Welfare Commissioner Tells House Committee Of Low Wages in East

Heads of Families Forced to Work Full Week For $6 to $10, Eking Out Existence by Getting Partial Relief From City

OTTAWA, Feb. 28: (CP)-Sweat shop conditions in Toronto industries were pictured yesterday to the special committee of the House of Commons, Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, chairman, which is investigating chain stores, mass buying and retail conditions generally including labor and general business practices.

A. W. Laver, welfare commissioner for Toronto, told of firms paying $5, $6 and up to $10 to heads of families for a full week's work, forcing BIG FAIR them to appea! to the city for partial relief in order to pay rent and buy food and clothing.

Laver instanced the National Picture Frame and Art Co. which he said "fired" seventeen girls who were receiving minimum wages of $12.50 per week and hired men and boys who were outside the minimum wage law provisions. Chain stores and the needle trade were the worst offenders in Toronto for paying low wages, Laver said. Selecting at random from list of 1455 families who were paid partial relief in Toronto because of low wages, he instanced forty-one men and women who were receiving from $4 to $10 for a full week's work. For instance a married woman employed in a T. Eaton Co. dependents was paid $10 a week. #### REGULATIONS VERSUS CONFISCATION

The tendency in a democracy is for people to change their minds quickly and go to extremes when they do so. On the stock exchange prices soar far above their real value when there is a flurry and, when there is a decline, prices descend into the depths, far below real value.

So in political life. When people become dissatisfied with the system under which there are a few people very rich and getting richer and many people so poor they find it difficult to exist, they turn to any party that will upset w. the system and they are willing to take chances on the fu- were postponed until tonight. ture as long as it is changed. So was porn the communist groups of which the C. L. D. L. is an example, and the socialist party, known more commonly as the C. C. F. The prime movers who would bring about political and social revolution, regardless of who is hurt in the upheaval, are the leaders of these groups. Most of the supporters of the movements do not really want a revolution but they argue that conditions cannot be any worse and they may be better. They do not realize that an excess of socialism always brings about a dictatorship and that bloodshed has followed or accompanied every revolution, no matter how peaceful may have been the declarations of the revolution-

On the other hand most people recognize that we cannot continue as in the past. There must be changes but the changes must come about gradually and in a constitutional way. Extreme wealth must be curbed, manipulations for the purpose of robbing the people must be checked. Arrangements must be made so that when there is an abundance of food and clothing in the country there shall be none hungry and without decent clothes. This can all be brought about without a dangerous revolution, such as that suggested by the extremists. It will be brought about by a system of regulation as opposed to confiscation.

The salient facts of the Corporative economy are: 1. Respect of the principle of private property, for it completes human nature; 2. The Corporative economy respects private initiative, which is essential to social progress. The doctrine of the Corporative

State is not to socialize production, or the management of all the individual's affairs and of all the business, but to claim for the state the right to regulate through the State in Itself corporatives of employers and employed all the phases of production, distribution and exchange.

Corporativism organizes wealth in function of social needs, it does not believe in the principle of socialization of the means of production. If the principle that he who controls owns is true, why disturb ing industry?

Corporativism is a real co-operative of production, distribution and exchange of the national income. Mussolini is merely the Premier of V. BASSO-BERT.
