The tragedy was recorded in a dispatch to the Daily News last week. Tremblay, who was known to be a sufferer from heart trouble, was crossing the Peace River on his swimming horse. The animal was seen to lurch and Tremblay was thrown in the river. Dragging operations have so far failed in recovering the body.

British Columbia Will Run Her Own Show if Federal Government Refuses to Collaborate, Provincial Prime Minister Says in Montreal

MONTREAL, May 4: (CP)—"If Mr. Bennett and I do not agree and the Dominion government does not collaborate with the British Columbia government, then British Columbia will run her own show," declared Premier T. D. Pattullo of British Columbia in an interview here Thursday following his arrival from Ottawa. He deprecated the publication of letters exchanged between Mr. Bennett and himself and the inferences which in certain quarters had been drawn from the exchange.

"I have been in Ottawa negotiating with Mr. Bennett and the negotiations are still open," said Premier Pattullo. "I was astounded to find Mr. Bennett's letter published. By the time it had reached me, it was on the streets of Vancouver. If this letter had not been published my reply would not have been and a definite statement would have been made at the close of the negotiations. Meantime, any inference is premature."

A scene of utter desolation on the site of the village of Tafjord, Norway, where fifty-seven persons were drowned when a huge crag, weighing thousands of tons, fell into the sea on April 7, and caused gigantic waves that trapped sleeping residents of Tafjord and Fjoraa, on opposite sides of the Korsnaes Fjord. The splintered ruins shown in the picture represent all that remained of six homes in Tafjord. Note the boat (left) washed up by huge waves.

Messages From Foundering Childar Do Not Indicate Whether or Not There Has Been Loss of Life

PORTLAND, May 4: (CP)—The Norwegian motorship Childar, with a crew of thirty, outward bound for South Africa ports, struck the north spit at the mouth of the Columbia River at 7 o'clock this morning with a fifty-mile gale raging and sent out calls for help. The Childar had loaded cargo at New Westminster and Vancouver, sailing from here last Saturday.

BOUNDARY DISPUTES

Historical Address by Mr. Justice Robertson Interests Joint Luncheon
 Mr. Justice Harold Robertson, at the joint luncheon of the Rotary Club and the Women's Canadian Club yesterday, gave a very interesting and instructive review of the boundary problems and disputes which have had to be settled between United States and Canada. He told of the first and second Treaties of Paris and later of the Ashburton Treaty.

He mentioned the manipulations which gave Louisiana to Spain and enabled that country to sell it to United States for twelve million dollars.

The Hudson Bay territory was granted to the Company of Merchant Adventurers in the time of King Charles through the influence of his cousin, Prince Rupert, and this had had an influence on the deciding of the boundary at a later date.

DAMAGE BY HIGH WATER

Main Interior Road Between Telkwa and Endako Closed—Engineer Back From Interior

Pending the making of repairs to high water damage which has made the road impassable for traffic at a number of points, the main central interior highway between Telkwa and Endako has been closed but will probably be opened within a few days, it is stated by J. C. Brady, district engineer for the provincial department of public works, who returned to the city on yesterday morning's delayed train from a trip up the line as far as Telkwa on official business. Under the recent reorganization of the official personnel of the department, Omineca electoral riding is added to Mr. Brady's jurisdiction and he was met at Telkwa by Fergus Park of Vanderhoof, road superintendent for Omineca, who has been engaged in a survey of the damage caused to the highway in his district. Approaches to the Buck River bridge near Houston were washed away, some culverts were swept out and wash-outs of more or less extent on the main highway on account of the exceptionally high water which came fully a month ahead of the usual time this spring.

The road from Telkwa to the Bulkley Valley coal mine has also been blocked by a slide for some time as a result of which it has been impossible to move out coal for shipment. Repairs are being immediately made.

Mr. Brady reports satisfactory progress being made on the replanking of the big bridge across the Skeena River at Terrace and the rebuilding of the Delkatha bridge near Massett. Creosoted piles are being installed in the latter to prevent the inroads of terebrator.

J. E. Sayers, who has been here on business in connection with the uniforms of local Canadian National Railway employees, sailed by the Prince George last night on his return to Vancouver.

COURT IS GOING ON

Interior Civil Action Proceeding at Supreme Court Sessions Here

There were no opening amenities apart from the usual procedure when the spring session of the Supreme Court Assizes opened here yesterday before Mr. Justice Harold Robertson of Victoria, latest appointee to the bench of the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

The court is proceeding today with a civil case in which P. J. McGettigan of Savory is suing the Canadian National Railways for $160 for damages in connection with the loss of cattle run over by trains over a period of a year or so. L. W. Patmore is acting as counsel for the plaintiff and J. T. Harvey for the railway company. The trial may take up considerable time.

