker before the regular weekly luncheon of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club in the Commodore Cafe today, his subject being "Secondary Education in Small Communities." Mr. Gordon summarized for the benefit of his listeners a thesis on the basis of which he had obtained his Master of Arts degree, describing conditions in British Columbia. Results of a questionnaire which had been sent to school boards and principals were disclosed and statistics obtained from year books and other sources were referred to.

After describing educational conditions as they exist today, Mr. Gordon offered suggestions for reorganization and improvements.

The speaker distinguished between urban and rural schools, dividing communities for the purpose of his discourse into three classes—rural, communities with high schools of from one to four rooms; semi-rural, with from five to ten rooms, and urban, with over ten rooms of which there were only three in British Columbia—Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster.

J. J. Little, president of the club, was in the chair and thanked Mr. Gordon at the end of his address.

NOME'S PLIGHT AFTER FIRE

Fire at any time is a grim and unwelcome visitor. Those who have suffered through visitation from the Red Demon can best appreciate the plight of the people of the historic gold town of Nome which was all but razed by a disastrous conflagration on Monday. The situation is made the worse by the fact that winter is about to lay its grasp on that far north port and, inside of six weeks, navigation will close, restricting to great extent the possibilities of relief. Even for the very near future supplies are scarce in view of the whole settlement, with its stores and supplies, being virtually wiped out. People of the north and of the frontiers will sympathize with the stricken population of Nome.

The following will represent the Regiment in the football game this evening against a team from H. M. C. S. Skeena and Vancouver: Morgan; Murray, Davies; Veitch, Edgumbe, Wingham; Wilson, Lindsay, Mitchell, H. Dickens; spares, Ferguson and Carroll.

Junior football is on the schedule for Saturday afternoon when Booth Memorial and Borden Street Schools meet in the first game of the fall schedule. Both teams have lost some of last year's players who have gone to High School so there will be new players on both sides. It is hoped that as many as possible of the parents and friends of the boys will be on hand. It should not be necessary to remind the senior footballers and football supporters that they should give the rising generation every encouragement and support by attending the games.

P. T. ASSOCIATION RESUMES

tion of how to reason out and solve a problem Mr. Charnley concluded by stressing the interesting and optimistic truth that the capacity for learning was still high throughout middle age and might remain so even into old age. Titian, Michelangelo, Leonardo da Vinci, Cato, Plutarch, Tennyson and many other famous men executed some of their best books when past three score years and ten.

A hearty vote of thanks was accorded Mr. Charnley for his most interesting and useful address.

Business Period

During the business period prior to the address it was decided to grant the sum of five dollars to each of the Borden Street, Booth Memorial and King Edward Schools for the purchase of reference books. A telephone bridge was arranged to take place on October 19.

During the evening Roi Judge very beautifully sang two solos and Miss Elizabeth Currie rendered several banjo selections.

The meeting closed by the singing of the National Anthem after which refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

To you who love your canary

You have a little feathered friend who will cheer your home with his song and his sprightly antics. Will you be thoughtful—will you feed him right?

Do you know that for nearly 40 years, we have been specializing on Bird Seed—searching the world and sending thousands of miles away to bring to cage birds in Canada the very best of seed. Then we clean it of every particle of dust or chaff—and blend it just right for a balanced diet to keep your bird in health and plumage and song.

If you love your bird, don't experiment on him. Don't give him any old seed "supposed to be" good for birds. Don't give him so-called diets. (You wouldn't give your own healthy children medicine and strong tonics every day!)

and, of course, your bird needs Brocks Gravel!

Dick has no teeth so he picks up gravel to help grind his food—also gravel keeps his feet and claws in good condition. Brocks is the finest, cleanest, silver, sea-washed quartz. Say "Brocks, please".

Fine Run of Cohoes on Skeena River—Princess Louise in Today—Tanker Imperial Calls.

An unusually good run of cohoes on the Skeena River for this time of year is reported. Five hundred gillnetters are engaged in fishing and are reported to be catching from twenty up to over one hundred fish per boat with numerous boats getting around 60 to 75 fish. Taking into account prices of 43c and 45c per fish, this makes profitable fishing. Two canneries—Inverness and Oceanic—are still in operation on the Skeena River with Sunnyside, although closed itself, taking all the fish it can obtain for delivery to Namu cannery down the coast. The run of chums is still light with pinks over except for an occasional fish.

On a regularly scheduled voyage to Skagway and other Alaska points, C. P. R. steamer Princess Louise, Capt. Thomas Cliff, arrived in port at 8:45 this morning from Vancouver and sailed at 11 a.m. for the north whence she is scheduled to call here next Monday afternoon southbound. The vessel had only 32 passengers aboard of whom three disembarked here while thirteen went north from here aboard her.

Imperial Oil Co.'s tanker Imperial, Capt. Alex Geddes, arrived in port at 9:30 yesterday morning from Iloco via Ocean Falls with fuel for the company's local tanks and, after discharging, sailed on her return south via Ucluelet, West Coast of Vancouver Island.

With a cargo of general freight for local delivery, freighter Salvor, Capt. A. Georgeson, has been in port for a couple of days, having arrived from Vancouver on Tuesday.

Mickey Burns, for drunkenness, was fined $25, with option of seven days' imprisonment, in city police court yesterday.
