REVISION OF INTERNATIONAL HALIBUT TREATY IS URGED

Canada Paying Half Pact Cost But Getting Minority of Benefits

Pacific Coast Fisheries and Sealing Industries Under Discussion Before Committee of Canadian Senate Yesterday

OTTAWA, May 31: (CP)-"Revision of the international halibut treaty should be given consideration," Senator A. D. McRae of Vancouver told the Senate committee on sealing and fisheries yesterday. "Canada's catch is only about eighteen percent of the total in the Pacific while the Dominion pays a share of the treaty costs equal to that *contributed by the United States," he declared. If Canadian fishermen could not compete with larger Am-

they could compete in Hecate

Daring Riders of B. C. Police

The "human arch", one of the many daring feats that are performed by the crack A. Division of the B.C. Provincial Police mounted corps, which has become known as the "Esquestrian Circus." Probably their most daring stunt is the "human arch." Six of the officers form the arch." Two tables are placed about five feet apart. One officer's body spans the intervening space. Two other officers stand on each table. Another bridges the top gap by suspending his body from the shoulders of two of his colleagues standing on the table. Two other policemen brace the arch. Then a group of mounted officers jump over the "human fence" and under the "human arch." Only inches separate the horses' bodies and hoofs from the men as they make the jump. Since this stunt has been developed there has been only one accident during the many demonstrations they have given.

While Canada's Davis Cup team did not win even a single game from the United States in the cup round on May 24, nevertheless, the team gave a good account of itself. Composed of Gilbert Nunns, shown above (left), who this year captains the team; Walter Martin (right), Canada's No. 1 ranking player; Marcel Rainville (centre), veteran of many international tournaments; and Laird Watt (inset), rising young Montreal star, the team was as strong as in past years. Walter Martin had been handicapped in early season play with a badly strained ligament in his right arm; Nunns was also handicapped by lack of training; the other three having all been south to get into shape.

Interior Boys And Girls Get Ayrshire Calves

PRINCE GEORGE, June 31 Seven boys and girls, club members in the Woodpecker and Hixon districts, recently became the proud owners of seven good quality, purebred Ayrshire heifer calves donated by breeders in Southern British Columbia. These calves were delivered at Prince George to their youthful owners on May 24. Those fortunate in obtaining calves were Max Widdis, Edith Bell, D. Elston, Walter Sweder, Helen Colebank, Douglas and Donald Coulter.

William Coulter, a veteran Ayrshire breeder and enthusiast at Hixon Post Office, is the organizer of the club receiving the calves and is largely responsible for interesting the Ayrshire breeders of the south in the development of their breed in this district.