There is a second civil case of Charles Biggart vs. J. A. Johansen and John Iverson in which $1500 is claimed by the plaintiff on a promissory note, the time for hearing of this action not being set yesterday. L. W. Patmore is counsel for the plaintiff and T. W. Brown for Iverson.

The divorce petitions in which decrees were granted yesterday were: James Inkster Robertson vs. Margaret S. Robertson; Oltaviano Palumbo vs. Anna Palumbo, and Ambrose Reid vs. Mary B. Reid. T. W. Brown was counsel for the petitioner in each case. A petition of Joseph Paulis vs. Evelyn Paulis was laid over until the end of the list at the request of W. O. Fulton, counsel for the petitioner.

Soil Conditions and Plant Growth

Bacteria are Busy Agents in Preparing Soil For the Use of the Plants and Can be Seen with Microscope Doing Their Work (By R. H. BEDFORD)

PART II.

If we have a soil that is normally poor in plant food, or infertile as it is called, then the best way to ensure the storage of this sustenance is to prepare the soil beforehand to meet this condition, and this time is during the summer or fall of the year. There are some plant foods that can be reckoned to give quick relief in the spring if the soil is lacking in them, and they are certain nitrogen compounds, called ammonium sulphate and sodium or potassium nitrate, the former not acting as quickly as the latter. The plant may not need these particular foods but rather others, and these others cannot be wholly relied upon to give the quick relief to a starving plant. It is safe and good practice to labor with your soil earlier, so that preparation of plant food may go on during the cold dreary days of the winter months.

It will be observed that I have spoken of the "preparation of plant food," and by this it is, of course, rightly inferred that certain changes must take place in some of the substances that are added to the soil before the plant can use them—all foods are not necessarily fertilizers when added first.

This preparation of food in the soil is not an haphazard or promiscuous something that just happens. Rather does it represent an orderly sequence of specialized work, work done by living specialists albeit microscopic ones, who are members of a subvisible population of organisms that inhabit the soil. These organisms are called bacteria or more correctly micro-organisms and they are said to be sub-visible because they can be seen only when their form is magnified.

If we look through the microscope at a small bit of mineral soil mixed with a drop of cold boiled water there appears a picture of a rock strewn country in miniature with vegetation scattered here, there and everywhere, as though it had been devastated by a cyclone. The rock is the mineral part of the soil and the vegetation is from the dead plants that have grown on it from time immemorial, and gives to the soil its characteristic color. Some of the vegetation has been torn to shreds—the result of the depredations of the microbial population, and some still retains the shape of portions of the plants growing on the surface.

By a fine adjustment of the focus of the microscope the subvisible population becomes visible, a population that appears to be always busy going places, hurrying and scurrying between the rocks, over and under the vegetation, each one seemingly bent upon a particular errand. These organisms go about their daily business conscientiously and consistently of preparing today what the plants need tomorrow. They disintegrate the dead vegetation particularly in order that they themselves might live and, in doing so, prepare, either designedly or incidentally, food that the plant must have.

The plant needs proper nourishment for healthy growth just like any other living thing. Most of the plants or their fruits and seeds that we use for flowers, foods and for nourishment require much the same kind of nourishment as far as variety is concerned but some of them will want more of a particular food than others and some less. That's why there is no hard and fast rule by which any soil can be judged in the laboratory for its suitability to grow any kind of plant. The suitability of any soil for any particular species of plant must be found out by the method of trial and error.

SCARE IN TORONTO

Regulations Tightened Up and Three Youths Under Arrest Following Trouble

TORONTO, May 4.—Leaving in its wake three boys charged with unlawful assembly and a tightening up of regulations, Toronto's "Swastika" scare appears to have died down.

Originally formed for the declared purposes of keeping "undesirables" away from public resorts, the Swastika movement spread under the joint prods of publicity and opposition, culminating in a free for all fight at a city park when a group of youths flaunted a crudely made Swastika emblem and thousands of onlookers became involved.

Aroused over the trouble the city fathers issued a stern order that appearance of the emblem, which has become associated with Jewish oppression through its adoption by Adolph Hitler, founder of the Nazis and leader of the German government, would mean arrest and punishment.

Since that time the emblem, a luck charm the origin of which is shrouded in mystery, has disappeared from the city and the young men who formed the first club, founded a new organization aimed at preventing unseemly and rowdy conduct. This organization also disbanded.

Crisis Reached

Trouble over the Swastika broke into public notice when a group of about 100 youths, affirming alliance with the swastika-flouting organization, paraded in the east end singing an anti-Jewish song. A large group of Jewish young men marched in protest. A dance at a club-house was halted by police and both groups sent home.

A few days later police were again hastily summoned when the rival groups again paraded and Swastika emblems were torn from a number of boys. The League for the Defence of Jewish Rights protested bitterly to the city hall and a conference was called by Mayor W. J. Stewart, at which the Swastika Club agreed to disband.

All appeared quiet, but suddenly a riot at Willowdale Park broke out between Jews and Gentiles. It was broken up in wild disorder when a quilt on which the Swastika had been worked was saved. Like a spark to tinder the emblem set off fireworks. Scores were injured, five were removed to hospitals. Lead pipe, broom handles and clubs were freely used. Police reserves were called out and long after midnight were still patrolling nearby lanes dispersing gangs.

Three arrests followed. Charles Boustead, 18, Jack Pippy, 17 and Earl Perrin, 21, being charged with unlawful assembly. They were alleged to be the ones who flaunted the Swastika, a black figure on a white background, precipitating the trouble. Twenty-two youths were questioned by police.

In one or two other points in the province abortive attempts were made to bring the Swastika into the limelight. This was particularly noted in Kitchener, the former Berlin, where a prospective deportee named Otto Becker declared him-

Business at the regular monthly meeting last night of the Women's Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion was largely of a routine nature. Mrs. J. Prece, the president, was in the chair and there was a good attendance of members. It was decided to co-operate with the Legion in connection with the official opening of the new building, the date for which will be set later. Following the business session, refreshments were served.

Mrs. W. R. Welch, wife of the United Church pastor at Terrace, arrived in the city from the interior on yesterday morning's train and sailed last night on the Prince George for a visit to Victoria and Nanaimo. She will attend the nurses' graduation exercises next week at Royal Jubilee Hospital in Victoria where her daughter will be one of the graduates. Mr. Welch will be leaving for Vancouver next week to attend Conference.

We are still buying old gold, Bulger's (1)

Mrs. W. J. Alder sailed last night on the Prince George for Victoria where she will pay a visit.

J. J. Little, general manager of the Northern British Columbia Power Co., sailed last night on the Prince George for a business trip to Tacoma.

Roy Franks will sail tomorrow morning on the Princess Norah for Atlin district where he plans on spending the summer engaged in prospecting.

Mrs. George Bryant left for the south last night to visit in Vancouver and with friends in the state of Washington. While in the south she will attend the graduation exercises in June of her son, James, who is graduating with honors this year from the University of Washington at Seattle. It is probable that Jimmy will remain in the south after his graduation.

IT'S LIVER THAT MAKES YOU FEEL SO WRETCHED

Wake up your Liver Bile —No Calomel necessary

For you to feel healthy and happy, your liver must pour two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels, every day. Without that bile, trouble starts. Poor digestion. Slow elimination. Poisons in the body. General wretchedness.

How can you expect to clear up a situation like this completely with mere bowel-moving salts, oil, mineral water, laxative candy or chewing gum, or roughage? They don't wake up your liver.

You need Carter's Little Liver Pills. Purely vegetable. Safe. Quick and sure results. Ask for them by name. Refuse substitutes. 25c. at all druggists.

question arose as to whether San Juan Island was Canadian or United States territory and for some time armed forces of both countries were camped on that little piece of land. The Kaiser was appointed arbitrator and he gave the island to the United States.

Concluding, the Judge said that, in coming north, he had been thrilled by the territory through which he had passed. He felt thankful that this land had been given to Canada. He did not believe that England knowingly threw away any part of Canada. He spoke of the history of the pioneers and, particularly, of Sir Matthew Ballie Begbie who had brought law and order to British Columbia.

John Dybhavn presided and the visitor was introduced in a neat speech by Mrs. D. McD. Hunter, president of the Women's Canadian Club. At the head table in addition to the two presidents, were Judge W. E. Fisher, H. F. McLeod and Mrs. J. C. McLennan.

SPORT CHAT

New York teams were in the lead in both the National and American Leagues as a result of Wednesday's play, the Giants defeating the Brooklyn Dodgers by the odd run at the Polo Grounds while the Yankees retained a mere mathematical lead after losing to the Washington Senators at the National Capital. St. Louis Cardinals took exclusive possession of fifth place in the National League by virtue of defeating the Cincinnati Reds, the Brooklyn Dodgers dropping into sixth place.

The Tigers lost to the St. Louis Browns at Detroit and dropped into third place in the American League below the idle Cleveland Indians. The Washington Senators, as a result of the victory over the Yanks, advanced to fifth place, displacing the Boston Red Sox who lost by the odd run to the Philadelphia Athletics in a heavy-hitting contest.

Camels Defeat Lucky Strikes

Girls' High School Softball Game Played Yesterday

The Camels came to the fore in the third game of the High School Girls' Softball League yesterday, defeating Lucky Strikes 11 to 6.

The Lucky Strikes were away to a good start with five runs in the first inning. Both teams played cautiously in the second and third innings, neither scoring.

It was not until the fourth and fifth innings that the Camels made their eleven runs while their opponents only made one.

The Camels were right on their toes. They had a good battery and showed better work in the field.

Umpire was K. Hiram and base umpire, Miss M. Delaney.

Big Crowd Sees First Ball Game in Toronto

JUNIOR FOOTBALL

The following team for Borden Street School in tomorrow afternoon's Junior League football game is announced: M. Postuk; A. Dybhavn and F. Williscroft; D. Fitch, A. Mah and S. Currie; H. Monkley, J. Gulek, B. O'Neill (captain), E. Barton and D. Houston; spares, C. Ormiston and G. Kanaya.

Both the New York Giants of the National League and the Washington club of the American League are on the spot. For matter so are the pair shown above. (1) Carl Hubbell, ace pitcher, and former Leaf, who was mainly responsible for the New York club's success, not only in the regular campaign, but in the world series. Hubbell didn't go so well this spring in training, and it is feared that the Giants will not repeat. He is the big question mark of the Giants. (2) Joe Cronin, manager and shortstop of the Senators, A. L. champions. This is his second year in a managerial role and the chances that he will not come through again.

Guide to Correspondents

The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.

Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.

Letters should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

BAZAAR IS QUITE GOOD

Annual Affair in Aid of Ridley Home Held in Moose Hall Yesterday Afternoon

The annual bazaar at the Moose Hall yesterday afternoon in aid of the Ridley Home was once again a very well patronized affair, netting financial proceeds which, considering the conditions, were deemed quite satisfactory. As usual, a goodly number of ladies turned out during the afternoon to lend their patronage to the function and the various booths, conducted by ladies of the different city churches, plied a good trade. The proceeds totalled $186.

COLLECTIVE CONTROL

Editor, Daily News:—

Your interesting editorial "Hitler and Germany" should wake up certain strata of sleeping politicians who think that all that is necessary is to turn out on election day. Is the education of the youth and the re-education of themselves in line with the modern trend of thoughts and action of no importance?

Everyone must wake up and realize that we are undergoing a moral as well as a political revolution following the collapse of our economic system.

The economic conditions of our country are such that the masses are exasperated and are ready to listen to anything—even to Marxism although it is 84 years old and obsolete.

The sponsors of the C. C. F. are trying to revive a dead philosophy, namely Marxism, which has served its great moral purpose—the most complete critic of capitalism.

For the Marxian class antagonism, class clash, class struggle and hatred, the modern world substitutes co-operation of the classes by bringing the forces of production under the control of the state which represents the spirit of the people and is the unique force to interpret national society.

Marxism, which has been a critical idea and proven non constructive, conceived that, as the bourgeoisie overthrew the feudal order, consequently the economic freedom of the workers could only come through the overthrowing of the capitalistic system. Hence the two conflicting methods of procedure, evolution versus revolution, which is the only fundamental difference between Communism and Socialism.

The truth is that other methods have been found by which economic freedom and social justice are rapidly being established by enforcing collective control over the means of production and exchange.

One can readily see that ownership, either public or private, when collectively controlled and bent to serve social needs, is no obstacle to social justice. This explains the triumphal march of the new economic conception discovered by Mussolini—Corporativism.

MUSICAL ROMANCE

"Dancing Lady," With Joan Crawford and Clark Gable, Here This Week-End

Described as a fast modern romance of backstage Broadway with novel angles and situations which make it considerably different from similar themes, the lavish and spectacular musical picture "Dancing Lady," starring Joan Crawford and Clark Gable, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this week-end.

Miss Crawford is seen as a girl born to dance who fights her way to fame on Broadway, the role being another such as that upon which she built her greatest popularity. Gable has the part of a hard-boiled dance director who falls in love with the fresh chorine he has attempted to browbeat. Franchot Tone, May Robson, Winnie Lightner and Fred Astaire are among other outstanding names in the cast.

Music in the production, which presents many elaborate dance ensembles, includes such catchy new numbers as "Let's Go Bavarian," "Heigh Ho," "Everything I Have Is Yours," "That's the Rhythm of the Day" and "Dancin' Lady."

Man in the Moon

In Rupert there are people who've lived here many years. With the same old hopes of riches. And feared the same old fears. They've held the same old sessions. And settled state affairs. With the same old wheezy arguments. While grey became their hairs. Yes, day by day they carry on. In the same old mossback way. While new arrivals nose them out. And wonder why they stay.

What a great and glorious feeling it gives a man when a neighbor comes along and pays a ten dollar bill that he owes you.
